

The St. Cloud Democrat.

MINNESOTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1864.

NO. 12

THE DEMOCRAT
Is published at St. Cloud, Stearns County, Minnesota, every Thursday afternoon.
Office—In Post Office Building, Washington Avenue.
W. B. MITCHELL, Editor & Proprietor.

RATES OF ADVERTISING:
One column, one year, $75 00
One-half column, one year, 40 00
One-fourth column, one year, 25 00
One column, six months, 45 00
One-half column, six months, 25 00
One-fourth column, six months, 15 00
One square, one year, 10 00
One square, six months, 7 00
Business cards, five lines or less, $5 per annum; six lines, $6; seven lines, $7.
Legal advertisements at statute rates.
[Ten lines of this sized type constitute a square, and cards will be charged proportionately to the space they occupy in brevity solid.]

JOB WORK
Of all kinds executed with neatness and dispatch, and at reasonable rates.

Real Estate Agency,
ST. CLOUD, MINNESOTA.

EXTENSIVE Explorations of Land in this District subject to private entry, and long experience in Land Office business, give the undersigned peculiar advantages in the

Selection of Land,
And location of Land Warrants.

Land Warrants
For sale at a small advance on New York prices.

THE PAYMENT OF TAXES
Benton, Sherburne, Morrison and Stearns counties.

H. C. WAIT, BANKER,
AND LICENSED DEALER IN Exchange, Land Warrants, Scrip, County, Town and State Orders.

DEALER IN REAL ESTATE.
Collections and Resolutions promptly made.

WILLIAM J. PARSONS,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law, U. S. Bounty, Claims and Patent Agent.

PRACTICES in all Courts, State and Federal; prosecutes claims before any of the Departments at Washington.

EDWARD O. HAMLIN,
Has resumed the

PRACTICE OF LAW,
IN ST. CLOUD, MINN.

GEO. W. SWEET,
ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW.

A. T. UPHAM,
ST. CLOUD, MINN.

J. V. WREN,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

W. M. R. HUNTER,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.

J. W. TUTTLE,
MANUFACTURER OF CABINET WARE.

JOB PRINTING,
SEND YOUR ORDERS TO

The Democrat Office

ST. CLOUD BOOK STORE
DETAILED LIST OF BOOKS
J. M. ROSENBERGER,
BOOKSELLER, STATIONER & NEWSDEALER.
Has always on hand a fine assortment of

THE LATEST PAPERS & MAGAZINES
THE STANDARD SCHOOL BOOKS,
And everything usually found in a first class Bookstore.

PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY
PHOTOGRAPHS, AMBROTYPES, &c.
Mrs. Parson's Gallery,
Opposite the Democrat Office, Lower town.

A. BLAKEMAN,
WATCHES, CLOCKS AND JEWELRY,
Silver and Plated Ware,
126 Third Street, St. Paul.

ST. PAUL HAT STORE
WHOLESALE DEALER BY THE
Case or Package,
Corner of 3d and Washaw streets, opposite the Bridge

WATCHMAKER AND JEWELER,
SAINT CLOUD, MINN.
N. B.—Watches, Clocks, Time-pieces, Music Boxes, Jewelry, &c., &c.

DEALER & MANUFACTURER
All kinds of Chairs and Household FURNITURE.
ST. CLOUD, MINN.

JOHN SCHWARTZ,
Keeps constantly on hand
Saddles, Harness, Carriage Trimmings, &c.

BOOT AND SHOE SHOP
A full supply of
Boots and Shoes,
BUFFALO OVERSHOES & MOCCASINS.

ANTON SMITH,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE.
A full supply of
Boots and Shoes,
BUFFALO OVERSHOES & MOCCASINS.

HENRY W. WEARY,
CARRIAGEMAKER.
I HAVE removed to my new shop near the Bridge, where I am prepared to do all kinds of work in the Carriage-making line.

THOMAS JONES,
BLACKSMITH.
All kinds of work done in the best possible manner. Particular attention given to horse and ox-shoeing, plow work, and repairing of all kinds. Shop in same building with Henry W. Weary.

