

THE WORK TO BEGIN SOON.

The Salvation Army Will Commence the War This Week.

CAPTAIN MILSAPS AND HIS SOLDIERS.

The Army Will Begin its Onslaught on the Devil as Soon as It Can Get Into its Hall—The Many Editions of the War Cry, the Organization's Paper.

Staff Captain Milpsaps, the officer at present in charge of the Hawaiian branch of the Salvation Army, arrived Saturday with his five comrades, and will begin at once to prosecute his war on the devil in this city. He was seen Sunday at F. W. Damon's, where he is at present staying.

The captain is a Texan, but contrary to the general idea of the inhabitants of that supposedly "wild and woolly" state, he is most mild-mannered. He is a good-looking man, and is most earnest in his support of the army. He is the editor of the Pacific Coast War Cry, the organ of the Salvationists, and a paper of an immense circulation.

"We will begin holding services here as soon as possible," said Captain Milpsaps. "We have selected a hall, over John Not's store, on King street, and as soon as the necessary alterations can be made we will begin work. This will probably be by Wednesday or Thursday at the latest."

"We do not confine our work to any one class of people," said the Salvationist, in answer to a question. "Our mission is to reach the unrepented. There is a large floating population here, people who never go to church, and these we shall try to influence first. Of course, we try to reach the natives as well. This is our policy in all the many countries in which we labor."

"A number of people may not be aware that this is what we members in the army of the Lord call our jubilee year. It was just fifty years ago that our leader, General Booth, became converted, and we are celebrating this jubilee by extending the army work in all directions. This 'opening up' as we call it, of the Hawaiian Islands is one of our new ventures. We also have a man in Japan, and will probably begin our campaign there in a short time. Other places to be attacked are Malta and Gibraltar, which so many English sailors and soldiers pass on their way to India, Java, Egypt, and possibly Jerusalem. We are especially anxious to reach the soldiers and sailors, and Gibraltar will be a splendid place to begin operations. A large number of man-of-war-men belong to our ranks, and I know of one English ship that has over twenty sailors who are members of the army."

"There are five members of the army with me. They are Adjutant Egner and his wife and child, Captain Zimmer, Lieutenant Jeffers, and sister Viola Monroe. I shall stay here about a month, and see everything in good working order before I return to my San Francisco duties. When I leave, Adjutant Egner will be left in charge of the work here. We have great hopes of accomplishing much good in Honolulu."

A number of interesting statistics concerning the army were given by the Captain during the progress of his talk. The War Cry, of which he is the Pacific Coast editor, is published in about twenty languages, among which are English, French, German, Dutch, Flemish, Danish, Swedish, Norwegian, Finnish, Italian, Spanish, and several of the dialects of India. The work itself is carried on in nearly all the countries of the world, even among the Zulus and the Hottentots. The army contains about 12,000 commissioned officers, and over 60,000 non-commissioned, such as the sergeants. The army itself numbers nearly 500,000.

Ten years ago the army had a hard struggle. It was ridiculed by the press and the people, and the tough element took delight in forcibly breaking up its meetings, and even the police took a hand. Now the army has the support of nearly all the newspapers of the United States. It is allowed to hold its open air meetings unmolested, and the good it has done is being acknowledged by everyone.

The usual course of holding outdoor meetings will probably be followed here. A short service will be held on the street, and then the crowd will be invited to the hall where the regular services will be held. As Captain Milpsaps said: "We attract a crowd by making a noise, get its curiosity excited, and then it follows us."

Captain Milpsaps will send accounts of the work here to the War Cry, and when he returns he will take with him a number of cuts to illustrate the islands.
