Washington Notes.

The postmaster general has obtained authority to increase the parcel post limit to 125 pounds in order to accommodate some of the larger food packages which the war department plans to distribute through the mails.

Secretary Robert Lansing was a witness before the senate foreign relations committee, which made an effort to pry the lid of secrecy off the peace treaty negotiations at Paris. The committee was amazed at Mr. Lansing's lack of information regarding many things at the Paris conference. It was learned, however, that President Wilson personally had cabled Premier Clemenceau that it would be most unwise to grant the demand of the French chamber of deputies for reports of the proceedings of the commission which framed the league of nations, and that this same attitude will in all probability be adopted by the president toward the senate's demand for information. It learned also that President Wilson did not make the decision which resulted in the Shantung settlement.

President Wilson, turned down by the senate in his request for additional legislation to meet the railroad workers' demand for increased wages, took the bit in his teeth and virtually ordered the striking railroad shopmen back to work. In a letter to Director General W. D. Hines, the president said the senate attitude had forced upon him the duty to act. He instructed Mr. Hines to tell the representatives of the workers that their demands for increases would be considered by the railroad administration on its merits, but that until the strikers went back to work the matter would be "at a standstill."

In congress the president's address was variously received, republicans in the senate assailing it generally, however, on the ground that it used the cost of living as a club for pushing ratification of the peace treaty and adoption of the league of nations. Senator H. C. Lodge, republican leader, said reference to the treaty in the cost of living message was obvious, and he criticized the president for holding up action on the treaty by refusing to deliver to the senate data that had been requested.

Chairman A. B. Fall of the senate committee to investigate Mexican conditions, said the inquiry would be prosecuted without consideration of what interests it might help or harm. The investigation was undertaken by the senate after Undersecretary of State F. L. Polk had advised house leaders that turning on the light might lead to intervention, which he pronounced the only alternative to continue support of Carranza, unsatisfactory as is the Carranza regime.

In its crusade against food hoarding and profiteering the government will utilize machinery of the wartime food administration. Food administrators in every state have been called upon by the attorney general to appoint fair prices committees and keep the department of justice advised of the situation. The department will co-operate in seeking out and punishing violations. Among the measures to be introduced to carry out the president's suggested legislative program are bills directed against the undue retention of foodstuffs in storage, profiteering, licensing of individuals and corporations engaged in interstate commerce in foodstuffs, and the price labeling of goods intended for interstate commerce.

Strong opposition is developing to President Wilson's suggestion that producers' prices be stamped upon commodities. Representative E. J. Hutchinson of New Jersey will oppose the addition of such a provision to his cold storage bill, which probably will be used for a basis for such legislation. The bill provides cold storage warehouses must be licensed and inspected by the secretary of agriculture's department; that food for storage must be stamped with the day of the receipt and with all dates of transfer, and except with special consent food may not be stored longer than 10 months. Food stored for longer periods may be sold at public auction, or if unfit, condemned.

Soldiers' Bond Loss.

There are alleged to be more than 150,000 sailors and soldiers who, after subscribing to the various war loan campaigns, and having the amounts of their subscriptions taken out of their pay by the government, have been unable to secure their bonds or to get trace of them. In a number of cases, it is said, these men have died in the line of duty and their relatives have been unable to secure the bonds or to regain the money collected for them.

This phase of the allotment and insurance tangle in the treasury department will be brought to the attention of the house committee, which will shortly begin its investigation of the war risk insurance, by Representative William E. Andrews of Nebraska, a member of the committee. Mr. Andrews said that in his correspondence he had come across a number of cases of this kind and that almost every other member had similar cases, and that it was his purpose to request the committee to make thorough inquiry in the hope that the men can either secure their war bonds or be refunded the money which was taken from their pay.

Bids Wanted.

Bids are required for the erection of a woodshed, 12 by 14 feet, with 8 foot posts, at the school house in district 35, Mille Laes county. Bids will be received up to Monday, August 21, at the home of the school district clerk, where plans and specifications may be seen.

The board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

DULUTH WOMAN GAINS 15 POUNDS, SHE SAYS

Tanlac Made Mrs. Norman Well Two Years Ago and Good Health Continued, She States.

"Although it has been two years now since Tanlac relieved me of my suffering and built me up so wonderfully every day is still a well day for me," was the statement made by Mrs. Liddia Norman, Route 4, Box 242, Duluth, Minn., while in Abbott & Company's drug store recently.

"For three years," she continued, "I had suffered agonies with rheumatism all over my body. My feet were so swollen I could hardly get my shoes on, I had to wear gloves to keep down the swelling in my hands as much as possible. I was in so much pain that I was all bent over and had to use a cane in order to get about. My stomach was in very bad condition, too, and what I would eat seemed to lump up badly and lay in the pit of my stomach and ferment. I would bloat up terribly with gas and have such depressed feeling in my chest and around my heart that it was difficult for me to get my breath. My appetite was very poor—there were many things I couldn't eat at all—and at times I was very dizzy. I couldn't get any sound sleep, had fallen off a great deal in weight and just felt miserable most all the time.

"When I read and heard so much about Tanlac I made up my mind to try it and it was the wisest decision I ever made. By the time I had finished my first bottle I discarded my cane and could eat what I wanted without the least trouble afterwards. After taking five bottles the rheumatism was gone entirely and I could walk as well as I ever could, and I also found I had gained fifteen pounds in weight. Well, I haven't had an ache or a pain to this good day and I still eat and sleep like a child and feel fine all the time. I have related my experience with Tanlac many times and am willing to keep on telling it as long as I can help other people out of their suffering. I am getting a bottle of Tanlac now just to take as a spring tonic and I hope what I say in this statement will start many others on the road to health."

Tanlac is sold in Princeton by C. A. Jack Drug Co., in Foreston by T. H. Onstad, in Milaca by I. W. Dennison, in Onamia by Harris Bros. Drug Co., and in Wahkon by Wahkon Drug Co. Adv.

Health and Wealth.

Hewitt—I'd rather have health than wealth.

Jewitt—People rarely have both.

Hewitt—Why is that, I wonder?

Jewitt—Because when people have wealth they can afford to have doctors.

Cuts Work In Half

YOU can keep your stalls and your cows clean with half the labor—save time and feed, have healthier cows, better milk, more milk and greater profits, if you have your barn equipped the James Way.

Every progressive dairyman should have his barn fitted out complete with

James Sanitary Barn Equipment

Even if you are not ready to buy a COMPLETE sanitary barn equipment, don't hold back on the stanchions. JAMES STANCHIONS, by themselves in any barn, old or new, can be IMMEDIATE money-makers for you, and that is the practical, sensible FIRST STEP toward owning a fine, complete barn equipment.

You are actually wasting money every day you put off the installation of James Equipment, because without it, you pay out the money anyhow in unnecessary expense of barn work and in wasted feed that would be saved by James Equipment. You are paying out the money anyhow, so why not have James Equipment to show for the money spent?
