

GENETARY OF "BENEFICENT KING"

Stone Tablet to Memory of Kamehameha III, gift of the Daughters of Hawaii, to be Unveiled by Queen Liliuokalani at Kawaihaoho Church; Interesting and Impressive Ceremonies Planned.

With ceremonies as interesting as they will be unique, the Daughters of Hawaii this afternoon, at Kawaihaoho Church, will unveil a stone tablet, which later is to be taken to Keolu, Kona, and inset into the famous Kamehameha III, gift of the Daughters of Hawaii, to be Unveiled by Her Majesty, Queen Liliuokalani, assisted by the High Chiefs Elizabeth Kekuanani Pratt.

Two distinctly Hawaiian features will mark the program. One is to be the chanting of the "Life Giving Prayer," the words of which were chanted over the supposedly dead body of the newly born babe a century ago in the heiau of Keolu by the high priest, the incantation being answered by the gods and breath coming to the tiny body of the prince.

The ceremony will commence at the Kawaihaoho Church at four o'clock, while the Hawaiian Band will render a concert in the churchyard, commencing at half-past three.

The tablet, a photograph of which is given herewith, is of "deep lava," the surface being about ten square feet. It is from the Moiliili quarries and is beautifully polished, the work done upon it by the Honolulu Monument works bringing out to advantage the beautiful, close grain of this Hawaiian stone.

The ladies who have made all the arrangements for the celebration of this centenary and the marking of Kamehameha's birthplace announce the following program:

1. Hymn, "How Firm a Foundation." 2. Invocation—The Rev. Henry K. Peofoe. 3. Kōhōna, genealogical chant—Mrs. Naha Hakulole. 4. Unveiling of the Tablet—Her Majesty Queen Liliuokalani and High Chiefs Elizabeth Kekuanani Pratt. 5. Kōhōna, ancestral chant—Mrs. Naha Hakulole. 6. Address in Hawaiian—Judge A. Mahanui; English, the Rev. Wm. B. Oleson. 7. Kamehameha and Pauahi Songs—The Kamehameha Schools. 8. Hawaii Pūnani. 9. Benediction—The Rev. Henry Parker.

While eight men, giving the names of Pedro, Manuel, Segundo, Argopito, Ariston, Mateo, Silverio and Marciano, were wearing Dame Fortune with the ivory squares at Camp No. 2 yesterday at noon the police swooped down on the double quartet and haled them to jail. They will tell their tales of woe to the court this morning, unless some of them should elect to forfeit their bail of ten dollars.

IMPERIAL LIST TO INCLUDE TOURISTS

Consul Etaki Notifies Shoba That Hawaiians Will Get Cherry Blossom Invitations.

Definite assurances have been received by Consul Etaki of the Hawaiian Shoba that the Hawaiian excursionists, soon to leave for the Land of the Rising Sun, will receive invitations to the Imperial Cherry Blossom Festival, in April. Consul General Etaki, in a letter to the Shoba, explained the exceptional nature of the visit to be paid to Japan by these unofficial representatives of Hawaii, and notified that all obstacles have been cleared away so that the invitations will be issued through Ambassador Guthrie as soon as the list of names is sent in.

Each month from Japan brings word of further preparations being made to see that the first excursionists from Hawaii are accorded every courtesy possible and given every opportunity to see the wonders of Japan.

Owing to a change to be made in the schedule of the T. K. K. liners, the party will be four or five days longer in Japan than had been originally planned, and these extra days will be put in to good advantage. The trip through the Island of Honolulu the main section of the Empire, will be lengthened, and altogether the tourists will cover about a thousand miles of coast-line.

The mass meeting of residents of the Kewalo district scheduled for last night in the law offices of J. Alfred Magoon to voice their objections to the reclamation work ordered by the government in Kewalo district failed to materialize.

Complainants Against Reclamation Project Fail to Put in Appearance.

The mass meeting of residents of the Kewalo district scheduled for last night in the law offices of J. Alfred Magoon to voice their objections to the reclamation work ordered by the government in Kewalo district failed to materialize. Not a Kewalo resident put in an appearance, undoubtedly because of the rain. A clerk in the law offices reported that he did not blame the Kewalo folk for not straying from their homes in the dark and through the added chills caused by the rains.

