

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

It is Wiser and Better to Talk Pastors Up Than to Talk Them Down.

The Religious Herald, of Hartford, makes a suggestion that a certain kind of pastoral support which it holds to be more important than an abundance of bank notes. The suggestion might be profitable any time, but some parishes in the vicinity of Boston may find it especially time just now. The illustration, which the Herald takes as the basis of the suggestion, is the case of Dr. James Shaw, pastor of the Bick Presbyterian Church of Rochester, N. Y. After he had been settled several years, there began to be expressions of dissatisfaction with his qualities as a preacher, and many of the members were discussing the question whether it might not be best for them to get another pastor. The congregation fell off, and the state of things was becoming quite deplorable. At this juncture two prominent business men talked over the situation, and concluded to advise the church to change its course at once. They said: "Mr. Shaw is not a good preacher, but he is a good man, and we all have confidence in him. Now, instead of talking him down, let us talk him up." This advice was given and acted on. A marked change was soon apparent. The congregation rapidly increased, and the church rapidly prospered. Dr. Shaw has been the pastor forty-seven years, and is still active and influential, and the church has a membership of fifteen hundred. The story carries its own moral with it. If more churches would adopt the practice of talking their pastors up instead of talking them down, there would be fewer instances of pastoral relations hastily and unwisely severed.—Boston Journal.

CHRISTIAN TRIUMPHS

Wonderful Growth of Christianity in Asiatic Countries and in Russia.

In India when the Christian Church attacked the Hindoo faith it undertook the greatest of tasks, but there have been marvelous results. Only recently a procession of 2,000 Sunday-school scholars took place in Lucknow. In Travancore the London Society have 20,000 Christians, and in Burma, in the Karen mountains, there are 100,000 native Christians. A lady from India says, the question is not how to get into zenanas, but how sufficient workers can be sent out, for on every hand are there open doors. A few years ago there were not ten converted Jews in Turkey, now there are 3,000 and a Hebrew Prayer Union has several hundred members. Fifteen years ago, if a missionary had gone into Russia, many a Jew would have deemed it an honor to kill him, but now it is very different. To-day in Russia thousands are studying and reading the New Testament.

In China now, relates one missionary, there is no need of announcing meetings. "We can have a meeting in the street at any moment," he says, "and there we can preach as long as we are able. Often when I have arrived the whole city turns out to see me. The streets have been lined, so that there has not been room for me to walk up the street. On the tops of the houses and on the walls, and at the windows, and at the doors, the people now crowd around to see the 'foreigner,' and to hear what he has to talk about."—Baptist Weekly.

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

—French to the conscience.—Goulburn.

—Prayer is the side timbers and faith the rudder on the ladder raised to Heaven.—Whitehall Times.

—Paul, who turned the world upside down, could not be turned upside down by the world. Can you be?

—When we remember only the good that we hear of persons during the day, we are carrying pearls to God.—Pomroy's Democrat.

—The superfluous blossoms on a fruit-tree symbolize the large way in which God loves to do pleasant things.—Decher.

—The plea for Sunday labor generally comes in the last resort, from those who wish to make a seven days' profit in their business.—Hatchman.

—Unhappiness is the call of God. We can only become happy through adversity. It was the exaggeration of this truth which led the old saints to inflict tortures on themselves.

—When Alexander the Great visited Diogenes, he asked if there was anything that he could give him. He got this short answer: "I want nothing but that you should stand from between me and the sun." One thing there is which should never satisfy and content us, and that is anything that stands between our soul and Christ.—Bishop Ryle.

—It is the order of God's Providence that the growth of the Christ within us shall be just in proportion to the decay of the Adam. And this evidence of our immortality, blessed by God, is perpetually and not uncommonly before us. It is no strange or unknown thing to see the spirit ripening in each in proportion to the decay of the body.—F. W. Robertson.

—The Bible is a revelation of love; but it is not the only one. There is to each one of us a special and personal revelation of Divine Love in the retrospect of that Fatherly Providence which has watched over us through our lives. Who can look back on the chain of graces of which his life has been composed, without a feeling of surprise at the unweariedness of God's love?—F. W. Faber.

