AT THE CAPITOL.

THE MONARCHY BECOMES A THING OF THE PAST. The New Executive Building is Refurbished and Allotted For the Work of the State.

(From Daily, June 3.) The troops from the barracks who had moved in the previous day, had hardly time to settle themselves in shape in their permanent abode in the basement of the new executive building, before the exodus from the former government building to that place began.

Early yesterday morning the doors of the executive building were thrown open and details of workmen were made for storing the necessary furniture in the Wai-kiki suite of rooms upstairs. The entire ground floor and the suite of rooms on the Ewa side of the building upstairs are set aside for the use of the executive council.

An ADVERTISER reporter was shown through the building yesterday afternoon. At the time of the visit the big safes of the finance department were being taken into the main entrance on King street preparatory to placing them in the finance office on the ground floor.

The minister of finance will occupy the blue room, which has been stripped of its belongings and now looks like a staid and austere banking establishment. The great safes were taken in on temporary floors, and the attorney-general stated that it was likely a new vault would soon be built for the further accommodation of the new state.

The minister of the interior will make himself at home in the large dining room on the Ewa side, which has also been put in shape to be made useful to the taxpayers. With the exception of the old throne room this is the only one large enough to accommodate the interior department.

The minister of foreign affairs and president of the executive will climb the grand staircase and take possession of the two rooms on the Ewa side, formerly occupied as the bed chamber and library of the last king of Hawaii. The rooms were in a happy state of confusion yesterday when visited, and the workmen were busy removing and arranging books and tables for the new occupants.

The attorney-general's department will be situated in the large bed chamber in front of the foreign office, but the business and law office of the department will be situated in the court house (old government building) across the way in the room now occupied by Judges Whiting and Cooper.

The old throne room was being arranged for the council chamber, and the executive and advisory councils will hold their sessions there hereafter. The fine room will be well furnished and whenever the occasion arises will be used for public receptions, audiences, etc.

In the basement of the building the regular troops are domiciled. The kitchens were in full blast when the ADVERTISER reporter visited the new quarters yesterday, and the long tables were being laid for the approaching meal in the wide hall. The men not on duty were taking it easy in their cosy apartments on each side of the main hallway. In the Ewa end of the basement is the military headquarters. Colonel Soper was found at his table in the mauka room. Paymaster McLeod was busy at a long table paying off the men, and everything seemed to be running like clock-work.

The most of the furniture in the bungalow has been removed, and it is now being prepared for a headquarters for the staff offices of the volunteer forces, but will need a general cleaning up before it is fit for occupancy.

The old carved table upon which the bodies of the Kamehamehas were laid out after death was seen standing in the walk on the Ewa side of the building. It was tabu to the natives around the premises, and none of them would go near it or touch it. They did not seem to have the same fear of the tabu lately laid upon "the ex-queen's palace" by the kanakas to keep the haoles out, and after the military had taken formal possession of it forty-eight hours ago, showed no hesitancy in going to work anywhere in the building where a job could be secured.

The entire upper floor of the court-house, or old government building, will be used for the law departments and the courts. The supreme court departments will not be changed. Judges Whiting and Cooper will occupy the old foreign offices. The present council chamber will be used for chamber work and jury trials on special occasions. The room to be vacated by the attorney general will be used as a jury room.

The immigration office will be moved to the room vacated by the minister of the interior, as also the desk of the commissioner of agriculture and forestry. The office of the board of health and registrar of conveyances, and the land office will remain as they are, as will the offices in the survey building.

IN THE COUNCILS.

IOLANI PALACE TO BE CALLED EXECUTIVE BUILDING.

Joseph P. Mendouca Elected to the Vacancy.

The councils met Thursday afternoon promptly at 2 o'clock. There were present Ministers Dole, Damon, King and Smith; Councilmen Hatch, Emmeluth, Allen, Waterhouse, McChesney, Brown, Bolte, Wilder, Morgan, Nott and Tenney.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

A petition was presented from stock raisers, mainly on the island of Kauai, asking that a bill in amendment of the branding cattle law be prepared. Referred to the judiciary committee.

Under unfinished business the secretary read a second time the bill amending the stamp act. Passed.

President Dole stated he had received no official news regarding Hawaiian affairs. He read, however, a semi-official dispatch from Washington to the Boston Transcript (received by the Monowai for the ADVERTISER and published elsewhere) on the Hawaiian situation.

Mr. BROWN called attention to the fact that a rumor was in circulation, coming presumably from Hon. Harold Sewall, to the effect that President Dole had received information by the Monowai that the United States would not entertain a proposition for annexation. Mr. Brown asked if there was any foundation for the statement.

