THE STOCKMAN.

There is nothing so gay,
As when during May
The stockmen are having their round-up,
No longer in camp,
And in mudhouses damp,
The jolly cowboys are bound up.
The Mexican pony
He looks proud and tosy,
And seems to feel winter is over;
Cares a d... for his master,
And runs all the faster,
He is smelling the grass and the clover.

And many a beast
Is later shipped East
While westward goes many a dollar;
So stockmen come all
And dress up in the fall,
Real nobby from the feet to the collar.

As the clothingmen's "Boss"
Is well known Kahn & Schloss,
Where the stockmen all meet and are trading
So you'll purchase I guess,
At the firm "K. & S."
Whose goods wear forever without fading.

Parties living at a distance can send their Watches and Jewelry by registered letter, as merchandise, with perfect safety at a very small cost, and can depend on having their work done properly and promptly. Charges reasonable, and satisfaction guaranteed, at the P. O. Stock Store. Don't forget the place.

The recent bids called for to fill the deficiency in Indian beef, were all rejected—the rate being considered too high. The lowest bid was $3.92.

Lieut. Gen. P. H. Sheridan, in his annual report just issued, recommends that Forts Hall, Wallace, Dodge, Larned and Cantonment, on the Canadian, be turned over to the Indian department to be used for Indian schools.

From the Live Stock Journal, we learn that the grass in western Texas was never better, water plenty and cattle are fine and fat, and the good-natured ranchmen rejoice serenely. Many have doubled their fortunes within the last year, and they have no reason for being other than happy.

The Indian Journal of last week states that Inspector Haworth arrived at Muskogee on Tuesday. Gen. Whittlesy, who is secretary of the board of Indian coms., and Maj. Haworth will visit the western Agencies with a view of becoming more familiar with the character of their schools. Gen. Whittlesy has already devoted two or three weeks to the schools and political systems of five of the lower tribes.

Attention is called to the new advertisement of the Star livery stables Hilliard, Patterson & Co., proprietors, at Arkansas City. Everything in and about these stables is first-class—new rigs of the latest style.—In fact the Star stables are, under the management of Capt. Thompson, the best regulated livery in southern Kansas. Also good corrals in connection for the accommodation of cattlemen when at the "canal city."

We tip our hat and extend thanks to the Arkansas City Traveler for these kind words: "The Traveler received a pleasant call from Lake Merritt, local editor of the CHEYENNE TRANSPORTER, who spent several days of the past week in our city shaking hands with his many friends. Lake's facile pen makes its mark in the TRANSPORTER'S columns, filling them with newsy and interesting items, doing credit to both himself and the paper. We are always glad to see a 'print' of his stripe happen around. Call again."

PRaisworthy ACTION.

On the 24th of Oct. last, the Cherokee Strip Stock Association had a special meeting at Caldwell, and took action offering a standing reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons stealing stock from the association. A resolution was also adopted, disbaring all members who failed to pay up promptly all assessments for above purposes. This is a step in the right direction, and cannot help but have an influence for good. Although the meeting was a month ago, the TRANSPORTER makes this tardy mention of the matter—the delay being occasioned by the building and moving into of our new and commodious quarters.

To gratify the infantile curiosity Miss Eva Miles ordered a small magic lantern some time since, and upon its arrival, the "little folks" of the Agency (and some larger ones, too) gathered at the Agent's residence one evening last week to witness an exhibition. After Miss Eva and Miss Ellen Campbell had displayed several ancient portraits, Miss Lena Miles brought forth and presented the merry little assemblage with a lot of delicious refreshments, which were partaken of with relish, after which the little party joined for a season in all sorts of social amusement. Thanking the Misses Miles for their exquisite hospitality, the company dispersed, feeling that they had been made welcome, and that they had had a most delightful time.

FORT RENO GLEANINGS.

The paymaster has been here, and made things lively for a few days.

Lieut. Black, signal officer in charge of the telegraph line in this section, stopped over Sunday with us.

Gen. Forsyth, of Gen. Sheridan's staff, inspected the cavalry here a few days ago, and, we believe, woke the boys up a little.

Our enterprising post commander, Maj. Bennett, has nearly finished the new ice house. It will be ready for ice as soon as ice is ready for it.

We hear of a freighter losing his wagon, bedding and load of blankets consigned to A. J. Reynolds, by fire last week between here and the Washita. Valuation, $1,000.

Mr. Van Horn, of Mobeetle, Texas, passed through the post last week on his way to Anadarko. He is a cousin of Mr. A. J. Reynolds, and goes down to manage his business while he is away. We knew Mr. Van Horn in Texas, and know him to be a pleasant, genial business man.

Lieut. Chas. W. Taylor, of the 9th Cav., left for the north on Monday's coach. He goes to his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., to enjoy his four months leave, which he has richly earned after his long scouts after Indians in New Mexico, and Capt. (?) Payne and other boomers in this country.

The McAllister Bros., with Mr. Ingalls, of Brooklyn, and Mr. Morrison, of Nebraska, have been sojourning the past week at the Hotel Cooksey. These gentlemen were on their way from Nebraska to Texas, when Mr. Morrison shot himself accidentally in the arm, so the party had to lay over here for medical treatment.

The hop given last Wednesday evening by the officers and ladies of the post, was a very enjoyable one. Among the distinguished guests present were Mr and Mrs Thorn, of N. Y. and their daughter, Mrs. J. S. Evans, who was accompanied by the dashing Lieut. Chas. W. Taylor. The matronly Mrs. Thorn appeared in black silk, and she seemed to enjoy herself greatly. Miss Maffei, of Philadelphia, appeared in a garnet silk, trimmed with Dutchess lace. Miss Campbell, a pretty blonde, was also very becomingly attired in a dress of the same color. Miss Neely, the Kentucky belle, wore a crimson waist and white skirt. The charming Miss Miles, of Darlington, appeared in a similar costume. The petite Miss Josie Taylor, last, though not least—in a lovely costume of pink silk. Judging from the demand these young ladies were in as partners for the dances, it would be difficult to name which "carried off the cake." Lieuts. Waters and Stevens, who have lately returned from the north, treated the company to some beautiful figures of the German—one of which was called the military figure. Lieut. Huston did not appear to be as familiar with these as he was with the "Dutch Waltz." W. Hempil cut the pigeon wing with great dexterity. Mr. Decker did not make himself as conspicuous on this occasion as he will later in the season—after attending dancing school awhile. Space will not allow a more detailed description of the other beautiful toilet seen on this occasion. The ease and grace with which the genial Capt. Bradley, chairman of the reception committee, performed the duties of that arduous office, caused the ladies at once to feel at home, and showed that he was no novice to the position. The hall was decorated with great taste, reflecting much credit upon the committee, who were (we believe) Dr. LaGarde, and Lieuts. Rogers and Maffei.

News Truly,

LAKE MERRITT.