The True Object of Matrimony.

Baltimore American: What is lovelier to behold, more deserving of honor and praise, than a noble, good, true, unselfish, and unconventional woman? Are they many? Are they few? Man, if you find one consider yourself blessed, and duly and rightly appreciate and deserve the value of this prize. I count a pure, intelligent, well-bred woman the most attractive object of vision and contemplation in the world—one who abhors deceit, trickery, everything save honor and truth. Picture such a woman as a wife, a mother, cannot you clearly bring to your vision her home a place of peace, harmony and contentment? O, young men, look for such women if you are seeking happiness. If this is your object, the right and only one in contracting matrimony, and you are not a "calculating Romeo," search till you find her, for she is to be found. Man, if you want a wife, a companion, a helpmate, do not expect to find her in the conventional class. O, how I do loathe the conventionalism.

Give me a true honest person, for in these there is dependence. When a woman contemplates matrimony, her only object is to marry the man of her choice, solely for himself, thinking by the union peace and happiness will be brought to their souls, because she sees him, and by being joined her love is consecrated to a holy cause. They plant a home, they rear good, beautiful little ones, which is always the case where there is a perfect blending of two noble natures. It is good for the eyesight to view two souls mated. O, may we see many of them.

Women, look for good men. If you can't find one of this kind, I implore you to take none at all. Don't marry simply for a home, support, for the sake of escaping old maidhood, for it would be tenfold better to remain single than to be an imperfect wife, or a wife in name only. O, how I wish I could talk with you, young women. Do not throw yourselves away. How a woman could wed when she does not love is a mystery to me. The same query is applicable to men.

Another point: Happiness and selfishness can never flourish in the same soil; one kills the other. To be wedded happily, the promoter is congeniality and unselfishness. A good woman will endure much for her husband, the man for his wife. A true woman will smile, cheer, and help her husband should clouds come. Then is the time to test her character, solve the problem, the object of her matrimony. Men look for women with a heart, a soul, do not let their facial beauty be their sole attraction, rather let it be their beauty of soul and character that inspires your love for them. For with these, there is no antumn, no fading, their leaves will be fresh and beautiful forever.

A Queenly Conjuror.

But few persons are aware of the fact that Queen Marie Henriette of Belgium is one of the cleverest conjurers in Europe. When in 1882 the famous magician, Prof. Herrmann, arrived at Brussels on his way to the sea baths at Ostend, one of the Queen's chamberlains called at his hotel and inquired if he was the same Prof. Herrmann who had formerly given sleight-of-hand performances at the palace of Queen's father, the Archduke Palatine of Austria. On ascertaining this to be a fact he informed him that her Majesty would be glad to receive him in private audience the next day. The Queen received him most kindly, and after talking of old times expressed a wish to learn sleight-of-hand. Prof. Herrmann gladly consented to teach her his tricks, and during the following four weeks he spent daily several hours in initiating her as an adept of the Black Art. Of course these lessons took place with locked doors, the professor having made a point of insisting that nobody should be present besides his royal pupil and himself. The Queen displayed a remarkable talent in acquiring the art, and many were the tricks which she subsequently practiced on her family and attendants. Prof. Herrmann, who died three weeks ago leaving an enormous fortune, absolutely refused to accept any remuneration for his services; the Queen, however, met the difficulty by sending a magnificent bracelet and a pair of diamond earrings to the professor's wife. Only a short time before his death he received an autograph letter from the Queen congratulating him in the kindest manner on his seventieth birthday, and adding "Do not be afraid. I have not divulged your secrets to any one."

The Special Agent of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of N. Y., Mr. H. C. Rigby, states: "That he was cured of a severe case of lumbago by two applications of Salvation Oil."

Story of a Hat.

Irish Times: A curious story regarding a hat is current in the lobby of the House of Commons. It appears that on a recent Friday night an elderly member, who is said to be of a jealous disposition, and, moreover, is possessed of a young and (of course) good-looking wife, took from the cloak room another member's hat. On the following morning after breakfast he discovered the strange hat on his hat stand and on closer inspection found that it was garnished inside with initials, above which was a strange crest. The green-eyed monster was instantly at work, especially as his wife had returned from the South of France during his absence at the House on the previous evening. His favorite chapeau of course being missing, he immediately interrogated his wife as to who was her escort.

The innocent dame was highly indignant and hotly denied the impeachment. Seizing his deprecating the honorable member traced the offending hat to the lawful owner, and, journeying to the opposite side of the House, threatening him with all sorts of penalties for the insult offered to his honor. The young seion of nobility immediately grasped the situation, having himself to travel home in a strange hat, and kept up the joke by sending the enraged husband a solicitor's letter, charging him with stealing the initialed hat from the cloak room of the House of Commons. On receipt of this epistle it immediately dawned on the elderly member of Parliament that he had made a mistake, and he forthwith made a personal apology.

They say that the beautiful belle of Washington, Miss—, uses cosmetics; it is a vile slander. She owes her bloom to excellent health, and she keeps well by using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

The Five Sisters.

There were five fair sisters, and each had an aim—

Flora would fain be a fashionable name;

Scholarly Susan's selection was books; Coquetteish Cora cared more for good looks;

Anna, ambitions, aspired after wealth; Sensible Sarah sought first for good health.

So she took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and grew healthy and blooming. Cora's beauty quickly faded; Susan's eyesight failed from over-study; Flora became nervous and fretful in striving after fashion, and a sickly family kept Anna's husband poor. But sensible Sarah grew daily more healthy, charming and intelligent, and she married rich.

Barthold's Great Work.

The statue of Liberty enlightening the world, which stands on Bedloe's Island, in the harbor of New York, is one of the most sublime artistic conceptions of modern times. The torch of the goddess lights the nations of the earth to peace, prosperity and progress, through Liberty. But "liberty" is an empty word to the thousands of poor women enslaved by physical ailments on Bedloe's Island, more tyrannical than any Nero. To such sufferers Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription holds forth the promise of a speedy cure. It is a specific in all these derangements, irregularities and weaknesses which make life a burden to so many women. The only medicine sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. See guarantee printed on wrapper enclosing bottle.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Intending purchasers of POND'S EXTRACT cannot take too much precaution to prevent substitution. Some druggists, trading on the popularity of the great Family Remedy, attempt to palm off other preparations, unscrupulously asserting them to be "the same as" or "equal to" POND'S EXTRACT, indifferent to the deceit practiced upon and disappointment thereby caused to the purchaser, so long as larger profits accrue to themselves. Always insist on having POND'S EXTRACT. Take no other. SOLD IN BOTTLES ONLY; NEVER BY MEASURE. Quality uniform.

Where the Cigar got its Name.

The origin of the word cigar is of some interest and is not to be found in the ordinary dictionaries. The word, of course, is Spanish, and Littré in his French dictionary says that it is derived from cigarra, the Spanish name for grasshopper. When the Spaniards first introduced tobacco into Spain from the Island of Cuba, in the sixteenth century, they cultivated the plant in their gardens, which in Spanish are called cigarrales. Each grew his tobacco in his cigarral and rolled it up for smoking, as he had learned from the Indians in the West Indies. When one offered a smoke to a friend he could say: "Es de mi cigarral"—It is from my garden. Soon the expression came to be: "Este cigarro es de mi cigarral"—this cigar is from my garden. And from this the word cigar spread over the world. The name cigarral for garden comes from cigarra, a grasshopper, that insect being very common in Spain, and cigarral meaning the place where the cigarra sings. In this way the word cigar comes from cigarra, the name of the insect, not because it resembles the body of the grasshopper, but because it was grown in the place it frequents.

Purify the Blood.

We do not claim that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine deserving public confidence, but we believe that to purify the blood, to restore and renovate the whole system, it is absolutely unequalled. The influence of the blood upon the health cannot be over-estimated. If it becomes contaminated, the train of consequences by which the health is undermined is immeasurable. Loss of Appetite, Low Spirits, Headache, Dyspepsia, Debility, Nervousness and other "little (?) ailments" are the premonitions of more serious and often fatal results.
