

America's Share in the War Upon Turkey

AMERICANS AND ITALIANS IN GREEK ARMY.

This photograph shows members of the "Garibaldi Brigade," of Italy, and Greek volunteers from America fraternizing in Salonica.

TORPEDO-DESTROYER NEA GENE.

A gift to the Greek government by the Greeks of the United States.

VIENNA, Austria, January 29. — (By Associated Press Cable.) Special dispatches received in this city early today from Constantinople give the details of bloody conflicts between the factions of the old and Young Turk parties near the city.

Following the murder of Nazim Pasha and the arrest of the adherents of Kamil Pasha by Enver Bey, the assassin of Nazim Pasha, later promoted to his position as commander in chief of the army, the line regiments along the chain of the Tchatalja defenses revolted from his command.

Yesterday a number of these regiments marched upon Constantinople to support the party now headed by Kamil Pasha and avenge themselves on the assassins of their old commander.

Enver Bey ordered them to their posts and upon their refusal sent against them several regiments of the Asiatic troops recently brought to the capital. They met in battle late yesterday and a number of desperate conflicts have been fought, the regulars holding their own and driving back the raw troops toward the city.

The supporters of the Young Turks are making great efforts today to overwhelm the mutineers, as they are called, by surrounding them with the great mass of troops which have been held in garrison along the Dardanelles and Sea of Marmora.

CONCESSIONS IMPOSSIBLE.

LONDON, January 29. — (By Associated Press Cable) — The plenipotentiaries of the Balkan States and the foreign ambassadors here have received a reply from the Porte at Constantinople which, in the opinion of those willing to express one, means a renewal of the war in the Balkans in the immediate future.

The reply, according to report, is that while expressing regret that it should be the case the Porte asserts emphatically that any further concessions are impossible.

Following the receipt of this official despatch the voys, of the Balkan Allies signed a note which puts an end officially to the negotiations between the Allies and the Turkish envoys. It is asserted, however, that this note will not be presented for a time until the ambassadors have had an opportunity to make another effort to arrange for a compromise.

LONDON, January 29.—(By Associated Press Cable)—Active hostilities have developed in the plan of campaign adopted by the militant suffragettes here as a result of which twenty-one women, some of them prominent socially, were arrested yesterday and today will face the court on charges of malicious destruction of property and of resisting officers.

Among those arrested is Mrs. Despard, sister of Sir John French, the cavalry general who won fame for himself during the war in South Africa. She is reported to have attacked the police officer who arrested her when he found her pitching stones at the stained glass windows of St. Stephen's, and scratching his face so badly that a doctor had to attend him. She was sentenced to fourteen days in Hridwell.

Mrs. Drummond and her husband, General Drummond, together with Miss Sylvia Parkhurst, daughter of the famous suffragette leader, were arrested and charged with resisting an officer in the execution of his duty. The trio were part of a number of suffragettes who were found by the police attempting to force their way into the presence of the Chancellor, Lloyd George, and persisted after being warned that they were violating the law.

From Dublin comes word of even worse riots than here. The streets of the Irish capital have been crowded with women all day long and three of the leaders have been arrested and sentenced to serve one month in jail for throwing stones through the heavy windows of the vic-regal castle.

In practically all the larger cities of the United Kingdom the suffragettes have been holding monster mass meetings in the streets and public places. The speakers have been insisting that "all means to gain our aims are justified, short only of murder."

CAPTAIN VEATSANIO.

Commander of the destroyer Nea Genea

WASHINGTON, January 29.—(By Associated Press Cable)—Scenes of more than usual excitement prevailed in the house yesterday when Representative Jones arraigned the administration of the Philippines in a bitter attack upon the policy of the government under Republican auspices.

Jones, in an impassioned address, during which he called attention to alleged injustice by the Americans in the Islands, demanded immediate independence for the Philippines. Representative Murray replied emphatically, defending the Philippine administration, but, while speaking for the independence of the Philippines, declared that the United States should not withdraw until it has made treaties with other countries which would prevent Japan from ever being able to seize the Islands.

American Soldiers Killed.

MANILA, January 28.—(By Associated Press Cable to Star-Bulletin)—Reports from Jolo received here today announce the repulse of a large party of bolomen after a desperate fight by the cavalry. The dispatches, though meager, state that one of the soldiers was killed and several others wounded, most of whom will probably die. The troops are reported to be in pursuit of the bolomen, and are expected to come into touch with them again tonight or tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, January 29.—(By Associated Press Cable)—What was asserted to be the final official reception at the White House to members of congress by President Taft was given here today and was very generally attended. Senators and representatives of all parties looked to the reception.