J. W. METZROTH,
MERCHANT TAILOR.
WOULD invite his friends and the public to call and examine his New Styles to Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods. Particular attention paid to custom work.

Shepherd Dogs
The subscriber has a number of pure-blooded, imported
Shepherd Dogs,
Which he will dispose of at fair rates.

ARE YOU FOR PEACE, LITTLE MAC?
"Are you for peace?" Vallandigham said, "Are you for peace, Little Mac?" And he pointed to the millions of the dead. And he pointed to the millions of the living. It's a very serious question, Little Mac. To be sure, it's a very serious question. To be sure, it's a very serious question. To be sure, it's a very serious question.

WHAT FERNANDO WOOD SAYS.
I was sorry to see that there had been a strong effort amongst Republicans to defeat Donnelly. Do the Republicans of Minnesota intend to taint themselves with a suspicion of Indian frauds, that system of inquiry, which in the minds of Eastern people fully justified the massacres which have devastated our homes, and set our State property backward twenty years? Even if Mr. Donnelly were mistaken and the appropriation he opposed were just, it is best he should be sustained to show that our people prefer to err on the opposite side to the old plan of robbing Government and defrauding Indians to enrich traders and endanger the lives of frontier settlers.

LETTER FROM JANE G. SWISSELM.
When in returning from the Department one afternoon, our way was blocked by troops of the 6th corps, I knew how the present deliverance was to come. I had seen the heights of Fredricksburg and knew that the men who took Mayree's Hill could defend Washington from the Confederacy and its grand ally, the arch fiend.

COMPETENT WITNESSES.
While we have Democratic stump speakers in this State, going about whining that the rebellion cannot be subdued by arms, and that some other way ought to be tried, (though they are not quite so talkative as they were before Sheridan's victories,) the following are some of the authorities whose voices are heard on the other side:

SAYS LIEUT. GEN. GRANT:
The end is not far distant, if we will only be true to ourselves. All we want now to insure an early restoration of the Union is a determined unity of sentiment North.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL HOOKER:
This Union must be preserved, and there is no way of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. This rebellion is tottering while I speak; it is going down and will soon tumble into ruin.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL MEADE:
Dismissing, as now useless to discuss, all questions as to the origin of this war, we have daily and hourly evidence that it exists, and that it can only be terminated by hard fighting, and by determined efforts to overcome the armed enemies of the government.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL BURNEIS:
Would it not be cowardly for us to say that this rebellion cannot be crushed and the authority of the government sustained? There is in my mind no question of it. There can be no such thing as laying down arms or cessation of hostilities until the entire authority of the government is acknowledged by every citizen of our country.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL LOGAN:
The greatest victory of the rebels, greater than fifty Manassas, and their only one that can give them a particle of hope, will be to defeat the war party at the incoming campaign.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL DIX:
My desire is to do all in my power to sustain the Government in its efforts to put down the rebellion—an object to be effected, in my judgment, by a steady and unswerving prosecution of the war.

SAYS THE OLD VETERAN MAJOR GENERAL WOOL:
Nothing, for aught that I can discover, will save the Union and its government but the successes of Grant, Sherman, Farragut and Sheridan.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL SHERMAN:
To stop war we must defeat the rebel armies that are arrayed against the laws and Constitution, which all must respect and obey. * * * The South began the war by seizing forts, arsenals, mints, custom houses, etc., etc., long before Lincoln was installed, and before the South had one jot or tittle of provocation. * * * I want peace, and believe it can only be reached through Union and war, and I will ever conduct war purely with a view to perfect an early success.

