Vinita, Okla., Thursday, Nov. 19

Some of the fellows who cursed the city council loudest for spending so much money for paving are now sorry they spoke.

Several more street lights have been ordered by the city council. As the city grows our public utilities must be extended to meet the conditions. Let there be light—and water.

The cost of the Auditorium buildings and other expenditures plus $6,000 would be about the right figures for the city to offer the Auditorium company. The $6,000 to be held in escrow until the completion of a $9,000 eating house.

The school land lessees will have to wait until another election before attempting to grab the land they are now leasing. Eternal vigilance on the part of the people of Oklahoma will be the price of protecting the school lands.

One of the things Vinita will insist on having before the close of another year is a well equipped high school. We can well afford to spend $50,000 on such an institution. No town of our pretensions can much longer delay so important a matter.

TRIBUTE TO SOUTH

Josiah Patterson, the present governor of Tennessee, contested the seat of Senator Carmack in the second session of the Fifty-fifth congressional assembly. Senator (then Congressman) Carmack arose in his seat, and made a speech that was printed and re-printed throughout the United States, and was responsible for Mr. Carmack holding his seat. The peroration follows:

"I speak, sir, for my native state, for my native South. It is a land that has known sorrows; a land that has broken the ashen crust and moistened it with her tears; a land scarred and riven by the plowshare of war and billowed with the graves of her dead; but a land of legend, a land of song, and land of hallowed and heroic memories. To that land every drop of my blood, every fiber of my being, every pulsation of my heart, is consecrated forever. I was born in her womb, I was nurtured at her breast, and when my last hour shall come I pray God that I may be pillowed upon her bosom and rocked to sleep within her tender and encircling arms."

Mrs Temple's Telegram

There are complications enough in "Mrs Temple's Telegram" to strangle a Chinese lawyer, but they all fade away at the finish, not, however, until the absolute finish, in point of laughter has been reached by the audience. Managers Butler & Byrd by dint of much effort have succeeded in securing the famous force for a return engagement here and it will be the attraction at the Auditorium Friday night November, 20.

A demonstration of the Loose-Wiles cakes and crackers will be given at the Golden Rule store Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Everybody come and sample our goods.

Woman Vanquished Bull.
Lots of women have committed suicide, but without doubt at the crucial moment any one of them would have run if a bull had appeared upon the scene, and yet a woman in Indiana attacked one the other day with a pitchfork and vanquished the raging animal. Her courage has excited the wonder of every woman who has heard about it.

The Diligent Ant.
It is not only man who may with advantage take lessons from the ant; the domestic hen would do well in one respect to imitate it. The white ant lays 85,000 eggs a day throughout the season—an amount that may well cause the hen to feel ashamed of her miserable total of three or four eggs a week.

The Speak-Easy.
Beware of the man who whispers his airy nothings into the ear of the willing listener. Ninety-nine times in 100 the whisperer is a thief. He goes around like this: "Shhh! Plumton is a good fellow, but—Shhhh," etc. The whisperer is a backbiter, a spreader of scandal, a maligner, a human hyena. All of us know the whisperer.

Home Built in Silence.
Like Solomon's temple, the residence of Samuel Andrews of Bloomsburg, Pa., was built in silence. Andrews is a deaf mute, and every stroke of work on his house, from laying the foundation to installing the plumbing, has been done by mutes, friends of Andrews, who live elsewhere in the state.

Birthplace of Vegetables.
Turnips and radishes came originally from central Europe. The beet-root and the beet, which have been greatly improved by cultivation, are considered as the same species by botanists. The beet, only the stalk of which is eaten, grows wild in the Mediterranean, Persia and Babylonia.

A Triumph in Science.
Biggums—"They tell me Prof. Hopkins has at last perfected his airship." Sniggums—"He has. There are only two things left to complete." Biggums—"What are they?" Sniggums—"Hopkins says it'll be great if he can only make it stay up and go ahead."

This Queer World.
And the mystery still lingers—why is it necessary to salt a fish caught in the salt ocean? A sea bass caught off Seabright requires just as much salt in the seasoning as a black bass caught in the saltless waters of Lake Erie.—New York Press.

THE FAIR

TUNGSTEN LAMPS

The last and greatest improvement in incandescent lighting. Exceedingly brilliant but used with the Holophane shade is soft and mellow and satisfies the most fastidious. Tungsten lamp filaments are fragile and must be used in a vertical position, but the average life is 1000 hours. The price only seems high. Compare the figures.

ALWAYS REDEEM CLASS RINGS.
Custom of Naval Service Had Its Origin in Esprit de Corps.

A naval officer and a friend were strolling down Broadway one afternoon recently. The former glanced in at a pawnshop window and suddenly stopped. "Hello!" he exclaimed; "there is a naval academy class ring." He went into the shop and asked to see the ring. There could be no doubt about it, it was a ring belonging to a member of a class which graduated some years ago. The officer bought the ring and put it in his pocket.

"Why, what can you want with that ring?" asked his friend; "is its owner a particular friend of yours?"

The officer said he was not and then explained that it had always been a custom of the naval service for any naval officer to redeem a naval academy class ring whenever he saw one and send it back to its owner, who, of course, makes good the loan at his earliest convenience.

"That is why," said the officer, smilingly, "pawnshop keepers are always anxious to lend money on our class rings, and that is also one reason why a naval officer will never pawn his class ring until the worst comes to the worst."

A Puzzle in Spelling.
According to a Tennessee man there was once a judge, in the eastern section of that state, a man well versed in law, but entirely self-educated, who to contend with the principles of orthography all his life. In early life he had lived in Knoxville, and for a long time he insisted upon spelling the name Knoxville.

Finally his friends educated him up to the point of adding the K; so thoroughly, in fact, was the lesson learned that when, in a few years afterward, he removed to Nashville, nothing could prevent him from spelling in Knoxville.

Then, some time later, the judge moved again, this time to Murfreesboro. On the day that he began to write his first letter from this place he scratched his head in perplexity, and finally exclaimed:

"I give it up! How on earth can they spell the name of this place with a 'K'?"

Frequent Collections.
Tripp—Here's an item about a downtown business corner in Pittsburg that rents for $41,000 a year.

Gripp—Gee, if I was th' landlord of a corner that brought in as much as that I'd be 'round twice a day to collect th' rent.
