

HUERTA HAS A CHANGE OF HEART

Reported Now to Be Anxious for Opportunity to Renew Negotiations Before President Wilson Lays the Whole Case Before Congress—Is Working on His Special Message.

WASHINGTON, August 23.—(By Associated Press Cable)—It is reported here, that late despatches received from Mexico through official channels, announce Provisional President Huerta's intention of reconsidering the American proposals of mediation and of withdrawing his message in reply, which declines to entertain President Wilson's plan, as submitted through Special Envoy Lind.

The reports are that Huerta is anxious now to arrange a basis of further negotiations before Tuesday next, when President Wilson's plan and Huerta's refusal of it will be made public through the special message to congress, upon which the President is now at work.

WILSON WORKS ALONE ON SPECIAL MESSAGE

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) WASHINGTON, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser)—President Wilson shut himself in his study here today and began typewriting personally the message he is to send to congress on the Mexican situation and will do all the work on the document himself. It is believed the President will make additional recommendations to congress concerning America's attitude and it is possible that a new Mexican policy will be outlined. The message will be the longest that President Wilson has yet written.

No Recommendation for Action.

When the President reads his message next Monday no recommendations for action will be made, but the President's statement is expected to reiterate the attitude of his government and indicate that only on the basis therein outlined can negotiations with the Huerta government be continued.

Effect Apparent.

White House officials feel the reading of the message will itself be a factor in the situation serving perhaps further to emphasize that the United States will under no circumstances recognize any but constitutional government in Mexico.

The effect of the unyielding attitude of the United States is said to be already apparent. Dispatches today from John Lind indicate that the Mexican administration would welcome further parleys.

The Huerta government is said casting about for new ground for which to renew the negotiations. Another factor contributes to the optimism administration officials is a reported disposition in Europe to deny the Huerta government any further loans pending the outcome of the efforts of the United States to bring about peace.

STERN WARNING IS FINALLY SENT OUT

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) WASHINGTON, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Secretary of State Bryan today warned Provisional President Huerta of Mexico, General Carranza, the rebel leader, and local Mexican officials at Loboquillo that they would be held personally responsible for the safety of Shirley G. Hulse, a son-in-law of Lieutenant Governor Reynolds of Pennsylvania, who was captured by Mexican rebels two weeks ago. No news has been received of Hulse for ten days.

Thaw Will Take Refuge in Old Dominion After Leaving Canada

Yacht Ready to Take Him to State Where 'Whose Looney Now' Has Long Lived.

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) SHEERBROOKE, Quebec, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Assured that New York's request for the extradition of Harry K. Thaw will not be granted by the Canadian authorities, George Carnegie, his brother-in-law, was reported to be arranging to have a yacht in Canadian waters in which Thaw's slayer will be taken to Virginia.

There Thaw will have the benefit of the court decisions in the case of John Chamberlain, who lives unmolested in the Old Dominion, although he is an escaped insane prisoner from New York. Must Leave Canada.

Thaw's Sheerbrooke counsel, Attorney Shurtcliffe, returned here today from Ottawa, where he had been interviewing the heads of the immigration service. Shurtcliffe told Thaw flatly that he would probably have to leave Canada, but that he positively would not be returned to New York State.

Whether Thaw will be rejected by the government as an undesirable alien and returned to the United States by the same route over which he entered Canada, or will be given forty-eight hours to quit the country and allowed to choose his own route, is as yet uncertain.

JAIL PHYSICIAN SAYS THAW IS SANE MAN

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) SHEERBROOKE, Quebec, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser)—"Harry Thaw is perfectly sane," this was the dictum today of Dr. Jos. Noel, jail physician, after an exhaustive examination of the slayer of Stanford White, in his cell for forty-five minutes. Doctor Noel put Thaw through all sorts of tests.

His verdict is expected to be vitally important in Thaw's fight for freedom. Doctor Noel said he had prepared a report to send to the immigration authorities. "Harry Thaw," he said, "is as sane as you or I. I have watched him carefully since his arrival. Today I discussed the case with him. He knows more about it than his lawyers do. There was not an intricate point that he did not cover. He has a wonderful analytical mind. There was not a second but what he knew what he was discussing."

Thaw's lawyers are delighted over Doctor Noel's report and believe they will be able to convince the Canadian authorities that New York State has misused Thaw. They will appeal to the British sense of fair play and believe this will result in Thaw's liberation without deportation.

