

WESTERN APPEAL.

Gov. A. B. McGill Capital

...the people all, with one accord,
Are sounding the APPEAL's praises.
They say, "I never saw the like,
Well, the managers—they are daisies!"

To read other papers, of course, is right,
For you'll thus get up to the rim,
But you must certainly read the APPEAL,
If you wish to be in the swim.

VOL. IV: NO. 18. ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS AND CHICAGO, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1888. $2.00 PER YEAR.

CHICAGO.

Doings of the Past Week in all Parts of the Great Metropolis of the West.

The APPEAL'S News Budget.

No Colored paper published in the city of Chicago has ever attained the circulation the WESTERN APPEAL now has. Just seven months old in Chicago the APPEAL has climbed higher and higher until now the average regular bona fide subscription circulation of the CHICAGO EDITION of the APPEAL exceeds ELEVEN HUNDRED copies each week. This is exclusive of the St. Paul edition and no account is taken of it in these figures. The APPEAL has gone ahead of all competitors because it is the peoples paper, fair in its dealings with everybody. It is not published in the interest of any clique. The circulation of the APPEAL is among Colored people who have subscribed for and pay for the paper. It is not a campaign sheet circulating gratuitously among its subscribers and paid for with party boodle. The APPEAL does business on the square. We have made the statement that the average regular bona fide circulation of the Chicago edition is more than 1100 copies each week and we are prepared to prove it. Our books subscription and mail lists are open to the inspection of the public and any advertiser may call at our office, examine our books and satisfy himself that our statements are true in every particular.

KILLED AT HER HOME

Mrs. Lizzie Trent, a Colored Dress-maker Shot by an Unknown Visitor.

Account of the Terrible Deed.

A cowardly and unprovoked murder occurred about 8 o'clock Monday night at 2440 Dearborn street, a young woman being shot and instantly killed in her own sitting room. Her name was Mrs. Lizzie Trent, a dressmaker, doing a thriving business. The murder is supposed to be one of three young men who were visiting her during the evening. Shortly after half-past 7 o'clock people living up stairs and next door heard screams, followed almost immediately by two pistol shots. After some minutes' delay neighbors located the sounds, and upon entering the rooms of Mrs. Trent in the basement saw her lying dead on the floor with a bullet hole in her left temple and another in her right cheek. The first shot had undoubtedly killed her, but the murderer, to make sure of his work, had stood over her and fired another bullet into her upturned face. The police found in an adjoining room a 10-year-old boy, Lee Jordan, who was sick in bed with fever. He said that he was asleep in a room off the front sitting room and was awakened by the report of the pistol. He sat up at once and through the door saw a tall Colored man wearing a silk hat run through to the rear door. He called to Mrs. Trent, but receiving no answer became frightened and kept still until the police came.

A great many letters were found addressed to Mrs. Trent and to Mrs. Murdoch signed "Cooney" and J. Murdoch. From them it was learned the woman at one time lived with a man named Murdoch as his wife, but they had separated some months ago. In the crowd attracted by the shooting were Robert Smith and Joseph Roberts, who informed the officers that they had been in the house a short time previous to the shooting and were locked up. They called together to the house, but Mrs. Trent was absent. After waiting a short time she came in with a man known as Mulkins, a horse-trainer.

LAKE JOHN WALDEN, the supposed murderer, has surrendered himself but protested innocence.

Notice.
The South Park Building and Loan association will have a public meeting at the Congregational Church at 2811 State street, on Tuesday evening, October 2d. SUNDAY IN CHICAGO

And the Manner in which it is Observed by Some Colored Folks.

Windy City Wickedness.

The regular Sunday festivities of Chicago were started late Saturday evening. The opening overture was given in a State street restaurant. One young gentleman of color performed an obligato with a razor, slashing off the ear of his friend with whom he had a quarrel about a girl with short hair. During the symphony, which was rendered in B. flat, all in the restaurant had to C-sharp. The mirror was broken, chairs, tables, beefsteaks and pies were thrown about in wild confusion.

A DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.

Mrs. Kelly hit Mrs. Williams over the head with a soup ladle. Mrs. Williams being too small to cope with her antagonist threw baby Kelley into a tubful of dirty water. Mrs. Kelly screamed and fainted. A policeman rescued the baby and locked Mrs. Williams up.

"SO DEY WUDN'T HOLLER."

"Tug" Wilson and Chas. Henry were arrested for chicken stealing Sunday. Henry is a little Colored lad, just up from the South, and hardly released from his kind mother's apron-string. He cried, "I didn't go foh to steal, sah, Tug! he jes handed dem eay chickens ober de fence and I jes put my finger on dere necks so's dey wudn't holler."

KILLED THE OLD MAID'S CATS.

An old maid living out South had James Smith arrested Sunday for killing her cats. She complained that almost every evening Smith strolled down the street near her residence with a big bull dog hunting cats. Smith said his dog was gamey and must have exercise.

WANTED TO DIE.

