LOVERS' LANE.

At Grand Opera House, St. Paul. "Lovers' Lane," presented by Wm. A. Brady's original company, the one identified with its remarkable run in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and all the great cities, will be the offering at the Grand Opera House next week. It is a clean, wholesome play, with delightful sentiment and merry humor, in which Clyde Fitch reveals the same brilliant touches of satire that are characteristic of his society comedies. But in this instance his target is the follies of human nature that crop out conspicuously in the small provincial town. Quaint types of New England character are made vital in the story of a stalwart young country clergyman's struggles against the Puritanical prejudices of the narrow minded in his congregation. The purity crusaders whom he satires are to be found in every community. The humor, the apple orchards are marvelous scenes are introduced romping children, the phlegmatic fat boy, the strenuous fighting lads and no end of quaint and amusing types.

Oxygen is Life's Necessity. Without Oxygen man dies, but when the blood is well fed with oxygen man lives in the full enjoyment of health. Life should be a constant physical revolution. Oxygen is a feeder of living tissues.

Disease and sickness arise from lack of vitality, which is due to lack of oxygen in the blood. OXYDONOR animates and thus reverses this degeneration, opens the way for the whole organism to drink freely of oxygen, through the pores of the skin and membranes, and sets in operation an energizing, irresistible, vital force, which speedily overcomes disease. One OXYDONOR will serve the family. It cures while you rest, and its results are equally efficacious for the infant and grandchild.

The following testimonial, one of many hundreds, testifies as to the efficiency of the Oxydonor: St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 28, 1903. Dr. C. S. Wilson: I take great pleasure in notifying you that I have given the Oxydonor a thorough test lately, when my wife was sick with La Grippe, Bronchitis, and a touch of Pneumonia. It was a severe attack, accompanied by high fever, and I must confess that I had some doubts about the outcome. But to my surprise the Oxydonor worked like magic; I had to use it in ice for 35 hours, but it conquered the disease. Applying the Oxydonor two more nights perfected the cure.

Yours very gratefully, JOSEPH SIEP, 925 E. 6th St. Anyone wishing to investigate further in regard to the Oxydonor should call on or communicate with Dr. C. S. Wilson, 611 N. Y. Life Bldg., St. Paul, Minn.

by the members of the British aristocracy; it is maintained by all aristocrats, and by all society that is sure of itself. The trouble with this solidist Southern aristocracy is that it is laboring under the superstition that it must constantly assert its social superiority to the Negro lest the careless and uninformed assume that the contrary is the case. Not only the aristocrat but the gentleman, doth protest too much.—Detroit Free Press (Dem.).

A SYMPOSIUM ON LIARS. The following symposium on "Liars" is worth reading, even if it fails to do the subject complete justice. The editor who publishes the obituary of these aristocrats and intimates that they have gone to heaven—Plymouth Independent.

Next to, if not above this one, the editor are all right; our hearts are in the right place, our lungs are in excellent condition, as you may see if you attend our prayer meetings. Our ailment seems to be a sort of skin disease, and it has been diagnosed as "Epidemic Nigger." It is only one-sixteenth of an inch deep, but it is the cause of the whole "Negro problem."

But the worst liar of the whole outfit is the man who takes the paper per seven or eight years, and when finally cornered for settlement, says he never ordered the paper at all.—Pike County Post.

Retreat, you all fall short of the truth. The biggest liar in the lot is the editor who publishes the obituary of these aristocrats and intimates that they have gone to heaven—Plymouth Independent.

sensation. It was plain, but dignified; warm, but logical; altogether, as a whole and effective a defense of the race by one of its number as has been heard in Boston for some time. Dr. Morris convulsed the audience by saying: "It seems to me that this Negro problem, so-called, is discussed in very much the same way that medicine is administered to a horse. We never ask the horse what the matter is with him; we simply diagnose his disease and make him take our prescription. What is the matter with us? Under education our skulls are gradually enlarging and our brains are right; our hearts are in excellent condition, as you may see if you attend our prayer meetings. Our ailment seems to be a sort of skin disease, and it has been diagnosed as 'Epidemic Nigger.' It is only one-sixteenth of an inch deep, but it is the cause of the whole 'Negro problem.'"

I HAVE NOTICED THAT—Noise does not prove much. It is not the loud thunder, but the silent lightning, that kills.

Faith without works is dead, but some men never cease trying to galvanize the corpse.

The other fellow's creed may be all right, but there is one insuperable objection to it—it is not mine.

A deed of kindness is like a dainty kid glove; it makes even a big and awkward hand beautiful.

The loudest partisan sometimes looks the saddest when he is asked to tell the reason for the faith that is in him.

The clearest and most beautiful weather comes after a shower. I prayerfully strive to think of this when my wife weeps.

Miss Jings really is a handsome girl, but did you never observe that the prettiest canary sometimes has the most discordant screech?

There are eclipses of the sun and of happiness, but they do not last long, being, in each instance, a species of overturning of the natural order of things.

Some love for the lower animal kingdom is in the heart of almost every man. For instance, I am fond of the humble and unpretentious hen—when properly fried.

Toothaches differ in the amount of pain they inflict, and it is a curious fact that your wife's toothache never is as serious as your own—unless she happens to be telling about the matter.

The youth of twenty years who knows it all is likely to be less certain about it at the age of forty.—Alfred J. Waterhouse in New York Times.

One time a man made a fortune as a teacher of class in memory. He borrowed fifty cents from each pupil as the first lesson. All the pupils retained their memory.

Some actors object to stepping out of their character on the stage when called before the curtain. Often it is noticed, though, that through some inadvertence they do not succeed in stepping into the character.
