

54000 BLAZE AT WAIMANALO

(From Wednesday's Advertiser.)
Fire broke out in the boiler house of the Waimanalo Sugar Co.'s mill at two o'clock yesterday morning, and the building's central position in the group made the situation most dangerous to the entire plant. All hands numbering about three hundred responded promptly to the alarm turned in by the watchman and after an hour's struggle put the fire out without having allowed it to catch the other buildings. Manager George Chalmers gives the Japanese employes credit for energy and courage as great as any others displayed in fighting the flames. Several of them were bruised or burned by falling rafters, though none received serious injury.

Vice President W. M. Giffard of W. G. Irwin & Co., accompanied by A. R. Gurney, secretary and adjuster of the Underwriters' Association, early in the forenoon went to Waimanalo, taking an automobile over the Paoli, to inspect the damaged mill. They returned in the afternoon. Mr. Giffard stated to an Advertiser reporter that the damage was about $4000.

Only a part of the boiler house was destroyed. Repairs can be effected in two or three weeks.

It is supposed that the fire originated from the ignition of trash lying near the furnaces. The fires were going for the purpose of drying sugar.

Waimanalo mill ceased grinding this year's crop at the end of October, and work on the 1908 crop was not expected to begin until the second of January. The fire will therefore probably not cause any serious interruption to regular operations.

SHARKS FREQUENT WATER OF HARBOR

Sharks are becoming quite common in the harbor. Only a short time ago a native was attacked by a shark off the Alaheka street slip and since then several big selachians have been seen about the harbor.

A few weeks ago a shark was speared from Young Bros' boathouse and recently C. D. Walker reported having seen one of the great fish quite close to the Myrtle boathouse.

The dredging of the harbor is thought by waterfronters to be responsible for the presence of sharks.

The influx of these terrors of the deep does not seem to have scared the bathers, who are as numerous around the boathouses as ever.

MAGOON BLOCK RAIDED.

Assistant Chief Joe Leal led a raid on a gambling joint in the Magoon block last night, information having been received that a full-fledged crap game was in progress there. By the time the police posse arrived on the scene the number of players had dwindled to seven, one Hawaiian and six Porto Ricans. These were caught in the act of rolling the bones, however, and escorted to the police station.

VICE CONSUL COMING.

His Imperial Japanese Majesty's Consul Miki Saito expects the arrival here of a vice consul to assist him early in the spring. The assistant will be chosen from those highest on the civil service list and he will probably be a Japanese University man. Upon arrival at Honolulu he will be sent on a tour of the islands, for without such experience he would be of little assistance to the consul.

WHAT IT WILL DO.

A woman buys a sewing machine for what it will do; not as an article of furniture. A man carries a watch to tell him the time; not as an investment of surplus capital. The same principle when one is ill. We want the medicine or the treatment which will relieve and cure. The friend in need must be a friend indeed, something, or somebody, with a reputation. There should be no guesswork in treating disease. People have the right to know what a medicine is, and what it will do, before they take it. It must have behind it an open record of benefit to others for the same diseases, a series of cures that proves its merit and inspires confidence. It is because it has such a record that WAMPOL'S PREPARATION is bought and used without hesitation or doubt. Its Good Name is the solid basis for the faith the people have in it; and a good name has to be earned by good deeds. It does what you have a right to expect it to do. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In Scrofula, Anemia, Nervous and General Debility, Indigestion and Wasting Complaints, it is to be thoroughly relied upon. Doctor J. L. Carvick says: "I have had remarkable success with it in the treatment of Consumption, Chronic Bronchitis, Catarrh and Scrofulous Affections. It is of special value in nervous prostration and depraved nutrition; it stimulates the appetite and the digestion, promotes assimilation, and enters directly into the circulation with the food. I consider it a marvelous success in medicine." Every dose effective. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by chemists throughout the world.

