

ROAD LABORERS RAISE ROW AND GET THEIR PAY

Mayor Fern's Scheme to Hold Up Wages Leads to Near Riot

SUPERVISORS GET BUSY WHEN WORKMEN STORM

Municipal Building Invaded By Mob and Democratic Bosses Scurry to Cover

A few facts on the desolate condition of the city's finances, which have been at the mercy of Democrats for twenty-one months.

Twenty thousand dollars spent for road laborers in October, against $8500 for same month in 1913.

No more appropriations can be passed.

Three-fourths of road laborers must be discharged immediately, or the supervisors will be exposed to charges of criminal proceedings for expending more money than available.

This means that not more than 110 laborers can be employed for maintenance work, and less than thirty-five on Kalakaua avenue.

More than 6000 men were paid off yesterday. They cost the city exactly $11,500, which is only for a half month. There is practically nothing to show for the "work" of these men.

The city is now impoverished and must go without any improvements because of the extravagance and high-handed manner in which the supervisors have squandered the taxpayers' money.

Facing an angry and threatening mob of road laborers, who threw down their picks and shovels yesterday morning and marched to the municipal building to demand their pay, and to prevent any further political tricks being practiced upon them, members of the board of supervisors held two hastily-called and illegal meetings yesterday morning, and in violation of the law passed payrolls amounting to $11,000—this, that they might escape themselves with the laborers for Mayor Fern's and their latest blunder and cheap political trick.

Early in the day, after the supervisors had read an article in the Advertiser which showed up the vicious plot concocted by Mayor Fern to prevent the laborers getting their money before election day, the supervisors rushed around, breathless, and called a special meeting to cure the blunder made by Fern when he told Supervisor Lester Petrie last Tuesday that he did not want the laborers paid today because if they were paid they would be "too drunk to vote" on election day.

Democrats Lose 900 Votes

On this turn of events it is safe to say Mayor Fern and the board of supervisors lost nine hundred votes. Little doubt of the truth of this prediction could exist in the minds of those who saw the large and ever-swelling crowd of laborers, who clogged the hallway of the municipal building, jeering and cursing at those, and requiring the presence of police officers to prevent damage being done to property.

They were snarling under the unfairness of the mayor's and board's action toward them, and the arrogant and inconsiderate treatment received by them at the hands of those Democratic officials. From early morning until late in the afternoon these laborers, whose number exceeded 800, beat a mighty tattoo with their feet, "in the hallway and on the steps of the building."

They did not pretend to be doing a day's work.

"Why should they?" it was asked. "Mayor Fern and the supervisors tried to double-cross them."

Laborers Demand Their Pay

By nine o'clock the laborers began to come to the municipal building. They demanded their pay. They proposed to stay there until they got it. Word of the stubborn attitude of the laborers was flashed to the supervisors; they decided that the men must be paid immediately, whether legally or illegally done. Their election depended on it.

Mayor Fern, they said, was responsible for the whole trouble. He had let it slip that he didn't want the men paid because they would be too drunk to vote; and then, not content with that blunder, Fern got up on the stump Saturday and said the laborers would have been paid but James Bicknell, city auditor, had refused to issue the warrants.

The absurdity of such a statement, of course, was apparent, for the auditor cannot issue a warrant until it is approved by the board, and the board had neglected to pass a payroll, and therefore no warrants existed to be held up. But the mayor's statement had an effect—a booming effect. It lit the mayor and board where they live.

Tried To Intimidate Auditor

And with this is revealed the cause of the hurried meetings yesterday, the desperate efforts of the board to "cover up."

They were going to pass that $11,000 payroll, legally or illegally, and whether the laborers were able to cash their warrants or not they were going to pass that payroll and slip the book to the auditor, so that they could go out on the sabbath and say they had done their part to give the laborers their money, but that Auditor Bicknell had fallen down. On its face it was a cunning and cheap trick, one that could be expected and perhaps even tolerated in some of the Latin-American peasant republics, but hardly in Honolulu where

SONOMA ARRIVES FROM THE COAST

Liner Sails in Afternoon for the Antipodes, via Pago Pago

The steamer Sonoma, with thirty-one first class and fifteen steerage passengers for Honolulu, arrived yesterday morning shortly after eight o'clock from San Francisco. The vessel had a large through passenger list and was filled with cargo for the Antipodes.

