Rev. J. S. McCullagh, overseer of the Christian Catholic church in Australasia, was one of the thorough passengers on the S. S. Aorangi in port on Thursday. He is on his way to Zion City to represent the Australian investors in the city founded by Dowie and the schemes of the second Elijah. Mr. McCullagh is a personal friend of Voliva, recently elected the Overseer General of the church and expressed his satisfaction at hearing of his accession to the leadership.

Mr. Dowie went crooked somewhere," said Mr. McCullagh, discussing the troubles of Zion, "and all our church members in Australasia turned against him long ago. I myself, headed a revolt against him as soon as it was learned that he had made claim to the personal possession of all the property of the church, property contributed by the thousands of members all over the world. We, in Australasia, refused to admit his extravagant claims and were instrumental in a large way in forcing the test case in the courts which dissolved Dowie's claim of absolute and personal possession.

"I am on my way now to Zion City to see for myself what is being done. I have full power from all the Christian Catholics of Australasia to act for them and protect their interests. If I see that Voliva is going to act in good faith and carry out the ideas of our church in his handling of the property I will probably settle down there. If not, I will return to Australasia. "I have the fullest faith in the co-operative industrial ideas first promulgated by Dowie and am satisfied that we will be successful in the fullest degree if these ideas and plans are lived up to. Zion can be made the model city of the world, a place where everyone will be well off in the goods of this world, physically fit and able to get along without the use of drugs, tobacco and intoxicants. Our foundation is sure even if mistakes have been made in the superstructure."

Mr. McCullagh is accompanied by his wife and daughter, and spent the few hours the vessel remained in port in viewing the town. All expressed the hope that sometime they would be able to return to Honolulu and stay here long enough to enjoy the beauties of which they had obtained a passing glance.

COMMERCIAL NEWS

By Daniel Logan.

Without anything in the category of cause and effect happening to affect either the sugar market or the Hawaiian sugar industry, the whole situation is practically unchanged since last week. While cane sugar has slightly advanced, the parity of European beets, fluctuating, closes at a small net decline. Referring to general causes, nobody as yet can safely forecast the outcome of current events in Cuba. Willett & Gray of New York, under date of September 6, say regarding Cuba:

"There is little or no talk of annexation as being a motive for the agitation. In fact, annexation to the United States is an impossibility during the administration of President Roosevelt, who is committed to a 'square deal' for Cuba as elsewhere. If the Cubans are not getting a 'square deal,' and if the Palma government is not inclined to give it to them, then the utmost that the United States can do will be to help the Cubans to a 'square deal' in their independent state, and not through annexation. The Palma government, no doubt, understands the situation perfectly, and is abundantly able to deal with it satisfactorily without assistance from the United States, and so we look for an adjustment of the present troubles without any great interference with the brilliant prospects for the next Cuba sugar crop."

Those remarks were published sixteen days before the arrival here by cable of the news that Secretary Taft has concluded that American occupation of Cuba is necessary and has cabled about the gravity of the situation to president Roosevelt. Other facts are related showing that American naval forces are ready to land at all important ports, that the rebels have fired on a United States warship and that a large sugar estate is guarded by American marines. So the trouble seems to have no respect for prophets or theorists, and President Roosevelt may at this moment be finding out that he has a condition and not a theory to tackle in Cuba. The Cuban situation at this moment may be regarded as uncertain, both with respect to the sugar crop's war risk and to the question of annexation.

From 4,093,750, a pound, $81.875 a ton, last previous report, 96 degree test centrifugals in New York have gone to 4,1250, a pound, $82.50 a ton. Two rises and three falls have occurred in the parity for European beets, the latest change being a recovery, and the quotation is now $80.80 a ton against $81.70 a week ago. A cablegram to Lewis & Co. on Monday quoted an advance in refined sugar from $4.30 to $4.85 per hundred.

THE WEEK'S EXCHANGES.

