HAWAIIAN FINANCES.

The quarterly statement of the receipts and expenditures of the public finances for the quarter ending June 30, published to-day, show but little change from the condition of the treasury at the close of the fiscal year, March 31.

The expenditures for the quarter were, for current expenses $298,986.50, and on Loan Fund Account, being for withdrawal of deposits from the Postal Savings Bank, $57,661.46.

The balance on hand in the treasury June 30, was $406,549.96 against $491,152.10 on the 31st of March, 1890.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

To an observing person great activity in educational matters must have been evident during the past two or three years. This activity has been apparent not only in the schools, but in such material affairs as the repair of old school buildings and the construction of new.

Perhaps the two most prominent features observable are the great increase in the number of scholars and the change of the so-called common into English schools. The increase in the number of scholars over 1888 has been 1236, the number now enrolled being 10,006.

The modern teacher can only be obtained by training. It is to train teachers that these were established, and the cost of them is money well spent by the country.

Because of the brief space we can afford, we have only touched upon a little of the matter set forth in this admirable report. It will repay perusal and contains food for reflection for all well wishers of Hawaii.

The two upper procenium boxes in the Opera House are to be fitted up and opened shortly—an improvement that will tend to increase the beauty of the house.

150th page gives the result of the statistics of births and deaths supposed to be maintained by the Education Bureau as follows:

Total number of births 1888-9, 3,832

Total number of deaths 1888-9, 3,761

Excess of births, 71

It will probably give the Elele occasion to boil over and explode with rage and charges of dishonesty, etc., because it appears that the appropriation of $45,000 for building and repair of school houses having been exhausted the business was still continued in districts having a large amount from school tax.

Under the admirable direction of the Inspector-General, backed by an intelligent Board, much progress has been made in preparing a curriculum for the schools which will be best suited for all ages and conditions to be met in scholars.

The course of study covers twelve years. The attempt is made to acquaint children with practical matters of every day life, and to make the English language taught of like practical use.

The schools of the country are now engaged in supplanting and obliterating the national language. Yet it is the undoubted desire of the Hawaiians, who recognize English as the road to business and social opportunity.

In preparing the course of study, regard has also been had to expense, and it is shown that for the first five years scholars need be put to the expense of $2.75 for books and apparatus.

Attendance by teachers ought to be made compulsory by law. Two appendices give the papers handed applicants for teachers' certificates in the recent examinations.

Because of the brief space we can afford, we have only touched upon a little of the matter set forth in this admirable report. It will repay perusal and contains food for reflection for all well wishers of Hawaii.
