TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO!

If there are incendiaries in our midst ferret them out at any cost. Crawford & Chapman have opened up in the Townsend block on First street.

Princeton has suffered more from fires during the past year than in all its previous history.

The year 1893 is numbered with the things that were and few there are who regret its departure.

Organize a fire company and see that the members are properly equipped.

Before another year rolls around we expect to see Princeton supplied with a good system of electric lights and waterworks.

E. Grant, the famous stock breeder, gardener, farmer, dehorner and Yankee peddler, reports that his missing pocketbook has not yet turned up.

This is the time for good resolutions. Then, resolve that you pay the printer and see that it is done.

Henry and Julius Bouck of Royalton are over on a visit to their parents, Rev. and Mrs. Bouck.

Is there another town of its size in the state that can show a better record in the way of building for the year than Princeton? The best of it is that the surrounding country has kept pace with the town.

The irrepressible Jim Price of Foreston bagged seven wolves last week. He thinks seriously of embarking in the wolf-raising industry.

A lumber camp or a sawmill always has the latchstring out to the hungry and destitute, and the hard-fisted and big-hearted boys always stand ready to go down in their pockets at the cry of distress.

The following officers were elected at the annual village election last Tuesday: President, T. H. Caley; trustees, R. D. Byers, H. Newbert and L. P. Southard; recorder, H. C. Head; justices, C. A. Dickey and W. A. Doer.

A Blow at High Prices.

One of the readiest methods of striking a body blow at the high price level in the country is to get away as soon as possible from the paper money basis upon which we have been doing the war business. It may have a singular sound to say that we should get back to a gold basis, yet that is precisely what is meant. England is about to do it and the United States should do the same thing. This does not mean that in the United States gold was at a premium or there was a depreciated paper currency, but to all intents and purposes we have stopped free payments in gold and have gone to an exchange basis of federal reserve notes and bank credits.

No single cause has produced or maintained high prices. But no single cause has contributed more to the maintenance of high prices than our growing system of credit inflation. We can eliminate that cause by going back to a hard money basis and we will be compelled to do it when trade competition begins and we have our end to hold up.

A break must come somewhere before the price level will start downward and the first break will give impetus to the downward trend. To set this going without demoralization, to start prices downward without being accompanied by panic conditions is a problem so important that its solution should engage the best thought of the country.

Industrial disturbance and depression which would force lower wage scales would be one way, but that is a plan that no sane man would welcome. Large sacrifice of profits where it could be afforded, such as suggested by Judge Gray of the steel corporation, would be another way, but sacrifice of that character and to that extent is so unusual and so altruistic as to be almost unthinkable. Slow rather than eruptive processes, working gradually and without dislocation, are to be favored; but what are they? The reduction of credit inflation is one of the sure and easy methods of currency contraction which must ultimately spell lower prices—a downward movement without a demoralizing smash.—St. Paul Dispatch.

ALL TIRED OUT.

Hundreds More in Princeton in the Same Plight.

Tired all the time;
Weary and worn out day and night;
Back aches; head aches,
Your kidneys are probably weakened.

You should help them at their work. Let one who knows tell you how.

Mrs. Nels Olson, Princeton, says: "I began having a great deal of bother with my kidneys. The kidneys acted irregularly and I had bladder complaint. My back was awfully painful, especially after I had been walking or when I lifted anything. When I sat down a few minutes, my back became so stiff I could hardly get up again. My limbs throbbled with pain and I felt tired and weak. At times everything would whirl before my eyes when I got up from a chair. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got from the Princeton Drug Co., soon put me in good health and whenever I have felt the trouble coming on since, Doan's have given me quick relief."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Olson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y. Adv.

Are You Open-Minded?

The average American is open-minded.

American business is conducted by true Americans of vision, open-minded men who believe in their country and strive to meet their country's needs. The men in the packing industry are no exception to the rule.

The business of Swift & Company has grown as the nation has progressed. Its affairs have been conducted honorably, efficiently, and economically, reducing the margin between the cost of live stock and the selling price of dressed meat, until today the profit is only a fraction of a cent a pound—too small to have any noticeable effect on prices.

The packing industry is a big, vital industry—one of the most important in the country. Do you understand it?

Swift & Company presents facts in the advertisements that appear in this paper. They are addressed to every open-minded person in the country.

The booklet of preceding chapters in this story of the packing industry, will be mailed on request to
