

THE PRINCETON UNION
BY E. C. DUNN.

TERMS—$1.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.
$1.50 OUTSIDE THE STATE.

Office: First Street, East of Court House

GEO. I. STAPLES, Business Manager.
JULIUS E. YNGVE, Associate Editor.

Anyhow, Tommy Schall is not a canting hypocrite.

Thomas D. Schall is a better republican than Lowell E. Jenson.

Tommy Schall has made good in congress. He is entitled to the customary second term.

There is one automobile for every 44 persons in the United States. Another evidence of our prosperity.

No matter who is your choice for president or governor, vote in the affirmative on amendment No. 1 next Tuesday.

The Episcopal conference decided not to change the wording of the Ten Commandments. There is no demand for a change.

Republicans, stand by your guns and vote for Charles E. Hughes, Frank B. Kellogg, J. A. A. Burnquist and Thos. D. Schall.

Apathy in the campaign is pronounced despite the fact that the election is but a few days removed. What is the reason?

Minneapolis has an I. W. W. convention on its hands, and the regular thugs and bandits of that city have taken to the woods, it is said.

Harvard university is to extend its instruction to police officers and will teach efficiency. This is a new idea, and results will be awaited with interest.

If you vote "Yes" on the first, third, fourth, fifth and eighth amendments, and vote "No" on the second, sixth and seventh amendments you will not be voting amiss.

Thomas D. Schall is making a brave fight against big odds, but the plain, common people are with him, and we believe he will prove a winner when the votes are counted.

Daniel W. Lawler, democratic candidate for U. S. senator, says that his body is literally covered with scars of political defeats, and that another scar will not hurt him. Dan is resigned to his fate.

Henry Ford has established the women workers in his plants upon the same pay basis as the men. Ford may have impractical ideas, but that he is fair and just to his employees none will deny.

Gasoline consumers have donated $100,000 to Hamline university through John D. Rockefeller. And they would rather see the money go to an excellent institution like Hamline than into the coffers of the world's only billionaire.

Calderwood, the Prohibition candidate for United States senator, is in the race simply for the purpose of taking votes from Frank B. Kellogg. Calderwood cannot be elected and he is well aware of that fact, and his sole aim seems to be to injure Mr. Kellogg.

A Beltrami county "sooner" mistook a man for a deer last week and killed him. An offense of this kind is manslaughter in the first degree under the Minnesota statute and punishable by five to twenty years in state prison. It behooves hunters to exercise due care and precaution.

Ox-gall, a compound compared to which Limberger cheese is sweet perfume, was scattered in the Kansas City auditorium last week just before the women of the Hughes alliance special were to open their meeting. At least this report appeared in the city papers. But perhaps it was merely the gall of "the unwashed" in the audience. At any rate it served the purpose of reducing the attendance.

Thousands of letters, each containing a dime, have been received at the Minneapolis post office daily the past week. An advertisement to the effect that a silk petticoat would be given each person who sent in ten cents to a Minneapolis concern, after ten friends had been advised of the offer was responsible for this influx of dimes. Of course it was a swindle. It conclusively demonstrated, however, that the late Phineas T. Barnum was right in his size-up of the American people, also that it pays to advertise, and that those who try to get something for nothing usually get nothing for something.

The Minnesota troops at the border could stay there until ice formed in perdition, and those who recently became so interested in the boys as to bring about an extraordinary session of the legislature in order that the injustice of the soldiers being deprived of their votes might be remedied, would never give them a passing thought.

The name aeroplane to designate heavier than air craft has been discarded officially by the national advisory committee for aeronautics. The name airplane has been substituted. An effort has been made to eliminate also all foreign words which have come into use through the development of air craft, and very few such words have been retained.

Rev. A. W. Benson, a former Minnesota pastor who is now in Florida, pays a sincere tribute to Minnesota in a letter to the Chaska Herald. He says: "To those who are young and vigorous, I would say—'stay in Minnesota.' There is no better State in the Union. Its people, its soil, its products, its healthfulness, its industries and educational facilities, are second to none! Of all the states it is the most highly favored and I esteem it a great privilege to have been a citizen of the State so many years."