NO DENIAL WAS OBTAINABLE

(From Wednesday's Advertiser.)
A Bulletin girl had a dollar. Which the chapman wanted to collar. She lent her the sack. And got nothing back. But the usual Bulletin holler.

Yesterday's story about the losses of Miss Dwight caused consternation in the office of the Bulletin and a representative of that paper called on Mrs. Dwight on Desha lane and badgered her so that she went to bed sick and last night could not be seen. Mrs. Dwight, according to some of her neighbors, stoutly upheld the Advertiser's story, but would not show her daughter's letter because of certain personal matters about Mrs. Weathered which were included in the text. The Bulletin's comment on the story, which acknowledges the dismissal of the chapman, but gives no reason for that action, is as follows:

"The Advertiser this morning gives a first-page preferred position to a story on the alleged troubles of Miss Bernice Dwight, who has been traveling with the Bulletin party on the Pacific Coast.

"The impression attempted by the paper is that some of the parents of the young ladies have been to that sheet and complained. These parents and friends have not come to the Bulletin office, nor have they made any direct or indirect complaint to this paper. The Bulletin has received what it believes to be thoroughly reliable information that the Advertiser sent its men in search of letters written by Miss Dwight, and were refused by Miss Dwight's parents.

"The letters received by this paper from the young ladies of the Bulletin party have all been published and have invariably spoken of the pleasant time they were having. Letters to parents of which the Bulletin has any knowledge have been of the same tenor. Miss Dwight has not written the Bulletin a word regarding her troubles or her pleasures. Her arrangements for the trip were made exclusively and personally with Mrs. Weathered. If Mrs. Weathered borrowed from her or other members of the party, it amply justifies the Bulletin in changing chaperones.

"While the Bulletin knows nothing regarding Miss Dwight's plans, or what she has written, this paper is convinced that her failure to return ahead of the party was not due—as intimated by the Advertiser—to such a shortage of funds that she did not have the price of a telegram asking for funds.

"The Advertiser states that Miss Dwight's letter was written from Portland.

"After the Bulletin party left Portland, they went to Tacoma, where they were under the direct care of Mr. Frank McCandless, who represented the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce. Mr. McCandless is a brother of the McCandless brothers of this city. Mr. James McCandless of this city was in that vicinity at the time, and Miss Dwight was sufficiently well acquainted with his whereabouts to send him an occasional postcard telling of her movements.

"Had her desire to return home been so marked as the morning paper suggests, she was not without friends in a strange land.

"Miss Dwight, after this alleged Portland letter was written, went from Tacoma to Seattle with the party. At Seattle, she met an old friend and acquaintance in Riley H. Allen, formerly living in Honolulu and connected with the Bulletin. Again was she near a friend who would gladly have given the price of a cablegram if her plight were as represented, and her desire to return home so strong.

"Miss Dwight after having been in Seattle some time wrote James McCandless in enthusiastic terms of the proposed trip to Alaska. Had this information been conveyed to the Bulletin by any person on earth, there would have been no Alaska trip—and Miss Dwight would have been brought home then and there if she remained with the Bulletin party.

"These has not been at any time any 'delayed drafts' from Honolulu so far as the Bulletin is concerned.

"In all the public comment that has been made regarding the tour of the Bulletin party, one feature is notable.

"The young ladies have been entertained in all the largest cities of the Coast by the best people of the town. There is just one place where their movements have been the subject of the Knockers' Chorus. That place is Honolulu."

NATURAL LAW IN THE REALM OF HEREAFTER

The third of the series of Advent services for men was held last evening at St. Andrew's cathedral. The attendance was considered excellent. The address, as were those at the former meetings, was by the Rev. E. T. Simpson. His subject was "Heaven and Hell." He sought to show that natural law pervades the universe, hereafter as well as now, in the future life as in the present; that obedience to it brought spiritual health, and disobedience spiritual ill; that spiritual health is heaven here as well as hereafter, and the contrary is hell, here as well as hereafter. The doctrine of the church, he said, had always been that obstinacy in sin would be eternally punished. Opinions as to what form that punishment would take had differed, and the belief in a literal and everlasting hell had been widely held. That seemed to many unbelievable, but the possibility of everlasting estrangement from God, which was a rational deduction from natural law, was just as solemn a thought as the other.

