

DEFENSE OF GERMANS EVERYWHERE BROKEN BY SLAYS IN POLAND

Russians Practically Have Cleared Their Territory In Battle Zone of Teutons and Austrians, Latter Invaders Being Driven Over Line Towards Cracow

PETROGRAD, November 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—As a result of the operations of the past three weeks Poland is now practically cleared of Germans and Austrians, according to an official announcement made yesterday.

Everywhere the German defensive has been broken, while the Austrians who had taken up a position at Sandomir, on the Galician border, where the Vistula cuts the boundary line, have been driven out and back across the line towards Cracow.

GERMANS FALL BACK RAPIDLY

A rather sudden change is reported in the situation on the East Prussian frontier.

Following the German attack upon the Russian fortified line, which was defeated, the Germans assumed a strong defensive attitude, resisting the Russian advance towards Allenstein.

Yesterday the defensive ceased and the German corps began falling back rapidly.

On the left, particularly, the resistance of the Germans appears broken and the retreat became almost precipitous, the Russians throwing the remnants back vigorously upon Biala and Lyck, both well within the Prussian border.

"Our troops captured Bakalarjevo, taking much arms and ammunition and imprisoning one German company," says the official report.

RETREAT TOWARDS SILESIA CONTINUES

On the left of the Vistula the German retreat towards the Silesian frontier is continuing, while the Austro-German line is rapidly being shortened, as the falling back upon Cracow continues.

The Russian advance south on the left bank of the Vistula has reached Sandomir, a city of considerable strategic importance and a position where the Austrians had entrenched themselves.

The advance was too strong for the defenders, however, and they were driven out.

This allows the straightening out of the Russian line, the troops occupying Jaroslau and investing Przemysl being now brought into touch with the main Russian army.

'No Developments,' Says Berlin

BERLIN, November 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—"There are no material developments in the east," says an official announcement of the situation yesterday.

From Vienna an official statement has been received which says that the Austrians have retired upon prepared positions, the situation otherwise being unchanged.

GENERAL TREATY VIOLATED

NEW YORK, November 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Robert Bacon, former secretary of state, says that Germany, in violating the neutrality of Belgium, not only disregarded the general treaty providing for the neutrality of that country, which had been signed with France and Great Britain, but violated as well the treaty made with the United States, when Articles One and Two of the Second Hague conference were signed by the representatives of Germany and America.

These sections, the former secretary of state points out, expressly bind the signatories to hold inviolate the territory of neutrals.

Mr. Bacon gave an interview to the press along these lines yesterday, on the eve of sailing for England.

WELLESLEY KILLED IN ACTION

LONDON, November 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Captain Lord Richard Wellesley, great-great-grandson of the Duke of Wellington, victor at Waterloo, has been killed in action on Belgian soil, within seventy miles of the historic plains upon which his forebear won imperishable renown as a soldier.

Had he lived, Lord Wellesley would have inherited the dukedom and the great estate of nearly twenty thousand acres which the British government presented to the first duke. The title will now descend to an infant son.

Lord Wellesley was thirty-eight years old and served with the Grenadier Guards during his early years in the army. When the Earl of Ranfurly served as governor general of New Zealand, Lord Wellesley was with him as aide de camp.

The famous name lead the list of the officers killed, wounded and missing as posted yesterday in the casualty list up to October 30. The list includes the names of twenty officers killed and forty-five wounded.

WASHINGTON, November 5.—(Associated Press by Commercial Cable)—It was announced yesterday by the State Department that a date had been set for the completion of repairs to the German cruiser Geier, now at Honolulu, and that the vessel must either leave the harbor or intern on that date. The department declines to state what date has been fixed upon.

FORTY THOUSAND MEN UNDER ARMS

Canada Will Have This Number in Training Till the War Ends

OTTAWA, October 19.—An official announcement issued by Sir Robert Borden tells that it is the intention of the government to keep under arms until the end of the war 40,000 men for the defence of Canada and, in addition, to maintain 20,000 men under training as soon as arms, guns, etc., can be provided for a force of 40,000 men. The force will be organized in four divisions, the first consisting of a second line force. Thereupon additional men will be trained so as to keep the number under training continuously at 20,000. This process will continue from time to time, that is to say as soon as an arm force of 10,000 is despatched to Britain, a new force of 10,000 will be organized to take its place and to bring the number in training up to 20,000.

It is expected that the first force of 10,000 men will be despatched in December and thereafter at regular intervals similar forces will be continuously sent, followed as rapidly as they can be armed and equipped.

