

UNCLE SAM AND J. BULL

Henry Watterson to the British.

AN IMPORTANT ARTICLE

The Kentucky Editor Discusses the Canal and the Amended Hay-Pauncetote Treaty.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: An article, written by Henry Watterson of the Louisville Courier-Journal on "The Relations of the United States and England," is attracting much attention here. It is considered an adroit and friendly summary of American opinion respecting the Nicaragua canal and a strong appeal to the Foreign Office for the acceptance of the Senate amendments to the new treaty.

The points on which special stress is laid in this article are the statements that the Senate has not added anything Lord Salisbury would not have sanctioned if he had been consulted in advance.

Now that they have had time to calmly consider the matter, a noticeable change is taking place in the views of the leading English newspapers with regard to the Nicaragua canal question.

The Telegraph this morning adopts a distinctly friendly tone. It points out that, after all, so far as the substance of the controversy is concerned, there is no practical difference. England is prepared to recognize America's claim to the control of the undertaking so long as provision is made that the canal shall be free and open to vessels of all nations on terms of entire equality so that there shall be no discrimination against any nation in respect of conditions or charges on traffic or otherwise.

MORE BRITISH LOSSES REPORTED

Babington's Command Severely Handled—British Reinforcements Preparing.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—A cable to the Sun from Pretoria says: In the recent fight between General Babington's command and a Boer force near Zandfontein, the Imperial Light Horse suffered severely. Having learned nothing by previous experiences, they advanced in close formation up a hill that had previously been scouted by the Boers from their position and captured a good part of their convoy.

When the British found that they had ridden into another ambush they dismounted and kept up a hot fire. Seeing his men were losing heavily, Colonel Babington ordered them to retire. Subsequently they again advanced in extended order and drove the Boers from their position and captured a good part of their convoy.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The British casualties in the fighting January 5th between Colonel Babington's force and General Steenkamp at Naauwpoort, when the burghers were forced to retire, were twelve killed and thirty-three wounded.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 10.—Entrenchments are being constructed across the Cape flats from False bay to Table Bay.

LARGE RE-ENFORCEMENTS

LONDON, Jan. 16.—The government has decided to send large reinforcements to Lord Kitchener, and the War Office, in carrying out this decision, has determined to enlist 5,000 yeomanry volunteers. At a meeting held at the War Office this afternoon, this plan and others for securing more men were discussed and approved, and it is understood that the government will in the course of a day or two issue a communique on the subject.

The casualty list shows that there has been a severe engagement, with a loss of six killed, seventeen wounded and five missing at Murraysburg, where the Dutch are said to have been joining the invaders. Murraysburg is sixteen miles west of Graaff-Reinet.

JOINT NOTE OF POWERS SIGNED

China May Be Divided—The Troops are Armed With Rifles.

PEKING, Jan. 13.—The joint note of the powers has finally been signed by the Chinese peace commissioners. Prince Chang signed yesterday, and Li Hung Chang, who is better, signed it today. It is understood that the malcontent from which Li Hung Chang is suffering is Bright's disease. He was feeling worse yesterday, and therefore postponed the affixing of his signature, but Prince Chang was hopeful that he would be able to sign today, which proved to be the case.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—A cable to the Sun from Peking says: Although the official announcement has not been made, it is generally understood that the powers will demand $600,000,000 from China as damages due to the Boxer uprising. It is believed that $300,000,000 will cover all the private, religious and railway claims, but the national indemnity are what will swell the bill. It costs huge sums to transport troops and maintain them in China. Germany wants $75,000,000 to $80,000,000. England $60,000,000. France $25,000,000. Russia's claim will be about $10,000,000. Japan's claim will be about $5,000,000. The demands of the other powers are comparatively insignificant.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Daily Chronicle makes the following important statement. From a trustworthy source we learn that Lord Salisbury has agreed to cede to Russia the railway from Newchwang to Shan Hai Kwang. It is not known what compensation will be received for the concession.

Leading financiers, versed in Chinese affairs, who were interviewed yesterday by a representative of the Daily Mail, appeared to think that if the news was correct it indicated that Lord Salisbury recognized the impossibility of preventing the partition of China, and that Russia would get the north and Great Britain the Yang-tse valley. The original prospectus of the railway company stipulated that the bondholders, mainly British, could be bought out any time at the rate of £120 per £100 bond.

PEKING, Jan. 10.—A Chinese from Singan-fu, where the court is at present, says that within the city 85,000 Chinese troops are drilling continuously, and the majority of them are armed with modern rifles. He says that the feeling of the people there is bitterly anti-foreign, and that they believe that they can meet the allies in open fight and defeat them.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A dispatch to the Herald from Peking says: The news that the proposition made by Secretary Hay to transfer to a commission part of the negotiations had not been accepted by the other powers caused disappointment and pessimistic predictions among the legations, and in every quarter where the end of existing conditions is desired.

