

FIRED ON GREEKS

Warships Shell Hill-sides From Suda Bay.

INSURGENTS WERE BRAVE

Spanish Troops to Shoot Revira.

General Sangully and His Son Leave For Cuba—More Guns For Insurgents.

CANEA, March 31.—The insurgents, by a bold stroke, occupied the hill on the south side of Suda bay last evening. They were promptly shelled by the British Austrian and Russian warships. At daybreak today the fighting was resumed, and the Cretons were driven from their positions. As soon as the firing ceased they made another attempt to recover the ground and the warships promptly resumed the firing, which was very heavy for several hours. During the cannonade three Turks were killed and five wounded.

The Russian Consul at Reims reports that when he communicated to the Cretons the proclamation of the Admirals inviting them to lay down their arms, the Cretons replied that the only boon they would accept from the powers was political union with Greece.

In spite of the heavy cannonade the Cretons held their ground stoutly, even throwing out skirmishes to repel the Turkish outposts, though they were compelled to abandon their own principal positions behind the stone wall.

At 10:15 the last shell fell. Seeing that the object of the bombardment was accomplished, the Russian and Austrian warships steamed away for blockade service. The British ship Ardent returned to Suda. The Turkish soldiers sallied quietly from the forts, occupied the positions held by the insurgents, hoisted the Ottoman flag with manifest delight and advanced across the open with coolness, though exposed to the continuous firing of the insurgent sharpshooters, who remained in the ravine up to the last moment. Altogether about 100 shells were fired.

POWERS HAVE DECIDED.

Aggressive Attitude of Greeks Must be Stopped.

BERLIN, March 31.—It is semi-officially announced here this evening that the powers have arrived at the conviction that the situation in Crete and on the Thessalian frontier must not be allowed to continue, and that steps must forthwith be taken to stop the aggressive attitude of Greece. Their decision was hastened by the action of Colonel Vassos in aiding the insurgents in hostilities against the powers.

The blockade of Greece has, therefore, been decided upon, with the consent of all the powers, and will be enforced at an early date.

Blockade to Proceed.

PARIS, March 31.—It is announced here this afternoon that the powers have decided to proceed with the partial blockade of Greece at an early date.

Withdraw Troops From Turkey.

BERLIN, March 31.—A dispatch to the Berliner Tageblatt from Constantinople says that five of the powers, not including Germany, delivered a note to the Sultan requesting the immediate withdrawal of the Turkish troops from the Thessalian frontier.

Reported Negotiations for Peace.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Turkey, March 31.—It is reported here that negotiations have been passing between Turkey and Greece, looking to a settlement of the Cretan troubles. Whether these negotiations have taken place since the middle of March or whether the report is a revival of an old story does not appear.

Blockade Abandoned.

LONDON, England, March 31.—The Vienna correspondent of the Standard concurs in the statement that the blockade of Greece has been abandoned.

RIVERA TO BE SHOT.

Noted Cuban Patriot to Suffer Extreme Penalty.

NEW YORK, April 1.—A dispatch to the Herald from Havana, via Key West, says:

"Religions perish when they have no longer followers who will die for them," said Ruiz Rivera on his stretcher at San Cristobal. "I expect to be shot. Well, it may help the cause. Other considerations are not important."

Rivera will be tried by summary court-martial and may be shot at once with the gallant Macallan, though suffering from his wounds. Such are said to be General Weyler's orders.

No man of importance has been executed since the war began, and a great outcry is likely to follow if Rivera is shot, as the general view is that civilized nations parole, exchange or imprison prisoners of war.

While the Spanish say that the insurgent is a prisoner of war it is remembered that General Weyler, in a decree, said: "Any man caught without a military pass outside of the lines during the state of war is guilty of rebellion."

There are stories of treachery, but the story most generally accepted here is that Rivera was surprised and captured owing to his wounded condition. He has been charged with incendium, as is usual, and if he not executed at once it will be because the Spanish fear to act in a manner to create a feeling against them in the United States.

It is said that Rivera is an American citizen, but he is not registered at the Consulate, and no appeal has been made to Consul General Lee. If such were the case the Spanish would undoubtedly hesitate before shooting him, for while taken in arms the execution of such a man would, it is believed here, cause a strong feeling in the United States.

Sanguilly Leaves for Cuba.

