HELSEA was the scene last Thursday of an unfortunate incident in which W. C. Wright, the druggist and jeweler of this place, was an important and unwilling figure.

Wright went out on the morning train to enroll with the Cherokee census takers. While in a drug store in that town he was confronted by Tom Terrell, the slayer a couple of years ago of Tom Crutehfield, and accused of being among the jurors who prevented his acquittal.

PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

A pure Grape Cream of Tartar Powder. Free from Ammonia, Alum or any other adulterant. 40 Years the Standard.

Pillsbury's Best flour at Badgett's. Prof. Caldwell, principal of the male seminary at Tahlequah, expelled eleven boys last week for running off and going to town without permission at night during the election excitement.

Most everybody is trying to learn something of the payment. The agent told parties at Afton yesterday that he would begin paying as soon as informed that funds were at his disposal.

The Muskogee Times says that all cases against the druggist of Tahlequah in Judge Springer's court were transferred to Vinita for trial. And just think of it—we have no more jail "than a rabbit."

Francis Jones "In Old Madrid," never fails to please. Don't fail to see him. Tickets on sale at Wright's drug store, after 9 o'clock Friday morning, November 13. Come early and get good seats.

We play nothing but guaranteed shows and you may expect something first-class when you see "In Old Madrid," by Francis Jones and his excellent company at Little's opera house, November 16. The manager.

Madame Cecilie, the French fortune-teller will remain here another week. Come all and do not miss this chance. If you have lost anything she will tell you where it is. Only one week more, at the Hotel Green, room 4. Sundays open.

One day last week W. M. Mellette, on his way up from Arkansas, got off the Frisco at Fairland, drove to Miami and attended to some business in court, then drove to Bluejacket, reaching that point in time to catch the evening train on the M., K. & T., and get here at 5:30.

"Continue my paper as long as you publish it" was the order of Bob Garrett, Monday, when he came up to renew his subscription and order the paper sent to a friend. Orders of this kind are appreciated. The man who is all right and who takes THE CHIEFTAIN a year is pretty sure to take it for all time.

Farm of 250 acres in cultivation for grain rent. Call on or address H. Balentine. The young man named Perry reported drowned at Claremore last week, as surmised, the son of S. A. Perry of Big Cabin. In company with three others he was crossing the Verdigris and when near the shore became alarmed and tipped the boat over in his fright. At last accounts the body had not been found.

A gentleman from Siloam Springs, spent several weeks here recently and remarked before leaving that he never heard a local paper quoted so frequently as THE CHIEFTAIN. He said that in his town a paper started with great promises, ran a few weeks and quit, and his entire career never excited a ripple from first to last.

Pillsbury spring wheat flour at Badgett's. A. P. Boswell, the well known Coffeyville merchant, was found dead in his bed at the hotel in Nowata last Thursday about noon. He had been to the Delaware payment at Alluwe and complained, on reaching Nowata, of a sensation similar to that of needles pricking him all over his body, and concluded to stop there until next morning.

One of the most attractive features in Chetopa's great political rally, says the Advance, was the Russell Creek delegation under Capt. A. Mills, nearly all of whom were in Indian costume with buckskin breeches, feathers, war paint and other accouterments of Indian life. The delegation made a very imposing appearance and attracted much attention.

Leonard Trainor, the young man who led the Green brothers into their death trap, who is also a brother of Bud who was killed some time ago, fell into a bad way at Claremore Tuesday. He was swinging his pistol around and looking for some officer who could take it from him when Geo. Sanders, city marshal, threw his arms around him from behind and held him. Trainor fired three shots over his shoulder, but the officer finally threw him down, took the weapon from him and put him in jail.

A heckling cough is not only annoying to others, but is dangerous to the person who has it. One minute cough cure will quickly put an end to it. P. Shanahan. End of Judge Springer's Fall Term. H. O. Acorn vs Henry Taylor; trial by the court; judgment for plaintiff. A. D. Neely vs F. M. Smith; judgment for plaintiff for $71. Eagle Manufacturing Co. vs E. M. Arnold; attachment dissolved. U. S. vs Ewing Lamar and John Collins, larceny; motion for new trial overruled; sentenced to Ft. Leavenworth for two years.

Don't Mention It. But Rogge's German ointment will cure the most obstinate cases of piles. Sold by P. Shanahan. 4-20 That cough of yours may become serious; why neglect it when a bottle of Dr. Simmons' cough syrup will cure it? Fifty cents for fifty cents. Satisfaction guaranteed. Speed and safety are the watchwords of the age. One minute cough cure acts quickly, safely and never fails. Asthma, bronchitis, coughs and croup are cured by it. P. Shanahan, 8

RATCLIFFS, VINITA.