WHAT A SOLDIER THINKS.
A private in the Second Minnesota Battery, now near Atlanta, writes us as follows:
"We have some Copperheads or mongrel Democrats who hurrah for Little Mac. The last vote we had went unanimous for Miller, because he was liked and because the Company believed he was the soldier's friend, which he has proved to be in so far as it lay in his power, and to-morrow Gov. Miller would command our vote."
"We have had a few weekly 'Pioneers' in camp, and I must say I am disgusted with the trash they set forth and the arguments they use—no because they differ from me, but the scurrility and lying, and base appeals to all that is bad in men unfortunately ignorant. I know how to take the stuff, but there are some who swallow it."
LITTLE MAC IN THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.
COLUMBUS, O., Tuesday, Oct. 4.
Mr. Edward, one of the messengers to the field for distributing Union tickets, has just returned from Grant's army. He reports the best feeling among the soldiers in the army in favor of Lincoln and Johnson, and that the Union, or war ticket, will receive an almost unanimous support. The soldiers feel the highest respect for McClellan, and will not permit a word to be said against him, but they express the determination to vote against him because he is on the Peace Copperhead ticket and that they cannot support.
We were rather surprised to find the above in the Pioneer. It does not often allow its readers a glance at the truth with regard to the soldiers' votes—or anything else.
—Hon. Henry Winter Davis, who at first opposed Lincoln, is stamping Maryland for "Lincoln, Johnson and the Free Constitution." The Union ranks are swelling daily with accessions of good and true men.

LETTER FROM JANE G. SWISSELM.
When in returning from the Department one afternoon, our way was blocked by troops of the 6th corps, I knew how the present deliverance was to come. I had seen the heights of Fredricksburg and knew that the men who took Mayree's Hill could defend Washington from the Confederacy and its grand ally, the arch fiend.

COMPETENT WITNESSES.
While we have Democratic stump speakers in this State, going about whining that the rebellion cannot be subdued by arms, and that some other way ought to be tried, (though they are not quite so talkative as they were before Sheridan's victories,) the following are some of the authorities whose voices are heard on the other side:

SAYS LIEUT. GEN. GRANT:
The end is not far distant, if we will only be true to ourselves. All we want now to insure an early restoration of the Union is a determined unity of sentiment North.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL HOOKER:
This Union must be preserved, and there is no way of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. This rebellion is tottering while I speak; it is going down and will soon tumble into ruin.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL MEADE:
Dismissing, as now useless to discuss, all questions as to the origin of this war, we have daily and hourly evidence that it exists, and that it can only be terminated by hard fighting, and by determined efforts to overcome the armed enemies of the government.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL BURNEIS:
Would it not be cowardly for us to say that this rebellion cannot be crushed and the authority of the government sustained? There is in my mind no question of it. There can be no such thing as laying down arms or cessation of hostilities until the entire authority of the government is acknowledged by every citizen of our country.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL LOGAN:
The greatest victory of the rebels, greater than fifty Manassas, and their only one that can give them a particle of hope, will be to defeat the war party at the incoming campaign.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL DIX:
My desire is to do all in my power to sustain the Government in its efforts to put down the rebellion—an object to be effected, in my judgment, by a steady and unswerving prosecution of the war.

SAYS THE OLD VETERAN MAJOR GENERAL WOOL:
Nothing, for aught that I can discover, will save the Union and its government but the successes of Grant, Sherman, Farragut and Sheridan.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL SHERMAN:
To stop war we must defeat the rebel armies that are arrayed against the laws and Constitution, which all must respect and obey. * * * The South began the war by seizing forts, arsenals, mints, custom houses, etc., etc., long before Lincoln was installed, and before the South had one jot or tittle of provocation. * * * I want peace, and believe it can only be reached through Union and war, and I will ever conduct war purely with a view to perfect an early success.