Refuses to Cause Lola Norris Any Embarrassment by Taking Stand in Own Defense.

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) SAN FRANCISCO, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Despite the declarations that E. Drew Caminetti would strenuously fight the charge of transporting Lola Norris to Reno for immoral purposes, he made a statement today that he would rather go to jail than attack the character of Miss Norris, his companion.

"I would rather go to jail than deny any statement that Lola may make on a witness stand," he said. "She is a good girl and has treated me right. I will not attempt to dispute anything she says. She has been fair to me, and I propose to be fair with her. I will not deny any relations with her. I do not want to cause her any more trouble or embarrassment."

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) STOCKHOLM, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser)—The Swedish battleship Odin rammed and sunk the Swedish gunboat Urd this afternoon. The accident occurred west of the island of Haven, while the war vessels were engaged in mimic warfare. No loss of life occurred.

THE HAGUE, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser)—The peace conference in session here today passed a resolution favoring the submission of the Anglo-American controversy over the Panama Canal tolls to The Hague arbitral court, if diplomacy fails.

The conference favored a codification of international law making arbitration compulsory before war may be declared.

government that Americans must be protected, caused a sensation in the capitol. It is generally believed here that the stand of the United States will be followed by further demands and that the action of Bryan will result in breaking off all efforts at mediation by the United States.

The fact that Bryan also communicated with rebel leaders is pointed out as significant.

FOUR DAY BOAT TALKED OF FOR HONOLULU RUN

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) SAN FRANCISCO, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser)—It was reported in marine circles today that one of the local steamship companies is preparing to place upon the run between San Francisco and Honolulu a liner of the palatial and speedy type, capable of making the passage in four days.

It was said that the company believed that a four-day steamer would gain enough patronage to fill the passenger accommodation on each trip.

SAYS TAFT BROKE HIS PLEDGED WORD

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) WASHINGTON, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Former President Taft's name was injected in today's session of the house "insidious lobby" probes when the committee tried to learn just what service Henry E. Davis performed to merit the $4000 he is alleged to have received from the defense fund raised against the Lona Shark Bill.

The committee could not find that Davis had done anything beyond arguing against the bill before ex-President Taft. Davis said he only knew that his money was coming from an "association of men." He flatly charged that Taft broke his word by signing the bill twenty-four hours before he said he would.

Witness Now Says That He Took a Fee While Poising as Attorney General.

It is not generally known, but it is true, all the same, that "Banana Jack" Kalakiele was for a few minutes, not many months ago, attorney general of the Territory. At least he said he was and so thought Ah Sun, a Chinese claimant who gave testimony yesterday and Thursday before the bankruptcy court.

He testified that when he went to N. K. Pukui, who made it his business to work up banana claims, he was told that for two dollars and a half he would have his claim attended to and that it would be alright, and that for two dollars and a half in addition he would have things all fixed up by going with Pukui direct to the attorney general.

Ah Sun further testified that he went with Pukui to a certain place where a man sat in state and this man was pointed out as the attorney general. The witness next pointed out "Banana Jack" Kalakiele as the man who posed as the attorney general. Kalakiele was present in court while this testimony was given and he grinned, evidently thinking it was a good joke.

The Ah Sun claim is now in the hands of the real attorney general's department, and Chairman Rawlins of the banana claims commission states that a searching investigation will be made of the matter. A purported assignment is attached to the claim, whereby Ah Sun is alleged to have assigned his claim to Pukui for one dollar. The Chinaman denies ever having made an assignment.

There is a question about the genuineness of the Chinese characters, said to be Ah Sun's signature to the assignment and in this regard Mrs. Julia Kalakiele, who signed the acknowledgment as a notary public, will be brought into the investigation. There are rumors that certain signatures were acknowledged to acknowledge their signatures. Should this be proven the notary will be fined the notary commission soon and it will be well for some one if further prosecution, further proceeding of a criminal nature do not follow.

Ah Sun gave testimony to the effect that Pukui and Kalakiele, the man, would share heavily in whatever was received on the claim, and he finally wound up by stating he would be glad to get $500 for his claim, which is for the sum of $2700. The grand jury may next take a hand in this affair.