One hundred and seven boys from Venezuela now have scholarships in American schools. U. S. Minister to Venezuela, Preston McGoodwin, brought about the gift of the scholarships. He believes it will go far towards improving the understanding between the two countries. He says: "It is to be hoped that the same plan will be developed for young men from the other South American republics. Every man so educated and trained is sure to go back to his native land a booster for Pan-American trade."

Rev. George B. Safford, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, writes that he wishes us to support Mr. Lowell E. Jenson for congress. We think it is none of Mr. Safford's business who we favor. This continual "butting in" of these professional anti-saloon and prohibition politicians makes us weary. We will not support or vote for Lowell E. Jenson, but we shall vote for a far abler and better man—Thomas D. Schall—whom we have known intimately since he was a student in the good old Methodist Hamline University.

Sam Blythe writing in the Saturday Evening Post on the national campaign briefly sums it up as follows: "There is just one concrete issue; and nothing has been said or done, and nothing that will be said or done, will change it: Do a majority of the people of the United States think that Mr. Wilson has succeeded well enough as President to justify his retention as President for another term? Or not? Do a majority of the people of the United States feel that Mr. Hughes will be a better President than Mr. Wilson? Or not?" The questions will be answered next Tuesday.

OPINIONS OF EDITORS.

Minnesota Man Recognized.
Carlos Avery, who without question is the most efficient and capable head the state game and fish department has ever had, has again been honored, having been named secretary of the National Game and Fish Commissioners, who were in session at New Orleans last week.—Bemidji Sentinel.

Given a Chance.
The blind pigs at Hudson proved penitent and swore by the road to Liberty hill they would never do it again, close up their joints and join the other people of the old town and go to work, which was about all the authorities could ask for, as a result the accused were permitted to go and told to sin no more.—Stillwater Gazette.

Schall a Winner.
The Anoka Herald is firing a lot of silly questions at Thomas D. Schall regarding his party, residence, etc. Anything in politics, seems to be the slogan today and for any other time or purpose a man would be taken for what he is or does. The Herald and all the rest of the little dogs may bark to their heart's content but Tom will sail back into congress with a bigger majority than ever. You can't keep a good man down.—Buffalo Journal.

Farnham is Puzzled.
That a democratic candidate should go after Volstead's scalp and have the united support of his party is not to be wondered at, but when the prohibitionists try to defeat him one cannot but feel surprised. In all his many years in congress Mr. Volstead has always cast his vote on the temperance side and in all the thirty odd years that the editor of this paper has known him we have known him as a temperance man. What in under the sun do these temperance people so-called want, anyhow?—Madison-Independent Press.

We Plead Guilty.
Referring to the road-improvement proposition one of the street corner wisecracks remarked to a group of grouchies: "O, it is only one of Bob Dunn's crazy schemes."
Yes, indeed, it is one of Bob Dunn's schemes. He schemed hard to get the promise of the State Highway Commission to recommend to the Secretary of Agriculture at Washington that $50,000 should be allotted to Mills Lacis county for road-improvement, and that $15,000 should be allotted to Sherburne county for the improvement of the road between Princeton and Zimmerman. Bob Dunn may have been guilty of a heinous offense in so doing, but he pleads guilty to the charge, humbly begs to be forgiven, and promises he will do so no more. Bob Dunn has become somewhat weary of "sowing for others to reap."

Village Council Meets.
The village council met in regular session last evening. All members were present with the exception of Councilman Ross, and Mayor Newbert presided.

The Associated Theater Co. of St. Cloud asked for a license to operate a moving picture show in the Armory under the provisions of the new ordinance governing that. The matter was discussed at length, and it was decided to defer action until all members of the council could act on same. Messrs. Freeman and Nemeck of the Associated Theater Co., appeared before the council in person, and after their first application had been tabled, asked for a license to operate a show next Saturday and Sunday evenings. Same was upon motion granted.

