DEMOCRATS ON THE RACE QUESTION.

A discussion of much interest to our people is engaging the attention of the New York World and an Alabama paper.

"The World talks of Negro education as a solution. That is absurd. The more education the Negro acquires the sharper the race conflict becomes.

"The first step towards the solution of the Negro question must be a due recognition of the Negro's equal right to consideration in the matter. The question is not what is best for the white man alone, but what is right and best for the common weal.

In this discussion the World advocates pure Democracy as laid down by Jefferson in the declaration of American Independence. The Republican party had better get into line and give the Colored voters of this country, their fair and equitable share in the party.

As the World truly says: "Education will make the Negro an intelligent and willing co-worker with the white man."

The Freeman the illustrated paper of Indianapolis in its last issue has a double cartoon that speaks in thunder tones.

asks, "Can I get a shave, sir?" The Colored barber replies, "No. We don't keep black soap."

A Chicago Colored preacher sends a notice that a meeting will be held at the Grand Pacific Hotel Tuesday evening for the purpose of organizing a Colored Young Men's Christian Association.

It is very evident that the Southern hell-hounds intend to try to grind down the Colored people into a state worse than slavery.

There is a movement on foot to call a conference of the most prominent Colored men of the United States to meet at Chicago next May.

of the Colored man. Even when the bleaching process has been so thorough that no external indication of African blood remains; even when the individual has assumed all the characteristics of Caucasian beauty and intelligence.

Tell the average American that he is descended from Pocahontas, that his blood may be traced to Confucius, or that his daughter has secretly married one of Mma. Blavatsky's mythical Indian Mahatmas.

But the most astonishing feature of this color caste is found in the complacent assumption of the average American that it is something inherent and natural in the human mind.

London is the great meeting-place of all the varied races of the world. A new Peter would find there the representatives of more peoples than listened to the many-longed sermon on the Day of Pentecost. All colors and conditions of men make up the varied web and woof of its marvelous life.

Under any and all circumstances death is a terrible thing and nothing draws forth human sympathy as readily as the grim monster. He has been in our midst often and cutting down on the right and the left but at no time did his work cause more sorrow than when on last Friday night Miss Gracie Johnson fell a victim to his death dealing scythe.

Interest in the three Feasts in the Wilderness is booming; all over the city it is the topic of conversation.

Probably nature never intended man to be shut up in an office, poring over dusty law books and spreading ink on ponderous ledgers.

Probably no craze has secured a firmer hold than the amateur photography, and it is by far one of the most sensible, inasmuch as it develops taste and love of out-door life.

Here is a chance for you to make big money. No humbug, no chestnut, but BUSINESS! We wish to employ a number of industrious ladies and gentlemen to introduce our work.

MISTAKES WILL OCCUR.

In Which Sage and Somewhat Trite As Sertion Many Men Concur. It was morning. The sun shone bright from a clear, blue sky. Every body hurried busily by.

"That's all right. No harm done," again said I. "You see, I didn't notice where you got on," the conductor then said.

"That's all right," said I, "mistakes are bound to occur." "Even the best business houses sometimes make mistakes," said a stout man, turning around to address me.

"That's all right," said I, "mistakes are bound to occur." "What is the matter?" said a sympathetic gentleman behind me.