WHAT A SOLDIER THINKS.
A private in the Second Minnesota Battery, now near Atlanta, writes us as follows:
"We have some Copperheads or mongrel Democrats who hurrah for Little Mac. The last vote we had went unanimous for Miller, because he was liked and because the Company believed he was the soldier's friend, which he has proved to be in so far as it lay in his power, and to-morrow Gov. Miller would command our vote."
"We have had a few weekly 'Pioneers' in camp, and I must say I am disgusted with the trash they set forth and the arguments they use—no because they differ from me, but the scurrility and lying, and base appeals to all that is bad in men unfortunately ignorant. I know how to take the stuff, but there are some who swallow it."
LITTLE MAC IN THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.
COLUMBUS, O., Tuesday, Oct. 4.
Mr. Edward, one of the messengers to the field for distributing Union tickets, has just returned from Grant's army. He reports the best feeling among the soldiers in the army in favor of Lincoln and Johnson, and that the Union, or war ticket, will receive an almost unanimous support. The soldiers feel the highest respect for McClellan, and will not permit a word to be said against him, but they express the determination to vote against him because he is on the Peace Copperhead ticket and that they cannot support.
We were rather surprised to find the above in the Pioneer. It does not often allow its readers a glance at the truth with regard to the soldiers' votes—or anything else.
—Hon. Henry Winter Davis, who at first opposed Lincoln, is stamping Maryland for "Lincoln, Johnson and the Free Constitution." The Union ranks are swelling daily with accessions of good and true men.

LETTER FROM JANE G. SWISSELM.
When in returning from the Department one afternoon, our way was blocked by troops of the 6th corps, I knew how the present deliverance was to come. I had seen the heights of Fredricksburg and knew that the men who took Mayree's Hill could defend Washington from the Confederacy and its grand ally, the arch fiend.

COMPETENT WITNESSES.
While we have Democratic stump speakers in this State, going about whining that the rebellion cannot be subdued by arms, and that some other way ought to be tried, (though they are not quite so talkative as they were before Sheridan's victories,) the following are some of the authorities whose voices are heard on the other side:

SAYS LIEUT. GEN. GRANT:
The end is not far distant, if we will only be true to ourselves. All we want now to insure an early restoration of the Union is a determined unity of sentiment North.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL HOOKER:
This Union must be preserved, and there is no way of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. This rebellion is tottering while I speak; it is going down and will soon tumble into ruin.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL MEADE:
Dismissing, as now useless to discuss, all questions as to the origin of this war, we have daily and hourly evidence that it exists, and that it can only be terminated by hard fighting, and by determined efforts to overcome the armed enemies of the government.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL BURNEIS:
Would it not be cowardly for us to say that this rebellion cannot be crushed and the authority of the government sustained? There is in my mind no question of it. There can be no such thing as laying down arms or cessation of hostilities until the entire authority of the government is acknowledged by every citizen of our country.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL LOGAN:
The greatest victory of the rebels, greater than fifty Manassas, and their only one that can give them a particle of hope, will be to defeat the war party at the incoming campaign.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL DIX:
My desire is to do all in my power to sustain the Government in its efforts to put down the rebellion—an object to be effected, in my judgment, by a steady and unswerving prosecution of the war.

SAYS THE OLD VETERAN MAJOR GENERAL WOOL:
Nothing, for aught that I can discover, will save the Union and its government but the successes of Grant, Sherman, Farragut and Sheridan.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL SHERMAN:
To stop war we must defeat the rebel armies that are arrayed against the laws and Constitution, which all must respect and obey. * * * The South began the war by seizing forts, arsenals, mints, custom houses, etc., etc., long before Lincoln was installed, and before the South had one jot or tittle of provocation. * * * I want peace, and believe it can only be reached through Union and war, and I will ever conduct war purely with a view to perfect an early success.

WHAT A SOLDIER THINKS.
A private in the Second Minnesota Battery, now near Atlanta, writes us as follows:
"We have some Copperheads or mongrel Democrats who hurrah for Little Mac. The last vote we had went unanimous for Miller, because he was liked and because the Company believed he was the soldier's friend, which he has proved to be in so far as it lay in his power, and to-morrow Gov. Miller would command our vote."
"We have had a few weekly 'Pioneers' in camp, and I must say I am disgusted with the trash they set forth and the arguments they use—no because they differ from me, but the scurrility and lying, and base appeals to all that is bad in men unfortunately ignorant. I know how to take the stuff, but there are some who swallow it."
LITTLE MAC IN THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.
COLUMBUS, O., Tuesday, Oct. 4.
Mr. Edward, one of the messengers to the field for distributing Union tickets, has just returned from Grant's army. He reports the best feeling among the soldiers in the army in favor of Lincoln and Johnson, and that the Union, or war ticket, will receive an almost unanimous support. The soldiers feel the highest respect for McClellan, and will not permit a word to be said against him, but they express the determination to vote against him because he is on the Peace Copperhead ticket and that they cannot support.
We were rather surprised to find the above in the Pioneer. It does not often allow its readers a glance at the truth with regard to the soldiers' votes—or anything else.
—Hon. Henry Winter Davis, who at first opposed Lincoln, is stamping Maryland for "Lincoln, Johnson and the Free Constitution." The Union ranks are swelling daily with accessions of good and true men.

