PROF. W. E. B. DU BOIS

Visits St. Paul and is Warmly Welcomed by Her Citizens. The people of St. Paul have had a rare treat this week in having Prof. W. E. B. Du Bois with them. He delivered a lecture at Plymouth Congregational church Monday evening to a large audience. Tuesday afternoon he was the guest of the Monday Art Club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hickman. There was a goodly number of ladies of the Twin Cities present. Before the arrival of Prof. Du Bois the company was highly entertained with recitations and readings. On the arrival of Prof. Du Bois in company with Mr. F. L. McGhee he was welcomed by the hostess and received with the Chautauqua salute. Miss Hattie Loomis then rendered a vocal solo. The address of welcome was then made by Mrs. Jasper Gibbs, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs. Prof. Du Bois responded in a happy strain. His remarks were very timely and were well received. After the close of his remarks each present was personally presented to the distinguished visitor. Refreshments were served and thus closed a most pleasant afternoon's entertainment.

In the evening Prof. Du Bois spoke at House of Hope church under the auspices of the Men's Sunday Club. The president of the club, Mr. H. B. Howard called the meeting to order and stated its object and then called upon Mr. F. L. McGhee to preside. A special chorus rendered several very pleasing selections. Miss Gladys Alexander gave a most delightful soprano solo. Prof. Du Bois then presented his lecture upon "Atlanta University" which was listened to throughout with evident interest and pleasure.

The chorus again sang and a liberal collection was raised for the benefit of Atlanta University and the meeting adjourned.

BROTHER GONE TO REST.

Two Prominent Ladies of St. Paul Lose a Brother. Mr. R. D. Hyde, brother of Mrs. O. D. Howard and Mrs. H. F. McIntyre, came to St. Paul in July, 1904, in search of his health, but there was no improvement. He returned to his home, Wick, Iowa, Feb. 19, 1905, and died Feb. 25th. Mr. H. F. McIntyre accompanied by Mrs. Harriet Stillwell, Mr. Hyde's mother, and his son William Hyde left last Saturday night to attend the funeral which was held Tuesday, Feb. 28, 1905. The ladies have the sympathy of their friends in their hour of bereavement.

That's What the Varsity Circus and Menagerie is—Don't Miss It. The World's greatest indoor circus will be given at the University armory next Friday and Saturday, March 10th and 11th. Three performances will be given with a complete change of program for each performance. The circus will be given under one of Ringling Bros.' huge tents within the armory. Among the side show attractions will be seen Wang Chow Chow, king of the opium smugglers, who was captured at San Francisco through the disloyalty of his subordinate revenue officers, the cream of the service, and even then he would have escaped had he not been brought down by a blow from a crowbar on the back of his head. Three men were killed in the encounter and not a man escaped unhurt. His countenance resembles a cross between a corkscrew and a scrambled egg. Wang Chow Chow will be on exhibition at every performance of the big show. Other attractions are the wonderful Louisiana mud man, who cannot live a moment out of his pool of mud. Uncle Sam's pet chicken, the glass eating newsboy, etc., etc.

Bryan are to be present. All who miss the great show will miss one of the greatest opportunities of seeing a big show that was ever offered.

THE APPEAL ARTICLE

On the Connor Murder Brings the Authorities to Time. The article in THE APPEAL of last week stating the action of the Hennepin county authorities in reference to the shooting of Richard Connor had the effect of awakening them to a sense of their duty in the matter. Even so soon as Sunday the county attorney's office put itself in communication with Mr. J. H. Dillingham by phone which resulted in several conferences with the county attorney and finally Mr. Dillingham and other witnesses were summoned to appear before the grand jury. In the meanwhile a requisition was obtained from the governor and a deputy sheriff started for the east to bring back the accused. W. R. Morris, Esq., was appointed as an assistant in the case and he was sent to Pittsburgh to determine what witnesses were needed from the William Walker company. The grand jury has had the matter under advisement and it is confidently believed that it will return an indictment for murder in the first degree.

Mr. Dillingham has expressed himself as very highly pleased with the manner in which the county attorney has worked on the case since he and he seems to be sparing neither money nor labor to bring the accused to the bar of justice. He also feels much satisfaction in thus being able to show his interest in and friendship for the Connor family.

Learned the true facts in the same

THANKS OF THE BAILIE.

Possibly More Truth in Speech Than He Intended. There was an excellent man who, after serving his fellow citizens in Glasgow as a councillor, at length was promoted to the dignity of bailie, or alderman, as the rank is called in England. Though he was none the worse on that account, it is the simple fact that his education had been neglected. This he proceeded to prove—himself happily unconscious—in his speech of thanks:

"I cannot but say, my friends, that I am proud of the honor of being made a bailie of this great city; and I am even, I think, entitled to the honor, for I have gone through a' the various stages o' degradation that a bailie has to do to reach it!"

This recalls the famous story of the councillor who objected to a proposal to place a candelabra in the council chamber on the ground that they would need to pay some one to play it!

Her Transformation.

She drank quantities of water, ate a lot of starchy foods. Abstained from exercising every day. She assimilated lacte and a case of maldigestion of goods. But she seemed her fate to have to fade away. She so mourned attention, with a visage like an owl's. That a smile upon her face was never seen. While below her mouth were wrinkles, and above her eyes were scowls. And her nose was like a hatchet in between.

But one day she fell to laughing in a strange, hysterical way. Just in thinking—how ridiculous it proved. And it melted to a cackle that was some enough, they say. Till at last she giggled every time she moved. Why, she chuckled over her wrinkles, and she snickered off her frowns. And then took to all the things she shouldn't do. Now she's grown as fat as butter, and she laughs away at that disaster, too.

Turquoise the Stone of the East.

The best turquoises are found in the celebrated Nishapur mines in Persia, in which district are two whole villages inhabited by turquoise miners, who work at a depth of eighty or ninety feet below the ground, breaking the rock with hammers. Upon a turquoise being discovered, it is laid aside in its rough state, and afterwards extracted from its matrix by an elaborate method. Besides these mines, there are others known as khak (earth) mines, in which the gems are found in loose soil, two or three feet below the surface. No Oriental, however poor, but manages to become possessed of a turquoise, even if it is only in a tin setting.

Spaniels Always on Duty.

Spaniels are full of resource, and their exploits in retrieving wounded birds are wonderful. A small brown and white spaniel, broke its foreleg, which was set in stiff bandages hardened with some preparation. It could only go on three legs, but hopped out after its master with the other dogs when these were taken for a walk. There had been a pheasant shoot, and the little spaniel could not resist slipping off to smell down the side of a small belt. It discovered a winged cock pheasant, dashed after it on three legs and caught and retrieved it, hopping into the road with the big bird in its mouth.—County Gentleman (London).

Cultivate the Memory.

Many people complain of having a poor memory, and yet that faculty can be developed as easily as can the biceps muscle. Nor is it necessary to go to any professor of memory or to master any elaborate system in order to accomplish this result. One does not have to go to a gymnasium to strengthen the arm or back. Chopping wood or rowing a boat will do it. Similarly, memory may be cultivated by an effort and amid ordinary pursuits.

First Life Insurance Policy.

The first life insurance policy of which the details are on record resulted in a lawsuit: William Gymboss insured himself on June 15, 1882, for $388 against dying in twelve months; he did die on May 18 of the next year—and the disgruntled underwriters (the company of those days) contested payment on the plea that he had lived twelve months of twenty-eight days each!—The World's Work.