Most of the leading sugar stocks have maintained strength during the week. The feature has been an advance of about $4 in Onomea, consequent on the promise of a large dividend. Oahu declined but latterly showed recovery. Wailuku assessable is on the rise. Brewery stock has advanced a dollar, probably boosted by the proposal of a pipe line to the bottling works. The transactions listed by the Honolulu Stock & Bond Exchange for the week were as follows:

Waialua ($100), 50 at $72.50, 5 at $73.50, 42, 5 at $72.50; Honoumuli ($100), 10 at $145; Ewa ($20), 775 at $26.25, 20, 10, 10 at $26.50; L. I. S. N. Co. REAL ESTATE MATTERS.

At Morgan's salesrooms yesterday 34 acres of land at Kihalani, North Hilo, was sold under foreclosure of the mortgage of Sarah Mattoon et al. to the order of W. L. Whitney for $900.

A partition deed was placed on record Friday whereby Annie T. K. Parker, a minor, becomes sole owner of the Parker Ranch, Hawaii, worth over $1,000,000. The consideration of $600,000 represents the "equality of exchange," the purchaser having added the interest of her grandfather, Samuel Parker, to her own in the transaction. By the instrument the Parker homestead at Mana, with 250 acres surrounding it, and several small tracts and fishponds are reserved to Mr. Parker. The stamp duty of $3000 on the deed is the largest on record here.

Bids have been opened in Washington for a Federal building site in Honolulu as follows: W. G. Irwin, $146,000; Waterhouse Trust Company, $148,000; Bishop Estate, $91,000; Union Feed Company, $90,000.

A mortgage has been recorded from Wm. McCandless and wife to San Antonio Portuguese Benevolent Society of Hawaii, on the business site at King and Alakea streets, together with Palama property, for $4500 and advances to $14,000. Mr. McCandless purposes erecting a modern business edifice on the site mentioned.

A release for $17,000 has been recorded, from Western & Hawaiian Investment Co., Ltd., to W. R. Castle, relative to land in Kipahulu tract, land and buildings at Beretania and Victoria streets, and properties on Nuuanu road, in Koolauloa, Oahu, and North Kona, Hawaii.

A lease is on record from Yoshisuke Tanimoto to Yasuko Teshima, of 40 acres on Waialua road, Ewa, for 20 years, at $40, $100 and $200 per annum for the first three years respectively, and $300 per annum for the remaining seven years.

D. B. Whitin and husband have sold to Geo. Lycurgus a piece of land on Makiki street, Honolulu, for $7500.

PROMOTION AND PROGRESS.

Captain Burnham, manager of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Co., appeared before a meeting of the directors of the Merchants' Association to discuss with them a proposition, some time ago made by that body, that the company should put on a special steamship between San Francisco and Honolulu. He assured the merchants that the company was much gratified at receiving the proposition and had it under earnest consideration.

A late Portland, Ore., paper warns the merchants of Portland that they must bestir themselves if a direct trade were to be established between Oregon and Hawaii, because unless cargo offerings improved the Matson Navigation Co. would withdraw the steamer Hilonian.

At last meeting of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, Secretary Wood submitted a letter from General Passenger Agent Stitt of the C.-A. line at Sydney, stating that it was his purpose to inform next year's travelers that "Honolulu is as far ahead of Colombo as the sun is of the moon."

A more active campaign for tourists is to be started in Los Angeles, to which end Secretary Wood will shortly visit the Southern California metropolis.

Next year's excursion of the Washington State Editorial Association is likely to be to Hawaii. Members of the Southern California Editorial Association's excursion hither, which leaves for home in the Soqoma due today, have given many public expressions of enthusiastic appreciation of their visit to the islands.

James F. Morgan, the Chamber of Commerce representative on the H. P. C., has been elected treasurer.

A. N. Kearns, of the U. S. Engineers, assisted by D. A. Loebenstein, a local engineer, have begun surveys of Hilo harbor with relation to the proposed breakwater.