LETTER FROM JANE G. SWISSELM.
When in returning from the Department one afternoon, our way was blocked by troops of the 6th corps, I knew how the present deliverance was to come. I had seen the heights of Fredricksburg and knew that the men who took Mayree's Hill could defend Washington from the Confederacy and its grand ally, the arch fiend.

COMPETENT WITNESSES.
While we have Democratic stump speakers in this State, going about whining that the rebellion cannot be subdued by arms, and that some other way ought to be tried, (though they are not quite so talkative as they were before Sheridan's victories,) the following are some of the authorities whose voices are heard on the other side:

SAYS LIEUT. GEN. GRANT:
The end is not far distant, if we will only be true to ourselves. All we want now to insure an early restoration of the Union is a determined unity of sentiment North.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL HOOKER:
This Union must be preserved, and there is no way of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. This rebellion is tottering while I speak; it is going down and will soon tumble into ruin.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL MEADE:
Dismissing, as now useless to discuss, all questions as to the origin of this war, we have daily and hourly evidence that it exists, and that it can only be terminated by hard fighting, and by determined efforts to overcome the armed enemies of the government.

LETTER FROM JANE G. SWISSELM.
When in returning from the Department one afternoon, our way was blocked by troops of the 6th corps, I knew how the present deliverance was to come. I had seen the heights of Fredricksburg and knew that the men who took Mayree's Hill could defend Washington from the Confederacy and its grand ally, the arch fiend.

COMPETENT WITNESSES.
While we have Democratic stump speakers in this State, going about whining that the rebellion cannot be subdued by arms, and that some other way ought to be tried, (though they are not quite so talkative as they were before Sheridan's victories,) the following are some of the authorities whose voices are heard on the other side:

SAYS LIEUT. GEN. GRANT:
The end is not far distant, if we will only be true to ourselves. All we want now to insure an early restoration of the Union is a determined unity of sentiment North.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL HOOKER:
This Union must be preserved, and there is no way of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. This rebellion is tottering while I speak; it is going down and will soon tumble into ruin.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL MEADE:
Dismissing, as now useless to discuss, all questions as to the origin of this war, we have daily and hourly evidence that it exists, and that it can only be terminated by hard fighting, and by determined efforts to overcome the armed enemies of the government.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL BURNEIS:
Would it not be cowardly for us to say that this rebellion cannot be crushed and the authority of the government sustained? There is in my mind no question of it. There can be no such thing as laying down arms or cessation of hostilities until the entire authority of the government is acknowledged by every citizen of our country.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL LOGAN:
The greatest victory of the rebels, greater than fifty Manassas, and their only one that can give them a particle of hope, will be to defeat the war party at the incoming campaign.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL DIX:
My desire is to do all in my power to sustain the Government in its efforts to put down the rebellion—an object to be effected, in my judgment, by a steady and unswerving prosecution of the war.

SAYS THE OLD VETERAN MAJOR GENERAL WOOL:
Nothing, for aught that I can discover, will save the Union and its government but the successes of Grant, Sherman, Farragut and Sheridan.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL SHERMAN:
To stop war we must defeat the rebel armies that are arrayed against the laws and Constitution, which all must respect and obey. * * * The South began the war by seizing forts, arsenals, mints, custom houses, etc., etc., long before Lincoln was installed, and before the South had one jot or tittle of provocation. * * * I want peace, and believe it can only be reached through Union and war, and I will ever conduct war purely with a view to perfect an early success.