PITTSBURGH, Pennsylvania, January 29.—(By Associated Press Cable)—One man was killed and twelve others were wounded, several of them seriously, during a clash between deputy sheriffs and striking steel workers near here yesterday.

The strikers attempted to attack a number of seaman men of the British plant of the American Steel Wire Works Company, and were opposed by the deputies. In the fight which followed one of the strikers was shot. Several of the deputies were injured.

WILL CONSIDER DEMANDS TODAY

Directors of Inter-Island Will Discuss Problem—Engineers Noncommittal.

(From Wednesday Advertiser)

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, to be held at ten o'clock this morning, the demand of the masters and mates of Honolulu harbor that the company enter into an agreement whereby it can not dismiss its employees who are members of the harbor save under certain conditions, will be discussed. If the directors of the company so decide, a conference will be held with a committee from the harbor in regard to the proposed agreement.

Leading members of the harbor were in consultation yesterday and last night with Judge A. L. Humphreys and Attorney C. W. Ashford, and it is understood that the harbor plans radical action in case its demands are not conceded.

Engineers Keeping Out.

"The Marine Engineers Beneficial Association is taking no part whatever in the present controversy between the masters and mates of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company," said H. J. Wooten, secretary of the engineer's association, last night. "We issued a statement yesterday in which we asked that the newspapers refrain from making references to the marine engineers that are conjectural, because we don't want to be dragged into the matter at all."

"Members of the engineers association may have talked with some of the captains and mates about the pending dispute, but that does not imply that the association is taking any part in it, nor did they represent the association. We are keeping absolutely out of it and don't want to be dragged into the matter in any way."

The request issued to the press by the engineers' association yesterday was:

"Honolulu, January 28, 1913.

"The Marine Engineers Beneficial Association No. 100 of Honolulu, respectfully request that the newspapers of this city will in the future abstain from making any references that are conjectural as to the probable actions of this body in any controversy that may be taking place between the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company Limited, and their employees in other departments; and use only such references that may be based on statements or the signature of the responsible officers of the association.

"C. B. COTTRELL, "President."

SYMPATHIZED WITH THEM.

Miss Maud Younger Is Arrested For Taking Part in East Side Strike Disturbance.

NEW YORK, January 29.—(By Associated Press Cable)—Miss Maud Younger, a young lady of social prominence, has been arrested on a charge of "disorderly conduct growing out of the strike of the garment workers here. Rioting in spots prevailed at a number of shops on the East Side yesterday and it was during one of the affrays in which the police were forced to use their clubs that Miss Younger was arrested.

In Chicago, Too.

CHICAGO, January 28.—(By Associated Press Cable to Star-Bulletin)—Fifty thousand garment workers here are prepared to strike in sympathy with the striking garment workers in New York. Several hundred establishments will be affected. The police are already preparing to meet possible emergencies, by stationing large details in districts likely to be affected.

THORPE'S PROFESSIONALISM MAKES SHERIDAN CHAMPION

NEW YORK, January 28.—(By Associated Press Cable to Star-Bulletin)—Following the admission of Thorpe, the all-around champion, that he was guilty of professionalism, the officials of the A. A. U. find themselves facing a strange tangle. They must return all trophies, won by Thorpe, to the authorities in Sweden and must revise all of the records of the association.

Incidentally the tangle over Thorpe's status and the confusion he has made results in Martin Sheridan being declared the all-around champion, on the strength of his performances at the recent Olympic games.

Dispatches from Carlisle report Thorpe as having declared that he signed through ignorance of the rules of amateur sport.

WHITE SLAVERS PUNISHED.

LONDON, January 10.—Convictions under the new Act, which prescribes certain punishments for "White Slavers" are being rapidly handled. Sentences of six months at hard labor having been pronounced in several police courts today in cases where the procurers (male) had been living partly or wholly on the earnings of the girls they had driven into soliciting on the streets.

GETS TWENTY YEARS.

LOS ANGELES, January 28.—(By Associated Press Cable to Star-Bulletin)—Biedelbach, the "human bomb" who terrorized the local police headquarters by appearing with a suitcase filled with dynamite, and with sticks of the deadly stuff in his pockets, was sentenced today to twenty years in the state prison.