As to whether heaven and hell are places, it was natural that the spiritually minded should gravitate together, and where they were was heaven. The sinfully minded as inevitably gravitated together, and where they were was hell.

A RUSSIAN EXECUTION

An eyewitness has given the following account of the execution of Naumoff, Nikitenko and Sinlavsky, the three men condemned to death for complicity in the recent plot against the Czar of Russia, the existence of which still is regarded in St. Petersburg with a great amount of incredulity.

"At 2 o'clock in the morning a small steamer belonging to the Neva river police started from the landing stage adjoining the Lietny Saal (summer garden), towing a large barge behind it. The Public Prosecutor (Prosecutor) was on the steamer, accompanied by the Secretary of the Court-Marshal, a Colonel of gendarmes, who formerly served in the Schusselburg fortress, and boasts that he is 'used to hanging those blackguards'; a young official delegated by the Department of Police, a military Captain and an uncouth looking lad of 19, who had volunteered his service as hangman.

"On the large barge were placed the three condemned, with a convoy of 100 soldiers. The steamer proceeded down the Neva in the direction of Kronstadt. Its occupants were very lively. The Colonel of gendarmes told stories, the official asked for a piece of the rope with which the prisoners were hanged, because 'it brings luck at cards'; the hangman proudly declared that he belonged to the Union of Russian Men and that he delighted in hanging revolutionaries, etc.

"At about 4 o'clock the steamer landed at a spot called Lassy Noss (Fox's Nose) on the Finnish coast, opposite Kronstadt. The prisoners, surrounded by the soldiers and followed by the officials, marched to the place of execution, about a mile and a half distant from the landing place. They stopped at a small square-grass plot resembling a tennis lawn. In the middle of this the gallows were erected, and near it was a little platform upon wheels. The Colonel of gendarmes directed the proceedings.

"When the prisoners saw the gallows Naumoff asked whether he could see a priest. A priest approached him and began to speak to him. Naumoff said, 'I don't wish to confess to you. Give me your cross. I want to pray.' The priest took off his cross and gave it to the prisoner, who, holding it, fell upon his knees and prayed earnestly for a few minutes.

"The officials present were evidently impressed by Naumoff's demeanor. When his prayer was ended the representative of the Department of Police, with marked courtesy, motioned him toward the gallows with the remark: 'Please step this way.'

"Obviously, it was intended to confer a privilege upon him by allowing him to escape witnessing the agony of his comrades by being hanged first. Then followed a terrible interval, during which the interminable death sentence was read over to the prisoners. Whenever the name of the Czar was pronounced the soldiers, according to custom, instantly uncovered their heads. The prisoners omitted to do so, whereupon the executioner roughly struck their hats off.

"Naumoff was executed, the two others standing by with uncovered eyes. Nikitenko's turn came next. The cruelty of reading the sentence was once more repeated, but the remaining prisoners maintained a fearless and dignified composure.

"When Sinlavsky was pronounced to be dead the hangman endeavored to take the wedding ring from the dead man's hand; the prisoner had been by special permission married the day before his death, but the officials intervened."—Baltimore Sun.

CHINESE FEUD TRIAL STILL ON

Lee Look's trial for assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, continued throughout yesterday before Judge Lindsay. The case may go to the jury today.

GEORGE BROWN OF AGE.

George II Brown, a minor, having come of age, Judge De Bolt has ordered his guardian, Irene H. Holloway, to deliver over the estate, funds and securities in her hands as such guardian to the young man. On filing the ward's final receipt the guardian will be discharged.