WHAT A SOLDIER THINKS.
A private in the Second Minnesota Battery, now near Atlanta, writes us as follows:
"We have some Copperheads or mongrel Democrats who hurrah for Little Mac. The last vote we had went unanimous for Miller, because he was liked and because the Company believed he was the soldier's friend, which he has proved to be in so far as it lay in his power, and to-morrow Gov. Miller would command our vote."
"We have had a few weekly 'Pioneers' in camp, and I must say I am disgusted with the trash they set forth and the arguments they use—no because they differ from me, but the scurrility and lying, and base appeals to all that is bad in men unfortunately ignorant. I know how to take the stuff, but there are some who swallow it."
LITTLE MAC IN THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.
COLUMBUS, O., Tuesday, Oct. 4.
Mr. Edward, one of the messengers to the field for distributing Union tickets, has just returned from Grant's army. He reports the best feeling among the soldiers in the army in favor of Lincoln and Johnson, and that the Union, or war ticket, will receive an almost unanimous support. The soldiers feel the highest respect for McClellan, and will not permit a word to be said against him, but they express the determination to vote against him because he is on the Peace Copperhead ticket and that they cannot support.
We were rather surprised to find the above in the Pioneer. It does not often allow its readers a glance at the truth with regard to the soldiers' votes—or anything else.
—Hon. Henry Winter Davis, who at first opposed Lincoln, is stamping Maryland for "Lincoln, Johnson and the Free Constitution." The Union ranks are swelling daily with accessions of good and true men.

LETTER FROM JANE G. SWISSELM.
When in returning from the Department one afternoon, our way was blocked by troops of the 6th corps, I knew how the present deliverance was to come. I had seen the heights of Fredricksburg and knew that the men who took Mayree's Hill could defend Washington from the Confederacy and its grand ally, the arch fiend.

COMPETENT WITNESSES.
While we have Democratic stump speakers in this State, going about whining that the rebellion cannot be subdued by arms, and that some other way ought to be tried, (though they are not quite so talkative as they were before Sheridan's victories,) the following are some of the authorities whose voices are heard on the other side:

SAYS LIEUT. GEN. GRANT:
The end is not far distant, if we will only be true to ourselves. All we want now to insure an early restoration of the Union is a determined unity of sentiment North.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL HOOKER:
This Union must be preserved, and there is no way of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. This rebellion is tottering while I speak; it is going down and will soon tumble into ruin.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL MEADE:
Dismissing, as now useless to discuss, all questions as to the origin of this war, we have daily and hourly evidence that it exists, and that it can only be terminated by hard fighting, and by determined efforts to overcome the armed enemies of the government.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL BURNEIS:
Would it not be cowardly for us to say that this rebellion cannot be crushed and the authority of the government sustained? There is in my mind no question of it. There can be no such thing as laying down arms or cessation of hostilities until the entire authority of the government is acknowledged by every citizen of our country.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL LOGAN:
The greatest victory of the rebels, greater than fifty Manassas, and their only one that can give them a particle of hope, will be to defeat the war party at the incoming campaign.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL DIX:
My desire is to do all in my power to sustain the Government in its efforts to put down the rebellion—an object to be effected, in my judgment, by a steady and unswerving prosecution of the war.

SAYS THE OLD VETERAN MAJOR GENERAL WOOL:
Nothing, for aught that I can discover, will save the Union and its government but the successes of Grant, Sherman, Farragut and Sheridan.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL SHERMAN:
To stop war we must defeat the rebel armies that are arrayed against the laws and Constitution, which all must respect and obey. * * * The South began the war by seizing forts, arsenals, mints, custom houses, etc., etc., long before Lincoln was installed, and before the South had one jot or tittle of provocation. * * * I want peace, and believe it can only be reached through Union and war, and I will ever conduct war purely with a view to perfect an early success.