The court work yesterday was but of a preliminary nature, consisting of the reading by respective counsel of the amended complaint, the answer to this, the replication to the answer and the replication to the replication. The reading of all these documents took considerable time and was a rather tedious procedure, more so since something went wrong with the electric lighting system of the court room, the dark and dull afternoon which reignied yesterday giving the chamber a real night appearance without the lights.

Attorney General W. W. Thayer and his first deputy, Arthur G. Smith, were both in court yesterday, but since Mr. Thayer had to go to Maui yesterday afternoon, Deputy Attorney General Smith will handle the case for the superintendent of public works and the Territory when the hearing is resumed at two o'clock this afternoon.

HOSE THIEF NABBED.

William Chapman wandering slowly along King street near the Fish Market last night gently lifted a reel of rubber hose from in front of the store of L. H. Moore. The act was seen by one of the clerks who gave chase as Chapman started to run and with the assistance of Officer Ayau, Chapman was taken to the police station and charged with second degree larceny.

TRANSGRESSORS PUNISHED.

Falling from the water wagon proved costly to several of the tumbler sort yesterday, for they all drew some sort of punishment. Ben Andrade forfeited $100; Joe Truman, Kōkōkō and William Nore were put on the reef for three months, while Kim On Tol, a Korean, drew a sentence of six months.

LAUDER WINS HONOLULANS

Famous Scotch Comedian, Though Guest of Honor at Ad Club Luncheon, Entertains Hosts With Scintillating Witticisms and Rollicking Scotch Songs.

Harry Lauder, the famous Scotch comedian and singer, came, saw and conquered Honolulu yesterday, and then sailed away, a member of the Ad Club and a friend of each of the two hundred and more Ad Club men who cheered him and Mrs. Lauder at the noonday gathering and who joined in the chorus when he sang.

Mr. Lauder, while in the city, smashed one of the stock ideas about himself as to pieces and not only did a few hundred dollars' worth of stunts free gratis, but threw barbeques away with a prodigious hand when his ship sailed on.

Tells of First Appearance.

"I was a bit nervous when I sailed away from San Francisco," he began. "I felt I was going out among strangers, but, do you know, I haven't met one yet. I tell you, it is long since I went out by myself, when you know nobody, and nobody knows you. I came down from Scotland to London, and in that greatest city of the world, filled with cheek-a-block with humanity, there was not a soul that I knew and there was not a soul that knew Harry Lauder, and I tell you it was long since I sang, and the people cheered and cheered, and I knew that I was a success. But when I went out of that theater I went out alone, and no one knew me and I knew no one, and in spite of the cheers I had had I was very lonesome."

"But I went to my room and I wrote a letter and then I was cheered up. I wrote to my wife, telling her I had made a success, and I knew that I was going to be a success. I was a woman anxious, waiting for that letter. And I knew how it would cheer her. And that cheered me. I knew that letter was going to someone not connected at all with the stage, who would not be glad just because I had made a success, but to a woman who loved me for myself, just because I was myself, and whether I sang well or whether I did not."

Kept Audience in Glee.

And then Mr. Lauder told the tale of the Whistler's Wife, and the Lang Toon, and Kiska, and sang "Just a Wee Doshin' Doris" and told jokes about himself and Mrs. Lauder, and generally kept the club in gales of laughter. President Farrington called upon Robert Catton to start the speechmaking, this turning out to be a dialogue in broad Scotch between the speaker and the guest of honor.

"Do you ken the story about the Edinburgh fisherman?" asked Mr. Catton. "No, tell it," answered Lauder. "An' an' frae Fife?" said Mr. Catton, who proceeded to tell the tale of an inquisitive dog and a determined lobster.

Harry Strange, who had escorted Mr. and Mrs. Lauder about the city, told of hearing the comedian when he made his London debut and later described the famous singer as a man who had lifted himself up by his own boot-strap.

Could Not Resist Witticisms.

"Ye mean ma garters," interrupted Lauder, looking down on his bare knees. J. A. Dunbar read an address of welcome to the Lauders and presented them with illua leis, "the Scotch Thistle of Hawaii," as he explained.

Mr. Lauder then explained that he had a few dollars in his pouch that his wife knew about and she wanted to visit the shops and spend them, and one of the most enjoyable sessions the Ad Club has ever held came to an end. During the morning Mr. and Mrs. Lauder were driven about the city, to the Aquarium and other points of interest, being the guests of the Ad Club. Among those who looked after the guests were Mrs. W. R. Farrington, Mrs. Charles Crane, Mrs. E. Strange, Harry Strange and J. A. Dunbar.