SPANISH STATESMAN DEAD.

MADRID, Spain, January 29.—(By Associated Press Cable)—Mariano Pineda Argente died here today.

CONSOLIDATION IS BEST FOR CITY

(From Wednesday Advertiser)

"The honor of my city is mine," said the burgomaster of ancient Rothenburg. I say, let the slogan of the consolidated commercial organizations of Honolulu be "The honor of our city is ours."—F. Dohrmann, father of the merchants' associations of San Francisco and Honolulu, in his Commercial Club address.

Practical advice based upon the experience of a busy man in the mercantile world of the city by the Golden Gate, whose activities in the establishment of organizations for the advancement of civic pride and development of mercantile interests has been great, was that given to representatives of the commercial organizations of Honolulu yesterday, at the Commercial Club luncheon, by F. Dohrmann, of San Francisco, who was the honored guest and speaker.

Mr. Dohrmann, who is equally at home in San Francisco and Honolulu, having business interests in both cities, gave the history of the movement of the San Francisco retail merchants to organize for their own benefit at the time when the old Mid-Winter Fair was proposed about twenty years ago. He was then an advocate for a separate organization from the chamber of commerce, just as he is now for the consolidated organization recently established in the World's Fair city, and he expressed the opinion that possibly the proposed consolidated commercial organization here would be best for all interests.

His address breathed the spirit of united civic pride. In his concluding remarks he referred to a visit to the old city of Rothenburg, where the old buildings, the old landmarks, the old churches and even the people seemed to be of the life of four or five centuries ago. In the city hall hangs the portrait of the burgomaster who yielded to the attacking army of Tilley. Beneath his portrait is the sentence which places him among the immortals: "The Honor of My City is Mine."

Honor of Our City.

In the opinion of Mr. Dohrmann, no stronger or more significant slogan could be adopted for Honolulu in its new and united commercial life than "The Honor of Our City is Ours."

The suggestion was apt and the room rang with applause. A member of the club said later on that the slogan would be an appropriate inscription to place upon Honolulu's city hall, whenever it should be built.

Mr. Dohrmann is a strong advocate of attracting tourist travel and is a booster for Hawaii in his own State. More tourists meant increased travel, and increased business. In Los Angeles he had seen the marvels of what he calls the "volunteer crop" of tourists. All that is needed to make it grow is to irrigate and lubricate it to get a better crop.

"I hope you will keep on doing this and getting a larger crop," said the speaker. "It is a very valuable one. There is no better place in which to spend a blissful and quiet period than Honolulu. Mr. Dohrmann quoted from a verse he had written and given before a meeting in California, which he considered applicable to Hawaii. It follows:

"With backward look on seventy years
Of effort and of stress,
We hopefully look forward still
To some of blissful rest.
Content we wait the final call,
Which soon must surely come:
Until it comes, as heretofore,
In joy and sorrow one."

Organization "Makes Good."

Mr. Dohrmann then went into the history of the organization of San Francisco Merchants' Association. The Mid-Winter Fair started it. Some of the business interests were opposed to the fair project. Retail men favored it. Some of the newspapers were in favor and others opposed.

A meeting was held. Some tried to walk out, but Mr. Dohrmann was first to the door and locked it and then proposed that after getting so many merchants together in the same room at the same time, it would be worth while to perpetuate the occasion by organizing a merchants' association. This was finally done, but it was not in politics and was organized largely for civic pride sake. Mr. Dohrmann was made chairman, and afterwards served as president for ten years.

The organization tackled big questions. The association had a new charter passed, cleaned up the city and did much to help the entire community. If the members had only had the courage to go into politics, the San Francisco trouble which came out of two administrations which he said, he preferred not to discuss. Then the organizations went in to clean up the city and the present administration is one of which they were all proud.

Basis of Common Good.

When there were two organizations they sometimes lapped over in their discussion of large affairs, one voting one way and the other organization opposed. Even Hawaii suffered once when the two organizations were divided over a question which related to the islands. The common good was the basis of the consolidation.

"The question of whether that is going to work out successfully," said Mr. Dohrmann, "in my opinion, will depend first upon whether the spirit of cooperation is civic pride. It is also a question of leadership, tact and diplomacy and hard work on the part of committees and members.

"Now, as to advising you as to whether you should consolidate here is presumption on my part. You must be your own judges. There must be the spirit of give and take.