Officers aboard this vessel stated that the Japanese war vessels of this port were using their wireless apparatus almost constantly, day and night. The messages are all sent in Japanese code. Similar reports were given out on the steamer Siberia which arrived yesterday. It was learned aboard the latter vessel that several wireless messages were picked up which indicated that a British cruiser was in these waters. The call "T. V. Q." was sent in several times and was heard distinctly.

The Sonoma had a large number of American passengers aboard, who were touring Europe when the hostilities broke out.

H. J. Hatz is making his first trip as purser of the Sonoma. He was formerly storekeeper on the vessel.

The Sonoma sailed for the colonies via Pago Pago at three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Pacific Mail Liner Brings Cargo to Honolulu and Sails This Morning

With a capacity cargo, her holds filled to the hatch covers and 105 cabin passengers aboard, the Pacific Mail liner Siberia made port yesterday afternoon after a smooth and uneventful voyage from Yokohama.

Comment among the passengers aboard the Siberia were Mrs. C. K. Moser, wife of the American consul general at Colombo, who will make an extended visit to her home in the States.

Doctor Remsdorf, the German consul at Saigon, Indo-China. He is en route to Berlin.

Doctor E. C. Waterhouse returned from Singapore after an extended visit to his rubber estates there.

The Siberia has 847 tons of cargo for Honolulu and 6405 tons for San Francisco. She will sail for San Francisco this morning at nine o'clock, taking mainland mail and passengers.

TRIAL OF J. McCARN DRAWING TO CLOSE

J. McCarn's case probably will go to the jury in Judge Whitney's court late tomorrow afternoon. The defense closed its case yesterday morning.

McCarn was under cross-examination at the hands of City Attorney Gathart for almost an hour. Mrs. Marie Freitags and Mrs. Minnie Peter of Hilo refreshed their tales for the defense.

Their testimony was practically the same as that given in the first trial. J. B. Lightfoot, a son of the former chief counsel for McCarn, was also on the stand for the defense.

The half-pulling story was given again by Mrs. Freitags and Mrs. Peter related the story of the mysterious man still unidentified, who is alleged to have grabbed McCarn from the rear when McBride floored the district attorney.

After the defense closed the prosecution called J. Morton Riggs, foreman of the federal grand jury that indicted "General" McCarn, J. B. Galt and Albert E. Martin, the testimony of Riggs and Galt was in reference to the tale told by J. Wesley Thompson, McCarn's assistant, before the federal grand jury. Martin's testimony was calculated to rebut that of Conductor Darcy of the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Company, who testified that he had "heard McBride negotiate the federal court stairs in three jumps and hit the sidewalk with a thump."

The electorate is somewhat of a different character.

That was why those laborers, tricked by the board, threw down their picks and shovels, left the road when they had been employed because their vote was needed by the supervisors and mayor, and came to the municipal building, there to join in an anti-Democratic demonstration, which was plain and unequivocal in its meaning and import.

Men Were Paid By Bicknell

It was only by the remarkably fast work of Auditor Bicknell and his assistants, aided by clerks in the office of the county clerk, that these men got their warrants before night. All speed was exerted to pay them; and they were paid—thanks to the auditor.

Supervisors watched while Bicknell and his men exerted all speed to get the warrants out. In jamming the heavy payroll upon the auditor without warning, they had thought the auditor would be unable to make up the warrants, thus pleasing the mayor by not letting the laborers have their money. A "broke" and hungry voter, in the philosophy of his honor, is more reliable than one with coins jingling in his pockets.

