The Excelsior ball given at the G. A. R. Hall Monday evening was a most pleasant entertainment. The feature of the evening was a prize cake walk which was carried off by Mr. A. Douglass and Mrs. Irvine, the mother of Mrs. Wm. Donnell. The attendance was large and orderly. It is generally remarked that the Excelsior club furnishes the most of our first-class public balls.

The Bijou Opera House is presenting a fine list of attractions to its patrons this season. On next Monday evening manager Bijou will present to his patrons the new comedy drama "Devil's Mine," by Fred Darcey. The cast is a strong one and includes William Stafford, the tragedian who played leading parts with Booth and Barrett last season, Mabel Florence the soprano, with Monroe and Rice's "My Aunt Bridget" Co., last season. The piece comes well recommended by the different papers of the country.

In passing through our city we have noticed the janitors of the many buildings using a most excellent kind of mop. On inquiry we learn they are patented by Daniel Moore, of the firm of Moore & Lason, in Chicago, both Colored gentlemen, and are represented in our city by Mr. C. L. Brittain, who has succeeded in supplying most all of the Colored janitors and porters in the city which we are glad to see. Let us assist each other in our enterprises knowing that a success to one means success to all.

Rev. Dr. Burrell of the Westminster church lectured at the St. Peters on Wednesday evening. His discourse was an interesting one on the "Melancholy of Religion." He said this world was made for us to enjoy ourselves in. He does not believe in these long-faced christians. He thought the pulpit with a fence around it in the church superfluous, and the manuscript used by a minister out of place in the pulpit. His discourse was interspersed with mirth efficiently to keep the large audience in the best of humor. After the lecture the ladies of the church furnished refreshments in the basement, but not before a collection was taken up. Dr. Burrell was given fifty dollars for his lecture which he presented to the church. Financially the entertainment was a grand success, socially it has been the most pleasant event of the week.

There were three services held in the St. Peters A. M. E. church last Sunday. In the morning Rev. Williamson preached to a larger congregation than usual. His sermon was eloquent and forcible, and at its conclusion another name was added to the church roll. Rev. Henderson did not preach the Sacramental sermon as was expected, Rev. Williamson, however, preached in eminently convincing and interesting terms upon the comparative views of christians partaking of the solemn feast, and for once, doctrinal differences were forgotten, and Methodist and Baptist kneeling side by side were administered the symbolical bread and wine. At night the church was filled. The subject of Rev. Williamson's sermon was "The Systematic Giver." He spoke of the necessity of giving and of the beauty of giving systematically. He classed all of the laws of human action as a system of giving, and called special attention to religious, moral, intellectual and financial gifts. Speaking of the young men of our race he said their future depended upon their gifts.

Remarks were made by Messrs. F. Gray, H. C. Haley, and E. J. Childress. In addition to the articles given in the named parties Mrs. Lottie Lipscombe, Mrs. L. Prather, Mrs. J. Hale, Miss Jennie Suter, Miss Yillie Starks, Messrs. Allen Barrett, Thomas Crutchfield, and Fred Lewis sent things.

Sugar, coffee, meal, bacon, cabbage, rice, oat-meal, apples, potatoes, candy, cake, dress goods, table wine, meat dishes, pitchers, can goods, tea cups, mugs, turnips, onions, bread, stockings, pants, and many other useful articles. The little boys and girls enjoyed the surprise, and seemed to say come again.

Last summer a hen belonging to Robert Mosley, Colored, at Crawfordsville, Ind., hatched a brood of twelve chickens out in the woods. When she brought them to the house a baby quail followed. It has grown up with the chickens, is no wilder than they are, and goes to roost with them at night.

L. W. Noyes of Chicago, the maker of Dictionary Holders, sends upon receipt of a two-cent stamp to pay postage, a series of very pretty blotters of most excellent quality. One has a cut of a little drum-major cupid at the head of two long columns of Dictionary Holders, and this is his speech: "I am a quiet little 'drummer' for the Noyes Holders. It is my mission to call attention to the fact that these are the only Holders that have strong springs to hold the book firmly together, thus keeping the dust out of the upturned edges. The possession of Noyes' Dictionary Holders has made about 125,000 families happy and accurate in the use of words. Buy a Noyes Dictionary Holder from your bookseller and see how much more frequently you will refer to the dictionary."

Heavy Fine For Talking. Petersburg, Va., November 10.—John Brewer, a Colored caterer, was arrested yesterday for using incendiary language on the public street. The expression which he was charged with using was addressed to an assemblage of Colored people, and was that: "Lieutenant Critchton, who was killed at the fire yesterday ought to have been dead and in hell years ago." The Mayor fined him $100 and required a peace bond penalty of $500. On an appeal he was required to give both an appeal and peace bond in the sum of $1,000 each.

Old Man Corbin's Girl. Macon, Ga., Nov. 12.—W. E. Corbin, a well-to-do Colored farmer was in the city to-day on the hunt of his sixteenth-year-old daughter Ella, who eloped a few days ago with a preacher named Hayden. The old man says his daughter was dead stuck on Hayden and he wouldn't object to the match if they had come direct to him and told him of her intentions; but what makes him uneasy he is "afeard Hayden ain't doin' the square thing by his gal. If he's married her cordin' to law," said the old man, "hits all right, but if he ain't—well, you see this here shotgun."