Another order is to cancel the bond in $5,000 of the guardian of George II Brown and Francis Hyde II Brown, and to substitute therefor a bond in $3,000 in the guardianship of the remaining ward.

USELESS HUSBAND DIVORCED.

Judge De Bolt granted a divorce to Theresa Gomes against John Gomes for desertion and non-support. The couple were married on March 17, 1905. For about eight months after marriage John refused to live with Theresa. Then they lived together for about four months, but about March 22, 1906, the husband went to Maui, leaving the wife in Honolulu. Returning to Honolulu he stayed a year, during which he refused to live with Mrs. Gomes. Then he went to California and his wife lost further track of him. No children were born to them and neither of them had any property, and in her libel the wife said she sought no decree for costs, counsel fees or alimony.

SMALL ESTATE CLOSED.

Judge De Bolt approved the accounts and ordered the discharge of A. W. Carter, administrator of the estate of Joseph P. Hanley. Receipts were $320.12 and payments $372, leaving a balance of $448.12. The person entitled to the residue of the estate is Keith Mahai Biar, widow, Honolulu.

SUIT ON NOTE.

A. S. Humphreys, trustee for Mrs. Maile Goo Wan Hoy, has brought suit against Jesse Makainai, with Goo Wan Hoy as garnishee, for $500 and 10 per cent interest on a promissory note delivered on June 23, 1906, by defendant to W. R. Castle. Payments of interest are credited up to Dec. 21, 1904, amounting to $175. J. Lightfoot is attorney for plaintiff.

While the leases of the Makee Sugar Company expired on May 1, 1907, the company was given an extension of occupancy to take off its sugar cane crop. The Government has never admitted that this concession affected the rents of the sub-tenants and yesterday Acting Governor Mott-Smith instructed the Land Commissioner to proceed with their collection.

An exchange of lands between the Government and the Makee Sugar Company is still pending. By it the company would have its fee simple lands compacted, much to the advantage of its sugar producing enterprise, and the Government secured, in exchange for its lands covered, lands equal in appraised value which it would open to settlers.

It is likely that appraisers will soon be sent upon the lands, the surveys of which have been completed.

TO SEND JAP LEPEHS HOME

Japanese patients at Kalaupapa, Molekai, are still very anxious to be sent to Japan, according to the Japanese press, and are much encouraged at reports to the effect that the matter may be satisfactorily arranged if the local Board of Health does not stand in the way.

Dr. Mitamura and Mr. Ishii some time ago consulted with the Japanese consul here in regard to the matter and it was understood that it could be arranged that the eleven Japanese at the settlement have their expenses paid to Japan where they will be placed in the leprosarium lately established in that country. The promoters of the plan are now in communication with the Toyo Kisen Kaisha in regard to transportation.

CHOY CHARGED WITH FORGERY

Four months' imprisonment and payment of costs comprised the sentence passed by Judge Dole on T. S. Choy and No Sang Bong, the Korean man and woman convicted of adultery.

T. M. Harrison had asked the court to be lenient on account of the unsophisticated natures of defendants and of the previous good record he claimed Choy owned.

Assistant District Attorney Dunne in reply mentioned his possession of a letter written by the woman to the man, in which she made an attempt to frame a story both should tell at their trial, also admitting their mutual guilt. He had been unable to produce the letter at the trial, because the only man who could have proved the signature had left the country. Furthermore, he accused Choy of forgery and, answering a challenging remark of counsel for the defense, announced that Choy would be prosecuted for that crime. As to the plea of ignorance, Choy's experience as interpreter in that court was rather against it.

I. Mori, the Japanese merchant found guilty of passing a counterfeit ten dollar coin, was sentenced to hard labor for one month, with a fine of $200 added. S. F. Chillingworth had pleaded for leniency for the defendant on account of his poor health, producing a certificate from Dr. Ramus, of the U. S. H. M. S., to the effect that Mori's condition was such that prolonged imprisonment would be fatal to him.

