One of the most pleasant entertainments given for some time was given at Mrs. Farr's on last Monday evening for the benefit of the St. Peters A. M. E. church. A most excellent programme was rendered the features of which were the essay "On Starch" by Mrs. R. J. Coleman; readings, by Miss O. V. Woods; solo, by Mrs. Kate M. Smith; recitation, master Geo. Carlisle. The large audience and bounteous refreshments were other very pleasant features.

The leading and most novel entertainment of Thanksgiving week will be given Wednesday evening at St. Peter's church. "The Bridal Wine Cup" will be played with full costuming, and tableaux. It will please young and old, all should attend as it has never been rendered in this city before. There are other new features to be introduced, good music, and supper afterward. Don't fail to come. Trio, Master and Misses Carlisle; recitation, Georgie Carlisle; solo, Mrs. K. M. Smith, selection, Miss J. Williamson; duet, Miss F. Burke and Mr. R. J. Coleman; vocal solo, Mrs. L. The Social Union of the Bethesda church met on Friday evening Nov. 15, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Preston 1221 Fifth street South East. A very interesting programme was rendered, the feature of which was a recitation by Miss Drucilla Dungee. She is a "Miss" of only twelve summers, possessing extraordinary ability as an elocutionist which will be verified by the following example. "The Last Hymn" was the selection and had never been read, nor seen by the young lady, she had only heard it recited once by an elocutionist over six months ago. The production consists of three paragraphs which had two parts in substance as follows: Ship on ocean—storm-wreck—the ship parts in the middle and sinks—man clinging to a debris—Trumpeter on shore who cries "Look to Jesus!" The last hymn is heard—"Jesus Lover of My Soul" from the ship-wrecked man. Prof. Coleman here assisted the young actress by softly singing three verses of the above hymn in the meantime Miss Dungee sustained her part which ended as the singing died away—he drops into the water. The recital would have done credit to some of our actors. "Thanatopsis" was recited by Lawyer Morris. The programme consisted of many other interesting and pleasant repeats. The hostess served a very tasty repast after which adjournment was taken to meet again on the following Friday at the residence of Mrs. Celsbury 2425 24th avenue South.

"BIRDIE" HAS FLOWN!

John Buckner's Intended Bride Elopes With Ed. Young Her First Love High Society Sensation.

For several weeks past the principal topic of conversation has been the coming nuptials of Mr. John C. Buckner and Miss Bertha Wilson, which were arranged to take place Wednesday evening. The marriage did not come off at the scheduled time as Miss Bertha eloped Sunday with her first love a young man from Boston named Ed. Young.

The Buckner-Wilson marriage was to have been a great society event. The high contracting parties were in the swim as it were. Mr. Buckner is quite a nice looking and well-to-do young man, highly respected by all who know him. Miss Wilson, who made her debut last season, is a beautiful blonde of 19. Since her advent in society she has been one of the leading belles and many hearts have been laid at her feet. When it was learned that she had accepted Mr. Buckner's life partner many were the congratulations which poured in upon the young man who had succeeded in gaining her young and tender affection. John Buckner was counted the luckiest man in town. The swell young man looked on him with ill concealed envy. But alas! The beautiful bride has flown with another and Buckner is said to be nearly crazed by the terrible blow. He had elegantly furnished his house, No. 2918 Butterfield street and awaited with impatience the day which would make the beautiful Bertha his own forever. On several occasions Buckner and his intended had gone to Quinn Chapel, where the marriage was to have taken place, and practiced walking up the aisle, so that they would make a graceful appearance. Buckner had spent a great amount of money preparing for the wedding and when cautioned by his friends to be careful lest he get in too deep he replied, "I wish to make this the one great event of my life. I cannot be stingy now."

