FACTS FOR WAGE-EARNERS.

Official statistics show that during the last fiscal year more than one hundred million dollars were sent abroad to pay foreigners for doing work that could have been better done in this country. And this without taking into the account any of the long line of fabrics made from cotton, wool, silk, flax and other fibers. Look at this list:

Table listing various goods and their values: Buttons and button materials $ 3,180,573; Cloaks, watches, etc. 2,104,864; Coal and coke 3,303,974; Earthen, stone and china ware 7,010,986; Glass and glassware 7,351,570; Iron, ore and pig 6,103,639; Iron and steel manufactures 22,751,647; Tinmed plates 20,746,427; Leather and manufactures 11,974,451; Marble and stone and manufactures 1,316,056; Musical instruments 1,731,283; Paper and manufactures 2,794,296; Paints and colors 1,387,707; Tobacco manufactures 4,048,281; Wood manufactures 4,652,919

Total $100,233,371. Although the labor required in making these articles could have been done by workmen in this country, although every dollar thus sent abroad might have been added to the earnings of American citizens who work for a living, the free trade attorney is not content with the proportion conceded to foreigners.

The tariff reformer borrows no trouble from the problem of finding work for our people in those lines for which they are by choice and education best fitted. He is content with the edict that Americans should be satisfied to raise cheap food and let those people who are willing to work for less wages than rule here attend to the manufacturing. The oracular Cobden Club has so decreed, and all its faithful followers cry amen! The protectionist insists that not only the $100,000,000 represented in the above list shall be turned into the pockets of workers in this country, but that every additional dollar that can be prudently kept at home shall be turned into the same channel. The issue is too plain for misunderstanding, and the majority of voters cannot afford to permit themselves to be inveigled into support of a free trade policy, however ingeniously its attorneys may for the time disguise the real object of their labors.

The "law and order" folks of St. Paul had a spasm of righteous indignation this week because of the Hall-Fitzsimmons prize fight which was announced to take place. They met and filled the largest hall in the city, resolute and appointed committees to wait upon the Governor and the city and county authorities, and finally succeeded in putting a stop to it. They should have begun sooner to raise objections and stopped it before so much money was spent in making preparations, and saved the city from the bad reports that will be put in circulation. There was a fight announced for Minneapolis and one for St. Paul at theatres which were not mentioned. They made a terrible hubbub about two men indulging in an exhibition of the "manly art of self defense." It was just too awfully awful for such a thing to take place in the "Sainted city." But these same goodie-good people read daily of inhuman butcheries of Afro-Americans in the South, both with and without the sanction of law, and inconsistently hold their peace. THE APPEAL is as much opposed to pugilism as the best of those who were so indignant that the outrage against law and order was to be perpetrated in St. Paul, but it is of the opinion they are straining at gnats while continually swallowing camels. The outrages which are put upon the Afro-American citizens of the United States cry more loudly for redress and restriction than these fistic battles between men who belong to a class, which, as a rule, is composed of the scum of the universe. The very best of the Afro-Americans are subjected to the same indignities and outrages as the lowest and most degraded; no distinction being made on account of wealth, education or moral worth. We would like to see these people get indignant at the treatment accorded to their Afro-American brothers. True, among those who were indignant there are some who have denounced the outrages against Afro-Americans in the strongest terms—notably Rt. Rev. Archbishop Ireland—but it smacks considerably of inconsistency to become so indignant over a little thing because it is brought to them and to fold their arms complacently and allow these outrages against 8,000,000 of their brothers to be of daily, almost hourly, occurrence and never utter a strong, loud, word of protest. "Consistency, truly thou art a jewel!"

Dear Editor.—I am eleven years old. My home is on a farm. I have two sisters and one brother. I have a horse and we go out riding. The horse's name is Nellie. I will close with a riddle: Round as an apple, deep as a cup, all the king's horses can't draw it out.

Lucy Jane Smith. Memphis, Tenn.

How few of us realize that the little animals, so many of them—birds, beasts and insects—are such excellent mechanics, skilled in business and all building operations? What they do is done so cleverly and with such neatness and despatch, and they never idle or lounge about till the work is done, and well done, too.

Take the fox, a dealer in poultry, and sometimes a wholesale dealer, as the farmers and farmers' wives know to their cost. Not satisfied with chickens and duckings, he must trade among the full grown hens, and many a good fat goose finds its way in his meat cellar.

The other and the heron, are fishermen, though they use neither line nor net! I seldom see the otter for he works his traps mostly under water—but the heron may often be seen standing with his long thin legs in the shallow part of the stream, suddenly plunging his long bill below the surface, and bringing up a fish.

The Demorest Monthly for July is full of good things adapted to almost every household. Short stories, essays, suggestions and notes and comments on topics of the hour are all interesting. Plates and formulas of the most recent fashions for women abound. The number is a fine one.