Japan's objection is notoriously frivolous, because Sir Robert Hart, who is charged with matters under the commercial treaties pertaining to indemnities, would represent China in the conference. If the Chinese enjoy make good their promise to deliver to the legations on Wednesday copies of the joint note with the imperial seal, the meeting between the plenipotentiaries and ministers cannot be longer postponed.

THE AMERICAN HOG. How He is Rooting up the Effete Monarchies.

Mr. L. G. Powers, Chief Statistician in charge of agriculture at the Census Office, Washington, D. C., spoke about "Our National Wealth in Live Stock." He said in part:

"The cow, the steer and the humble pig are playing their part quite as effectively as the horse and mule in the struggle of America for the industrial supremacy of the world. Our cattle and swine give our people in the aggregate a tremendous impetus and power. The American hog, by furnishing cheap meat to the workers of Europe, is undermining the power of all the old vested interests of the nations of that continent and will in time be a factor for tipping over even the throne of Kings and the power of aristocracy."

THE AMERICANS are masters of the situation and our live stock interests, more than our steam engines, occupy the highest seat of power. The situation is full of encouragement for the American people at the opening of the twentieth century."

CREMATORY BIDS IN. The following bids have been received by the Board of Public Works for the construction of the garbage crematory: J. A. Pink, $248; W. Blackman, $1,695; J. R. Hixby, $1,025; D. L. Davis, $3,232; T. Harrison, $1,441; and Joe Correa, $5,408. It is hard to account for the differences existing between the bids of Blackman and Hixby, and it will not be known until the details are gone into today, when the contract will be awarded.

Cold Blooded Assassination in San Francisco May Mean Hanging.

Robert E. Glaze, the well known hotel man, who resided in Honolulu at the Hawaiian Hotel in the spring of 1899 with his wife and stepchildren, and who was later manager of the Hilo Hotel for a period, shot and killed his partner, William Trewella, in the Windsor Hotel, San Francisco.

Glaze was at one time a clerk at the Baldwin Hotel, and while in that position, married Mrs. Shelley, a widow with four children. The widow was possessed of an ample fortune sufficient to give Glaze a business more in keeping with the ambitions of his wife. They came to Honolulu on their wedding tour, accompanied by Mrs. Glaze's young daughter. They stayed at the Hawaiian Hotel, where Mrs. Glaze attracted considerable attention by her manner of dressing, stylish, and at the same time rather eccentric. They lived well, and champagne flowed freely at their table at dinner. Glaze secured official release of the Windsor Hotel and went there with his family. He brought the hotel out of what was in reality a country tavern to a flourishing hotel with metropolitan improvements.

Trewella was a Cornish miner who had accumulated some wealth, and was in the habit of going to the Windsor Hotel with that of Glaze. He was fifty-four years old, and was known about the place as a kind hearted and jovial man. Glaze maintained a silence about the shooting at first, but later told a reporter that he regretted the affair, and that he was grieved that Trewella was dead.

"But," continued he, "what could I do under the circumstances? My life was in danger; I had been threatened several times, and was not going to allow myself to be killed by a wife and a friend of mine. I have a wife and family, and shot him because I thought that he was going to kill me. I did not mean to kill him, but I was very much excited." When asked whether he and Trewella had been quarreling, he said that they had frequent quarrels about business and family affairs, and that Trewella had threatened his life several times, as had some others, though he would not say who the others were.

"The bellboy said after the shooting Glaze ran past him and said, 'If anybody asks you anything about this, tell them he killed himself.' Glaze then ran through the courtyard of the hotel into the office, where he threw away his pistol and cartridges. The assassin, he said, was standing in the dark and could not be seen from the kitchen or the hall when he fired the shot.

ELKS TO ORGANIZE. Large Body of Elks From Coast May Come Here in March.

In response to 180 applications for membership in the B. P. O. of Elks, C. E. Jacob, secretary of the committee to prepare details for the organization of a local lodge, is in receipt of a letter to the committee on preparation for the establishment of a lodge in Honolulu from Jerome E. Fisher, Grand Exalted-Ruler, Jamestown, N. Y., in which he says:

"I have been in possession of a petition for a lodge at Honolulu. I have delayed answering in hopes that I could go to Honolulu and institute the lodge in person with the assistance of such brothers in the West as I might be able to influence to accompany me. I have not yet given up the idea, and hope to do so in March. The application has been forwarded to the District Deputy of California for his approval and to get the endorsement of the nearest lodge. I will communicate with you when I hear from him."

ALBERT HERMANSON HANGS HIMSELF WHILE DESPONDENT

ALBERT HERMANSON, employed by Macfarlane & Co. and residing on Queen street opposite the brewery, committed suicide about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by hanging.

The circumstances surrounding his death, and the causes leading up to it, are pitiful in the extreme. Hermanson was a hard-working man, but for some time past has been addicted to strong drink, and has been in the habit of going home in an intoxicated condition.