NEW YORK, April 1.—It was said last night among Cubans that Gen. Julio Sanguilly, accompanied by his son and several others, had left this city for the South, where they will board a vessel loaded with arms and ammunition for Cuba.

Gen. Julio Sanguilly will take command of the Pinar del Rio province. His son Julio, who is 19 years old, will serve as his adjutant. Colonel Lecheuga, who accompanies the General, will have full command of Sanguilly's escort.

PRESIDENT KRUGER'S POLICY.

He Prefers Having South African Republic Free.

LONDON, Eng., March 23.—The examination of W. Z. Schreiner, formerly Attorney General of the Cape Colony in the ministry of Cecil Rhodes, was continued in the Parliamentary South African Committee today.

Mr. Schreiner said President Kruger always works for republican principles and wants the flag of the South African republic to be that of a free nation. It is President Kruger's desire, he said, that there shall always be a close union between the Transvaal and some great sea power, and he would like to see power to be allied to better than England. In the event of war between England and the Transvaal the Dutch in the Cape Colony, if they knew what was best for themselves, would be with England, but blood was thicker than water and they would doubtless take sides with the Boers.

A NEW STEAMSHIP

Will be Added to Pacific Mail Line.

New Vessel Will Equal Atlantic Greyhounds in Speed and Appointments.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—C. P. Huntington will shortly begin the construction of a 10,000-ton steamship for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company at his shipyard at Newport News. The steamers City of Rio de Janeiro and Peru will be taken off the run between here and the Orient and the new steamer, which will compare favorably in tonnage and speed with the big ocean greyhounds of the Atlantic, will be the only other Pacific Mail vessel in the Oriental service. Such are the plans of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company for conducting its share of the Oriental traffic when the Toyo Kisen Kaisha becomes a factor in the trade. This will all be in accordance with the agreement that has been effected between the new Japanese line and the Pacific Mail and Occidental and Oriental Steamship Companies, the details of which were exclusively published in the Chronicle two days ago.

The intention of the company in respect to the new China steamer were made public by President Huntington. "We have agreed with President Asano, of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, to accord his line equal privileges with the two established lines in respect to a direct rail connection and in all other respects," said Mr. Huntington. "Mr. Asano's line will consist of three ships, and the Pacific Mail and Occidental and Oriental lines will be cut down to the same number of vessels. As far as the Pacific Mail is concerned we do not want the service to retrograde, and we shall retain in the service the two best ships in the fleet, viz, the China and the City of Peking, and complete our quota of vessels by building another modern vessel.

"I propose to build a vessel of about 10,000 tons. Some of our people favor a smaller vessel, but I think a 10,000-ton ship will about meet the requirements. The White Star steamers Teutonic and Majestic are 10,000-ton vessels, and I think that we need just such a vessel. The cost? Well that will depend on how we build it. The Teutonic and Majestic each cost something like $1,700,000. They were built in Europe, and I think we can build them just as cheap in this country. The ship we shall build will probably cost much less. It will be the same size as the big White Star vessels, but we will effect a big saving by eliminating some of the costly decorations that are found in the Atlantic liners. The ship may cost something like $1,500,000. I think by leaving out the costly carved decorations, the ship could be built for $1,300,000. I build the best ships in the world at Newport News, and this ship will be up to the standard. We wouldn't turn out our shirypard some of the vessels that are built in Europe, those tramp steamers, for instance, that go out under heavy insurance and go to the bottom when they get to sea. I believe in plain decorations and finishings aboard ship. In all other respects the new steamer will compare favorably with the big Atlantic liners.

"The item of speed will be an important consideration in the construction of the vessel. Of course, the service does not demand that we build a ship with the speed of the Campania or Lucania, but the steamer will be the fastest on the Pacific. Her speed will probably be 17 knots per hour. Any speed beyond that would require the consumption of too much coal to make her a profitable vessel. I am told that the steamer New York can steam 12 knots an hour on 160 tons of coal a day, but to maintain a speed of 20 knots requires the consumption of 425 tons of coal a day. I don't know whether these figures are correct, but I know that with the increase of a steamer's speed the consumption of coal increases at a 'rightful ratio.