After Lauder had posed on the gang plank of the Sonoma for several minutes in a drenching rain that soaked his kilt to the skin, before taking leave for Australia, A. K. Weir called out to the comedian: "Sing for us 'A Wee Doshin' Doris' in the Bottle for the Morin'."

"It strikes me that you would rather have a wee drop in the bottle in the morning," said Lauder, "so hold your hat out," and then he tossed a dollar that landed safely in Wallace's head piece and which was kept as a souvenir of the party at Honolulu pier. The comedian also threw a generous number of coins to the members of the Hawaiian Band that gave him a concert consisting of many Scottish airs.

HAWAII IS HIT BY CUT IN FREIGHT

Rates from Hamburg to New York Are Reduced, German Beet Sugar Prices to Refiners Are Lowered and Slight Rise in Price Would Place Foreign Product on Equal with Island Sugar in United States.

A new table has been issued by the New York sugar brokers advising the trade of a cut in the parity between Hamburg 38" beets and cane 94" raze. This change was unexpected, said A. M. Nowell, manager of the Sugar Factors' Company yesterday, and is a disadvantage to the Hawaiian trade, and decidedly in favor of the European beet sugar people. The former freight rate from Hamburg to New York on 38" beet raze was $2.70 per ton. Notification has been received of a cut in transatlantic freight rates to $1.02 per ton.

In addition to this Willitt & Gray's daily of March 5 notifies the trade of a reduction in values to refiners over and above freight and duty of twenty cents per ton. This makes a total reduction in the parity against the United States of $1.98 per ton in freight, twenty cents as a European price cut and $5.25 as a reduction in duties—a total of $9.50 per ton against Hawaii and in favor of the German growers. The reduction of $8.22 was expected.

The explanation of this unexpected cut of $1.98 in the parity, said Mr. Nowell is probably the result of a freight rate war on the Atlantic. "Of course, if there were any prospect of an equivalent reduction in freight rates on the Pacific," he said, "there would be no harm done, but so far as we know nothing of that sort is in sight."

Under the new parity German raw beets can be landed in New York when over the price of raw beets to 3.50, duty paid, on an equal basis with our sugar. The duty on raw beets now stands at 1.204 cents per pound, and raze landed f. o. b. New York without duty 2.26.

There is more danger of competition from refined beets than from raws. Mr. Nowell said that he did not know the exact cost of refining in Germany. In 1910 Willitt & Gray gave it at 2.97 per hundred pounds f. o. b. Hamburg, but since then there have been undoubtedly some reductions in cost of manufacture, he said.

Reliefers on Close Margin.

The American refiners have been operating at a loss for some time past. There must be a margin of at least sixty-five cents between raws and refined to make a profit out of the process. In February the margin was only fifty-seven cents, more or less, and it has been as low as forty-one cents. Now, under the new duty rate it is 35.7 cents which represents a good margin of profit. In 1912 the margin was 77.2 cents, and in 1913, 87.9 cents. The year 1912 was an extremely profitable one to the refiners. The margin has been as high as $1.15, and, in 1899, as low as fifty cents.

Good Natured Comedian Snapped by Camera Men As Sonoma Clears for Australia.

Standing on the gangplank of the steamer Sonoma in a driving rain, Harry Lauder, arrayed in kilts and decorated with leis and bouquets, posed patiently before a party of amateur and professional camera men, who intercepted him at the Oceanic Steamship Company's pier yesterday afternoon as Mrs. Lauder boarded the liner after the luncheon given in his honor at the Alexander Young Hotel.

After the picture taking operation Mr. Lauder and the members of his party took up positions along the rail and the greetings of the crowd that had gathered to see him depart. As the Royal Hawaiian band played Scotch airs that appealed to his sentiment he added his voice to the melody on the dock and among the passengers joining him in the choruses.

As the liner moved out of the slip at two o'clock the band played "Auld Lang Syne" amid the waving of handkerchiefs and the shouting of farewells. The comedian was easily the feature of the voyage from San Francisco according to his fellow passengers. The ship's company was also entertained by a party of vaudeville performers bound for Australia and there was not a dull moment aboard during the run, which aside from the social activities was without special incident. Among the entertainments given under the direction of Capt. J. H. Trank and Purser C. S. Pray were several special dinners and dances, including tango exhibitions by an instructor who was among the passengers.

