Mrs. W. H. Townsend sustained severe injuries last week by a fall which fractured her left arm near the shoulder and bruised her considerably. She had gone to the woodshed and slipped on some icy substance, falling heavily to the ground. Being an old lady, it will naturally take a long time for the bones to unite, but at this time she is resting comfortably and progressing as well as could be expected. Her many friends hope that she will fully recover.

Rev. J. Richard Olson, religious editor of the Minneapolis Journal, preached in the Methodist church on Sunday morning and gave a short address at the Congregational church. In the evening he addressed a large mass meeting in the Milaca high school auditorium in the interest of the near east refugees. All who heard Rev. Olson Sunday want him to come back again. His gospel messages and appeals for the war refugees were highly appreciated.

The division of agricultural engineering at university farm has prepared plans of a building in which to store farm implements. Included is a shop, where repairs can be made, and the garage may also be under the same roof if desired. The cost of such building will generally be repaid by the greater efficiency and durability of implements. Colonel Mike Allen, breakman on the Great Northern passenger, came near losing his pet Spitz dog, Nebuchadnezzar, on Monday. Mike left it in charge of Millard Howard in the waiting room while the baggage was being loaded. Millard detached the chain from Neb's collar and attached it to that of a little black dog. Mike rushed into the waiting room just before the train started, grabbed the end of the chain from Millard, and was half way down the platform before he noticed he was leading a black dog instead of a white one. But Neb was trotting along behind, and Mike managed to make the exchange and catch the last car while a merry "ha! ha!" went up from the people on the platform.

Judge Michael Mahoney and his son, Joe, were observed examining the latest models of touring cars at the Minneapolis automobile show this week. We are told, however, that the principal reason for which the judge went to the cities was to purchase an engagement ring for his inamorata. If he bought it here 'twould create too much gossip, so he decided to keep the affair quiet.

Tuesday morning was particularly dark and gloomy and we feared that our pet groundhog, William Jennings Bryan, would fail to emerge from his den in our lower forty. But at noon the clouds scattered from the face of old Sol and William poked his nose through the snow which temporarily sealed his habitation. He cavorted around for a few minutes, grabbed a pound of hamburger which had been placed near his hole by the office force and again dug himself in.

One of the Brickton schoolma'ams, who was on her way to Princeton a few days ago, discovered that she was riding in the smoking car. She had entered by mistake. Some of the smokers were under the impression that she was an agent of the anti-tobacco league and winked at one another. She realized that she was in the wrong car, all right, but kept her seat and breathed in the nasty fumes all the way to her destination. Upon alighting from the train she hurried to a drug store and bought a bottle of perfume to kill the horrid odor which had impregnated her clothing and hair.

The Local Potato Situation.

Triumphs in the Princeton market have declined 20 cents per cwt while Russets have advanced 5 cents. These are the only changes from our last week's market report. Seed stock for the south has virtually all been shipped, that is, with the exception of a few cars still unsold. Some cars, about four apiece for each warehouse, man, were available during the week, but this is not nearly sufficient to ship out the eating stock. Heavy receipts by buyers have continued for the past week.

Sportsmen's Club Organized.

Last Friday evening there was a goodly gathering of local sportsmen at Odegard's garage in response to the call for a meeting. The purposes and objects of the meeting were fully explained by County Attorney Doane and it was unanimously decided that a local club be formed to co-operate with the Minnesota Game Protective league, the principal feature of which is protection of the game and fish of the state from unsportsmanlike slaughter. The following officers were unanimously elected:

President, H. J. Plaas; first vice president, Dr. D. A. McRae; second vice president, Robert Berg; secretary, W. C. Doane; treasurer, O. J. Odegard.

Arrangements were made for the local club joining the parent league, and the official name of "Princeton Sportsmen's Club" was duly adopted by the meeting. The secretary was instructed to write the league and secure constitution and by-laws of the state organization. Another meeting will be arranged for in the near future at which the organization of the club will be fully completed, regular meeting nights fixed and a determined effort made to get every good sportsman in Princeton and neighboring vicinity to join this club and take an active part in the work. Watch for the notice of the next meeting and be sure to be there. This means any good, clean sportsman who lives in this community. Whether he lives in country or village is immaterial.

The Percentage of Influence.

The supreme council allocated two per cent of the indemnity imposed upon Germany on account of the Scapa Flow sinkings to the United States. And that's about the per cent of influence allocated to the United States in the original covenant of the league of nations.—National Republican.

A RHYMED REVIEW OF "THE MIRACLE MAN."

By Russell Holman

Far away from the bustle of cities
In a spot that is countrywide famed
Lived a Miracle Man, strangely gifted
To deliver the stricken and maimed.
To this patriarch old in his cottage,
With a plan to reap wealth from his deeds,
Came a group from the slums of Manhattan,
Who obeyed no command save their needs.
There was Burke and the Girl and the Dope Fiend
And a misshapen brute, their decoy.
Then a Miracle happened! The gangsters
Found the vile in their hearts was alloy!
For the pure guileless life 'mid the mountains
Brought ideals that cleansed hearts of crime,
Til at last even Burke, the foul-hearted,
Freed its soul from the taint of its slime.
It's a picture that tugs at your heartstrings
Full of thrills, mixed with laughter and tears
When you see it, you'll echo with thousands;
"Takes its place with the greatest in years."