CHICAGO, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Bitter denunciation of the Democratic Currency Bill was voiced today by Barton Hepburn, president of the Chase National Bank of New York and chairman of the currency committee of the American Bankers' Association. Hepburn's attack came at a conference of representatives of banking and clearing house associations called for the purpose of discussing the Owen-Glass currency measure. The bankers hope to agree on a concerted form of protest against the bill. Forty-seven states were represented at the meeting.

WIRELESSMAN MET HERO'S DEATH

Daniel C. Perkins, Operator on the Ill-fated Steamer State of California, Took Post of Danger to Send out the 'S. O. S.' Signal of Distress, Where Death Found Him.

(By Federal Wireless Telegraph.) SEATTLE, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser)—In the three minutes given him of life between the time the steamer State of California struck the rocks and her final plunge, Daniel C. Perkins, of Oakland, wireless operator, added another name to the list of ocean heroes. He did his duty and in doing it went to his death.

Perkins was in his cabin when the vessel struck. The resultant shock was his call to duty. Without waiting to dress, he hurried to the operating room, where his assistant, Walter Chamberlain, was on duty.

"Get out and look after yourself," Perkins called to Chamberlain as he entered the room. "I'll send the signal."

Chamberlain left him there repeating the "S. O. S." call, the word of distress. Three minutes later the vessel's mast dashed down upon the little wireless operating room. Then a huge wave came up and washed across the place where Perkins died a hero.

The report, however, has not been confirmed and is generally discredited.

An echo of the commotion caused by Perley Horne, principal of the Kamehameha Schools, when he questioned the character of soldiers of the United States Army in Hawaii, is contained in an item appearing in the Army and Navy Journal, August 8, which would indicate that an effort is being made to prevent the appointment of an army officer as military instructor at the Kamehameha Schools. The article says: "Mrs. Russell MacLennan, on behalf of the Society for the Protection of the Dignity and Honor of the United States Uniform, has protested to the secretary of war against the detail of an officer of the Army as an instructor at the college in Hawaii of which Prof. Perley Horne is president. It will be remembered that Professor Horne made a vicious attack on the Army, declaring that all soldiers regarded Hawaiian girls as legitimate prey. Mrs. MacLennan says that although given an opportunity to do so, Professor Horne has not apologized, and if he holds this opinion the war department should not detail military instructors to his school."

It is expected that the award for the furnishing and laying of new water mains in Kaimuki will be made today, with the return to the city of Superintendent Caldwell. The bids for this work were opened last Saturday in the department of public works.

SENATE HAS TROUBLES ENOUGH WITHOUT GETTING INTO A QUARREL OVER PINKHAM

(By Ernest G. Walker.) (Special to The Advertiser.) WASHINGTON, August 21.—The nomination of I. E. Pinkham to be Governor of Hawaii still remains before the senate committee on Pacific Islands and Porto Rico with an immediate prospect of action there. Senators seem not at all disposed to take it up, although it is probable that before this letter reaches Honolulu there will have been at least a hearing and some consideration of the pending protests. The senate is very busy with other matters and the known opposition of Senator Williams, of Mississippi, has proved a damper in taking up the case. The senate has quarrels enough on its hands already and is not anxious to plunge into others.

The fiscal report of the commissioner of Internal Revenue shows that the collections in Hawaii for the fiscal year which ended June 30 last amounted to $240,555.28. This is larger than the sums collected in several States of the Union.

Former Judge Babbs and his family have gone on an automobile trip into the White Mountains. The scenic and sporting consideration of the sugar industry but it is regarded as hopeless to attempt to prevent the adoption of the schedule as passed by the house and reported to the senate by the finance committee.

Many Autos in Hawaii—More Coming Daily

The increase in the use of automobiles, says Governor Peary's report to the secretary of the interior, now in course of preparation, has been one of the influences that has led to the construction of a new and better road. At the close of the fiscal year there were 2235 licensed automobiles in the Territory distributed as follows: 264; Hawaii, 408; Maui, 304, and 209; Kona.

Tom Gunn and Lieutenant Geiger Do Daily Stunts Over the Big Lochs.

Tom Gunn, the Chinese aviator, who assembled his hydroplane at Pearl Harbor peninsula last week, has had several satisfactory tests with the novel air and water craft, and on Sunday will probably make a flight over the lochs.

The hydroplane is a curious-looking craft, quite high and round at the bow and sloping back like a canoe. The aviator sits almost in the bow with the engine and propeller behind him. As the machine gathers speed the stern sinks and the bow lifts.

