

SURRENDER OF TSINGTAU CARRIED NO CONDITIONS

German Commandant and All Defenders Who Have Not Been Captured Will Give Themselves Up To Allies

TOKYO, November 9.—(Associated Press by Commercial Cable).—The surrender of Tsingtau by the Germans is understood to have been virtually unconditional.

The German commandant and those of the defenders who had not been captured when the final assault was stopped by the display of the white flag, will be surrendered to the captors on the morning of the tenth, when the terms of the capitulation become effective.

When the captors entered the city it was found that every ship in the harbor had either been sunk during the bombardment, or blown up by the Germans themselves.

In this city and throughout Japan the celebration of the victory continues. The press and the public speakers remind the people that Great Britain has a full share in the credit for the capture of Tsingtau, and the British flag is much in evidence and the populace cheer the British.

TOKYO, November 9.—(Special by cable to the Hawaii Shingo and Nippo Jiji).—There is a great demonstration of joy by the people over the successes of the Japanese arms at Tsingtau. The entire city is decorated and a lantern parade has been organized for tonight.

Reports from different points throughout the Empire state that there is general rejoicing, especially in the districts from which the troops of the victorious army were drawn.

PRISONERS NUMBER 2300

Further details regarding the final assault which ended in the capture of the German fortress say that in the fighting which began at midnight, on the sixth instant, and ended early the next morning, 2300 Germans were taken prisoners.

The Japanese loss was fourteen officers wounded, two sub-officers killed, and 426 soldiers wounded.

Negotiations for the German surrender were opened at fifty minutes past seven o'clock on the morning of the seventh, after the attacking forces had captured all the defenses of the city. All the Japanese demands were acceded to by the Germans and the fighting ceased with the Japanese in full possession.

The Japanese and German representatives will meet again at ten o'clock on the morning of the ninth instant to discuss the arrangements for the final transfer of the captured possession to the Japanese. The arrangements made at this conference will go into effect at ten o'clock on the tenth, the following morning.

The Japanese government announces that Lieutenant General Kanio, commander of the Tsingtau expedition, will be appointed governor of the captured province while it remains in the possession of the Japanese.

BOTH SIDES CLAIM ADVANTAGE IN WAR INVOLVING RUSSIA

Vienna and Berlin Report Slavs Are Being Beaten Or Pressed Back Everywhere

PETROGRAD ANNOUNCES COLLAPSE OF INVASION

Army of Czar Penetrates German Territory And Does Damage To Railway

LONDON, November 9.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—Reports of the situation in East Prussia, Poland and Galicia, coming from Russian and from German and Austrian sources, are utterly at variance.

The brief official announcements from Vienna and Berlin say that the Russians are being everywhere defeated or pressed back, while the Russian official reports indicate continual progress in every theater of operation.

INVASIONS HAVE COLLAPSED

That the German invasion of Poland has ended in defeat, as previously reported by the Russians, is further indicated by the official announcement from Petrograd yesterday.

This applies also to the Austrian offensive movement in Galicia which was reported in the Vienna announcements to have been a general success.

Continuing the accounts of the routing of the German invaders in Poland, Petrograd announced yesterday:

"Our cavalry penetrated German territory on the left bank of the Vistula, west of Lodz.

RAILWAY IS DAMAGED

"We have damaged the railway at that place, northwest of Kalisz. On the eastern frontier we have dislodged the Germans in the region of Wirballen, and are pressing them back along the line.

"We continue the offensive in Galicia. On the San river we have captured 125 officers and 12,000 soldiers."

STEAMER LOST ON ROCKS

Finds Choy Suey Restaurant Running At Full Blast With Plenty of Beer

At San, one of the proprietors of a chop suey house in Hotel street, near Maunakea, was arrested at an early hour yesterday morning by License Inspector William Fennell and charged with selling liquor without a license.

According to Inspector Fennell, it has been the custom of the proprietors of this resort to serve beer with the meals sold in the place. When Fennell would arrive on the scene, the wily Celestials would innocently declare that they had purchased the beer for the thirsty diner at a nearby saloon.

On Saturday night Fennell waited until the saloons were closed and then sent in one of his assistants to purchase a meal and incidentally to order a bottle of beer to wash down the toothsome delicacies. Fennell dropped in on the assembled diners after one o'clock yesterday morning and found the joint running full blast. At every table were bottles of beer and the partially intoxicated diners were holding high revel.

