Civic Club Distributes Baskets.

The charity committee of the Civic Betterment club packed and distributed 19 baskets of food a few days before Christmas. These baskets went to those who are in need of a little assistance at this particular time.

The donations for these baskets were brought to the school house by the pupils. Besides this the club purchased 450 pounds of flour.

Much credit for this good work is due the mothers who prepared the packages donated, the children who delivered them, the teachers and Supt. Hall who assembled them for the club, Mrs. Charley Ross, chairman of the charity committee, and all her helpers.

The Civic Betterment club does splendid charity work.

New Year Greetings.

A number of the business houses of Princeton are represented in a special page covering New Year greetings and the Union takes pleasure in calling attention to page six of this issue. Others have greetings in individual ads elsewhere in the paper.

A Quiet Question.

Harpers: "In my state," says a Kentuckian, "is a town so full of family feuds and quarrels that the account of any festivity is sure to contain items of anything but a peaceable nature."

"A recent wedding presented such unusual features that it was spoken of with wonder by all the inhabitants. 'I never saw anything pass off so pretty and calm as Bud and Harriet's wedding in all my days,' said one of the invited guests a week after the wedding. 'Why, there wasn't a single casualty excepting Bill Thomas' black eye, and we got Henry Morton off him without half trying, you know we did. There didn't seem to be any what you might call family feeling at that wedding, anyhow!'"

A Walking Example.

American Legion Weekly: There wasn't a prouder young father in the town than former Lieut. Haskins. Even if the 2-year-old was a bit backward about learning to operate his feet, his parent could not see that it was anything except an advantage. One day, as he was guiding the child's uncertain footsteps along the path in front of his home, a neighbor approached.

"Ah, teaching the little fellow how to walk, eh?" he commented. "Not at all," replied the father proudly. "The child is teaching me things about walking I never dreamed of before. I never in the world imagined it was such a complicated process."

Bogus Brook Items.

Christ Kern and Oscar Nagel visited at the Herman Kührke home on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Minikus and sister, Emma Quade, called on Mrs. Aug. Olson last Wednesday.

Bill Kührke made a business trip to Milaca last Monday.