WHAT A SOLDIER THINKS.
A private in the Second Minnesota Battery, now near Atlanta, writes us as follows:
"We have some Copperheads or mongrel Democrats who hurrah for Little Mac. The last vote we had went unanimous for Miller, because he was liked and because the Company believed he was the soldier's friend, which he has proved to be in so far as it lay in his power, and to-morrow Gov. Miller would command our vote."
"We have had a few weekly 'Pioneers' in camp, and I must say I am disgusted with the trash they set forth and the arguments they use—no because they differ from me, but the scurrility and lying, and base appeals to all that is bad in men unfortunately ignorant. I know how to take the stuff, but there are some who swallow it."
LITTLE MAC IN THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.
COLUMBUS, O., Tuesday, Oct. 4.
Mr. Edward, one of the messengers to the field for distributing Union tickets, has just returned from Grant's army. He reports the best feeling among the soldiers in the army in favor of Lincoln and Johnson, and that the Union, or war ticket, will receive an almost unanimous support. The soldiers feel the highest respect for McClellan, and will not permit a word to be said against him, but they express the determination to vote against him because he is on the Peace Copperhead ticket and that they cannot support.
We were rather surprised to find the above in the Pioneer. It does not often allow its readers a glance at the truth with regard to the soldiers' votes—or anything else.
—Hon. Henry Winter Davis, who at first opposed Lincoln, is stamping Maryland for "Lincoln, Johnson and the Free Constitution." The Union ranks are swelling daily with accessions of good and true men.

LETTER FROM JANE G. SWISSELM.
When in returning from the Department one afternoon, our way was blocked by troops of the 6th corps, I knew how the present deliverance was to come. I had seen the heights of Fredricksburg and knew that the men who took Mayree's Hill could defend Washington from the Confederacy and its grand ally, the arch fiend.

COMPETENT WITNESSES.
While we have Democratic stump speakers in this State, going about whining that the rebellion cannot be subdued by arms, and that some other way ought to be tried, (though they are not quite so talkative as they were before Sheridan's victories,) the following are some of the authorities whose voices are heard on the other side:

SAYS LIEUT. GEN. GRANT:
The end is not far distant, if we will only be true to ourselves. All we want now to insure an early restoration of the Union is a determined unity of sentiment North.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL HOOKER:
This Union must be preserved, and there is no way of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. This rebellion is tottering while I speak; it is going down and will soon tumble into ruin.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL MEADE:
Dismissing, as now useless to discuss, all questions as to the origin of this war, we have daily and hourly evidence that it exists, and that it can only be terminated by hard fighting, and by determined efforts to overcome the armed enemies of the government.

LETTER FROM JANE G. SWISSELM.
When in returning from the Department one afternoon, our way was blocked by troops of the 6th corps, I knew how the present deliverance was to come. I had seen the heights of Fredricksburg and knew that the men who took Mayree's Hill could defend Washington from the Confederacy and its grand ally, the arch fiend.

COMPETENT WITNESSES.
While we have Democratic stump speakers in this State, going about whining that the rebellion cannot be subdued by arms, and that some other way ought to be tried, (though they are not quite so talkative as they were before Sheridan's victories,) the following are some of the authorities whose voices are heard on the other side:

SAYS LIEUT. GEN. GRANT:
The end is not far distant, if we will only be true to ourselves. All we want now to insure an early restoration of the Union is a determined unity of sentiment North.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL HOOKER:
This Union must be preserved, and there is no way of preserving it but by the power of our arms—by fighting the conspiracy to death. This rebellion is tottering while I speak; it is going down and will soon tumble into ruin.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL MEADE:
Dismissing, as now useless to discuss, all questions as to the origin of this war, we have daily and hourly evidence that it exists, and that it can only be terminated by hard fighting, and by determined efforts to overcome the armed enemies of the government.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL BURNEIS:
Would it not be cowardly for us to say that this rebellion cannot be crushed and the authority of the government sustained? There is in my mind no question of it. There can be no such thing as laying down arms or cessation of hostilities until the entire authority of the government is acknowledged by every citizen of our country.

SAYS MAJOR GENERAL LOGAN:
The greatest victory of the rebels, greater than fifty Manassas, and their only one that can give them a particle of hope, will be to defeat the war