Supervisors' Action Illegal

Under the county act and the rules of the board, a twenty-four hour notice must be given in writing by the mayor when he calls a special meeting of the board. Such a notice was not given by the mayor for yesterday's meeting, and for that reason the action of the supervisors is invalid, it is declared.

There was some talk yesterday of taking steps to prevent the treasurer cashing the warrants, but up to the time the office closed no such steps had been taken. These steps were threatened by several flagrant Democrats, who are in revolt against the party.

Sailing of Geier Officers Arouses Japanese Protest

Kenneth Craft of San Diego Fair Pleased With His Treatment Here

Just prior to the receipt of press advice in Honolulu yesterday, to the effect that four members of the crew of the German cruiser Geier had been arrested in San Francisco, the Japanese press took occasion to comment on the manner in which American neutrality questions are being handled here.

The following article is a translation from the yesterday's edition of the Hawaii Hochi:

"Four German officers, namely Egon Pretzel, Walter Sourbeck, Frederick Pabst and Paul Strobel, of the German cruiser Geier, which has been in port now for a long time on the alleged necessity of repairs, have been given certificates by the local immigration office allowing them to go to the United States."

"Although the manifest at the Hackfield office exposed to public inspection does not show it, the one filed at the customs office shows that these gentlemen already have sailed for San Francisco, where they are due in a day or two."

"As the officers are liable to be disarmed and detained here, and not allowed to participate in any hostile operations during the present war, in case of internment of the gunboat is decided upon, the nations at war with Germany have an interest in the whereabouts of these officers. We believe that the United States will exercise a most vigilant supervision over their movements so that they may not return to Germany or escape to one of her dominions or her ships."

"Further, it is a grave question of international law whether the permission given these German officers to leave Honolulu at all is not a violation of neutral duties."

Washington Advice Says Naval Office Has Given Order

WASHINGTON, November 3.—(Associated Press by Commercial Pacific Cable)—Unofficial announcement was made here yesterday of the belief of the navy department that the repairs to the German cruiser Geier have progressed to such a point that Captain Bashoff must now elect whether his ship is to run the gauntlet of the Japanese warships of Honolulu harbor or intern the Geier for the period of the war.

NEWS TO LOCAL AUTHORITIES

This cabled dispatch from Washington reached The Advertiser yesterday afternoon and its text was transmitted to Collector Franklin, who took a copy of the message. Neither the collector nor anyone in authority would make a statement as to whether any word had come officially from Washington or not, but the interest displayed in The Advertiser cable appeared to indicate that what it contained was news to the local officials directly interested in maintaining the neutrality of the port.

No Signs of Activity

Up to a late hour last night there was no sign of activity about the little German cruiser, whose stay in this port will either come to a sudden end within a comparatively few hours or will be kept up under a new status until the warring Powers of Europe fight their last battle and sign their peace treaties.

Outside the harbor the battleship Hizen and the cruiser Asama are maintaining their watch of the harbor entrance, while launches from the two patrol up and down the coast, outside the three-mile limit.

The Hizen last night was standing out, well to the south, her place opposite the harbor channel being taken by the Asama.

Thols Keeps Up Patrol

Between the rim washings and the shore the revenue cutter Tholis is patrolling, with her launch and a navy department launch out. Launches and sampans leaving the harbor after dark are all stopped and the occupants questioned.

What may have been a signal to the Asama was noted about an hour after dark last night, two rockets streamed up from the western end of the harbor.

Geier Expected to Intern

The general opinion about town is that the Geier will intern, it being generally conceded that to venture outside the safety zone now with two powerful vessels on the lookout, would be suicidal folly. On the other hand, there are some who believe that Captain Bashoff will take the hundred-ton chance. That he must choose very soon is made plain in the message received yesterday by The Advertiser.

SLAYER OF JAPANESE GETS LONG SENTENCE

Azupita Paz, charged with the murder of Kawasima, a Japanese junk peddler, at Moanaha, October 8, was sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for twenty-five years, by Judge Ashford yesterday.