President Dole replied that there was absolutely no foundation for the report and said it fully illustrated how rumors grew here. Mr. Sewall had called at the foreign office that morning and had held a conversation with him in the presence of Ministers King and Smith, but nothing that would warrant such a rumor transpired; Mr. Sewall had seemingly misunderstood them entirely.

Continuing the president said that while he had no direct or positive information of an official nature, there were many significant facts which pointed more lately toward a United States protectorate, preceding annexation. While perhaps none of these facts alone would warrant a conclusion, taken together they pointed very strongly that way. He believed that the United States was inclined to look at the matter in this way, and that we would very likely have a protectorate as stated. The government was inclined to favor this view.

At 3:20 o'clock the councils went into special session.

SPECIAL SESSION.

After reading the minutes of the previous special session they were approved. It was reported to the councils that the entire amount of $95,000 had been raised by friends of the government, the merchants of Honolulu and others, within two hours the previous day. One note of $45,000 held by the Spreckels' bank, together with $1,400 interest, had been paid before the sailing of the Alameda, and the other note of $50,000 would be paid tomorrow [today].

Minister Damon made a statement regarding the condition of the government finances, which was most satisfactory to the Councils. The minister also spoke regarding the future prospects of the government financially and expressed the gratification he felt at the prompt and unsolicited aid which the friends of the government had proffered.

The councils then proceeded to the election of a councillor to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Minister Damon. Joseph P. Mendouca was chosen.

The president read a telegram from Minister Thurston, dated Chicago, Illinois, May 24, which stated that he had received his commission from the Provisional government, and announced that he would depart for Washington to begin his duties in a few days.

The councils adjourned at 4:30 o'clock.

FRIDAY, JUNE 2.

The executive and advisory councils met at 3 o'clock.

There were present Ministers Dole, Smith, Damon and King; Councilmen Wilder, Morgan, Nott, Tenney, Hatch, Emmeluth, Brown, McChesney, Waterhouse, Allen, Bolte and Suhr.

Owing to the absence of the stenographer, who had the minutes of the last meeting with him, the secretary stated that he was unable to read the minutes of the previous meeting.

President Dole stated that the reason he had called the present meeting was to consider the feasibility of the act read at the last special session, as well as another which it was proposed to introduce today. He therefore suggested that it would be better for the councils to go into special session at once, as some other matters relating to governmental affairs would be brought up.

On motion the councils went into special session at 3:10 o'clock.

SPECIAL SESSION.

Several matters relating to executive action were brought up and discussed.

The bail act, read at the last special session, was brought up and after being amended to make it more specific was passed.

Another act was introduced by the executive, read, ordered typewritten and referred to the judiciary committee.

On the recommendation of the executive, Mr. Hatch introduced the following resolution, which was unanimously passed:

Resolved: The offices of the executive council shall be in Iolani palace, which shall hereafter be the seat of government and shall be known as the executive building.

Meetings of the advisory and executive councils shall be held in the executive building.

Aliiolani hale shall hereafter be known as the court house.

At 3:45 o'clock the council adjourned, to meet next Monday in the executive building.

CYCLOPAMA OF KILAUEA.

What Mr. Thurston is Doing in Chicago—The Effects of Advertising.

In a private letter, written by Hon. L. A. Thurston to Mr. E. C. Macfarlane, it is stated that the inclement weather during May interfered with the attendance at the World's Fair. He said that the cyclorama of Kilauea had been visited by 2 per cent. of the people who had entered the fair grounds.

It is estimated that 1,000,000 admission tickets were sold during the first three weeks, and 2 per cent. of that amount means that 20,000 people saw the cyclorama. Mr. Thurston had a large quantity of handsome pamphlets printed for free distribution. They contain much valuable information concerning these islands, and each person entering the cyclorama building is presented with a copy.

In addition to this, 25,000 copies have been mailed to different points in the United States. Mr. Thurston considers the cyclorama one of the best advertising mediums that could have been conceived to attract tourist travel this way and in his opinion a great many tourists will visit the islands in the near future.

This is good evidence of the worth of liberal advertising and if the bureau of information will hold together and try to do its share toward advertising the attractions of the islands it will be money in the pockets of everybody. There is a splendid idea on foot now, and if Julian Rix, the well-known water color artist of New York, can be induced to come here to make sketches it will probably be carried out.

The intention is to issue water color pictures, which will be printed from stones, for distribution abroad. Mr. E. C. Macfarlane has the matter in hand and he will bring it before the bureau of information for consideration at an early date.

Mr. W. Corbett, who has been assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Montreal for the last six years, will arrive on the Australia to succeed Mr. Peck, the present secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in this city.
