THE CONGRESSIONAL NOMINATION.

In less than two weeks from this date, the Union voters of this District will be called upon, in delegate Convention, to place in nomination a candidate for Congress. Never was there greater necessity for a sober, deliberate and judicious choice.

MINNESOTA HAS ALWAYS BEEN BLESSED WITH IDEALISTIC MEMBERS OF CONGRESS.

Minnesota has always been blessed with idealistic members of Congress. They get railroad land grants and all else they ask for. And to crown their success, they have obtained an appropriation of $50,000 for a Custom House, Post office, and Federal Court room.

Not a word has ever been breathed against his honesty and uprightiness, save by one or two sheets, well known as calculators from choice, falsifiers by profession, and ready at lies from long habit.

There is also another point well worthy to be considered, and which is thus clearly stated by the New York Independent:

Long service is needed to make Senators and Representatives thoroughly efficient. It is generally better to re-elect a tried man than to send a fresh one who begins as an apprentice where his predecessor ended as a master.

Minnesota needs this experience—the great Union party needs it. It would be as foolish as it would be useless to say that it is not a powerful lever in the hands of any people who are wise enough to use it.

And, further, the political issue is fairly made up between the President and Congress. The people understand it, and they desire, and they have a right to demand, that they be allowed to express it unqualifiedly.

Mr. Donnelly is closely identified with the acts of the late session of Congress touching all questions of reconstruction; his position is well known, and it is fit that he be the candidate by whom these principles shall be endorsed or condemned in the approaching campaign.

For these and other reasons that might be mentioned, we urge the nomination of Mr. Donnelly, and we believe the selection is warranted, may demanded, by policy, interest and justice, both toward the District and the Union party.

CLERK OF THE SUPREME COURT.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 3d, 1886.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT—I would respectfully present the name of Loren W. Collins, of this County, as a proper person to receive the nomination, by the coming Republican State Convention, for Clerk of the Supreme Court.

I know of no person from Northern Minnesota solicited of being placed upon the ticket in the ensuing election, and it is right that he should be represented there. Mr. Collins is a gentleman who would do credit to the position, a lawyer by profession, and his past services to the country recommend him as fit subject for the consideration of the Convention.

Your Respectfully, J. B. COLLINS.

AN OBTAINER.

We can cordially endorse the statements of "Observer" concerning the worth and capability of Capt. Collins. Although but recently become a citizen of this place, he has won many friends by his genial social qualities, creditable deportment and admitted legal qualifications.

A GENEROUS TRIBUTE.

It is a generous though deserved tribute which the principal painters of the Eastern cities pay to Mr. Crosby, in the following note. They and their brethren all over the country are contributing magnificently to the success of his great Art-Union enterprise.

U. H. CROSBY, Esq., Chicago, Ill. DEAR SIR—We, the undersigned artists, of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, learning of your misfortune, and the generous desire of your fellow-citizens of Chicago, and others, to assist you in re-establishing yourself through the success of the "Crosby Opera House Association" take pleasure in assuring you of our hearty good will and co-operation, wishing you all success, and continuance in well-being, in bringing art so advantageously and generously before the whole people:

- A. Bierstadt, W. Hart, Wm. Bradford, W. J. Hays, J. T. H. Dehaas, S. R. Gifford, Louis Thompson, R. W. Hubbard, Thos. Lee, A. D. Shattuck, E. J. Gay, R. G. S. Collins, W. J. Hays, Wm. L. South, Frederick E. Church, J. F. Knapp, Constant Mayer, N. Nebel, Wm. Page, Louis Lang, J. F. Cropper, James M. Hart, J. R. Brown, D. H. C. Brown, James Fairman, J. B. Stearns, of New York. Thos. Sully, T. Henry Smith, Ed. Moran, Thos. Moran, Geo. O. Landblin, J. H. Landblin, E. B. Wang, John R. Lewis, H. H. Bense, John Sartain, D. R. Knight, I. Hamilton, F. G. Rosenberg, Jos. John, of Philadelphia. Geo. L. Brown, T. Robinson, Virgil Williams, A. H. Bucknell, F. D. Williams, J. Morrill, G. N. Cass, F. J. Fitcher, Geo. Fuller, Wm. M. Fisher, of Boston.

The attendance at the Great Loyal Convention now in session at Philadelphia, is immense. It is one of the grandest political assemblages of the age. We will give fuller accounts of its doings next week.

"I," PRESIDENT JOHNSON, had, at latest accounts, arrived on his stumping tour as far as Toledo, Ohio. "I," "my," "me," "myself," and "my policy" is scattered along his route as thick as pebbles on a river's bank.