In his speech at the opening of parliament, the Governor of New Zealand announced that proposals would be submitted for a renewal of the subsidies for the San Francisco and Vancouver mail services.

HOW AMERICA HELPED IN THE JAPANESE FAMINE

In a recent issue of Consular Reports it is stated that "Consul General John Edward Jones of Dalny reports from Yokohama under date of June 15 that the famine in Japan is over and there is no further necessity for outside assistance."

A total of $750,000 gold has been used, and upward of half a million people assisted. The territory covered an area of 15,000 square miles, stretching 200 miles by 75 miles wide from the mountains to the sea. In the fall of 1905, when the government reports of the crops came in, a famine was evident, and Americans took a hand in the first relief work. Under missionary auspices a committee of five Americans was chosen, later enlarged to seven by the addition of a church of England missionary and a French Roman Catholic. Rev. William E. Lampe was elected chairman and the work promptly started. A report of the situation was sent to Washington by Consul General Miller, and President Roosevelt promptly sent forth his appeal for assistance, which bore such magnificent results. To the United States more than any other country the people attribute their relief. America was the first in the field with her contributions, and they exceeded in amount more than all other countries combined. A total of $320,000 gold was contributed by the citizens of the United States. It came at least six weeks before any other contribution. It was known as "The United States fund." Considerable food stuffs were sent direct by the Canadian government, Australia, and Siam, and these were effectively used during the winter months.

FOR THE PEOPLE. Early in the famine the scarcity of food put the people to the extremes of eating the roots and leaves of trees and shrubs, acorns, and even straw. The government immediately dispatched its chemists to get samples of these emergency foods and analyze them to determine their food value. This accomplished, the chemists were sent to each village, where they delivered lectures to the people, pointing out the suitable roots and leaves and directing them in the preparation of food from acorns. The poisonous plants were described and food values demonstrated. As a result of these analyses some foods were interdicted and others recommended. But in a few weeks contributions began to arrive, furnishing more nourishing food.

Previous famines in Japan had been marked by large mortalities, due to intestinal disorders as the result of bad food. Profiting by the experience of her surgeons in the late war, the government sent a trained corps to the famine region, and a careful survey was kept upon the hygiene of the people. There was no outbreak of dysentery, no pest of any description. The people were taught how to live, and the results were assured. No other country could have handled a famine so successfully as Japan. The paternalism of the government is responsible in large measure for the excellent results. And the absolutely abiding faith of the people in the government made everything easy and smoothed the way for great reforms, which the government executed while dealing with the famine.

GOVERNMENT TURNS FARMER. In distributing its relief funds, the government required the tilling of all land. Laborers were put into fields which had been barren for two years, and they were cultivated and made ready for a rice crop. There was no confiscation. The government was looking to the prosperity of its people, and after tilling the ground and putting in the crop, turned it over to the owner, and said "here is your farm ready to produce. See to it that you make every effort to keep the ground tilled, and pay back the cost of what the government has done in five years."

Wherever vacant ground is found it is cultivated by the government if the owner is too poor to do it himself; but he must pay back the advances made within a reasonable time. Much of the vacant ground found is being planted with mulberry trees. Japan realizes her success in the production of silk and is anxious to increase her product. The spring frosts, however, are said to have affected the silk crop to the extent of $1,500,000.

NOBLE RELIGIOUS WORK. The most potent influence of the American relief committee was exerted in the salvation of young girls, driven to desperation through the suffering of their parents. Two orphanages were established—one at Sendai, where 250 girls were cared for, and the other at Okayama, where 850 orphans and poor children were properly housed and fed. The Salvation Army did yeoman service in this matter and was successful in finding positions in respectable families for many girls. The foreign committee of relief held its final meeting in June and arranged for the distribution of the balance on hand, deciding that any additional funds received should be equally divided between the Sendai and Okayama orphanages.
