OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Rebekah Lodge No. 102 and K. P. Lodge No. 93 held Installation Ceremonies.

Rebekah lodge No. 102, held installation ceremonies last Friday evening, the officers installed being as follows: Goldie Neumann, N. G.; Marnie Tighe, V. G.; Claudie Hayak, chaplain; Elsie Iliff, recording secretary; Cora Pratt, financial secretary; Ruth Cohoes, treasurer; Ethel Nasly, conductor; Blanche Iliff, R. S.; Louise Neumann, L. S. to V. G.; Wm. Swanson, R. S.; Ida Cohoes, L. S. to N. G.; Elsie Nelson, warden; Hilda Kilmartin, I. W.; Margaret Swanson, O. W. A delightful lunch was served by the committee, after which a short time was spent in dancing. A pleasant time is reported.

K. P. Lodge No. 93, held a public installation on Thursday evening, January 5. About 150 persons were in attendance, a goodly portion being from Princeton. W. L. Chism, state deputy grand chancellor of Minneapolis, had charge of installation, being ably assisted by Attorney H. A. Lund, U. S. collector of customs. Rev. Clark opened the program with a splendid prayer, followed by a beautiful cornet solo by Irving Hetrick. Then came a recital by Lillian Stenbahl, "The Crooked-mouth Family." The following officers were then installed: Nial Neumann, C. C.; Irve Hetrick, V. C.; Carroll Stillman, prelate; Wm. Doane, M. W.; C. A. Stillman, M. A.; H. F. Pratt, M. F.; Chas. Sausser, M. E.; Fred Manke, I. G.; Geo. Staples, O. G.; after which the program continued as follows: Vocal solo, Winton Peterson; speech, Brother Lund of Minneapolis. Mr. Lund's speech was excellent. He dwelled on the merits of fraternal orders of brotherhood and good fellowship and spoke earnestly of the endeavor of the different organizations to prepare their members for leading Christian lives. He spoke sincerely and impressively and his hearers were deeply interested. The next number on the program was a recitation by Stella Schumaker, then came a speech by Brother Scism of Minneapolis, followed by impromptu speeches by Rev. Clark, who in turn answered Brother Lund on the talk of the relation between the church and the lodge. Wm. Doane of Princeton also gave a very interesting talk. Withal the program was very much appreciated. After the program the ladies began preparing lunch, which consisted of hot dog donated by Calvin Olson of Princeton, a worthy member of the K. P.'s, also coffee, cake and buns. The ladies from Princeton furnished delicious cakes. The small boys say they had such good kinds of cake and could take any they wanted. The coffee and buns were furnished by the lodge here. Mrs. Wm. Swanson kindly cooked coffee. After lunch the chairs were moved aside and those who wished indulged in the light fantastic. Ask anyone who attended whether they enjoyed the evening. The K. P.'s wish to thank the public for helping them make the affair an entire success.

Percheron Breeders' Association.

A group of farmers met last Saturday afternoon at Zimmerman and organized a community Percheron Breeders' association and purchased a 2,000-pound Percheron stallion from the Dunham farms in Illinois. The horse was sold by G. T. Goodwin of Fairmont, Minn., and is an exceptionally good individual, black in color and of a splendid disposition. The farmers who have financed the project in the near future will have done the community a lasting service in bettering the quality and individuality of the horses raised.

It is this type of community service, combined with good progressive agricultural business judgment, that builds up communities into places most desirable to live in, all of which in time will show its reflection by contributing to the general prosperity of the individual farmer.

The Cost of Necessaries.

Attorney General Daugherty has ordered a country-wide investigation into retail prices of food, fuel, shoes and clothing.

And he is going to use Detective

Burns and his men to find out what's what.

This seems an altogether desirable thing to do, and everybody should be for it. If it is not true that retail prices here and there are scientifically held at levels where they do not belong, then this investigation should bring out the truth, and dealers will be freed from a charge which is pretty generally made.

On the other hand, if it is found that there is such artificial levitation of the cost of necessities, then the department of justice, with state and local aid which should be readily forthcoming, can proceed to do what seems to be needed to correct the situation.

Attorney General Daugherty is planning what ought to prove a very great service to the country. He should have all the help and encouragement possible.

And it is to be hoped that he will have Sleuth Burns put some of his very keenest men on the subject of hard coal prices.—Duluth Herald.

TWAIN FOND OF BILLIARDS

Biographer Has Told How Great Humorist Would Wear Out His Companions at the Game.