At the table which President Bush of the Commercial Club, presided over, were Mr. Dohrmann, President Bishop, of the chamber of commerce; President Ben, of the merchants' association; Charles Myers, of the promotion committee; Wallace Alexander, of San Francisco; E. Bernard, W. H. McHenry, J. B. Galt, E. D. Tenney, Fred L. Walden, B. F. Dillingham, E. I. Spaulding, J. P. Cooke.

SUPREME COURT RUMOR PERSISTS

Little Foundation in Report of Proposed Resignation of Justice Holmes.

By Ernest G. Walker.

(Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, January 11.—One of those Supreme Court rumors, which now and then go the rounds, has recently been started. It pertains to Justice Oliver W. Holmes, and is to the effect that he will retire from active service early in the Wilson administration so as to enable President Wilson to name Mr. Taft, who will then be an ex-President, in his stead. First and foremost the report is absolutely without foundation. Justice Holmes himself says so. He has been eligible for retirement on full pay ever since December 8 last, on which date he had seen ten years of service. The justice is now past seventy years, which is the age for voluntary retirement.

President Taft, of course, has had nothing whatever to do with the story, but it looks very much as though some of the President's friends had. They remember how he declined appointment to the Supreme Court bench at the hands of President Roosevelt, although he had a very strong inclination for the bench and would have preferred service with the highest court to becoming President. Mr. Taft is credited with having dissuaded him at the last moment from accepting.

As it happens Justice Holmes is now the only member of the court who is eligible for retirement and consequently the report centered on him. These stories keep going and draw out public sentiment, all of which may be a helpful preliminary. And the opinion is very decided in Washington that whenever President Wilson has an opportunity to nominate a justice for the supreme court very much will be said about the desirability of selecting his predecessor in the White House for that place.

In that connection it may be expected that Mr. Taft's friends will keep the story in circulation and that it will be hobbing up now and then. With Justice Holmes' present determination not to retire, as he is in good physical condition, there is little prospect of a Supreme Court vacancy for a considerable time.

Justices of the Supreme Court usually select their own good time for retiring from active service. But many remember what a crusade was started during the Roosevelt administrations with reference to the late Chief Justice Fuller. Colonel Roosevelt wished to have the nomination of a chief justice and it is believed he knew just whom he wished to nominate.

There was a pretty well defined opinion as to where the stories about the chief's prospective resignation started. They annoyed the aged head of the court measurably and continued in spite of the fact and the tradition that Chief Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States die in office.

Chief Justice Fuller never had any idea of retiring and, just as he had intended to do, died a chief justice on the active list.

STORM DAMAGE BIG; REPAIRS TO BE BEGUN

(Mail Special to The Advertiser)

HILO, January 27.—Last week a westerly storm swept the Kohala coast, on the leeward side, leaving destruction in its wake. Both the Mahukona and the Kawaiha wharves suffered, the former particularly badly. Judging from the reports which have reached here from Kohala, the Mahukona landing has been practically put out of business, a fact which is particularly deplorable when it is remembered that only last year the Territory spent about fourteen thousand dollars thereon. At the time there was considerable criticism of the manner in which then Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell constructed certain portions of the wharf, and the claim is now being made that if Campbell had followed the advice which was given him, instead of sticking to his own plan, the damage would not have been done. As a matter of fact, the proposition was made that the wharf would be rebuilt by the first heavy storm which came along.

Owing to the storm the Mauna Kea had to leave both Kawaiha and Mahukona out of her itinerary, but a wireless sent to Honolulu before she left that port conveyed timely warning to intending passengers.

The Kawaiha wharf was also damaged, but here only the planking at the main end was torn off, and this can be replaced at comparatively small expense.

Repairs at Once.

The Mahukona wharf is to be placed in condition to receive vessels as soon as possible. Reports from Mahukona received this week state that about fifty feet of the wharf has been washed away, immense boulders being carried out, blocking the road near the wharf and making it impossible to get freight to or from the wharf even if ships could reach the landing.

H. B. Park, wharf and harbor engineer for the department of public works, will leave for Mahukona today to inspect the damaged wharf and make arrangements at once for temporary repairs.

It is probable that Park will also make an investigation and see if the fault which is supposed to have resulted in the washing out of the wharf cannot be remedied. It is said at the department that the weakness of the structure was due to faulty construction.

TRY THIS FOR A COLD.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has won its great reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of coughs, colds and croup. It can be depended upon. Try it. Sold by Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.—Advertisement.