President Huntington said that it is his intention to build the new ship at his shipyard at Newport News, unless some unforeseen obstacle makes it necessary to have it built elsewhere. He is now expending $500,000, he says, on the improvement and enlargement of his shipbuilding plant, and he has recently acquired more land for the enlargement of the yards. The Newport News shipyards, he says, now extend over one mile of water front. Work on the new China steamer will be begun in the near future, and it is expected that the steamer will be finished within a few months after the Toyo Kisen Kaisha's are placed on the new run between here and the Orient.

SPEAKING OF LONG AGO.

To-day, as I pen these lines, one picture from the long-vanished past rises in my memory as clearly as though it hung on a wall before my very eyes. It is of a boy about fourteen years old, propped up in a great arm-chair with pillows and bed-clothes, and gazing through a window. He is just convalescing after a long and dangerous illness, and is still thin, pale, and weak. The strong arms of his loving father have taken him from the bed and placed him snugly by the window in order that he may see his playmates at their games in the snow; for the time is mid-winter. They wave their hands to him and he waves his hand feebly to them. The scene is from my own boyhood forty years ago. What magic has conjured it up now? Only a sentence from a letter.

This: "I was so weak that for years I had to be carried upstairs to bed." A lady speaks thus of her girlhood. What a pitiable thing. It is not what nature meant; but alas! too often what really happens in this perverted world. Children should never suffer pain, for pain is punishment. For whose offenses, then—surely not their own—do the little ones sicken and die by uncounted millions?

"From childhood," so runs the letter, "I was always delicate. When fourteen years old I got a chill on the lungs which left me in a weak state. Indeed, I was always tired and weary, and never knew what it was to feel strong."

Now, tell me, if you can, what sadder reading one is apt to come upon than this? Fancy a young girl being always tired, weary, and weak!—too weak to climb the stairs to her own bed! so feeble and lifeless as to require to be carried over the house through which she should have skipped and danced like a fawn. What had so crushed her? Disease? What disease and how caused?

"I was very pale," continues the letter; "My feet were cold and clammy, and hot sweats now and again burst over me. My appetite was poor; and after eating, I suffered such pain at the chest and sides that it often amounted to agony; and the palpitation of the heart was so bad that many times I got no sleep at night on account of it."

And this at an age when the heart should beat quickly only with feelings of joy and hope; and girlish forms in their beds should be as quiet as recumbent statues.

"After a time," says the writer, "I could take liquid nourishment only, my stomach being so weak to retain anything solid. Thus, I gradually wasted away until I was nothing but skin and bone. I had not even strength to walk across the floor; and all who saw me said it was impossible that I should ever get well.

"From time to time I saw doctor after doctor, and twice went to the Sherborne Hospital, but received no benefit from the treatment there. At last the doctors said that both my chest and bowels were ulcerated and that there was no hope of my recovery. I was now so bad that I could take nothing but weak brandy and water—and that only occasionally.

"In this hopeless condition I lingered on until March, 1890, when I heard of Mother Siegel's Curative Syrup. Although I have given up all hope of deriving any benefit from any medicine, I nevertheless, sent for a bottle of Syrup, and after having taken it for a few days I found myself a little better. This led me to continue using it, and shortly I was able to take solid food, and the sickness gradually left me. Holding to this medicine—the only one that had ever helped me—I grew stronger and stronger until I was in good health. Without Mother Siegel's Curative Syrup I should never have recovered; and you must try to imagine how grateful I feel. I never can put my thankfulness in words. Yours truly (Signed) Mrs. Mary Jane Hilliar, Rington, near Sherborne, Dorset, March 9, 1893."

We rest at this. Here is a life story. How can we commend on it adequately? What a pity that this woman should have so suffered. What a satisfaction to know that she suffers no more! And yet—the lost time, the lost happiness! Ah, yes! Mother Siegel had reason enough to induce her to labor as she did to relieve her sister women. Thank Heaven for her success.

Mrs. Hilliar's real disease was of the stomach—indigestion and dyspepsia; inherited, probably, and made chronic by circumstances. The remedy she finally used cured this, and so freed her from all the symptoms and results. How kindly are the arms that carry us in our weakness. How glorious not to need them!

An enterprising Scotch minister in Melbourne has arrayed his male choristers in Highland dress, while the ladies are attired in the costume of the "Lady of the Lake." The hymns are sung to the strains of the bagpipe, and these innovations are so attractive that the church is crowded.