For the past year his wife has been a helpless invalid and the husband has been her sole attendant. Coming home from a hard day's work he would go into the little home and prepare the dinner, and after that was finished he would tidy up the house and then often would repair to the shed attached, and do the washing.

At times despondent, he would talk over the matters with his wife, and complain of his hard lot, to which the wife would respond that God had acted queerly and had given them both more than they could bear. They both realized that her condition was incurable and yesterday afternoon Hermanson suggested that she should go to the Hospital for Incurables.

Mrs. Hermanson expressed her willingness to do so, and, apparently satisfied, he went to the little shed that served the purpose of a bath house. Not hearing any sounds from the shed for some time, Mrs. Hermanson became worried and called to a little girl living next door and requested her to see what was the matter.

Finding the door closed and fastened, she climbed to the top, and there saw Hermanson in a sitting posture on the floor and partially suspended by a rope tied to the rafters overhead. It is evident that the desperate man had gone about his work deliberately. He had procured a clothes line and, fastening one end overhead, had carefully fixed the other end about his neck with the knot in the usual hangman's position under the left ear.

Not being able to procure a sufficient drop, he had deliberately sat down upon the floor and thrown his weight forward until death ensued. The deceased was about 40 years of age.

ARE IN DOUBT ABOUT POWER

Health Board Asked to Permit Old Cemetery to Remain Open.

Important questions arose in yesterday's session of the Board of Health respecting the various cemeteries located in the city limits. A petition was read requesting that the old native cemetery at Moanala be allowed to remain open for interments as of yore. The burial ground is located on a bluff, and could not be considered as a menace to public health as far as general location is concerned. It was believed that unless there were bona fide plot holders, the board could not go behind its previous resolution and grant permission.

Attorney General Dole said: "I wonder whether we do not exceed our powers. I don't know how long a dead body is dangerous to the public after burial. The Board of Health has power to prohibit interments wherever they endanger public health, and it has power to do anything in reason for the protection of life and health, but I don't think it has the power to prescribe arbitrary limits to prevent interments where there is no danger. This wrecks a hardship upon people and depreciates property assigned to a legitimate purpose."

Mr. Lowrey said one reason that no burial should be permitted in a city was to protect the water supply and the populous neighborhoods. Dr. Cooper thought that cemeteries in the heart of a city would soon be overcrowded and be a menace to health. A committee composed of the Attorney General, Mr. Lowrey and Dr. Emerson, was appointed to look into the matter thoroughly and report at the next meeting. Father Valentine, of the Catholic Church, asked permission to make changes in the ownership of two plots in the Catholic cemetery. The matter was placed in the committee's hands for action.

FLASHES FROM THE RED PLANET

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 16.—Professor Pickering of Harvard observatory says:

"Early in December we received from the Lowell observatory in Arizona a telegram that a shaft of light had been seen to project from Mars (the Lowell observatory makes a specialty of Mars) lasting seventy minutes. I wired those facts to Europe and sent out postcards to Europe through this country. The observer there is a careful, reliable man and there is no reason to doubt that the light existed. It was given as from a well known geographical point of Mars. That was all. Now the story has gone the world over. In Europe it is stated that I have been in communication with Mars and all sorts of exaggerations have sprung up. Whatever the light was, we have no means of knowing. Whether it had intelligence or not, no one can say. It is absolutely inexplicable."

MAMIE SMITH WEDS. Mamie Smith, daughter of the late D. B. Smith, is married. Her husband is the son of a railroad section boss. She is now Mrs. Emmet Burke. He is 26 and she 19 years of age. The husband is a penniless youngster, while she is to be possessed of considerable money, according to the will left by D. B. Smith, which is, however, contested by several parties. A dispatch of January 14 from Paris, Tex., says that their wedding was the most romantic that ever took place in the Lone Star state. Miss Smith was formerly engaged to Lovette Rockwell, the singer, who was for many months past connected with the Bulletin business office. Mr. Rockwell is not the only one to whom she is said to have been engaged, as it is said a young San Francisco attorney was also jilted. Mr. Rockwell left for Japan on the Peking last week.

STOCKADE FOR LEPERS. Arrangements will probably be made in the near future to supply a building and stockade where visitors to the Leper Settlement can be received. Plans were discussed at the Board of Health meeting yesterday, and various suggestions were offered. Upon motion of the board, Dr. Pratt will leave for the settlement as soon as possible, and will go over the matter with Superintendent Reynolds.

AT present there is a small building at the end of the wharf on the edge of the shore. It was first proposed to put a stockade about this structure, but the space is limited. Dr. Cooper proposed that the stockade be erected near the shore, where the lumber is now stored, and move the latter to some other portion of the grounds. It was deemed impracticable to fill up the low lands on the shore, as this is mostly of bluff formation. When this is done the system of allowing visitors to the settlement will be more common than formerly.