In Lippincott's for July there is a complete novel by Amelia E. Barr, entitled "A Rose of a Hundred Leaves." Edwin Checkley, Richard Malcom Johnson, Helen Gray Cone, Frances Courtney Bayler, Felix Oswald and H. C. Walsh are among the most prominent contributors to this most excellent number.

"Godey's Lady's Book" for July is as usual complete in every department. Its literary excellence is undoubted, while its illustrations are of the first order. It is the oldest lady's book in this country, and never fails in interest to its patrons. Its subscription price is only $2.00 a year, and the wonder is how it can be furnished at so low a figure.

Pattern robes are exceedingly popular, from the fact that they do not require decoration. A broad flounce of white lace, gathered quite full and caught here and there in overlapping flaps under bowknots of ribbon, is a dainty foot trimming. While the trim linen chemise is decidedly in mode for the tailor-made costume, yet woman could hardly find anything more trying. The most effective nets are heavy and coarse and generously sprinkled with velvet lozenges, these growing smaller as they near the top. With the newest roses of velvet are also woven into the material about the bottom of the robe. A charming arrangement of black lace insertion varies most delightfully the regulation flounce. Three rows placed their width apart are finished with a tiny ruffle of lace. The material being cut out from beneath the bands of lace, a pretty little dust ruffle is revealed through the meshes of the insertion.

Voters for Beauties, Attention!

Quite a large number of torn, mutilated, defaced or illegible ballots have been sent in, in the beauty contest. Such are immediately thrown into the waste basket and will not be counted. The ballots must be in a whole and good condition cut, not torn from the paper, with the blanks properly filled with name of beauty, correctly spelled, name of city and number of residence, name of street and state, and nothing more written on them and contain the names of respectable women or no notice will be taken of them.

When making questions to which answers are looked for in this column, correspondents should bear in mind that matters likely to be of general interest always have the preference. Write upon one side of the paper only.

B. D., New Orleans—How many persons are there in a pair of twins? Answer: Two. A twin is one of two persons born at a birth; therefore a pair of twins would be two persons born at a birth.

Claude S. Bridgeport—The practice of cold water bathing should be commenced in warm weather, a warm bath having been taken the day before, to cause the pores of the skin to act. The body will then become trained to its endurance, and may be safely subjected to it during the cold weather.

Melissa, Chicago—A gentleman will always remove his hat upon entering the house, whether it be his own or that of a friend, or upon entering a room where ladies are present. 2. For a young man to pick his teeth or nose, or scratch his head when making a call, is, as your friend pronounces it, "the extreme of vulgarity."

E. D. G., Detroit—The carat is an imaginary weight that expresses the fineness of gold, or proportion of pure gold in a mass of metal; an ounce of gold is divided into twenty-four carats, and gold of twenty-two carats, fine, is gold which consists of twenty-two parts out of twenty-four pure gold, the other two parts being silver, copper or other metal. 2. The best kind of pewter consists of one hundred parts of tin and seventeen of antimony.

Estelle, St. Louis—The absence of your betrothed should not prevent your accepting the courtesies of gentlemen among your own circle of friends; you should not, however, permit even an approach of marked attention from any one of them. 2. We would advise you to destroy all love letters from your former lover. It is merely a form of silly sentimentality which prompts you to retain them, now that you are engaged to another, and as you candidly admit a "better man than the other was or will be."

W. S. B. Glasgow—The title of alderman is of ancient date; princes; earls and other persons of distinction were generally termed "aldermen" by the Anglo-Saxons. It was also applied to certain officers in particular; there was an alderman of all England, but the nature of whose office is not now clearly understood; there was also a king's alderman, there was also aldermen of cities, boroughs, castles, etc., whose functions it would be impossible to explain. At present they are associated with the mayor of a city for the administration of municipal governments, both in England and the United States.

LEMUEL MOORE.

U. B. F.

Housewives who have some favorite recipe which they have tried and know to be good, are requested to send the same to THE APPEAL for publication.

AMBER PUDDING—Beat a quarter of a pound of butter to a cream, and gradually add the same of sugar and rice flour, beat until smooth. Butter a plain pudding dish. Flavor the mixture with the juice and grated rind of one lemon, pour in the dish, stand in a pot of boiling water and boil for two hours. Serve hot with rich sauce.

STRING BEANS—3 ring the desired quantity and cut them in two or three lengthwise strips and then crosswise; then soak in cold water twenty minutes. Boil in hot salted water with a pinch of soda until quite tender; drain well and season with pepper, salt and butter; serve hot in covered dish. This is a much more delicate way of preparing beans than cutting into bits.

CHICKEN SALAD—Take the remains of a cold chicken, or boil one expressly for the salad. Remove the skin and gristle, cut the meat from the bones and chop, put in a dish and set on ice or in a very cool place; cut white stalks of fresh celery into small pieces; to every pint of the chopped chicken allow half a pint of celery; when ready to serve mix the celery with the chicken, dust lightly with salt, white pepper, and a dash of cayenne; pour over a pint of mayonnaise dressing, garnish with rings of hard-boiled eggs and celery tips.
