GNATIUS DONNELLY. FOR JUDGES OF THE SUPREME COURT.

TEARNS COUNTY UNION CONVENTION.

A Convention of the Union electors of Stearns county will be held at St. Cloud, at the Everett schoolhouse, on the 10th day of September next, at 10 o'clock A. M.

THE GREAT CHICAGO COPPER-HEAD POW-WOW.

The Copperheads met at Chicago on the 29th ult., to nominate candidates for President and Vice-President.

As might be expected, a perfect Killenny-cat fight is going on between the peace and pseudo war men.

Dispatches state that six planks of a platform have been adopted, favoring an armistice, a peace convention and revolution.

McClellan stock is high, and the Press of yesterday says that a private dispatch had been received stating that he was finally nominated, on the evening of the 30th.

A CONTEMPTIBLE ATTACK. Some miserable "sore-head," in a letter to the Pioneer, charges Gov. Miller with not having fulfilled his promises.

"Miles" is doubtless some fellow who has been refused a commission which he was in no wise worthy to hold, and the Pioneer publishes the letter because Gov. Miller is a loyal man and has been a soldier—therefore it hates him.

THE officers of the State Agricultural Fair have selected Red Wing as the place for holding the next fair.

A proposal has been received from abroad to loan the Government $1,000,000.

REBEL PROPOSITIONS FOR PEACE.

The copperheads are continually asserting that the rebels are anxious for peace, provided they obtain the proper terms and that these are offered by the proper persons.

NASHVILLE, Aug. 24. The Chattanooga Gazette of the 24th reports the rebel General Wheeler at Stuart's Landing on the 20th inst., where he attacked, captured, and murdered a colored garrison and nearly 300 white laborers.

SULLY'S EXPEDITION.

HE WHIPS 1,600 LODGES OF SIOUX NEAR THE LITTLE MISSOURI. Destroys Immense Quantities of Provisions and Property.

The following dispatch from General Sully brings good tidings: [By telegraph from Milwaukee.] HEADQUARTERS DEPT. N. W., August 29, 1864.

I came to the Indian camp, over 1600 sixteen hundred lodges, last Thursday in the Tah-ka-ka-ney mountains, near the Little Missouri.

As the battle referred to took place near the Little Missouri, about 120 miles, we suppose, west of Fort Rice, while the dispatch is dated on Heart River, a small stream emptying into the Missouri near Fort Rice, it would appear that General Sully did not pursue the Indians, but after driving them from their position and destroying their camp and its contents, retraced its steps toward Fort Rice.

This retrograde movement we are afraid, must dissipate the hope of any decisive results from the campaign in that quarter.

The Red River Nor'-Wester of Aug. 3d, says: We have reliable intelligence that Burbank & Co., are now making arrangements by which the English goods consigned to their care by the people of Red River, will be transported hither by New York instead of Canada.

ENGLISH GOODS BOADED THROUGH TO RED RIVER. The Red River Nor'-Wester of Aug. 3d, says: We have reliable intelligence that Burbank & Co., are now making arrangements by which the English goods consigned to their care by the people of Red River, will be transported hither by New York instead of Canada.

THE entire body of the cavalry, save five soldiers who accompanied Mr. Miller and the body of Mr. Duhn to the Fort, went in search of the body of Mr. Brisse and of the Indians.

INDIAN OUTRAGES.

Three Men Killed Near Fort Abercrombie!

CITIZENS OF ST. CLOUD. HORRIBLE MUTILATION OF THE BODY OF ONE.

From Mr. Michael Miller, a resident of this place, and an eye-witness of the whole affair, we obtain the following particulars of the killing of three citizens of this city, Frederick Duhn, Nicholas Brisse and M. Lustig (all Germans), by Indians, on Tuesday, August 23d:

On the afternoon of that day, between four and five o'clock, the four men we have mentioned were driving teams on the road between Georgetown and Fort Abercrombie, two being in each wagon. When at the old Lewiston Station, about 25 miles from Fort Abercrombie, toward which they were coming, Mr. Duhn called out to Messrs. Miller and Lustig, who were in the first wagon, "Boys, you had better drive a little more to the left."

Nothing has been received from the army of General Sherman for two days. (Signed) E. M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

OFFICIAL DISPATCHES. Great Victory of Hancock on Thursday—Heavy Rebel Loss. WASHINGTON, Aug. 29, 10:30 A. M. To Major General Dix:

On Thursday Gen. Hancock, who was south of Ream's Station, was attacked several times during the day, but repulsed the enemy every time.

At 5:30 a combined assault was made on his centre and left, which, after one of the most desperate battles of the war, resulting in the enemy withdrawing, leaving their dead and wounded on the field.

Official details are given in a dispatch from Generals Grant, Meade and Hancock. We hold the Weldon Railroad.

In a dispatch dated 3 P. M. yesterday, Gen. Grant says: "The loss of this road seems to be a blow the enemy can't stand. I think I don't overestimate the enemy's loss in the last two weeks at 10,000 killed and wounded. We lost heavily; but mostly in captured."

Grant also makes the following report: "Thursday morning the enemy drove in Butler's line of pickets who, however, soon rallied and drove the enemy back and re-established their line. We lost one killed, sixteen wounded and fourteen missing. Two commanding officers and fifty-nine men were captured from the enemy." (Signed) E. M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

NEW YORK, AUGUST 29. The World's special gives the following accounts of fighting on the Weldon road: The 2d and 3d divisions of the 2d corps went down Wednesday near Ream's station to continue the destruction of that road, and effectually succeeded in that object, to a distance of some 10 miles, without encountering very much opposition.

YESTERDAY morning, however, the rebels massed Early's corps and two divisions of Longstreet's corps in front of our lines and commenced skirmishing. About eight o'clock they charged our line in front of 2d division of the 5th corps, and were handsomely repulsed, although they fought with the utmost determination. Almost as soon as they were beaten back they were rallied again. This was repeated four times, and each time they were punished severely, but on returning the 5th time they succeeded in driving back the 52d and 60th New York, who had already suffered dreadfully; We have thus lost four miles of the road, but it is effectually destroyed.

GENERAL SITUATION. Fort Morgan in Our Possession.—The Rebels Retreating from the Shenandoah Valley. WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.

Major General Dix: A dispatch from Gen. Grant just received states that the Richmond papers of yesterday, the 27th, announce that Fort Morgan is in our possession. It is not stated whether the fort was surrendered or whether it was blown up.

Gen. Sheridan, in a dispatch dated yesterday at 2:30 P. M., reports—"The enemy left my front last night, falling back to Middleburg. We captured 105 prisoners yesterday, and inflicted a loss of 100 killed and wounded. There have been a few feints along the river by the enemy, but there has been no strength shown. Indications to-day are that they will fall back out of the valley." Other reports state the enemy is leaving the Shenandoah Valley.

WE jump at a chance to agree with the New York Herald. It says: If Ben Wood had published his News in Richmond, and had written to Jeff Davis as he has of President Lincoln, he would have been hung long ago.

—In these times of high prices, it is well to remember that children can be supplied with shoes for less than half the usual annual cost, by wearing Metal-Tipped Shoes, to say nothing of stockings destroyed and health endangered by wet feet, arising from the childlike habit of wearing out their shoes at the toes first.—Boston Journal.