When questioned as to the sale of the beer to Inspector Fennell's assistant, Ah Sam, resorted to his usual dodge by stating that he had bought the beer at a neighboring saloon. When it was demonstrated to him that the beer in question had been purchased long after the saloons were closed, Ah Sam admitted his guilt and was taken to the police station, where he was later released upon furnishing cash bail. His case will be heard in the police court this morning.

NEW YORK, November 9.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—The Mexican information bureau here is said to have received a telegram from Carranza, reporting that General Gutierrez had been imprisoned by Villa for refusing to be dominated by the latter. Carranza accuses Villa of having forced Gutierrez to accept the provisional presidency at the Aguas Calientes convention.

REPRESENTATIVE M. M. KANIHO

REPRESENTATIVE KANIHO IS DEAD OF APOPLEXY

Representative M. M. Kanio died at his home, Bishop Lane, off Kuahini street, shortly after four o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was stricken with apoplexy Thursday. The funeral will take place from the undertaking parlors of M. E. Silva Sunday afternoon, tomorrow to take place in the Puuhakamali cemetery, rear of the insane asylum.

Kanio was born in Kohala, Hawaii, and was about fifty years of age. He was a Mormon elder and preached in Kohala and later, since his removal to Honolulu, in the Mormon church, Luma street. He leaves a wife.

The deceased was one of the best known politicians of his day in the Territory. As a Home Ruler he was for many years unshakable in the West Hawaii section of the Big Island, which he represented during several terms in the house of representatives. He was defeated, however, in 1910, shortly after which he moved to Honolulu. There he became a Democrat, being one of the last to forsake the original Hawaiian Home Rule party. Kanio was elected on the Democratic ticket in 1912 to the house of representatives from the fifth district and served in the 1913 term. He was defeated in the election last Tuesday.

Kanio was rated among the Hawaiians as a stump speaker and orator of great ability, second only to S. L. Dole, now senator-elect from the island of Hawaii.

Enough Rock On Hand To Finish Contract, Says Contractor

Work on the construction of the Hilo breakwater will be resumed soon, according to word received here yesterday from Hilo.

Contractor Marshall, who is handling the work on the big undertaking, says that he will resume the work within a few weeks, hauling the heavy rock required for the breakwater from Waipi'o Valley, sixty miles from Hilo. Marshall says that he has at hand enough rock, without requiring any quarrying, not only to complete his section of the contract but to finish the whole breakwater.

Work on the breakwater was suspended some weeks ago when a large rock-carrying scow was wrecked during a storm, while on its way with rock from Hilo to Waipi'o. The scow cost originally $37,000 and was built especially for this work. At the time of being wrecked it had machinery aboard valued at several thousand dollars. The lower picture above shows wreckage of the scow on the rocks at Waipi'o, with the surf breaking on the coast.

Marshall is building a breakwater at Waipi'o for the purpose of protecting the work of hauling the rock scows at that point. The breakwater already extends 100 feet into the sea. It will be 400 feet long. Within the protection afforded by this breakwater the scows will be safely loaded with the rock for the long haul to Hilo.

KAMAUNA PORTUGUESE IS KILLED BY A HORSE

Jose Medeiros, a kamauna, Portuguese resident of Maui, was injured fatally when his horse slipped and fell on him at the railroad crossing in Hamakua, Maui, recently. He was taken to the Paha hospital, but his injuries were so serious that he died the next evening.

Medeiros, who lived in Kealahou, was on his way to visit friends in Hamakua, at the time of the accident. He was riding a young horse, which became excited while crossing the railroad tracks, slipped and fell on the aged rider.

The dead man was about sixty years old, and had lived on Maui more than thirty years. He leaves a large family of children.

Mrs. Marian Dowsett, the accomplished Hawaiian singer, who has been living on the coast for some time, was married to Nephil Forrest of Fresno, California, according to private advices from San Francisco.

The wedding was a quiet family affair attended only by immediate relatives and was held at the groom's home at Berkeley.

The Forests left immediately for their ranch, which is a short distance from Fresno.

DEMOCRATS YAP LOUD FOR JOBS

City and County Patronage Having Been Cut Off, They Turn To Governor

BUT CHIEF EXECUTIVE HEEDS WARNING OF G. O. P.

