

JUDGE ASHFORD BRINGS BOURBONS NEARLY TOGETHER

Leaders of All Factions Dine With Former Governor Walsh At Haleiwa

GLORIOUS DEMOCRACY AND PATRIOTISM RULE

Dove of Peace Hovers Over Gathering Made Memorable By Ardent Oratory

There was a notable gathering of the Democrats of Hawaii at Haleiwa on Sunday in honor of former Governor David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, who was the honor guest of Judge Clarence W. Ashford. Covers were laid for twenty-two and Judge Ashford, who acted as toastmaster, announced that while the dinner was not of a political nature there were none but staunch Democrats invited. The dove of peace hovered over the gathering and the day was a most enjoyable one, and so voted by those fortunate enough to have been bidden to the feast.

The toast to the President was answered silently by all present standing. Then the host called for a toast to the Governor of the Territory—the "Democratic Governor of Hawaii." This was responded to by Territorial Secretary Wade Warren Thayer, in a few remarks during the course of which he said: Thayer Talks For Governor

"I do not think any of you gentlemen at this time had an opportunity of knowing the Governor so intimately during the past two years as I have. I do not think that many of you know that since the age of ten, Governor Pinkham has never known a day free from pain. That he has kept his cheery disposition and intention of purpose through all this shows him to be a remarkable man. He has always looked upon the bright side of things. He welcomes criticism and his supporters are broad enough to take it and able to hear it. He is trying, man fashion, to do his duty as he sees it."

"This talk about Democratic get-together meetings is all right. There is but one head of the party here, though he is the Governor. It is impossible to think that we cannot get together, but we should have the Governor call the meetings which are to bring peace to the party. The Governor, or some official of his administration, should be the one to start the get-together spirit. I know that the Governor is doing the best he can for what is right. I could not will not have any more to say, but wish to thank you for this opportunity to speak for and represent the Governor."

Mr. Walsh Is Patriotic "The Old Day State," was responded to by Governor Walsh in a patriotic address which thrilled his auditors as they have seldom been thrilled. Mr. Walsh is a finished and fluent extemporaneous speaker and he took his audience back to the landing of the pilgrim fathers through their trials and tribulations to the firing of the first gun in the revolutionary war. The speech rang with love of country and was received with long and loud applause; even the other guests in the dining room responding to the sentiments expressed by the visitor.

"Hawaii Nei" was selected for former Mayor Joseph J. Fern to talk on. His remarks were to the point and punctuated with frequent allusions. He had of his many years in the revolutionary war came from Worcester in "Merrie England" at the time Kamehameha was fighting to conquer the Hawaiian group; how his great grandfather had helped push the king of Oahu and his forces over the Pali and how the King of Kauai had sent peace commissioners to the victorious army and to the King of Oahu, as that island would be needed to Kamehameha at the time of the Kauai king's death. Said the first mayor of Honolulu:

"I am the seventeenth child of my family, although my father was an Englishman. I am the father of seventeen and on my second marriage I received with my wife six more. That was twenty-three for me. They are all Democrats. If all the Democrats were like me, there would be plenty votes and to spare in this country."

Leader of Democracy Speaks Collector of Customs Malcolm A. Franklin, responded to the guests by the host, introduced to the toast, "The Funny South."

"The Land We Live On As Distinct From the Land We Live In," was treated by the "leader of the Democratic party in Hawaii, L. M. McCandless," as introduced by the toastmaster, and then after indulging in general conversation and reminiscence the diners strolled out on the spacious grounds and enjoyed themselves in different ways until it was time to drift for home.

Those present as the guests of Judge Ashford were Governor David I. Walsh, Territorial Secretary Wade Warren Thayer, Territorial Treasurer C. J. McCarthy, Collector of Customs Malcolm A. Franklin, United States District Attorney Horace W. Vaughan, Assistant District Attorney Samuel H. Kemp, Senator Palmer P. Woods, Judge A. A. Wilder, former Mayor Joseph J. Fern, Lester J. H. A. Wilder, Carl Heuman, M. C. Paschen, C. Ashford, Ashford Austin, Hiram K. Ashford, John A. Wilson, Democratic national committeemen, Jose Uthi, Hon. L. L. McCandless, Postmaster William F. STATEHOOD NEAR SAYS MR. WALSH

Former Governor of Massachusetts Declares That He Wants To Help Hawaii

Sooner or later Hawaii is to be a State and the expectations of former Gov. David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, as made public by him yesterday at a luncheon given in his honor by A. A. Wilder, in the rooms of the Pacific Club, are fulfilled, it will be sooner than most persons believe.