Eddie Maggart appeared before the council and asked permission to open a bowling alley. On motion permission was granted.
No further business came up for consideration, and after acting on the usual grist of bills the council adjourned.

EXTRAVAGANT EUGENIE.

The Empress Boasted That She Never Wore a Gown Twice.

It is true that the cost of women's dress has so increased that it is not given to the many to be as truly elegant as their grandmothers were able to be at comparatively small cost. But, then, those were the days when an elaborate ball gown consisted of yards of flounces of tulle or some other light and costly material.

Empress Eugenie, it is said, declared she never wore the same gown twice. She it was, by the way, who made Worth, the renowned Paris couturier, famous. The great luxury in those days was to wear several ball gowns during the course of a single ball. Dressing rooms were provided, and the ladies retired to reappear resplendent and as fresh as at the beginning of the evening. The gowns of the day, which were flimsy of train and spread by crinolines, suffered much from an evening's wear; hence these wasteful ways.

There is a tale of the lovely Empress Elizabeth of Austria which recounts her appearing at a function in a white tulle gown, flounced and ample, decorated with garlands of real camellias, and changing both gown and camellias every hour and then to preserve the impression of absolute and uncrumpled freshness.—Vogue Magazine.

Bird Stories.

A German scientific journal published in 1897 a story to the effect that a golden eagle shot in that year at Eszeg, Slavonia, was found to have a ring about its neck engraved on which were the arms of a Slavonian family and the date 1646.

In 1708 the Gentleman's Magazine told about a hawk captured when flying in the vicinity of the Cape of Good Hope and taken by an Indian ship to England, which wore a gold collar inscribed:

"This goodlie hawk doth belong to his Most Excellent Majesty James, King of England, A. D. 1610."

If this bird really escaped from England in the reign of James 183 years elapsed between its escape and its recapture, and it had flown a distance of 6,500 miles away from its former owner.

Have a Cheery Kitchen.

One should bear in mind that the kitchen is the engine room of the home, and the comfort and happiness of the family depend upon its running smoothly and well. Lack of system, inadequate equipment, inconvenient arrangement of furniture and utensils and the total absence of beauty and cheer are the things that make drudgery of housework. Servants are as susceptible to surroundings as their mistresses, and the little aids to housework, such as cheerful aspect and pretty furnishings, do much to secure a more loyal interest and co-operation. A harmonious environment in a kitchen will go a long way toward making a happy home.—Harriet Sisson Gillespie in Mother's Magazine.

Feminine Confidence.

"I shall never scold my husband again for spending so much time at the club."
"Tell me about it."
"Well, last night a burglar got into the house, and my husband knocked him senseless with a poker. I've heard several men speak of him as a poker expert. He has evidently been practicing at the club for just such an emergency."—Judge.

Mungo Park.
The pioneer white man in Africa was Mungo Park. He began his travels through the dark continent as early as 1795, nearly twenty years before Livingstone was born. Park's first trip to Africa occupied two years and resulted in the very first definite knowledge of Africa in modern times. During his second trip he was killed by the natives near Broussa, on the Niger.

Needs Volunteers for Grain Survey.
Exactly what the grain situation in Minnesota is, is something every farmer would like to know, and W. L. Oswald, in charge of the state seed laboratory, University Farm, St. Paul,

R. D. N. SPRINGER, Oph. D.
OPTOMETRIST of Dr. Kline's Sanatorium, Anoka Will be in will try to answer the question. He is sending out to high school agriculturists throughout the state a letter asking each to send him samples of grains—wheat, barley, rye, alfalfa, clover and timothy—from six or more farms in the vicinity of his school. These samples will be analyzed and the results will be tabulated by counties. The outcome will be a survey of the situation such as could hardly be made otherwise.

Mr. Oswald, however, wishes to make the survey as complete as possible. Consequently, he calls for volunteers to send him samples of the grains named for investigation. A handful of each grain will be sufficient. The samples should be forwarded to the State Seed Laboratory, University Farm, St. Paul.
Right You Are.