The Filipino has been on trial before a jury for several days past. He pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree. The prosecution put on its case and closed it, and the defense opened its side with a number of witnesses testifying to Paz' lack of responsibility, on the score that he was not quite sane.

Senator James L. Cooke, who had been appointed by Judge Ashford to defend the murderer, offered to change the plea of not guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree. The court accepted the offer and the jury returned a verdict of guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree. The court sentenced the murderer to a term of twenty-five years in the penitentiary.

Kenneth Craft of San Diego Fair Pleased With His Treatment Here

"I am leaving Honolulu tomorrow, but I am coming back again because this is the greatest city in the world," said Kenneth Craft, in charge of the Hawaii connection at the San Diego Panama-California exposition, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Craft has been here for four weeks making arrangements for vast quantities of Hawaiian products to be sent there, and contracting with fifty-four native singers and dancers, including Ernest Kaah, who are to spend the entire year, beginning January 1, at the San Diego fair.

"When the exposition is over, I am coming back with my wife and we are going to stay here for some time. I have never had more pleasant business experiences anywhere," said Mr. Craft.

"I came here thinking I would have to stay six weeks, but I am getting away in four. For the time saved, I have to thank Mr. Wood of the promotion committee, the committee itself and several civic bodies. They have all done everything possible for me. Business Men Cooperate

"I can say the same of the business men. They are real businessmen, ready to do business with you without any unnecessary delays, and anxious, at the same time, to be of any service to you they can."

"Let me cite an instance. I wanted to get 200 young pines to plant in the interior garden-cape part of the concession. I went to James Dole of the Hawaiian Pineapple company to buy them. He not only insisted on giving them to me, but shipped them for me."

"I am going to have three quiet clubs, headed by Ernest Kaah. They will be there all the time. One quest will be seen in an outrigger canoe under the entrance bridge at Cabrilla lake, the moonlight streaming upon her sides, she sing; or, in the absence of the moon, the less nomadic searchlight."

"Lionel Walden is giving me the color effects and I am taking photographs back with me of local scenes, so that the scenic effect may be reproduced exactly. Hawaii Building a Feature

"We are spending a fortune on Hawaii's building there, and we are sure it will be a big success. The entrance to the building shows old Kilauea in action—lava streaming down her sides. On entering, one comes to the area known as modern Hawaii. Here articles and tables are scattered about. The scene is typically Hawaiian. Even the pungent scent of the awa pulu flowers will greet one there."

"At these tables Hawaiian fruits will be served—Kona coffee, pine juice, etc. Concealed behind shrubbery, native singers will be heard singing their Hawaiian songs."

E. C. WATERHOUSE HOME FOR VISIT

Dr. E. C. Waterhouse, who left Honolulu for Singapore a year ago, arrived on the Siberia yesterday and will visit here for two or three months. He is heavily interested in the Selama-Rimbings plantation in the Malay Peninsula, and has spent most of his time superintending operations there.

However, since leaving Hawaii he has also visited and inspected many of the East Indian coconut and rubber plantations.

Selama-Rimbings has 2500 acres of planted coconuts and 1000 acres of rubber. Doctor Waterhouse said last night that the copra industry looked promising, especially where the trees were cultivated.

The war created a flurry and many plantations all through the Malay Peninsula and Southern Asiatic region generally found difficulty in financing their operations.

The first effects of war are now safely passed, and business is going on in Singapore about as it was before the hostilities commenced.

AD WOLGAST SAYS HE BROKE HIS RIGHT ARM

NEW YORK, November 3.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire)—Freddie Welsh, champion lightweight pugilist of the world was given a decision over Ad Wolgast, former champion here tonight in the ninth round.

Wolgast raised his right arm in this round saying he had broken a bone in the member and the referee then stopped the fight and declared Welsh the winner.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH CONTRACT IS LET

The trustees of the Christian Church met yesterday and decided on the acceptance of the Pacific Engine Company's bid. The contracts are now being drawn. The trustees decided on a single board floor in the auditorium and concrete floors in the vestibules and corridors. Work is to begin at once.