Result is That Government Employed Are Reasonably Sure of Positions

(From Monday Advertiser.)

Panahi street has thrown off its after-election smog. That smog, and "hunger maddened" Democratic row, sent to its mourning on the Republican landslide, has aroused itself and a new and mighty job-howl is going up.

Disappointed for awhile over its humiliating defeat, Panahi street is silent from mourning for a few days, but now it is beginning to roar again—the voices of Democratic eccentrics are heard making demands for jobs.

Beaten in election, with practically their entire county administration swept away, these Democrats who are known by the name of the street in which they assemble, have horded themselves together to make a new descent on Governor Pinkham, demanding "patronage."

What reception they will be given by Governor Pinkham may be forecast from his reported declaration to Republicans, which in substance was that he would neither himself nor would he allow members of his cabinet to "discharge without cause" any employee of the government, that room might be made for the hungry Panahi street herd, or others.

He made this statement, it is said, at the time Col. Charles J. McCarthy took office as territorial treasurer. A report was current then that McCarthy was going to make a clean sweep of all the one hundred or more Republican employment under him.

With McCarthy no doubt in mind when he made the statement that no discharges were to be made without cause, Panahi street is plainly and outspokenly displeased with the governor's stand, and it plans to unite its strength to dislodge him from it, and oblige him to distribute more "patronage."

Only Chance For Job

Here is their only chance for a political job. It's gone, and they say it is all over—only the sack-cloth left. The supervisors could not give them jobs if they wished, for the supervisors went under in the Republican wave that took the other Democrats, and since Panahi street is out to make terms with the Governor, unpleasant as it may be.

Pinkham has said and written on more occasions than one his dislike and disapproval of the element of his party that is stigmatically referred to as Panahi street. He said he didn't want to have anything to do with them, and despite the fact that the Governor and the Legislature are credited with having a reunion, a forgive-and-forget session after election, the chief executive is still thought to like Panahi street like a hantam rooster likes a mongoose.

One Man 'Fired' Thus Far

McCarthy has so far fired only one man—Cupid Frank M. Barre, and since the Governor's statement that there were to be no "discharges without cause" it has appeared unlikely that McCarthy will hurt much in making changes, and possibly will not make any at all.

Several prominent persons interested in good government and opposed to the "spoils system" where it interferes with good government, are said to have passed the hint to Governor Pinkham that the next legislature will feel very unkindly toward him if he allows McCarthy or any other members of his cabinet to do "clean sweeping."

The next legislature being strongly Republican, the chief executive's measure would be held up, and his appointments left unconfirmed.

PHYSICIAN FINED FOR NOT REPORTING CASE

Dr. W. Taketa, a Japanese physician in Honolulu, Hamakua, Hawaii, was fined fifty dollars and court costs last week by Judge Henry Hall, district magistrate of that district, for failing to report to the board of health authorities the death of a patient from a contagious disease—typhoid fever.

Up to Saturday there were twenty typical cases at Panahi, ten miles from Honolulu. The death reported from the disease also occurred at Panahi. The board of health authorities have been conducting an investigation and it is said that the infection cannot be traced to the water supply of the section, as is usual in epidemics of this nature. It is believed that the infection has been spread in some other manner.

The patients are mostly Japanese, but there are a few Hawaiian and white patients now down with the fever.

Dr. W. Taketa is explaining to reason for his failure to report is said to have told Judge Hall, through an interpreter, that he did not know such cases had to be reported to the board of health. The physician does not speak English. He is, however, a smart German scholar, having received his medical education in Germany.

GERMANS, WITH AUSTRIAN ARTILLERY, HAVE RETIRED

They Abandon Desperate Efforts In France To Break Through Adamant Lines of Allies, Assuming Defensive

LONDON, November 9.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—There is a change in the situation in France, according to the reports received here last night.

Both in the east and in the west the Germans with their Austrian artillery have fallen back on the defensive. They have abandoned, at least for the present, their desperate efforts to break through the Allies' line around Ypres, where the Germans sacrificed a tremendous number of men.

ALLIES ASSUME OFFENSIVE

As soon as the commanders of the Allies perceived that the vigor of the German attack was lessening, they assumed an energetic offensive and are now making a determined attack against the worn troops on their front.

