their programme appears to be a failure. The old saying that "you can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink," seems to be verified. It was an easy thing to depose Malietoa, to depose him and declare that Tamasese was the choice and desire of the people. But the people only waited their opportunity and even in the face of German war vessels rebelled and defeated their King. It reports by the way of the United States are to be credited, the Samoans even defeated Tamasese's troops when led and officered by Germans.

left here full of bitterness and with vows of vengeance against the country. Once more we return to the minor industries of the country. A few weeks ago we were speaking of the small farmers who are really doing very good work in raising corn and potatoes, and showed that there was an unjust discrimination against these products. Our article called forth some correspondence and an article from the Bulletin. The correspondence showed that what we had said was correct and we know that it was written by someone who had a good knowledge of this subject. The Bulletin article retained the very prejudices we were combating and showed a thorough lack of knowledge of the subject in question.

EST. MODUS IN REBUS. TUESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1888

Tax Board of Tax Appeals sat Wednesday. There are but four appeals this year, a remarkable difference from last year's work. Three of these are Chinese planters of bananas and kaho.

Mr. Burns came in the office in a tearing rage, and demanded reparation. After a good deal of soothing and a "little soothing" he was made to explain that the types made him say regarding Mr. Schmidt's speech in the convention, that "he fully approved of Mr. Wilder's sentiments about sinking to the bottom of the sea and hoped to start soon," whereas he said that "he hoped he'd (Mr. Wilder) start soon."

The Quarterly Statement of the Minister of Finance is published elsewhere. The showing is not only a good one but it is also very surprising. The balance June 30th was $204,200 00; the receipts during the three months were $229,614 54 from regular revenue; from the Postal Savings Bank $70,573 32, making a total of $504,390 96 as available for the quarter.

AN important ingredient of many paints is ochre. Every grain we use is imported and we pay anywhere from five to ten cents a pound for it. Yet in our own volcanic soil we possess as great a variety of ochres as can be found anywhere. The process of cleaning, grinding and preparing them for use is so simple that it might almost be said that a man with ten dollars in his pocket and a little energy is completely equipped for it.

It is not at all unlikely that the report may have been started by persons wishing to purchase Hawaiian bonds in London. Such knavish and disreputable means are used to depreciate property and often with success. In this case, the bonds went down to ninety-four and no doubt somebody has made a nice little speculation. However this may be, it is very probable that the Financial News was not far wrong, and the reports were forwarded by bitter and unscrupulous enemies who failed to carry off the booty they desired here; persons who