Lucy Lewis a pretty Colored girl employed as a domestic on the North side attempted to kill herself Sunday by taking a dose of "Rough on Rats." A doctor and stomach pump saved her life.

CARTER THE CARVER.

Geo. Carter living on South Clark street, slashed his better half with a razor Sunday because his dinner was not cooked to suit his aesthetic taste. Geo. dines on bread and water now.

PRAYED FOR THE POLICEMAN.

"You jes' lemme 'lone, Mentah P'leceman. I'se got a call to preach de gospel, and I'se got it heah. an' I'se got it now."

"I tell yez ye can't preach no gospel ner nothin' else in de park. Dis ain't no church ner no synagogue. Yez jest move on, or I'll run yez in."

The Colored man was obstinate and so was the Lincoln Park policeman. The Colored man finally dropped on his knees to pray for the gray-suited officer. This was too much. "Git aff yer kaays er I'll crack yer pate, ye saddy colored coon," yelled the irate Irishman.

But the Colored preacher was not to be intimidated. He prayed for that officer as for one of the lost children of Israel. Divine grace was asked for the ignorant foreigner, who was puffed up with a little brief authority. Down came the policeman's heavy hand, but the Colored preacher wouldn't stop, and he was finally taken into the Halsted street station.

Grand Raffle.

There is to be a grand raffle for a fine heaver overcoat worth three hundred dollars at Snowden and Beasley's saloon No. 480 State street next Saturday Sept. 29th. The coat may be seen at No. 217 Third Avenue.

Miss Hatcher in Fernande.

It is with pleasure that we announce that Miss Emma G. Hatcher, America's Colored emotional actress will appear at Freiberg's Opera House, on Monday evening October 1st, in the emotional drama "Fernande or Miss Milton."

Miss Hatcher will be supported by Miss Henrietta Vinton Davis and the Winter Wood company. Admission 50 cents including dancing. This will be one of the great events of the season. Be sure to attend.

New Bishop in Town.

Bishop Cornelius Lennox of the Evangelical Mission has arrived in Chicago. He hails from Jackson, Mich. In conversation with an APPEAL reporter he said: "I am in Chicago to make arrangements to remove my paper, 'The Evangelical Mission Star' from Jackson to this city. I don't think there is a single Colored member of my denomination in Chicago but I imagine I can do well here. My paper has a 'circle' of 1500 in the city Jackson alone and if I come here I think I can easily double it. It's published monthly. I was formerly in the Zion Methodist Church, but they were not able to give me bread and fish so I joined the Evangelical Mission and now I have plenty to eat and good clothes to wear."

"The Old Man Eloquent."

Frederick Douglass, the greatest orator of the century was in Chicago a few hours last Sunday during which time he was the guest of the APPEAL. Mr. Douglass was accompanied by Mr. Chas. Morris a young man from Louisville and together they are stumping Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan for Har-

There is no better place for gentlemen to get furnishing goods, hats, caps etc., than a Pannell & Balle's No. 412 Jackson. Best goods at lowest prices.

Mrs. M. W. Lewis, the fashionable hairdresser, leaves to-day for New York via Chicago. Mrs. Lewis has a piece of hair work in the Cincinnati Exposition that is said to be the best thing of the kind ever made in this country.

Mass will be said at the Colored Catholic church next Sunday (to-morrow) at 9:15 a. m. every Sunday thereafter until further notice mass will be said at 10:30 a. m. The usual instruction by Father Shanley will take place in the evening. All are invited.

Mr. H. C. Hopewell has opened a temperance billiard parlor in the Skidmore Block on Fifth street between Minnesota and Robert streets. He has two fine tables and keeps a good stock of cigars and the young men of the city will find the "Skidmore Palace" a pleasant place to spend leisure hours.

The grand opening took place last night. If you have no good reason to go elsewhere, why not go to Benedict's at "Seven Corners" to get your furniture and house furnishings. He will sell cheap and on the installment plan. He wants your custom and asks for it through the columns of the WESTERN APPEAL because he knows that all the first class Colored people of the city take it and read it.

Mrs. W. H. Davis, of Keokuk, Iowa, arrived in the city to join her husband who has been here for several months. Mrs. Davis is a lady possessed of a rare literary ability and is a newspaper writer of note and formerly was an occasional contributor to the WESTERN APPEAL over the nom de plume "Aunt Peggy." She will undoubtedly be a valuable acquisition to St. Paul society.

The lovers of music will have an opportunity to enjoy it at the Grand Opera House during next week when America's favorite Miss Emma Abbott and her great company will appear. The repertory is as follows: Monday evening, "Mikado;" Tuesday, "Il Trovatore;" Wednesday matinee, "Chimes of Normandy;" Wednesday evening, "Bohemian Girl;" Thursday, "Norma;" Friday, "Rose of Castile;" Saturday matinee, "Carnival of Venice;" Saturday evening, "Le Part du Diable."