Residents of the Peninsula who have watched Gunn's movements with interest, have been mystified by the way in which the hydroplane darts or skims over the surface of the smooth waters of the lochs. Some estimate his speed at twenty, others at forty, miles an hour. The craft appears to literally fly along the surface and is brought to a stop easily by the man at the wheel. It makes swift turns.

Gunn is trying out the machine under all possible conditions on the water and expects to rise on Sunday to a considerable height.

The Peninsulans who rise early are now familiar with the aeroplane of Lieutenant Geiger of the Army. Shortly after daylight every morning the craft rises from the Pearl Harbor channel opposite Fort Kamehameha and flies above the trees tops. It flies over the channel to the drydock and then back again to its station.

COMPTROLLER'S RULING ON MILITIA ALLOWANCES

The comptroller has informed the secretary of war that retired officers and enlisted men of the army drawing retired pay and allowances who are officers, and enlisted men in the organization militia of a State would not be justified; pay allowed to retired officers and enlisted men of the regular army to be members of the militia for participation in camps of instruction, etc., should be only the pay received on the retired list of the regular army and from the appropriations made therefor.

NO HARM INTENDED

A correspondent supplies The Advertiser with this: A woman, observing two men in heated discussion at the fishmarket and fearing lest they came to blows, called the attention of the policeman on duty to the impending battle. The kindly cop reassured her: "You see that stout man?" asked the guardian of the peace. "Well, he's a Surinamese Wolfer. The thin man is Doctor Pratt. They are only arguing the point whether it is cheaper to remove the fish market or remove the muck, they are not going to fight."

PORT SHAPFER, August 22.—(Special to The Advertiser.)

Jerome Felker, Company K, Second Infantry, was compelled to undergo an operation today to remove an eye which was injured about a week ago. Felker was using his steel chisel and hammer, when a small portion of steel was driven into his eye with considerable force. He was taken at once to the hospital and every effort was made to save the injured organ, but the eye seemed to be ruined beyond the hope of recovery and inflammation began to extend to the uninjured eye.

It became apparent today that the injured eye must be removed to save the patient from total blindness. The operation was successfully conducted at the Department Hospital, where the patient is resting easily tonight. The injury was inflicted in line of duty, and Felker will therefore be entitled to every consideration at the hands of the government.

It is not known as yet what action will be taken upon return of the patient to duty.

MILLIONAIRE POLO FAN MAY COME WITH A TEAM

Charles W. Clark, son of the multimillionaire W. A. Clark, cop per magnate, is planning to invade Hawaii next spring with a crack polo team which he expects to organize from the ranks of noted players and bring over with it necessary ponies, at his own expense.

Judge Clemens yesterday received a letter from Clark, who lives at Burlingame, California, but who is now at Jerome, Arizona, where his father's great copper mines are located.

In his letter Clark says that he has always wanted to visit the Islands, and that he is planning to do so in the Spring. "If I do," he says, "I will bring a polo team with me."

Charles W. Clark, who is immensely wealthy in his own right, is one of the foremost sportsmen of the West. He has been heavily interested in the racing game, and is himself a polo player with a fine string of ponies.

Promotion Committee Will Urge Request for Area About Kilauea Equal to Yosemite.

Action will be requested of all the commercial organizations of the Hawaiian Islands, and particularly those of Honolulu and Hilo, in urging congress to set aside a larger area around the Kilauea Volcano than that already asked for a national park.

The promotion committee will ask the organizations to consider the matter again and urge congress to set aside a very large area, which would make the park one of the order of Yosemite.

The proposed national park will probably be considered by the civic conference in September as one of its principal subjects.

B. von Damm, who went to Hilo with the Ad Club as the representative of the promotion committee, informed the committee yesterday that he had discussed the park project with Prof. T. A. Jagger, the volcanologist in charge of scientific work at the crater.

Professor Jagger is of the opinion that the area asked to be included in the national park reserve is altogether too small. Mr. von Damm states that there seems to be a feeling that congress, by setting the small area asked for, might not be inclined to give it the serious consideration desired by Islanders, while, if a large area were recommended, it would assume greater importance to the national legislators.

RAILROADS READY TO BOOST HAWAII

Railway officials connected with the Illinois Central, Pacific Coast, North and South Pacific, Chicago Great Western and other systems have informed the promotion committee that they are anxious to cooperate with it in inducing a further movement of tourists to Hawaii.