As announced yesterday, the trial of Isabella Salamanca and J. Luis Vectors was set for that day. When the case was called, a message was delivered from F. E. Thompson, counsel for defendants, requesting a continuance until Friday as he was engaged in a trial in the Circuit Court.

Judge Dole evinced displeasure at such a motion being presented without notice, as no other case was set for the day. He directed A. G. Correa, the attorney who made the motion by request of Mr. Thompson, to notify the firm of Thompson & Clemons that the trial would proceed at two o'clock in the afternoon.

At that hour, however, the trial was peremptorily set for 10 o'clock this morning.

MAIL SCANDAL CASE.

In the meantime it had been suggested that the trial of Goo Won Hoy for making an improper use of the mails might be taken up. A. S. Humphreys, in whose office defendant was clerk, said he was willing to go ahead. Mr. Dunne objected on the ground that the complaining witness, Mrs. George D. Gear, would not be here from California until Dec. 13. The court declined to advance the case, its originally set time being Dec. 16.

In this case the defendant is alleged to have mailed anonymous letters of scandalous contents to the wife of the late Judge George D. Gear in his lifetime.

HABEAS CORPUS.

U. S. Judge Dole granted a writ of habeas corpus to John Marks, convicted of horse stealing by a Territorial jury. The writ is returnable Friday morning. Its grant is the refusal of Judge Lindsay to summon a material witness for the defense.

DATES DISAGREE.

A discrepancy of dates has been discovered by Archives Librarian Lydecker with regard to the coronation of Kalaupapa and Kapiolani. While the coronation took place on February 12, 1883, the medal struck in commemoration of the event is dated February 12, 1884.

PINEAPPLES AT LAHAINA

It is said that a pineapple industry may be established at the northern end of this district.

The Lahaina Fire Department has two handsome hose carriages, built by M. J. McNally & Sons, of San Francisco. A substantial and convenient tower for drying the hose will be located at the southeast corner of the courthouse. The structure will be thirty-three feet in height above the concrete foundation. The large timbers will be strengthened by iron rods.

Mr. C. D. Luffkin writes that he has secured the services of an excellent manager for the Lahaina bank. The gentleman will arrive here about the 20th of next month.

Judge Kalua and Attorney Coke came over from Wailuku last week. Samuel Ako is the new lighthouse keeper.

According to a regulation recently adopted, young children are obliged to be at home every evening at sunset.

Mr. Gunnison, who resides near the Leper Settlement, was in Lahaina a few days ago. He is a native of Norway, and intends to return to his old home, after attending to some business matters.

At service of song was held at the Settlement House last Sunday evening. This service is held every two weeks and is very popular. About seventy-five people attend.

The teachers' convention will meet at Wailuku on the 20th. Mr. Law and Mrs. Gannon, of the Lahaina School, will contribute papers.

Mr. Taylor of the Kipahulu school has furnished the Lahaina school with a quantity of seeds and plants.

One of the Pioneer plantation locomotives has been transformed into an oil-burner, and the change is considered a great improvement. Lathina and Mrs. Sarah Decoto will soon return to California, where her mother and sister have been living during the last twelvemonth.

Father Thomas came over from Molekai on Wednesday, and is visiting his friends in this vicinity.

A new Japanese boat was launched a few days ago.

W. W. Bruner, the coffee man, arrived from Kona yesterday morning.

UNIQUE PRESENT TO MR. HOSMER

An article that would delight the heart of the Kiloahana Art League membership, if placed in the home of that organization, stands in the board room of the Board of Agriculture and Forestry.

It is only a clock, but a timepiece combining the ancient and the modern very strikingly. The works are installed in an enclosed case at the top of an open framework. They are of the grandfather's clock type, being operated by iron weights attached to dogchains. Winding is performed by the primitive method of pulling down counterweight chains. The chains are a variation from the cordage used in the same manner in the clocks of the eighteenth century which many still living will remember in the homes their grandfathers built.