Mrs. A. Hawkins, who keeps a restaurant on the corner of Sixth and St. Peter street had her house visited by the police last Saturday night and it proved to be more of a house of prostitution than a restaurant. L. H. Hill, Frank Clark, George Wilson, Carrie Everett, Katie Wells, Louisa Robinson, Mary Deems, Mary Johnson and Con Clayton were captured. Mrs. Hawkins, Carrie Everett, Louisa Robinson and Mary Deems were given twenty-four hours to leave town, the others plead guilty and were fined $15 each. We hope the moral spasm will continue until it wipes all such places off the face of the earth.

The cake will be presented to the fortunate ticket holder at the Christmas party which will occur Christmas eve.

Bible Wine.—Dr. John Ellis.

A leading writer on the use of Bible wines procured a bottle of Spear's unfermented Grape juice and subjected it to a chemical test. He did not find a trace of alcohol, and after referring to it in his book on Bible wines says that "Here, then, we have an unfermented wine actually in the market, which the writer thinks is far more palatable than fermented wine, and is unpolluted by leaven. Many religious societies are using this wine, and there is no reason for continuing to use a leavened wine while there is an unfermented wine already in the market." Sold by Drug-gists.

Well Received.

The Helena Daily Herald has the following to say of the advent of Rev. Scott B. Jones:

"The Colored citizens of Helena are extending a cordial welcome to Rev. Scott B. Jones, who has been assigned to the pastorate of the African Methodist congregation of this city. Mr. Jones comes from the Iowa conference over which Bishop John M. Brown presides, and good words are spoken of the man sent to serve the cause of religion here. The new pastor has a field in Helena unoccupied by any pastor of his race and we expect the best of results will follow his establishment here. A place of worship will soon be secured and his work commence in earnest."

Fort Shaw, M. T.

Miss Jennie J. Jackson celebrated the 21st anniversary of her birthday on the evening of the 19th inst. at Sun River Crossing by giving a dinner party, which was a great success. Invitations were extended to many of her Fort Sh w friends and everyone seemed to enjoy himself, the dinner was a success and the twenty-two persons that were seated around the festive board did justice to the choicest viands spread before them. After dinner was served, dancing began and lasted until the wee sma' hours. Many toasts were said in honor of the hostess and all left wishing her a long life and many pleasures.

Nothing at any watering place makes such a pretty picture as the regular morning appearance of the Colored postman at the United States Hotel, Saratoga. He is hired by the house, and wears a uniform and carries a handsome black leather mail bag hung from a strap over one shoulder. He appears just when the garden porch is filled with ladies listening to the band. They cluster around him and peer over his shoulder and stand on tiptoe, all trying at once to see that he does not pass those by for whom he has letters.

James James, a Colored man is said to be the oldest man living. It is claimed that he was born near Dorchester, S. C., in 1752 and is therefore 136 years old.

MINNEAPOLIS MATTERS

Emancipation Day at the Great Exposition—Harmony in St. Peters Church.

Social Gossip.

During the season of the Minneapolis Industrial Exposition, there have been days set apart for all classes of people except the "Jews and Indians" notwithstanding that, all are welcome every day. A day has been set apart for every representing branch of industry. We have repeatedly seen on our streets great possessions of people parading with bands of music and a corps of police in their van, "marching to this great Exposition" in response to invitations sent to them as a token of courtesy to a certain profession or people. At the opening of this Exposition the managers have expended a great sum of money to bring appropriate attractions for the people during their season. In most every instance the people have responded, without any great expense to the Exposition, and further this Exposition is not owned by one or two persons. It belongs to the people of this great Northwest, according to the amount they have invested in it. We do not know how much of it is owned by our people, but hope that we have an equal share according to our population. We, as a people should invest in enterprises of this kind even if individually it be little, but as an aggregate it will make a showing. I think that, as a people we should not only follow the examples of others, but should have a way of our own and make that way a brilliant one. So when it comes our day to make a showing let us shine, whether it requires an effort or not. We did not turn out this year as we should to a duplicate invitation as to others for a special day at the Exposition although the following program were most excellently rendered. There were scarcely one hundred Colored persons present, but one of the largest crowd of white people of the season.

The male quartette of this city, consisting of Messrs. W. J. Floyd, E. Demoss, W. H. Caswell, W. H. Nichols, sang "Old Fashioned Homestead." Mr. J. Q. Adams was then introduced and read the Emancipation Proclamation.

The St. Paul quartette consisting of Mrs. W. H. Clay, Miss Bertha Heathcock, Messrs. J. H. Luca and W. A. Hilyard, then did themselves and people credit by their singing.

The speaker of the day was then introduced as the Boy Orator of the Northwest, Rev. J. M. Henderson, of St. Paul, who spoke with enthusiasm and eloquence. Had Douglass stood in the same place he would have done no more. The male quartette then sang a medley, "Only a Dream of the Old Home." Prof. H. Jones, then rendered a cornet solo, accompanied on the piano by Miss Lulu Griswold, of St