November 30 is Mark Twain's birthday. The beloved humorist would have been eighty-six on that day in 1921, if he had lived. His biographer, Albert Bigelow Paine, in writing of Mark Twain's passion for playing billiards, a hobby which endured to the last, comments upon his great physical endurance and perpetual youth.

"I was comparatively a young man, and by no means an invalid," Mr. Paine writes, "but many a time far in the night, when I was ready to drop with exhaustion, he was still as fresh and buoyant and eager for the game as at the moment of beginning. He smoked and smoked continually, and followed the endless track around the billiard table with the light step of youth. At three or four o'clock in the morning he would urge just one more game, and would taunt me for my weariness."

"I can truthfully testify that never until the last year of his life did he willingly lay down the billiard cue, or show the least suggestion of fatigue. He played always at high pressure. Now and then, in periods of adversity, he would fly into a perfect passion with things in general. But, in the end, it was a sham battle, and we went on playing as if nothing had happened, only he was very gentle and sweet, like the sun on the meadows after the storm had passed by."

WITTY EVEN IN DREAMLAND

Rev. Washington Gladden Was Able to Recall Humorous Response He Made During Sleep.

Many of us have dreamed of writing a poem, delivering a speech or making a witty remark, that seemed at the time wonderfully brilliant, but that, recalled on waking, proved to be either commonplace or wholly meaningless. That is not always the case, however, as a story once told by the Rev. Washington Gladden proves.

He dreamed that the old house that formerly stood near his church was still there, and that old Mr. Deahler, who had been dead many years, still lived in it. Doctor Gladden also knew that his old dog, George, who never failed to bark at the minister when he passed the house, still lived. In the dream Doctor Gladden was passing the house when the door opened and the old gentleman came out, followed by George, who, as usual, rushed barking up to Doctor Gladden.

"Now, now, George," said the old man, "you ought not to do that. You know that's a friend of ours; that's Doctor Gladden."

"Oh! I have met George before," responded Doctor Gladden in his dream. "In fact George and I have for some time had a bow-wowing acquaintance."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Farms Supply Wild Life Loss.

According to figures supplied by the Dominion bureau of statistics, losses to the fur industry of Canada caused by the spread of civilization in the North are more than made up by rapid development of the fur farming industry.

In 1920 there were 587 fur farms in Canada, 578 of them foxes, six mink, two raccoon and one karakule sheep. The animals on these farms are valued at a little less than $5,000,000, silver foxes leading.

The industry commenced on Prince Edward Island and has worked west into British Columbia. By provinces the farms are distributed as follows: Prince Edward island, 300; Nova Scotia, 55; New Brunswick, 57; Quebec, 80; Ontario, 42; Manitoba and Saskatchewan, 4; Alberta, 15; British Columbia, 11 and Yukon Territory, 14.

Ex-Service Men as Teachers.

Intensive training for teaching is given ex-service men in England at Hornsey Rise Training college, under the auspices of the ministry of labor. The course is 75 weeks long and not more than 24 days' absence will be allowed to any student, so that the length of the course will approximate that of the ordinary training college.

There are 180 students registered in this course, which began July 1. All of these have been approved by the board of education and by the National Union of Teachers. Some have already had teaching experience.

Life as I See It.

From our prehistoric ancestors down man has always had a friendly feeling for trees, regarding them as almost sentient beings.

Great writers have not disdained to express this feeling.

Robert Louis Stevenson says: "He inquired his way of every tree."

And again, after an unpleasant encounter with a boor: "A tree would not have spoken to me like that."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

She Guffawed Then.

Sam—I never see you with Miss Giddings any more.

Loe—No; I couldn't stand her vulgar laughing.

Sam—So! I hadn't noticed it.

Loe—No, you weren't around when I proposed to her.

Preventable Forest Fires.

More than 180,000 forest fires have occurred in the United States during the past five years. Of these, 80 per cent were due to human agencies and were therefore preventable.

Shoddy Sheep.

"I believe I'll go over and examine them sheep of Jude's a little carefully," said Mr. T. to his wife; he's offered three of 'em for that yellow heifer, but knowin' him as I do I aim to be sure 'fore he gets her that their fleece ain't half cotton 'stead of all wool."—Youth's Companion.

The Oldest Feast.

The Jewish Feast of the Passover is the oldest religious celebration known to mankind. It had its birth on the banks of the Nile 4,000 years ago in the twilight of history. The feast, an impressive function, lasted through eight days.

The Red Sea.

The Hebrews called the Red sea the Yan Suph, or sea of weeds of sedge. The Red sea is really red, due to a minute bright red plant, a kind of seaweed so small that 25,000,000 can live and thrive within a single cubic inch of water.
