

FASTED AND PRAYED.

The Afro-Americans of St. Paul Observed Last Tuesday.

With Meetings at Each of Their Churches at 11:00 A. M., A Joint Meeting at Pilgrim Church at 2:00 P. M., and a Memorial at Turner Hall at 8 P. M.

The Afro-Americans of St. Paul in compliance with the address of the St. Louis committee grandly observed Tuesday May 31 as a day of fasting and prayer with the hope, that Almighty God will so work upon the hearts of the American Nation that the murderous lynchings to which we are subjected may cease from our land.

The singing which was done by the whole audience was led by Mrs. Rosa Hazard Hazel on the piano and Mr. J. Morgan on the organ, and was grand in extreme.

PROGRAM: Singing, "God Speed the Right"..... Adherence. Invocation..... Rev. L. H. Reynolds. Introductory..... Rev. L. C. Sheafe.

"The Negro Power in His Own Behalf" Singing, "The Choice"..... J. Q. Adams. Singing, "Battle Hymn of the Republic"..... J. Q. Adams.

On the stage were seated the members of the committee of arrangements as follows: J. Q. Adams, chairman, W. A. Hazel, F. L. McGhee, Rev. L. H. Reynolds, Rev. L. C. Sheafe, J. B. Johnson, J. H. Hickman, T. H. Lyles, R. E. Anderson, H. Howard, A. Jackson, B. C. Smith, J. Thornton, Rev. J. C. Anderson, J. G. Charleston, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. J. W. Smith, Mrs. A. G. Russell, secretary, also Rev. R. Hickman, Wm. Harrison, D. E. Talbert, S. E. Harly.

The hall was beautifully decorated with evergreens and bunting while in the background on the stage were grouped life-sized portraits of Col. Robt. G. Shaw, Wendell Phillips, John Brown, Frederick Douglass and Charles Sumner framed in evergreen over which was draped a large American flag.

Rev. L. C. Sheafe presided, and in the course of an introductory address dwelt on the inequalities to which the Colored people were subjected. The persecution of which they were the objects in the South, and the prejudice to which they were generally subjected throughout the country, he condemned as contrary to the principles of a Christian nation and hostile to the spirit of emancipation.

F. L. McGhee then spoke on "The Negro Power in His Own Behalf." He reviewed the history of the race from the time the first African was brought in chains to this country to the present day. On the day preceding the nation had passed to lament her dead, but how many graves of brave Colored men who had laid down their lives in that cause were decorated? That they might not be forgotten he deposited a wreath to their common memory.

W. A. Hazel delivered an exhaustive address on "The Negro and his Critics" which bore evidence of great labor and research on the part of its author and which presented pertinent points and facts and showed plainly that the whites read the Afro-American with their prejudices rather than with their eyes.

The following resolutions were presented by J. Q. Adams and by a standing vote were unanimously adopted.

WHEREAS, We Afro-American citizens of St. Paul, being assembled pursuant to a call signed by Peter H. Clark, John A. Aze, Walter M. Farmer, John A. Kelley, Arthur D. Langston, and one thousand others, appointing this 31st day of May, 1892, as a day of fasting and prayer. Therefore be it

RESOLVED, That we implore the Supreme Ruler to aid our suffering and oppressed brethren in the South.

RESOLVED, That such suffering being manifestly due to the failure of Government to perform the function for which it was created: To secure the safety and welfare of its citizens.

THIRTEENTH, We ask that Divine Wisdom shall make our white fellow citizens see that the security of Republican institutions rests in the observance of the self-imposed law of its citizens, and that when life, liberty and property, are insecure by reason of the inefficiency of existing laws, we pray that the wisdom and conscience of the Nation may find a speedy and complete remedy, which will afford equal justice to all.

RESOLVED, That the pride of the citizens in the integrity of the State, is the basis of loyalty; and in a Republic, is the guarantee of its permanency.

RESOLVED, That the broken pledges on the part of Government, and the frustration of all public morality, honor and obligation, strikes at the very root of patriotism; and paves the road by which the life of Government may be assailed.

RESOLVED, That the Government of the United States, by the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution, pledged itself that, "No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."—Now shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

RESOLVED, That we call the attention of Congress to the fact that the Government has continually failed to redeem its pledges of protection to citizens of the United States upon its own soil. That without due process of law its citizens are within the jurisdiction of certain States—being deprived of life, liberty and property, regardless of the Nation's guarantee of "equal protection of the laws."