The reports from France last night said that the Allies had taken some of the ground held by the enemy, during the terrific fighting of the past week and were advancing in the face of the German defense.

On account of a heavy fog yesterday there was almost a total cessation of the fighting in Belgium.

GERMANS ARE REINFORCING

The Germans appear to be waiting for additional reinforcements before renewing their attempt to smash their way through the Allies to the French seaports.

The official announcement from Paris says: "The concentrated activity of the Germans in the North has been without result."

"Everywhere we are holding our ground. "On the Aisne river we have taken the plateau of Vregny, northwest of Soissons."

ENCOUNTERS BETWEEN AVIATORS

That there have been several encounters between the crews of aeroplanes during the recent fighting is indicated in the announcement of the killing of three German aviators and the wounding of six others.

This information is contained in an official casualty report from Berlin, which also says that the German losses during the week were 57,000.

The announcement adds that a large proportion of the German wounded have returned to duty.

BERLIN'S OFFICIAL REPORT

The official report received here yesterday from Berlin says: "Our attacks near Ypres and west of Lille continued on Saturday."

"An important elevation near Vienne le Chateau, on the west side of Argonne, which has been the object of fighting for weeks, has been taken. We captured two large guns and some quick-firers."

JOINTS REFUSED LICENSE RUN UNDER NIGHTLY PERMIT—SOON TO BE STOPPED

(From Monday Advertiser.)

Failing in their efforts heretofore made to sweep the city clean of the dance hall nuisance, an ordinance is now to be passed which is designed to do what the supervisors have found themselves unable to do, and to strike a death blow at the several obnoxious dance halls now running in defiance of the orders of the authorities.

This suggested ordinance may be passed within a few days. Supervisor McClellan, who has been the champion of several fights against the dance hall evil, brought the matter before the board Saturday at a noon meeting, and presented arguments to show the necessity of such legislation as he outlined being passed before an effective blow could be struck at these places.

Members of the board readily saw the force of his argument, and second of his proposition that a law be passed which would make it impossible for the resorts to get the regular nightly permits, which they now obtain, thus negating the refusal of the board to grant them a regular license.

Boasting the Law

McClellan and other members of the board as well declared that the infamous Kukui dance hall was running full blast, and that a new one at King and Smith streets was likewise operating. Both of these places, they said, were getting a dance permit daily from the county clerk, paying one dollar a permit.

Booze is drunk on the premises of both of these places, it was asserted, though perhaps not sold there. One supervisor stated that the patrons at the King and Smith streets resort go across the street to a saloon and three get a drink, which, from time to time, they consume with, in the hall between dances.

McClellan's proposed ordinance is simple, merely providing that no permits be issued before being passed upon by the board of supervisors and the dance hall inspectors. In this way the board would be able to control the situation and the dance halls would have to go out of business.

Will Have Ordinance Drafted

The members of the board showed themselves to be strongly in favor of the plan, and it is expected that E. L. Weaver, first deputy city attorney, will be called upon to frame an ordinance on McClellan's plan within a short time.

The board not long ago refused to grant a license to the Kukui resort, but the effect of its refusal is shown in the fact that the place has had but few evenings of dancing, a permit in place of the annual license being used. The permit costs a dollar, and is issued on application by the city clerk.

BRITISH STEAMSHIP NORFOLK IN FLAMES

LONDON, November 9.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—Despatches received from Melbourne say that the British steamship Norfolk, from New York, caught fire Saturday night while off Fort Albert and was beached at that place. The crew are reported to have gotten ashore safely.

QUARANTINE AGAINST RHODE ISLAND CATTLE

WASHINGTON, November 9.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—Rhode Island will be quarantined today on account of the discovery of the foot-and-mouth disease among cattle in that State.

This will be the eleventh State to be quarantined on account of the present epidemic.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston says that this epidemic is the most destructive and affects a greater area than any of the five previous outbreaks on record.

He says that unless it is quickly eradicated enormous losses of cattle threaten the ranchmen.

Stringent measures will be taken in every case discovered.

CHICAGO, November 9.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless).—The meeting of the national baseball board of arbitration and the National Baseball association, which begins here today, is expected to be an epoch in minor league baseball history.

The latest proposals offered to bring about peace between the Federal League and organized baseball will probably be considered. It is feared that some of the minor leagues may secede from organized baseball, owing to the so-called warlike attitude of the major league officials.
