DRINK MUCH COFFEE.

AMERICANS CONSUME ALMOST HALF OF WORLD'S OUTPUT.

Indigestion and Nervousness of People in the United States Largely Attributable to This Source.

Prof. Virchow attributed the "leanness, nervousness and sallowness" which he found characteristic of Americans to their excessive use of coffee. Physicians, dietary experts and editors of physical culture magazines incessantly din into our ears that we are undermining our own and our children's constitutions by yielding ourselves too completely to the blandishments of this seductive beverage. We heed them not. Instead, we increase the copiousness of our drafts, says the Chicago Tribune.

A recent report of the national bureau of statistics shows that Americans consumed almost half of all the coffee marketed in the world last year. The total quantity marketed was 2,280,000,000 pounds; and of this Americans got 1,053,000,000 pounds. The Germans, who will let nothing supplant their precious beer, bought only 400,000,000 pounds of coffee. The English, preferring alcoholic drinks and tea, imported but 35,000,000 pounds of it, or only one-thirtieth as much as Americans. In 1830 the people of the United States used less than three pounds of coffee per capita. In 1870 they used six pounds per capita. Their average consumption last year was 13.64 pounds.

Medical authorities are pretty well agreed that the constant use of coffee tends to cause indigestion and nervousness. It is a fact, nevertheless, that while the per capita consumption of coffee has been rapidly increasing in this country, the proportion of people who suffer from nervousness and indigestion has been diminishing. If Dickens should visit our shores now to get material for another "Martin Chuzzlewit" he would find that the number of candidates for dyspeptic and cadaverous parts in his cast of characters had markedly decreased.

The improvement in the national physique is due, however, not to the increased consumption of coffee but to the increased consumption of fresh air and the increased use of dumb-bells, boxing gloves, golf links, etc. Americans are getting rid of their bad stomachs and allaying their nerves in spite of their coffee, not because of it. But, at all events, coffee is less deleterious than alcohol.

The consumption of coffee is not a bad index of the national prosperity. A people that spends more than $81,000,000 in a single year for its favorite beverage must be in pretty good shape financially.

CZAR'S DAY OF JUDGMENT.

Has the Most Pregnant Opportunity Ever Offered Any Ruler of a People.

That the welfare of millions should hang upon the will, whim and word of a single individual—and this individual walled away from all real knowledge of the people's condition and natural wishes—is an anachronism of tragic proportions—an anachronism which leads to deplorable assassination on the one side, and on the other to such hideous massacres of the confiding innocent as took place in St. Petersburg on Sunday, the 22nd of January, 1905. In all the history, says Century, of man no more pregnant opportunity was ever offered to a sovereign than that offered to Czar Nicholas when his people came to him, not with swords and guns, but bearing a petition, carrying the sacred icons, and pictures of the czar, and following a cross. The humblest Turk is protected in presenting a petition to his sultan; but the white czar, the beloved Little Father, allows his petitioning subjects to be slaughtered like mad dogs.

The psychologist and the philosopher can find a score of explanations of the conduct of the troubled, perplexed and wrongly advised czar on that day of judgment for him and for the exploded system of government which he represents. Yet it remains true that, strive as he may to undo the awful effects of his action on the 22nd of January, the doom of the Russian oligarchy was sealed. Through whatever slow or rapid processes, by means of whatever wise concessions or hysterical convulsions, Russia from now on will advance painfully, perhaps with pitiful reactions, toward some modern and rational form of government. The new government may or may not retain imperial forms, as in Japan. The danger is that the blind, brutal, stupid measures of repression, the grinding system of imperial uniformity, may so inflame the people that fearful reprisals and chimerical schemes of reform will take the place of wise and orderly measures, and that the "man on horseback" may, for a time, stand in the path of progress.

Joy Ahead.
Jenkins—Aren't you disappointed that your baby was a girl?
Popley—No, indeed. I've just been thinking how much pleasure it will afford me some day to tell some foreign duke or count that he can't have her. —Philadelphia Ledger.