Each one, in a letter received yesterday, stated his personal interest in the work and all hoped soon to visit the Islands.

FOURTH HORSE AS INVADERS OF MEXICO

Troop B of Cavalry Now Stationed on Oahu Crossed Line in 1886 Under Lawton and Captured Apache Chief Geronimo and His Band, Defying Mexican Troops.

If intervention in Mexico is ordered, it will not be the first time by any means that United States troops with arms in their hands have crossed the border, since the Mexican War, sometimes with, but generally without the permission of the Mexican government as represented by the redoubtable Diaz, and several times in the face of Mexican troops drawn up to prevent the invasion.

The last invasion was by Troop B of the Fourth Cavalry, now stationed at Schofield Barracks, and this was a notable invasion, in that it resulted in the capture of the Apache Chief Geronimo and his band of Indian murderers. The troop was commanded by Captain Lawton, afterwards General Lawton, who was killed at the head of his men in the Philippines. It was in 1886 that Lawton and his men trailed Geronimo and his band into the heart of the mountains in Mexico and captured them, afterwards standing off a troop of Mexican rurales, who demanded the prisoner, by threatening to open fire on them.

Pursuit of Geronimo.

Lucian G. Crespin, who recently retired as first sergeant of Troop F, Eleventh Cavalry, at Leavenworth, Kansas, is the hero of the chase who, with Lawton at the capture of Geronimo to leave the Army, with the exception of Gen. Leonard Wood. Crespin belonged to B Troop of the Fourth Cavalry at the time. In telling of the pursuit, he said:

"It was my troop of the Fourth Cavalry that chased down and captured old Geronimo. We put in weeks on his trail, making forced marches by night and sometimes through the burning desert by day. The old murderer twisted and turned, but Lawson stuck to his trail like a leech.

"Man after man dropped out because of the hardships, but Lawson swore he would capture the redskin or die in the attempt.

"We had no right to go beyond the border, but Lawson was determined to get his man if he had to march to the city of Geronimo. We were rarely, we drove the old fellow into Skilton's Canyon and he surrendered.

"A troop of Mexican rurales, also on the lookout for the Indians, followed us into the canyon and demanded our prisoner. Lawson refused to surrender them, and it was only when we threatened to open fire on the rurales that they drew off. We nearly involved the United States in a war with Mexico, but we got Geronimo and seventy-five other murderers and took them back across the border to Fort Bowie, Arizona.

"General Wood now wears a medal of honor for his part in the capture and Lawson also got a medal. All of the men were given one honor or another for their part. I fought Indians several times afterward, but it was Lawson's play captured with the capture of Geronimo. We were rarely on the trail steadily for two months, without once reaching civilization."

Invasions in 1877.

During 1877, Lieut. John L. Bullis twice crossed into Mexico at the head of United States troops to chastise Mexican Indians who had robbed Americans and to recover cattle stolen by these rattle thieves, and on one of these occasions when it was reported that he was surrounded and in danger of annihilation troops were promptly dispatched to reinforce his command.

In November, 1877, President Diaz sent an official order to the general commanding the Mexican troops on the border to repel by force an invasion of United States troops, and Lieutenant Colonel Shafter, testified before an investigating committee that he crossed the border no less than six times in 1877.

"The most important American expedition into Mexico was that of Gen. Ronald S. Mackenzie, U. S. A., in the spring of 1878, says the Army and Navy Journal.

"His command consisted of two columns, one under Lieutenant Colonel Shafter, and the other under Capt. Samuel B. Young, 8th U. S. Cav. At Hermosillo Mexican troops under Colonel Valdez were met. Colonel Valdez told General Mackenzie that he had been ordered to repel the advance of the American forces. General Mackenzie replied that the expedition had no hostile intent toward Mexico, but was simply in pursuit of cattle thieves and Indians. The Mexican colonel said the American force was too strong, but that he expected reinforcements at two p. m. Accordingly General Mackenzie gradually waited till that hour and then moved forward to the attack, whereupon all the Mexicans ran away as fast as their legs could carry them. The entire expedition of Mackenzie crossed the Rio without collision, trouble or further annoyances.

"Officers who were with that expedition point to the fact that it is pure bluff now as then, and that if the Mexicans cannot or will not punish these guilty of depredations it is the business of the United States to do that work for them as it did in 1877 and 1878."

The public schools will open their new year on September 15.
