THE APPEAL man was in the store of one of our advertisers this week, and heard him say to a man: "We have a large number of accounts among the colored people; and, not one a bad one." This speaks very well for our people. Keep up that reputation wherever you deal.—[Ed.]

The Adelphi Club met Tuesday afternoon with eighteen members present at the residence of Mrs. J. S. Sparks, 633 W. Central Ave. Two sections of the United States constitution were read by Mrs. Alice Gooden, and the parliamentary lesson by Mrs. G. W. Brooks. A musical number was given by Mrs. Walker.

The people who attended the Forum at Pilgrim-on-the-Hill last Sunday afternoon were both pleased and instructed by the able address of Prof. J. S. Young of the U. of M. on the subject of "International Co-operation." Of course everyone was delighted with the solos rendered by Mrs. Elenora Smith. A number of those present either joined the Association or paid their yearly dues. The next meeting of the Forum will be held at the same place on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 22, at 4 o'clock. The principal speaker will be Prof. M. G. Elmer who will take for his subject, "The Treatment of Criminals." A fine musical program will be rendered. Everybody invited.

One of the most delightful social affairs of the new year, was a six o'clock, six-course dinner of which Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Jones were host and hostess, at their beautiful home, 1473 Charles street, Friday evening of last week. The house which is elegantly furnished was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The table was resplendent with snowy linen, rare china, cut glass and silver, with a large centerpiece composed of red roses and white narcissus of which the hostess is very fond, but which she graciously distributed among her guests as favors. THE BEST OF SPIRITS was evidenced in the demeanor, wit and repartee of the guests; and, also in the "bill of fare," making a very enjoyable combination from "soup to nuts." Those who had the blessed privilege of being partakers of this gastronomic feast were: Atty. and Mrs. W. T. Frances, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hood, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Willis, Mrs. U. S. Jones, formerly of St. Louis; Mrs. M. Diggs, Mrs. Henry High; Messrs. R. B. Chapman, C. H. Miller and C. Adams. After the "frugal repast" the guests enjoyed themselves with cards and other diversions until a late hour.
