

TWO OPEN LETTERS.

Requesting the Celebration of the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of J. Q. Adams' Editorship of the Appeal.

St. Paul, Minn., April 24, 1911.
Mr. J. Q. Adams,
City.

My Dear Mr. Adams:

As I had the honor, if such it may be denominated, of being the first editor of THE APPEAL, then known as the "Western Appeal," I have watched its course with, perhaps, more interest than that generally evinced by others. Having been so closely connected with its early history, and knowing something of the hardships that surrounded it then, and doubtless do still, I can more fully appreciate the efforts you have put forth in maintaining it and conducting it on the high plane upon which it has always stood, than can those who are not familiar with the business side of it.

Since the advent of THE APPEAL there have been a number of publications started in this state under various auspices that passed from the field of action after brief and fitful existence, but THE APPEAL is still doing business at the old stand.

Now, Mr. Editor, as the paper has been in existence since June 1885, and you became associated with it in 1886, this year is the twenty-fifth year of your connection with it as editor and manager, and I believe that this fact should entitle you to some special consideration at the hands of the people whom you have served so long and well.

Last year, through your efforts, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the birth of the paper was celebrated in a most fitting manner, and the entertainment and souvenir edition in connection with that occasion have never been equaled in Minnesota—nor elsewhere, for that matter.

Since it was your able management that maintained the paper, some honor and credit is due you; and, I am one who delights "to do honor unto those to whom honor is due." And I believe the people of St. Paul, and throughout the state, will be glad to join in celebrating your twenty-fifth anniversary as editor of THE APPEAL.

Your able management of the Quarter-Centennial Celebration of THE APPEAL last year, was seen and recognized by every one who was present; and, if you, yourself, will take charge of the matter as you did then, I am confident that the public will feel satisfied that everything that can be done will be done to make the occasion a grand success, and that with me the people will willingly say: "Just you, go ahead and we'll hold your coat."

Very truly yours,
F. D. Parker.
Minneapolis, Minn., April 25, 1911.
J. Q. Adams, Esq.,
St. Paul, Minn.,
Mr. Editor:

Since the Quarto-Centennial Celebration of last September, commemorating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the birth of THE APPEAL, was such an unprecedented success, from every point of view; and, is remembered, with pleasure, by every one who had the good fortune to be present on that, never-to-be-forgotten, occasion, it has occurred to me that another such affair would be hailed with delight by all who were present, as well as by those who, for some reason or another, were deprived of that blessed privilege; and who would not miss the opportunity if it was again offered to them.

I also recall the fact that the twenty-fifth anniversary of your association with THE APPEAL occurs this year; and I feel that this is an event as worthy of being celebrated as the birth of the paper; if not more so. For, it undoubtedly is owing entirely to your managerial ability and indefatigable labors that THE APPEAL has been enabled to withstand the storms that have wrecked many like ventures upon the rocks of adversity. And it does seem to me that it will be very fitting and proper for the people of the Twin Cities to show a just recognition of the herculean task you have accomplished in maintaining an organ in their interest for a quarter of a century, by tendering you a testimonial on the twenty-fifth anniversary of your connection with the paper, or, on such other date that in your judgment is more convenient or suitable. I would therefore suggest, if it meets your approval, as I know it will, the patrons of THE APPEAL and your friends generally—that you proceed to carry out that idea along the lines employed in the Quarto-Centennial Celebration of THE APPEAL last year.

I have no special suggestions to make, as the success of last year's affair, as well as many other social functions that have been under your control testify to your exceptional ability to manage them "to a queen's taste," therefore, I feel sure you would carry this to a successful issue, if left to follow the bent of your own inclination.

I am satisfied that I voice the sentiments of the people of Minneapolis.

Respectfully yours,

R. S. Brown, M. D.
By a singular coincidence the letters above, reached THE APPEAL office this week. It is very gratifying, indeed, to receive such kind words and to be made to feel that we have not lived and labored in vain these many years, and that these people were so well pleased with the Quarto-Centennial of THE APPEAL, as attested by those correspondents. We would be pleased to hear from any others who desire to express themselves in regard to the proposed celebration of our twenty-fifth anniversary before finally deciding what action to take in the matter. So let us hear from the patrons of THE APPEAL.

Respectfully,
J. Q. Adams.