What is new in the clock is the wood of the case and framework. This is all koa in natural finish with oil polish, the parts being severely angular and plain. A card on the wall adjacent reads:

"Presented to the Superintendent of Forestry by the Hawaiian Mahogany Company, Ltd. The case is koa (Hawaiian mahogany—Acacia koa)."

Brass figures of Arabic notation in relief mark the hours on a square dial containing no ruling, either straight, curving or circular. There is no glass over the dial. The pendulum disk is of polished brass, the rod being of forged iron. All of the handwork excepting the polished brass figures and pendulum is of rustic make, excepting that the woodwork is tool-finished. There is no bark or knot upon it.

Superintendent Hosmer has reason to be proud of such a rare gift coming at this festive season.

THE BALDWIN-RICE NUPTIALS AT HAIKU

HAIKU, December 8.—The wedding of Miss Charlotte Baldwin and Mr. Harold Rice on last Saturday night was the event of the year on Maui.

The spacious residence of Hon. H. P. Baldwin at old Puunene was turned into a veritable fairy land, the large lanai and a temporary lanai still larger enclosed with braided cocoanut leaves were decorated most tastefully and beautifully in pink and white and greens. The historic golden bell under which Father and Mother Alexander stood at their golden wedding was hung at one end of the lanai under a sylvan arch and under it the ceremony took place. Pink shaded electric lights threw a soft subdued but ample light over the whole and made a more lovely spectacle than is often seen. The grounds and verandas were decked with hundreds of Japanese lanterns and bouquets of lovely calla lilies and pink begonias were grouped on every hand. The parlors were set apart for the wonderful display of wedding presents and the outer or temporary lanai was used as a banquet hall.

About fifty relatives witnessed the ceremony which took place at 7:30 promptly. Dr. E. G. Beckwith officiated in his usual happy and impressive manner. The wedding procession was headed by two little maidens, Emily Cooke of Honolulu and Lois Murdoch of Paia, carrying flowers, the maid of honor, Miss Nora Sturgeon, followed, then Mrs. J. P. Cooke as matron of honor and last the bride on the arm of her father, Hon. H. P. Baldwin. Hon. Chas. Rice of Kaula as best man handled the ring as ably as he handles legislatures and all went through in order.

At eight the guests began to arrive in automobiles, carriages, trains and on horseback for the reception. They came by hundreds from all parts of the islands filling the mansion to overflowing. There was no stiffness and as little formality as could be considered in the momentousness of the occasion. It was a handsome circle of supporters who received the guests. Mr. David Lindsay introduced the friends, a not very arduous task as all were well known to the principals.

Shortly after nine o'clock all repaired to the banquet hall where a light collation was served. Mr. J. P. Cooke of Honolulu was toastmaster, and filled the position worthily. Cabriegrans of congratulations from the mainland and wireless messages of like tenor from the other islands, alternated with toasts. Hon. Chas. Rice toasted the bride, Rev. E. B. Turner the groom. Hon. William Rice the mother and Hon. C. H. Dickey the matron and maid of honor.

Dancing on the lanai to the music of Kaula's quintet club followed and as midnight approached the guests melted away and the great event was over. It was one of the grandest functions ever witnessed on Maui.

FEDERAL BUILDING SITE MOVES ALONG

Not a landslide but the preliminaries for placing the United States in possession of the Mahuku site, with the requisite conditions of street approaches fulfilled, are making satisfactory progress.

United States condemnation proceedings, to ensure title to the site itself, have been taken. What remains is the acquisition by the Territory of the land required for the extension of Bishop street.

A. N. Campbell of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Co., Ltd., agent in the Mahuku site deal, was asked last night if there was any hitch in the matter of conveying the pieces of land for the street extension.

"There is nothing in the way so far as we are concerned," Mr. Campbell answered. "It is up to the Territory to take action. The Territory will have to enter condemnation proceedings the same as Uncle Sam has done."
