

YEE WO DELUDED

Two Bright Young Officers Make Raid.

CHILLINGWORTH, VIDA, SUCCESS

Eight Men and Opium Outfits Captured.

Chillingworth's Tooth Ache Ruse Worked—Had to Get Past Barred Doors.

Two of the happiest young men in town last night, next to those whose engagements are announced, were Charlie Chillingworth and Henry Vida of the Police Department. They made a successful raid on what has been considered an impregnable opium joint kept by Yee Woo, the pork butcher at the corner of King and Maunakea streets.

The young men have been losing sleep for a week past devising means of making an entrance into the place and decided upon a plan last night. Chillingworth was to get the tooth ache, and find relief in the seductive opium. Then they were to get a Chinaman willing to lead the way. These provided for all that was needed, a straw hat and Chinese blouse to fit Chillingworth and plenty of nerve. The trouble with the blouse was in the length of the sleeves or else Charlie's arms were too long.

Yee Woo has boasted for years that the police could not get into the place. Gus Cordes tried it once by breaking through the roof but by the time he made the second blow the Chinese flew. Chillingworth and Vida took a different tack. Vida secreted himself in the rear of the building and the informer and Chillingworth started through the shop and up the first flight of steps until they were stopped by a door about four inches thick. Through a peep hole a Chinaman questioned the intruders and the reply came back that one was suffering from tooth ache. Chillingworth had learned enough Chinese to make a few replies. The door opened and a few steps higher up they came to another obstruction in the shape of three heavy posts the center one being fastened at the top by a padlock. After a short parley they were admitted and another flight up they came to a duplicate of the first door. It required an offer to 50 cents for a pipe to soothe the aching tooth. This could not be resisted and the door opened into a small room where two men acted as watchers.

These men saw they were caught and raised a rumpus which started the two men at the doors below. Vida in the meantime had gained access to the place and started up just in time to stop the door-tenders from falling down stairs. When the rumpus started in the room where Chillingworth was a door to the left opened and the young officer made a break and found six well-to-do Chinese smoking. To the right of the door was an eight-inch pipe leading to the cess pool. This is used, in case of a raid, as a means of getting rid of opium and outfits. Chillingworth was too quick for the men to do anything and he captured the outfits. The eight men and the paraphernalia as well as the heavy door posts were taken to the Station House.

Chillingworth says the suspense while waiting to get through the doors was something dreadful. The young men are doing excellent work among the opium dens and they are to be congratulated on their success in this raid.

A REMARKABLE CURE OF CHRONIC DIARRHOEA.

In 1882, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 167th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominent doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after that I bought and took a bottle; and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt, write me. Yours gratefully, HENRY STEINBERGER, Allentown, Pa. Sold by all druggists and dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaiian Islands.

Harvey Adler. Miss Rose Adler, daughter of Rose Adler, was married last night at the home of her parents to James J. Harvey of the Inter-Island Company, Rev. A. J. Bell officiating. S. C. Stibbard was best man and Edith Bryant maid-of-honor. Quite a number of the relatives and friends of the bride were present.