Let the patriotic people of the United States, who have given of their blood and treasure to put down the slaveholders' rebellion, note the following from the Richmond Examiner:

"We are conscious of no crime and no error, but of misfortune only."

A Newburg paper says the "old gentleman" must wag his tail in joy at the arguments used by some persons in the late Christian Convention in Albany, who essay to make the difference between a man of the world and a Christian as little as possible.

The Y. M. Christian Convention proposed, very sensibly, that "the difference between a man of the world and a Christian" should consist in conduct and not in cant—in doing good and not in abjuring innocent and wholesome amusements under pretense of piety.

HORACE GREELY.

Horace Greely is thus sketched by the New York Citizen:

"Greely's tastes are singular—almost pathetically—single. He is a man of equal, or even approximating power, in so little self-consciousness, so little self-asserting in his personal relations. He has a large and fertile farm at Chippewa, on the Harlem railroad, and there he takes his few and deeply earned holidays—drinking water like a camel from a pure spring which lies in a hollow near the bottom of a tumbling cascade upon his grounds; or taking exercise with a hatchet in thinning out the trees of his plantation where they grow too thickly for mutual development.

His farm is an aggregation of many farms, bought up with the patient economy of years, and containing, in consequence, nearly a dozen orchards, making as many separate purchases of small estates. Of these orchards and their thriftiness he is more proud than of all the power of the Tribunes. To keep them free of apple worms is with him a labor of affection. How many barrels they produced last year, and how many barrels he has hopes they will produce this season, are themes which he discusses and dwells upon with no less apparent interest, and far more vivacity, than his pen displays in dissecting Secretary McCulloch's estimates.

His present hours is not the one he means to occupy, being the one he found on the central farm at the time of its original purchase. It is a very simple frame structure of only some half dozen rooms; but to its left is a beautiful cascade tumbling down through thickly wooded slopes, and brawling over mossy rocks; and close to its margin, or at least in view of its descent, and in hearing of its continual murmur, he is clearing a plateau on which his future homestead is soon to rise.

Only a few choice pictures in the parlor, and some sculpture bought during his visit to Italy, mark out the interior of the house as different from that of similar houses of its class belonging to the uncultivated farmers of his neighborhood.

"On this land it is Greely's delight to try costly experiments of sub-soiling and new manures; new agricultural implements, and new crosses in the various breeds of choice cattle. When he has seen justice done his poor friend the negro, and sufficient money to secure the future of his children, our philosopher believes that he will have philosophy enough to abjure both literature and politics, and go of somewhere fishing.

"Of domestic history the subject of our sketch has little, owing to the continued delicacy of his wife's health. His greatest sorrow was the loss of an only son; his greatest joys, next to the decree of universal emancipation, two promising daughters, the elder of whom is now being educated at the Convent of the Sacred Heart in the upper part of this island."

"A celebrated actress, whose fresh smile and silvery voice favored the deception, always called herself 'sweet sixteen.' She stated her age at sixteen in a court room as a witness. Her son was directly after placed on the stand, and asked how old he was. 'Six months older than mother,' was the honest reply.

"'Pa, I know 'em the old fashioned pistol of your'n that grandpa sit with in the old revolution is called a horse pistol.' 'Why, my son?' 'Because it kicks so.'"

"Tobacco should not be chewed, but s chewed."

THREE BOTTLES ARE PREPARED IN PURE Bourbon Whiskey, from a combination of over twenty different kinds of roots, herbs and barks, which act in perfect concert with the other ingredients from the original formula given by the great chief, Red Jacket, to Dr. Chapin, who used them successfully in his practice for many years, and by their use gained so great a popularity in the treatment and cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Constipation, Headache, Nervous Headache, Fever and Ague, and all diseases arising from torpid liver and indigestion. Persons suffering from either of these distressing diseases will find a cure by the use of these Bitters, which are perfectly pure and free from all those drugs and poisons usually put up in such preparations, and put off on an unsuspecting public. A single trial will convince the most skeptical that in the RED JACKET there is a virtue that no other Bitters possess.

They strengthen and invigorate the system. They are unequalled for general Debility. They are a cure for Dyspepsia. They give a good and healthy appetite. They assist digestion. They purify the blood and add to the strength. They cure Rheumatism and Cholera Morbus. They are an antidote to change of water and diet. They are the best stimulant in existence. They are a preventive of Fever and Ague. They relieve Constipation. They cure Nervous Headache. They are perfectly pure and palatable.

The genuine RED JACKET BITTERS are only sold in quart bottles; never by the gallon, quart or pint. See that our private Government stamp is marked over each cork. Sold by all druggists and dealers throughout the country. Call for Red Jacket, and take no other. Circulate to the trade supplied on application.