Including the forces on garrison and outpost duty Canada will then have under arms or in training about 40,000 men in Canada and until the end of the war or until the war office advises, a steady stream of reinforcements will go forward to the seat of war.

Pending advice from the war office as to the composition of the second contingent, which have not been received, 20,000 will be immediately organized and the organization of infantry units will be proceeded with throughout the Dominion from Halifax to Victoria.

City Needs Government Lot On Smith Street For Fire Station

Unless the business men of Honolulu look alive and take steps to prevent it, Land Commissioner Joshua D. Tucker will sell at public auction December 1st a government remnant on Smith street near Bush that has recently been reserved for many years as a new and much needed fire station.

This remnant, which contains 6177 square feet, has been fenced by the supervisors and has been used for a number of years by the members of the fire department.

No Deed Recorded

It was the impression of many business men that this land belonged to the city. Recent surveys by the land department have developed the fact that title to this site and other lands in the Territory. At one of their recent meetings the board of land commissioners approved the sale of the Smith street lot at public auction.

The insurance agents are sore at the loss of the lot. One of the leading fire insurance agents stated yesterday that the sale of this land at public auction is a serious matter.

"The insurance agents are sore at the loss of the lot. One of the leading fire insurance agents stated yesterday that the sale of this land at public auction is a serious matter.

"This matter was at one time referred to the fire committee of the present board of supervisors but so far as we are concerned no action was ever taken or report rendered.

"The fire chief has repeatedly recommended that a new truck house be built on the Smith street property. Chinatoway has little enough fire protection now. If the government sells this lot the city will have to buy another fire house site in the same vicinity later and probably at a much higher price than would be realized for this land at any public auction."

Supervisors Asleep

"It is going to be needed," he said. "While there is no deed on file it is believed that tentative action" was taken by one of the former superintendents of public works and there ought to be a letter on file to show that this land was to be reserved for this purpose.

"The whole matter has been referred to Attorney-General Stainback for a legal opinion on several points about which question has arisen.

"It was anticipated from the first that the project would encounter numerous difficulties and that it would be quite awhile before it would assume anything like definite shape. It is a big thing, with many ramifications, and it will be necessary for the plantation and government to compromise on many features before it can be put through."

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE NOT BEHIND M'GARR

Suspended Federal Attorney Is Acquitted By Jury

J. McGarr is not guilty of an assault with a deadly weapon upon C. H. McBride. This was the verdict rendered yesterday by Judge Whitney's court by the jury which sat at McGarr's second trial. The case went to the jury at a quarter to eleven o'clock yesterday morning. Fifteen minutes later the jurors filed back into court and returned a verdict of not guilty and McGarr was discharged.

There was no argument offered by either City Attorney Cleburne or J. McGarr. McGarr's new chief counsel, the one going to the jury, merely with the instructions from the court.

Following the termination of the case, it was reported that supporters of McGarr were circulating a petition for his retention as district attorney. It was stated that Rev. J. W. Wadman was actively engaged in seeking signatures to the petition. George W. Paty said last night that the petition was not originated by Mr. Wadman.

"The story that the petition in favor of McGarr is being fathered by the Anti-Saloon League is not correct," Mr. Paty told The Advertiser last night. "Individual members of the league may sign it, but that does not say that the organization is back of it."

Honolulu Should Not Wait For Horse To Be Stolen Before Locking Stable Door

Honolulu needs more and better fire protection. The fire department has had absolutely no new equipment for two years. Notwithstanding the repeated recommendations made by the fire chief that all horse-drawn apparatus be discarded and motor-driven apparatus substituted therefor, the supervisors have successfully blocked all needed improvements along these lines.

Honolulu is growing rapidly. The past two years has seen over $1,000,000 worth of new buildings of all classes erected in this city but fire protection has not kept pace with the needs of property owners.

During 1913 there were losses totaling over $20,000 on residences in outlying districts which might have been prevented had the department been provided with motor-trucks, engines and hose carts. Horse-drawn fire engines are too slow. The value of organized fire protection depends on the ability of a fire company to get water on a blaze as soon after it starts as possible. Time saved getting to a fire is money saved to the owner of the endangered property.

There should be new fire stations and new automobile fire engines, hook and ladder trucks, and hose carts in Kaimuki, Collage Hills, Waikiki, Nuuanu and Kalihi. As long as this growing city lacks adequate fire protection the property owners pay for the lack in increased insurance premiums.