I am pleased to say to the community that my family have been raised in the Indian Territory. One of my daughters attended the female and one the male seminary a short time; they never attended as prima-riaries. I have aided in the improvement of this country by building no less than 18 houses—none made by leaders and not to receive. Furthermore, I did not take the Cherokee money and buy my rights in here. I inherited my right and simply because I have finished my children's education in the states and they have not been able to return and get a situation here, and I have always lived in the territory, if anyone would swear against them, you had better swear against someone who has property in the states and is receiving benefits therefrom. I look for my people to give me justice as I have long lived in this western country. Mrs. S. Cook.

THE BATTLE OF WATERLOO.

If Grouchy had prevented Prussian Junction with English.

Napoleon would have won the battle of Waterloo had Grouchy prevented the junction of the Prussians with the English army, because he would not have had Napoleon's army to fight on a wider field, and nobody takes the slightest notice of them. "Indeed what? Duff-barrier." "Not Worth Mentioning." "A capital invention—these horseless carriages!" "Don't talk rubbish. We have had for a long time things quite as remarkable in their way as horseless carriages, and nobody takes the slightest notice of them." "Indeed what? Duff-barrier." "The Alternative." "Can't you make the front entrance wider?" asked one of the trustees, inspecting the plan of the proposed new church, a little child. "Not unless you build on a wider lot," answered the architect, decidedly. "If the ladies are afraid of mousing their sleeves in a six-foot doorway, they will have to go through edgewise."—Chicago Tribune.

SHORES OF THE THAMES.

Once Recognized as the Great London Thoroughfare.

At one time, now a century or more ago, the Thames was recognized as the only great London thoroughfare. Its banks on either side were studded with the "palaces" of the nobility; its waters were covered with every kind of craft, from the gilded barge of royalty to the nutshell skiff or wherry. In those days the river was pure and undefiled, and those who lived upon its banks never hesitated to bathe there in balmy weather. In those days there was no spot in London so picturesque as the Strand, with its broad gardens, its shady trees extending to the water's edge, where "the river gildeth at its own sweet will," and where the embattled towers of many a palace, such as the Savoy, towered artistically in the background. Flocks of swans sailed to and fro in spite of the traffic; they ventured un molested even below the bridge; and the sight of them and their quaint "song" must have been rarely agreeable to the Thames stowmen and their fares. Pray, did you come with oars or scullers? "was an everyday question.

SHORES OF THE THAMES.

Citizens spoke of "taking the water" very much as we now speak of taking an omnibus or cab. The watermen's fares were regulated by the company's printed scale of charges, the hall of the Watermen's company, where all their business was transacted, being then situated at Cold Harbor, near the Vintry. Some 40,000 watermen were upon the rolls of the company, those of the king's court and the nobility being, no doubt, included in this number, and the company was in a position to furnish the navy with as many as 20,000 men.—Chambers' Journal.

For Language sake.

An Irishman, seeing a notice in a haberdashery's window one day which said: "Everything sold here by the yard," entered and asked the shopkeeper if he sold butter.

"Yes," was the answer.

"Then give me a yard," said Pat.

"All right," said the man, and dipping his finger into a dish of milk he said, "he drew it a yard in length on the counter."

"Anything else?" he asked, triumphantly, of Pat.

"No," said Pat. "Just rowl it up in a piece of paper and I'll take it with me."—Limerick News.

Jones—Have you heard lately from your wife at Newport?

Yes, she writes that while the summer half spent yet, nearly all her time was spent in the bath.

Bird Caught in Cat's Paw.

Birds that employ hair in the building of their nests come to grief in strange ways. A gentleman who possessed several colts one day noticed a small bird entangled in the tail of one of his colts. It had evidently been on a search for hair; and had become ensnared. Cases of birds getting their feet entangled in wool or string are well-known and death usually ensues if human help is not forthcoming.

—The fern is indicative of fascination. In Saxony the present by a lover to his sweetheart of a handful of ferns is equivalent to a proposal.

Cut glass combers with silver-plated mounting increase in demand as the season advances.

Silver-mounted belts and bags are included among other silver equipments for the fair cyclist.

Convenient accompaniments to the chafing dish are the chafing dish spoon and alcohol lamp of silver.

Cut glass sugar servers with sterling silver tops accrue a new importance with the advent of the berry season.—Jewelry's Circular.
