REO

Reo Quality is Uniform
Every Reo Car is a Good One

YOUR REO MOTOR—the motor that will go into your Reo—into every Reo car—is dynamometer tested.

PERHAPS YOU DON'T CATCH the full significance of that statement—sounds like "shop talk" to you.

ALL RIGHT, WE'LL EXPLAIN: And in the explanation perhaps we can show you why Reo quality is uniform—why every Reo is just as good—just as powerful, just as sweet-running and just as low in upkeep cost as the best Reo we ever made.

MOST MAKERS CONSIDER it sufficient to subject every tenth or every fifteenth and in some cases every one-hundredth motor to the dynamometer test.

(OF COURSE WE ARE SPEAKING now of those leading makers who have this expensive equipment. Many scarcely know the meaning of the term.)

IT IS CONSIDERED sufficient gauge of the accuracy of workmanship and the power of motor to test one about every so often.

IF THAT ONE PROVES UP it is assumed that the rest of that day's run will average about the same. If it falls below the requirements in the test it is in like manner assumed that the rest are below standard—and measures are taken to correct it in the next batch.

MEANTIME YOU MIGHT be one of those to get one of those that didn't prove up.

NO; THE REO FOLK do not consider that kind of testing sufficient. It isn't sufficient, for example, that the Reo the Fifth we sell you "averages up." The Reo standard says your Reo must be as good in every respect as any Reo ever turned out of the factory—a little better if possible since today's cars ought to be better than yesterday's.

AND SO YOU CAN KNOW—you can feel absolutely sure—that the individual car we delivered to you, has, itself and its every part, passed through the most rigid tests.

IF YOU COULD VISIT the big 30-acre Reo plant at Lansing, Michigan, as we have, and see the four rows of dynamometers with meters and other electrical equipment, you would exclaim "what an expensive testing equipment!"

BUT WHEN YOU DRIVE YOUR Reo car you will appreciate the economy of a testing system that guarantees every buyer the utmost satisfaction for his money and makes you and every other Reo owner a booster for Reo.
