SEEN AND HEARD IN MANY PLACES. NEGROES AND THE STRIKE.

Strike sympathizers can stand back in the crowds of spectators and hurl bricks and insults at the strike breakers—white or colored—who are attending strictly to business. But if the strikers thus attacked attempted to protect themselves, the chances are that the policemen would arrest them rather than the persons who were guilty of the disorder—unless, perhaps, the lives or heads of the policemen themselves were in danger, in which case the arrested lawbreaker would be allowed by some justice to get off with a fine of $1, when it should have been a fine of $50 or $100, and from ten to thirty days in jail. The order to arrest all violators of the law seems to have a string to it. If the city officials had put their feet on the violence at the outset they could have stamped it out.

I am persuaded that the colored strike breakers have been very unjustly treated. For instance, when the police searched the strike breakers for weapons they would fail to disarm the union pickets. When the police came to the rescue of an attacked Negro they would generally succeed in arresting the colored man, but not his assailants. Students and citizens have been attacked for nothing else than because they were Negroes, despite the fact that they had nothing whatever to do with the strike.

William O'Day, a colored union teamster, was attacked by Albert Enders, a union hanger-on. The colored man shot his assailant, fatally. The employers should see that he is given a just trial.

The other evening a colored laboring man was riding home from his regular work on a 26th street car. When near Stewart avenue the conductor pointed out this man to two union pickets. They at once attempted to get at him and had not the colored man been prepared for such attacks they might have done him great injury before a policeman appeared.

Can any one blame the colored men for defending themselves? The Negroes have a better right to work here than so many foreigners who are guilty of all manner of crimes. Worst of all, many of the foreigners are anarchists and plotters against the government of the country. The Negroes

A young woman in our midst, and who, until a few days ago, occupied a responsible position in a large mercantile establishment, neglected to arrange a small detail in the business in which she was engaged. She admits that the matter was a very small one but she thought that there was "time enough" and she put it off until the next day. Sad to relate the "next day" never came. This neglect, as small as it was, cost the young lady her position, and her employer was put to considerable trouble and expense in fixing the matter up. I can not tell you any more about this incident, and would not if I could, and I mention it for the benefit of the young men and women who may read this column. Every one is not engaged in business, or even employed by any one, perhaps you may still be attending school, be that as it may, the lesson is applicable to every one. Don't procrastinate, whatever you have to do today, do it, and do it in a careful way, and you will never regret it. If you are old enough to read these lines, you are old enough to remember that "A stitch in time saves nine." This old adage is an important one to observe in every walk in life as well as in every labor or duty that confronts the individual. How many men permit a business condition or difficulty to go uncorrected only to find that the proverbial "nine stitches" have to be taken later when the difficulty can no longer be postponed, if, indeed, they do not find the whole enterprise ruined beyond repair. It is the same in social matters; the stray word, the fancied slight, the unmeaning omission, which might so easily be accounted for, if not taken in time and corrected and explained, lead to the estrangements of friends, the rupture of business relations, or even the separation of husband and wife and of families.

In the Daily News Saturday, May 13th, appeared an article, entitled "Negroes and the Strike." I presume that "Dyers," the name attached, is that of an Afro-American. Whatever his color, he has the right idea, and I quote his article in full without further comment:
