

THE CITY

Jackson has it, 329.

Wedding bells this next week.

Dr. Geo. K. Harrington has removed to his residence on State street.

That the V. and M. Road will change ownership in a short time.

Mrs. W. H. Green and sons returned from their Northern tour last week.

Rev. C. B. Galloway will be his old friends in this city a brief visit last week.

Misses Pearl and Grace Prestidge, of Memphis, Tenn., are visiting Hon. S. Gwin.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Richardson have returned home from a visit to North Carolina.

Liberty Grove Democratic Club will meet on Saturday next at half-past three o'clock.

Coviet No. 329 protests against his number. He is not a candidate for the presidency.

Mrs. Bettie Cantwell has opened a milliner shop on Capitol street, next door to postoffice.

Miss Kate Swann has been elected instructor of needle work in the Deaf and Dumb Institute.

The workmen are "breaking ground" for the new residence of Hon. Thos. A. McWhorter, on State street.

A most agreeable party was given by the young gentlemen at the residence of Hon. J. Z. George on Thursday evening last.

Hon. J. B. Yellowley, of Madison, who has been spending some months in Greenville, North Carolina, was in the city yesterday.

We had the pleasure of a visit on yesterday from Mr. A. Stankler, of that enterprising firm, J. A. Stankler & Son, formerly of this city but now of Canton.

There is not a vacant house in Jackson. The erection of a dozen or more neat cottages would be a good investment, and a great accommodation to house hunters.

We want to know if the person who furnished the chalk which has been used to figure 329 said it or "let it be a loan?"

Mr. Jas. S. Barfield has sold his place in the suburbs of town to Mr. Johnson, of the Auditor's office. Mr. Barfield's family now reside on Capitol street, next door to Dr. Byron Landry.

It has been decided at a meeting of the citizens of Terry, that the oratorical of H. J. Z. George upon the life and services of the late Hon. A. G. Brown, will be delivered in Jackson.

Mrs. E. T. Virden has a card which the attention of ladies interested in millinery—and that includes, we believe, all of the sexes—is called. "Viro figures to suit the times" is Mrs. Virden's motto.

We regret that the reports of Rev. Dr. Watkins health do not encourage the hope that he will be able to resume his pastoral duties before the meeting of Conference. His pulpit will be supplied next Sabbath by Rev. Mr. Jones of Haywood.

Mississippi College, at Clinton, opened its present session with one hundred and fifty students—decidedly the best opening in the history of the College. We should not be surprised if two hundred and fifty young men were enrolled during the year.

Mr. C. Cummings has removed his family to the building on the corner just east of THE CLARION office. The lower story will be used for his sewing machines, and shoe business. His residence in the South Ward has been leased by Deputy Auditor Buckley.

Our old-time friend, Mrs. Masters has remained as a generous supply of fruits from her store, that she is again doing business in Jackson. Her store is immediately opposite the City Hall, and she makes a specialty of fruits and vegetables in their season.

Mr. Robert Withers (his old Jackson associates know him as "Bob Withers") of Brookhaven, one of the most enterprising and successful merchants between Jackson and New Orleans—and a live man generally—made a flying visit to the Capital a few days ago.

Children attending Fair Lawn Institute can ride in street cars, going to and from school, for fifty cents per month. This is a great convenience to the West Jackson and downtown pupils. Those who have monthly tickets invariably "wait for the wagon."

We attempted to thank Messrs. Hunter & Harrington last week for a sample of Laker's Dry Soap—a splendid preparation for the hands, but it was transported into "Lake's Dry Soap," which might be very good for an empty stomach, but would hardly serve for soiled hands.

Rev. Dr. H. E. Johnson, President of Whitworth College, preached a very able discourse at the Methodist church on Sabbath last, from the fourteenth verse of the 34th chapter of St. John. "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up."

Between "Taxpayer" and "Earnings," the status of the city Jackson as a business center, does not show up very brilliantly. We hope somebody will give us an essay of a more hopeful nature. Jackson deserves a better showing than she is receiving at the hands of these learned disputants.

The Messrs. F. B. & W. S. Hall have a new card in this issue. They not only keep a full supply of all kinds of lumber, but can fill orders for any amount and description of sash, doors, blinds, builders' hardware, lime, cement, plaster hair, etc. They take contracts for buildings, and give general satisfaction in all that they undertake.

The work of brick laying has commenced on the new building for the blind. The weather has been unfavorable for brick-making, and the contractor has sustained considerable loss and delay in consequence. Mr. H. M. Taylor is the contractor, and F. W. Ott is superintending the brick-work. The building will be ready for use next spring.

Messrs. Muller & Son have removed their store to Pearl street, where they expect to do a larger business in dispensing liquid refreshments. Capitol street has become rather a "dry" place for saloons since the location thereon of all the printing offices. The Baptist Record moved into the same building with the saloon, and the latter could not stand the pressure.

Col. Wm. B. Taylor has opened an office as cotton broker. He has had thirty years experience in handling the great and Eastern markets, and is a more competent and reliable buyer than any other cotton broker in the city.

Knows How H. is Himself.

Col. Francis in Brandon Republican.

Prize for "Him" a man in every issue of your paper for twenty years, who will think you are a tolerably clever fellow, provided you can be proved by any of the females who have used the Regulator are now in perfect health, and able to attend their household duties.

REV. H. E. JOHNSON.

76th Mississippi.

This volume of our State Reports embraces all the cases decided by the Supreme Court at the October term 1879, and the last term. The Court has wisely determined to require all the cases decided at the October term and the April term following to be put in one volume, if possible, to be ready for distribution before the next October term. Under this requirement, the Reports will not be so rapidly multiplied, and the decisions can be readily kept up with.

Including the index, the 77th contains nearly one thousand pages. One hundred and eighty-nine cases are reported, more than double the average number in the Reports prior to the 52d. This is due to the fact that the opinions are nearly all short. In this day of crowded libraries and overworked lawyers, it is refreshing to read opinions that are clear, concise and to the point. Few books contain more good solid law than is found in this volume.

Mr. Brown has done his part of the work so as to sustain his well established reputation as a most careful and competent Reporter. The cases are intelligently stated, and the head notes, so far as examined, contain clear and accurate synopses of the cases.

The writer will take the liberty of suggesting that it would be better to state at the head of each page what it contains, as, for instance: Statement of Case—Brief for Appellant—Opinion of the Court.

In the index where one title is referred to under another, the reference should be directed to the page in the book. This plan is followed in indexing the late volumes of the American Reports and it saves time and labor.

The printing, binding and material of the book seem to be first-class. The publishers are Little, Brown & Co.

If the volume is equal in every respect to the 57th Mississippi, by the same Reporter and publishers, we have two law books as perfect, perhaps, as any ever printed.

The next volume will be reported by Mr. Hemingway.