RESOLVED, That in exposition of our views we quote the Hon. A. W. Tourgee who says: "The Fourteenth amendment radically modify the previous relations of the Government of the United States to the people of the various States. Previous to that time only those were citizens of the United States who were citizens of some State or residents of a territory. This is the very gist of the Dred Scott decision. A white man was a citizen of the United States and his rights could be enforced by the courts of the United States in any of the States only by virtue of the fact that he was a citizen of another State. The Colored man could not become a citizen of any State nor of the United States. By this means the Colored man was excluded from testing in the United States courts any law of a State affecting his rights."

The Fourteenth amendment not only that, but it also defined State citizenship and declared that no State should restrict or modify it. "A government which has power to determine who shall be citizens of any State, has the power to restrict by any method the rights of such States from defining its own citizens and providing redress for their grievances if the State neglects to do so."

The Fourteenth amendment was virtually a declaration by the Nation to this effect: "These are my citizens, and I hereby make them also your citizens."

A government exists for but one purpose—to secure the safety and welfare of its citizens. When it fails to do that it ceases to perform the function for which it was created. If the United States can not protect the lives of its citizens, or redress their slaughter, it is only because the Congress of the United States has not enacted laws to give the courts of the United States jurisdiction of offenses against the lives and persons and rights of her citizens.

RESOLVED, That we invoke the executive to enforce to the extent of his prerogative, such laws as already exist. We appeal to Congress for that enactment of such laws as shall "give the courts of the United States, jurisdiction of offenses against the lives, persons and rights of her citizens."

RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent the President of the United States, and to each of our representatives in Congress, and that the latter be urged to secure if possible the enactment of such laws as shall afford adequate protection to all citizens.

J. Q. ADAMS, W. A. HAZEL, F. L. MCGHEE, L. H. REYNOLDS, J. H. HICKMAN, Committee

The singing which was done by the whole audience was led by Mrs. Rosa Hazard Hazel on the piano and Mr. J. Morgan on the organ, and was grand in extreme. Especially was this so in the case of the following song composed especially for this occasion entitled:

(Tune) "AMERICA"

O Country, 'tis for thee Pledged to fair Liberty— For thee we cry; Land where our fathers came, Land of our mothers' shame, Land of our toil and pain, Must thou too die?

Die to the sense of wrong, While on thy lips, the song Of liberty? False to thy sacred trust? False to thy hallowed dust? False to the true and just Who died for thee?

Shame on thy stary crown! No black hand tore it down! In days of strife: But blood of bond and free, Thy black sons gave to thee, And saved by loyalty A nation's life.

"These black sons have no right For which thou need'st to fight" Thou now dost say. We hurl thy sentence back From million throats of black. Pray God, thou clear the track For Freedom's way!

Shall Justice longer call From legislative hall To thee in vain? Where is thy boasted power? This is the waiting hour, Rise, and no longer cower, Remove thy stain.

Then shall we sing of thee, Land of the noble free,— Thy name we love: Ours too, this land so bright, Ours, Freedom's holy light; Protect us by its might Just God above!

ROSA HAZARD HAZEL, St. Paul, Minn., May 23, 1892.

Isaac Had The Best of It. SCENE.—Smoking room of sleeping car. DRAMATIS PERSONA.—Hebrew, who wants to be sociable. American, who hates Jews, and is not on very good terms with himself. Hebrew: "Have a cigar mine friend?" American: "Empathically,—"No."

After a few minutes, Jew hazards another question. "Yes selling goats." American, with a contemptuous glance: "Yes," (and look out of window.) Another wait, and again the Jew ventures. "Vot line you i."

American, (glares at Jew and says roughly): "Brains." Hebrew (quickly answers): "Dots nice; you don't carry samples, do you." Now this would not happen on the Minneapolis & St. Louis Ry. The people who travel on this line are too well suited with the fine equipment, fast trains, always on time, and the fine scenery to indulge in such boorishness as this. When you want a pleasant journey with happy people, correspond with C. M. PRATT, G. P. A., M. & St. L. Ry., Minneapolis, Minn.