One of the insurance agents stated yesterday that in the event of any big fire in Honolulu the present engine capacity would only allow the use of eight streams of water and that this might be absolutely inadequate. It is bad enough, he said, to have an insufficient number of hydrants throughout the city and it is entirely unnecessary to wait for a big fire before putting in the needed fire stations and buying new equipment.

Lihue Plantation Balks At Governor's Scheme For New Kapaa Railway

The Garden Island states that "as was fully to be expected, the plan for a railroad from Nawiliwili landing to the home-steads north of Kapaa struck a snag last week, almost as soon as the matter was taken up by the Governor.

"From all accounts the Governor insisted that the Lihue Plantation Company surrender the lease to the lands involved in the project, which has four years more to run, and that the new lease for the property be put up at auction. That suggestion was regarded by the Lihue Plantation people as unreasonable, and favorable consideration of it was refused.

"The Governor has, however, repeatedly expressed himself as favorable to the general scheme, and the chances are quite good that a satisfactory basis of arrangement will eventually be arrived at.

"The whole matter has been referred to Attorney-General Stainback for a legal opinion on several points about which question has arisen.

"It was anticipated from the first that the project would encounter numerous difficulties and that it would be quite awhile before it would assume anything like definite shape. It is a big thing, with many ramifications, and it will be necessary for the plantation and government to compromise on many features before it can be put through."

AUGUSTUS HEINZE DIES SUDDENLY

Former Montana Copper King Collapses After Casting His Ballot While in

He Made Millions in Mines and Had Tumultuous Financial Career

SARATOGA, New York, November 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Augustus Heinze, the Copper King, is dead. He came here on Tuesday to vote, despite the orders of his physicians that he was not physically in condition to travel. Shortly after casting his ballot he collapsed, death coming last night.

Fritz Augustus Heinze was born in Brooklyn, New York, in 1859, and received a thorough technical education. At the age of eighteen he went to Montana and entered the employ of the Boston and Montana Company as a surveyor. Some time after he came West to work as a surveyor he discovered a process for taking copper from low-grade ore which promised to greatly reduce the cost of finished product. He went East, and after almost a year of hard and discouraging work, secured the money necessary to build an independent smelter in which to develop his process. His smelter proved so successful that soon he was able to buy two good mines, thus defeating the plans of the men who were attempting to drive him out of business. Since that time Heinze has been almost continually in litigation.

A short time ago he became involved in an attempt to corner the copper market and was, with his associates, investigated by the federal authorities, the investigation resulting in indictments for conspiracy.

He was a multimillionaire and during his residence in Montana he took a prominent part in politics as a Democrat, at a time when Senator Clark, Marcus Daly and other mining magnates shaped the destinies of the State.

British Admiralty Unable to Confirm Reported Defeat of British Squadron Off Coast of Chile---Battle Rages Off English Coast--Russian Fleet Menaced

LONDON, November 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—The Admiralty is unable to confirm the reported defeat of the British squadron by the Germans off the coast of Chile. Reports received here yesterday say the German armored cruiser Yorck was blown up by a submarine mine in Jedo Bay and sunk. Out of a complement of 557 a total of 382 members of her crew are reported saved.

The Yorck is a twenty-one knot vessel of 9050 tons, and carried four eight-and-two-tenths inch guns in her main battery. GERMAN CRUISER DISABLED IN ACTION

The London Times has a report that the German cruiser Koenigsberg, a twenty-three-knot vessel of 3400 tons, carrying ten four-and-one-tenth-inch guns in her main battery, has been disabled in an action in the Indian Ocean.

The skipper of a steam drifter confirms the reports that four German dreadnoughts and cruisers took part in the naval engagement on Tuesday off the east coast of England. He says the firing on the British torpedo gunboat Halcyon, a 1000-ton vessel carrying six small guns and five torpedo tubes, lasted fifteen minutes, and that two British submarines pursued the Germans when they drew off.

Three German Cruisers Coaling

The Leipzig and the Dresden are watching the British cruiser Glasgow and the transport Otranto, which escaped to the harbor of Talcahuano and are bottled up there. It is supposed they will intern.

Accounts of the battle on Monday off Coronel, Chile, say that the superior range of the guns of the Scharnhorst and Gisenau enabled them to open fire on the British warships two miles beyond the range of the British guns. When the British ships showed visible signs of the punishment from the German guns, all the German cruisers drew in to closer range.

The Germans declare that the British fought heroically. ALLIES PROGRESS SLIGHTLY