HAWAII'S OFFERING TO CHRIS MASER WILL BE SENT SOON

First Installment of Money Contributed by Children to Be Forwarded Thursday

On Thursday the first installment of the funds collected for Christmas gifts by the children of Hawaii for the children of stricken Europe is to be cabled to Washington.

In response to a Memorandum sent to William C. Redfish, secretary of commerce of the United States, on Saturday, by Mrs. C. Montague Cooke Jr., the following reply was received yesterday:

"Lili Leffer Cooke, Honolulu.—Cable money Christmas Editor Evening Star, Washington. Jason leaves New York November tenth.

"Havenor, Chief Clerk."

Committee Extends Thanks

The committee wishes to thank individually every child that has contributed so generously to the children's Christmas in the war zone, and further wishes to announce that the money will be cabled to Washington on Thursday evening of this week.

All money received after that time will be sent by Miss M. M. Catton, treasurer of the Christmas fund, through this same committee, to the impoverished Belgians. Some donations have already been sent in designated for this fund.

The entire amount cabled to Washington to go on the Christmas ship Jason will be announced later in these columns.

Belongs Hawaii To Fore

The sending forward of the Christmas offering from Hawaii this week shows that the efforts of the committee headed by Mrs. W. L. Emory have placed these Islands on the list of American communities responding with prompt generosity to the call of distress from far countries.

The offerings contributed by the Belgians already cover the field for which another movement was started in New York last month, known as the Dollar Christmas Fund. A committee, consisting of several men of national prominence, has sent out appeals for a dollar donation by all the charitable inclined to form a part of their Christmas offerings. Henry Clevs, the New York banker, is treasurer for this fund.

England Is Active

A similar movement is under way in England, where the arrival of the Belgian refugees has caused a full realization of their pitiable condition. The letter received from the secretary of this movement says in part:

"This dollar Christmas fund appeals to one and all, irrespective of creed or race, and more especially to those who have not yet contributed to any existing fund. It is in complete sympathy with every other appeal in behalf of Belgian refugees, and differs from other appeals only in the sense that the total sum received will be forwarded as a special Christmas contribution from the people of this country to the destitute people of Belgium, an expression of sympathy with sorrow from one people to another and a tangible proof that Christmas goodwill, even in these days of strife and bloodshed, has not disappeared from the earth."

Millions Are Destitute

It is estimated that close upon two million people with breaking hearts have fled from their country, leaving shattered homes and hopes behind. The flight of the innocent, the unfortunate, the women and children, the aged and helpless, from their fatherland presents one of the most agonizing and appalling pictures of human misery in the annals of history, ancient or modern. Tens of thousands have already found a home in England; other thousands are in Holland, and still other unnumbered thousands are wandering in France. The record of misery compiled from imperfect statistics is still far from complete, but it may be said with absolute truth that despite all governmental assistance and private charity in Europe there are still many thousands of families in actual want. And the number tends rather to increase than diminish. It is for these distressed ones we make special appeal to one and all to send a dollar—more if you are able—a special Christmas gift from America. Such a gift will surely be remembered by the beneficiaries long after the war has ceased, and no man's Thanksgiving or Christmas Day will be the less happy because in some cases the gift may entail some measure of personal sacrifice."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO ACT

Tomorrow morning at ten o'clock the chamber of commerce will hold a special meeting to consider ways and means of assisting in the movement for the relief of the starving Belgians, in response to the following entreaty:

"Chamber of Commerce, Honolulu: Have received cable from committee London requesting shipment food relief starving Belgians. We are raising fund here for this purpose and urgently request your active cooperation in this grave emergency.

"CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, SAN FRANCISCO."

WELLER DID NOT RUN INTO SILVA'S MACHINE

Following an investigation by Traffic Officer Perry, in which several witnesses were examined, the official said last night that the collision which occurred between an automobile driven by H. B. Weller and a car driven by A. Silva on Friday morning was accidental. The Weller car skidded into the Silva car. Weller agreed to settle all damages.