Buckner has many friends and his employer Mr. Woerner had prepared a $300 wedding supper as his wedding present. Kinsley, the caterer was to have given $500. All day Wednesday the presents came pouring in until it was estimated there were fully $2,000 worth of presents of every conceivable kind, both useful and ornamental had been received. These will, of course, be returned. The mother of Miss Wilson is prostrate with grief over her daughter's elopement as it was entirely unexpected to her, and she was greatly shocked when she received a telegram from her daughter dated at Boston, announcing her marriage to Ed Young.

Last Sunday, Ed. Young arrived in the city. He did not venture near the residence of his love but sent his trusted lieutenant, a man by the name of Campbell, to try to persuade "Birdie" to give up Buckner and fly with him. Campbell came and remained three hours in close conversation with Miss Wilson, and it seems that his arguments failed in effect, for when he left Birdie retired to her room and wrote the following letter which was found by her mother after she had flown:

"Chicago, Ill., Nov. 16, 1889.

Dear Edward: Mr. Campbell called upon me this morning and stated his mission, and I am very sorry to say I can't go with him just at this point. Had it not been for your contrary actions I should have been in Boston. Ed, when I wrote you this letter, it was my soul's intention to go to Boston. James Bently and John Allen fought over a chew of tobacco at Cumminsville, O., Sunday and Allen shot and killed Bently.

D. Scott, employed as porter on the passenger train running between Gordon and Camden, Ark., was shot and killed on the train Saturday by a white man who gave his name as Coleman, and his home at Luster, Ark. The porter remonstrated with Coleman about smoking in the car, and the shooting followed.

Louis Douglas, of Washington, a son of Frederick Douglas, minister to Hayti, has just received a letter from his father, written from Port-au-Prince, which gives no indications of his having found anything specially disagreeable in that city, as has been reported widely in American newspapers. He has met with a very satisfactory reception, and finds everything pleasant except the, to him, extreme heat, and that he is becoming accustomed to, and soon will cease to find it oppressive.

Mr. Henry King of Lexington, Ky. died in that city Saturday November 16th and was buried Monday afternoon. Mr. King was one of the most prominent men in the Blue Grass section, having been active in all movements for the betterment of his people. He was a prominent Mason, having been Grand Master and Grand High Priest in this State. He was also active in church matters and was a leader of thought in his prime. He has been in failing health for a year or two and his death was not unexpected. Peace to his ashes.

The crowning glory of the National Era was that most famous of novels, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," by Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, which began in the issue of June 1, 1851, and ended April 1, 1852. Before it was had finished it had created such a sensation that the Jewell's of Boston, had it stereotyped, and immediately after it was completed in the paper it was published in book form. In its earlier stages of publication in the newspaper it seemed to fall flat. The circulation of the National Era was 15,000 when "Uncle Tom" was begun. On the 1st of August, 1852, shortly after the great romance was completed, the circulation had gone up to 19,000. On December 30, 1852 it reached 27,000.

Colored Conference Called.

Petersburg, Va., Nov. 20.—A conference of the most prominent Colored men in the state will be held in Richmond on the 17th of December next, to consider the condition of the Colored men in Virginia, politically and otherwise. A call has been issued for representatives from every county and city in the state. A committee will probably be appointed to visit Washington and try to induce congress to pass a national election law.

Jackson Ignores Sullivan.

London, Nov. 16.—Peter Jackson said to The New York World correspondent to-night: "I have received no challenge from Sullivan, and I am paying no attention to him. It is not long ago since he said he would not fight a black man. I see no reason now why a black man should go out of his way to arrange a fight with him. I am going to stay in England a while and make some money, and go to the provinces after leaving London. Sullivan's talk about a match for $40,000 is all nonsense."

Death Cured Him.

Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 16.—A little Colored boy employed on John Johnson's farm, near Stirling, a village in the Watchung Mountains, back of Plainfield, met a strange death during the week. He was extraordinarily fond of milk fresh and warm from the cow's udder, and contracted the habit of suckling like a calf at the teats of the cows on the farm. To break the child of this habit Farmer Johnson recently had a wire muzzle made and locked on him. With this muzzle over his head, the little fellow slipped away to the pasture, and while tugging at the udder of a Holstein, the
