

HONOLULU MEANTIME.

100 lbs. Sugar... 2 3/4 A M... 10 1/2 P M

TIME'S RISING AND SETTING.

100 lbs. Sugar... 2 3/4 A M... 10 1/2 P M

COMMERCIAL.

ANNUAL REPORT... 1876

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

Report for the past week has been the P. M. S. City of New York...

EXPORTS.

For Steamship... 240 tons...

DEATHS.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

In this city, Jan. 24th, to the wife of Mr. Henry Long, a daughter.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

There will be a meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association on Friday evening, at the Lyceum.

An interesting statement about sugar and rice in San Francisco will be found under the head of Commercial.

Barth Mary B. Roberts and Quikster were to leave San Francisco during January for this port.

The first named may have left by the 12th, and will be here during the last week of this month.

The Kona. For the last two or three days there has been a good deal of rain.

It began from the east and has worked around to the south, with the weather-wise say indicates a long-continued storm.

FAST TIME. We notice that the trip of the City of Honolulu made some time since in fifteen days and two hours from Yokohama to San Francisco.

It has recently been made by the Oceanic which made the voyage in December last in fourteen days and fifteen hours.

For the Pacific Ocean this is unprecedented time.

His Excellency J. E. Bush, the newly appointed Governor of Kauai, proposes to proceed to that island on the steamer Koloa on Thursday next, and shortly after his arrival at Koloa, where he intends to make his headquarters, will make an inaugural address, in which he will unfold some of the plans he proposes to undertake for the benefit of the people. We wish him every success.

KAPOLANI PARK ASSOCIATION. A meeting was held on Saturday last of the shareholders of this association, at which a board of eleven trustees was elected, consisting of the following gentlemen: Capt. James M. A. Coghren, H. Macfarlane, J. H. Day, J. O. Donnell, E. M. Smith, H. A. Widemann, F. A. Schaefer, Capt. Tripp, J. T. Chayer, A. Herbert. The committee to whom was referred the business of preparing the necessary by-laws, presented the same, which, after a few alterations were adopted. There is to be a meeting of Trustees this day at ten o'clock, at the room of the Chamber of Commerce, at which important business will be transacted.

NOTABLE DEATH. The death of Commodore Vanderbilt is reported. He had been ill for several months. He was very wealthy, and probably owned more railroads and railroad property than any other person in the United States.

The death of Sir Daniel Cooper, who lately visited this port going to and returning from New Zealand, is reported as having occurred in London from heart disease. He held the office of Colonial Commissioner in London for the government of New Zealand.

Mr. Bliss, the revival melodist who was killed by the railroad disaster in Ohio on the 29th of December, and his wife and children are also reported among the killed. It is said that he extracted himself from the ruins and sought to rescue his wife and children, who were crushed beneath the iron work of the car. Falling in the attempt, he remained by the side, preferring to die in the flames than to escape alone.

MR. ARGUS MACKAY. It will be in the recollection of our readers that, during November, 1876, Mr. Argus Mackay, the Centennial Commissioner for Queensland, Australia, called at our port en route to the scene of his duties, and also to visit the sugar producing countries of the United States, West Indies, &c. Mr. Mackay is now a passenger per City of New York, on his return home. The colony he represents, as our readers are aware, has been extra successful in having secured a gold medal for Mackay for a full budget of practical information for his fellow colonists, of which we will profit by and by. Meantime, we learn from the Commissioner that he found the sugar business in a depressed state in both the United States and West Indies. The only exception he found in the French West Indies Islands, and there he believes that prosperity is due fully as much to the Central Factory system as to the excellent quality of the soil and climate of the islands for sugar.

The Central Factory, in Mr. Mackay's opinion, is the best device yet worked out to make the production of sugar a steady profitable business. We have been promised some facts on this subject, from Mr. M., which will be of value to those engaged in the business.

NICHIMATO. There has been laid upon our editorial table a very interesting little work, neatly printed by Lippincott & Co., entitled "A Visit to the Cabinet of the United States Mint, at Philadelphia."

It contains a large amount of information which is entertaining to the general reader, and which must, we should suppose, be of much value to the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in the world is the Chinese ten-plate, which is worth two hundred and thirty-five dollars, but in the opinion of the fair author is the most celebrated coin in the world is the "Widow's Mine," which is there on exhibition, and which is in appearance one of the most insignificant.

The description, it appears, contains one Hawaiian cent, which is not only the general reader, but also the numismatist. The introductory gives a brief but piquant historical sketch of coin, and the remainder of the book is devoted to a description of the Mint and its cabinet, which must be a most interesting place to visit, and the various coins, medals and ancient, western and oriental, many of the medals which have been struck at the Mint, as well as of others which came from foreign lands. We find the statement in the book that the largest gold piece in