RAISULI A NATURAL LEADER

Born to Command, is the Belief of a Writer in the Wide World Magazine.

A troop of soldiers came first, blowing brass instruments, banging drums or swinging rifles (of every make for the last century) according to which they carried. Then came the sheikhs, resplendent with white burnous, yellow or scarlet slippers and silver-mounted pistols and swords. Many of these, perhaps 200, marched two by two; and at last came Raisuli—Raisuli the pretender; Raisuli the brigand; Raisuli, murderer, soldier, outlaw, governor—an admixture of personalities out of all keeping with the times in which we live. And what is he like? He is medium in height, very stout, light-complexioned and heavily bearded. Clear hazel eyes that look you fair in the face are set beneath a massive forehead; his hands, though fat, are well shaped, cared for and artistic. He has a soldierly bearing, is an exquisite in dress and can, it is said, score bull after bull with his modern rifles at 500 yards. Undoubtedly a man to command, a man of action and a terrible enemy. But he is growing stouter almost hourly. He passed us by pompously, yet with a certain fine bearing, and we, leaving Mochita to his arrangements, strolled to where our horses were being reshod.—Wide World Magazine.

Antelope increasing in Idaho.
T. J. Palmer, assistant chief of the United States biological survey, has written to State Game Warden Ben Gray, asking for estimates as to the amount of antelope and moose in this state, says the Idaho Statesman. The antelope are on the increase, according to information which has been received at the office of the game warden, particularly in the Mackay district, where they have recently been seen in large numbers.

Despite the protection on moose they are still extremely scarce in this state and are to be found only in the few isolated valleys of Idaho which have not been taken up by ranchmen and where they are being protected by the farmers in the hills near by.

The antelope are increasing fast in the state under the protection which is afforded, and it is said they have fared extremely well for the last few years with the wolves and other beasts of prey.

Taught the Princes Manners.
A little incident which occurred recently shows how very particular King George is with regard to the training of his sons. Two of the younger boys were riding near his majesty when the cavalcade passed men who were working on the road. The men removed their hats and the king at once doffed his own hat. His majesty noticed that the boys in the enthusiasm of their gallop had not followed his example.

He immediately called a halt, took the princes back to the workmen and ordered them to remove their hats.

The Right Answer.
"What is meant by 'rule of three,' pa?"
"When a man, his wife and her mother try to run things together."—Judge.

EYE DEFECTS AND SYMPTOMS.

Eye defects are few—symptoms many. There can be but two defects in the human eye. They may be too long in whole. Then we have the Myopic eye. Or too short in whole—the Hyperopic eye. Combine the two in one eye and we have Astigmatism. Properly adjusted glasses will correct these defects. Medicines or waiting, never. Symptoms that spring from these two simple eye malformations are manifold; such as eye and headaches, indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, Chorea, Epilepsy and other ailments having their origin in lack of nerve force. We correct all Defects of the human eye that glasses will remedy. Charges reasonable. Satisfaction guaranteed.