The liner brought twenty-eight cabin and seven steerage passengers to Honolulu, and fifty-five first cabin, twenty-two second cabin and thirteen steerage passengers were on board when the vessel left for Australia and ports en route. It landed 440 tons of freight and 420 sacks of mail.

Some Sensational Developments Said to Be Due—Thielen Blame on McCarr.

Yesterday Mrs. George P. Thielen instituted action for divorce against her husband of only a few months, alleging habitual intemperance, extreme cruelty and non-support. The case is doubly interesting in that the petitioner's attorney is Jeff McCarr and this is his initial suit in the circuit court since he arrived to become United States district attorney. The suit is unexpected, inasmuch as Mr. Thielen has been making strenuous efforts to stave off divorce. News that the suit has been started, however, some sensational developments may be looked for.

Blamed McCarr.

"I regret very much that this has some about," said Mrs. Thielen yesterday, "because I am sorry to say that my wife is not mentally responsible for her actions. I have had her under observation by physicians and their reports are that she is mentally unsound. The allegations she brings in her divorce suit are only the results of her disordered mind. I have done everything possible for my wife and I would not speak of her as I now have to if these charges she brings against me were not public and I did not have to speak in self-defense."

MAYOR RECEIVES BOOK FROM ROCKEFELLER

On behalf of the Bureau of Social Hygiene of New York, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., chairman, has sent Mayor Fern a copy of Abraham Flexner's book, "Prostitution in Europe," just issued by the bureau. The book, accompanied by an autograph letter of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was received yesterday by the mayor who will after reading it, probably refer it to the detective department for future guidance.

HACK DRIVER FINED TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS

Frank Miller, driver of hack 197, who was arrested last Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Fort and King streets for reckless driving, was fined twenty-five dollars and twenty-five dollars in the police court yesterday by Judge McQuarrie.

RECOGNITION DEMANDED

(Continued from page one.) tend to do our hunting with a brass band. But it is not amies to say that the Democrats of Hawaii as represented by the Territorial Committee have become very tired of the delay in giving our patronage here and the utter disregard which the national organization has given to the endorsements of this committee.

"Poor Hawaii" Only Exception.

"It is safe to say that there is not a Democratic State organization in the Union with the exception of poor little Hawaii, but is first consulted and whose endorsements are required before appointments are made. Here in Hawaii right off the bat we have had a Republican Governor foisted on us by a Democratic administration, followed by the total ignoring of Democratic endorsements for the other patronage to which the Democrats of Hawaii are rightfully entitled. Wilson's mission to Washington will bring this condition to an issue and it will soon be known whether we are to be treated with contempt or given the recognition which we believe President Wilson rightfully owes us."

"An effort was made to bring up the Honolulu postmaster fight and stop if possible the threatened appointment of a Texas to the position which was so recently changed within the grasp of Chairman Rocke, but the latter, a month ago, announced that discussion of this question would be out of place at this time. Another meeting of the committee probably will be held before Johnny Wilson leaves for Washington."

Blamed McCarr.

"I took Doctor Herberg to Mr. McCarr when I learned that she had retained him to bring suit against me, and he informed the attorney that both he and another reputable physician had reached the conclusion, after careful investigation and observation, that my wife was not responsible for her actions or her words. I have been advised to place my wife under restraint, and I fear that I will have to do so. I have done everything that an honorable man could do to protect her, and I do not think that Mr. McCarr acted at all properly in going on with this divorce suit in the face of what he was told by Doctor Herberg. The allegations are absurd, as those who know me realize."

Blamed McCarr.

"Two other divorce suits were filed yesterday in the circuit court. Matahi Kanishige brings action against Sato Kanishige, alleging desertion and non-support, and Esther Pun wants her freedom from George Pun, also on the grounds of non-support. The Pun was married in Honolulu January 1, 1902, and have two sons—Samuel, six years of age, and James A., three years old. Mrs. Pun alleges that her husband is employed with the Honolulu fire department and is earning a salary of seventy dollars per month. The label in the divorce suit instituted by Adeline Van Giesen against Frank Van Giesen was returned to the clerk's office yesterday as served on the husband. The Van Giesens were married by Reverend Lorraine in Honolulu in the year 1907. Extreme cruelty of many degrees is the ground alleged for divorce. Mrs. Van Giesen in one of these allegations claiming that "in this particular your petitioner says that on the 4th of March, 1914, he did strike her with his closed fist with such force and violence as to close her left eye."