"Within your time and mine," said Mr. Walsh, "I expect to see Hawaii one of the states of the Union."

Governor Walsh spoke on general topics, and concluded with an expression of his desire to help the Territory in any possible way.

The other speakers at the luncheon were Hon. Sanford B. Dole and W. O. Smith. In speaking of the bill now pending to retire federal judges on a pension, Judge Dole said that he does not consider the amount to be paid so high a pension as a salary that goes with the office. Mr. Smith talked of former days in Hawaii.

The list of guests follows: Former Governor Walsh, Hon. Sanford B. Dole, W. W. Becken, Chief Justice A. G. M. Robertson, Mayor John C. Lane, R. W. Shingle, W. O. Smith, Albert Judd, Fred L. POPULAR HAWAIIAN HAS VIOLENT DEATH

John K. Aylett Run Over and Killed By City Garbage Auto-truck

John K. Aylett of Kaimo lane, Paia, an employe of the city with the garbage department, died in The Queen's Hospital shortly before noon yesterday, two hours after he was run over by the big garbage auto-truck in which he was riding.

Aylett was on the running board of the truck when the machine was being driven into the city streetcar in Kaunakoa. In attempting to dodge an alanche of mud and water, as the truck struck a chuck hole, Aylett missed his footing, slipped and fell under the wheels of the truck. He was badly injured that he died shortly before noon, after first aid attention had been given him in the emergency hospital by Doctor Richard G. Ayre, the police surgeon.

Funeral services for the deceased will be held at three o'clock next Sunday afternoon, interment taking place in the Catholic cemetery. The body will be on view to relatives, friends and acquaintances next Saturday and Sunday in the undertaking parlors of M. E. Silva, Kuku and Nuuanu streets.

Aylett was born in Honolulu thirty-six years ago and was educated in St. Louis College. A few years ago he was one of the best known athletes of the city and gained a reputation in the local baseball world as a member of the old H. A. C. team, which was then the most prominent ball club of the Islands. Aylett was a hard hitter and his phenomenal home runs are still talked about among oldtime players.

The deceased is survived by his wife and an adopted daughter, Kadi, and by his father, R. W. Aylett, chief of the garbage department of the city, his own sister, Mrs. David K. Kapiolani of Kona, Hawaii, who with her husband, Representative Kapiolani, is at present in the city, and ten half-brothers and sisters: Mrs. Alfred L. Williams, Mrs. John Waldwork, William Henry, James and Robert Aylett, and the Misses Agnes, Lizzie, Alice and Nina Aylett.

The funeral will be held under the auspices of Court Lanihale. No other Ancient Order of Foresters, of which the deceased was a member, officers and members accompanying the body to the cemetery. Aylett was also a member of the Order of Kamehameha.

Troubles At Libbyville Baker rode straight out King street through Nuuanu, past Red Hill, through Aiea toward his goal. The Advertiser office to Waikakala Gulch, Baker averaged seventy-eight miles an hour but at the same time was forced to slow down or turn into the gutter going to prevent collisions with autos and wagons. What time was lost going through the gulch was made up over the flat from the gulch into Caster. Into Haleiwa Baker found the roads good and continued to make time. Beyond Haleiwa his troubles commenced and at Libbyville he found chuck holes into which he could have almost placed his machine.

Ploiting his machine past the Industrial school his starting time was eight minutes to seven, almost half the distance. Here the going was rough and retarded. Baker cons d rable. Lost Heel Of Shoe From Hauula to the top of the Pali, Baker said he was out of the saddle nearly all the way and was continually forced to dodge chuck holes, cobble stones, bumpy roads and holes. Near Hauula Baker lost the heel of his shoe. He was speeding along at a rate of forty-five miles an hour when his right foot was suddenly jerked away from the foot rest. When he brought the foot back to the rest again he found that the heel had been completely ripped from the shoe.

Lowered Taveras Record Looking toward the top of the Pali, Baker drove his machine via Nuuanu street to King and along King street to the starting line in front of The Advertiser office. As he crossed the line the timers caught him at one minute to eight o'clock, his actual time for the distance eight-nine and six tenths miles as shown by the Warner Speed meter and by surveys being 2 hours, four minutes and thirty-six seconds which is twenty-three minutes faster than previous time set by Frank Taveras who also rode an Indian stock car.

Prior to Baker being given the word to go, checkers were sent out in advance and later in the day notified James W. Harvey of E. O. Hall & Son that Baker had passed the points at which they were stationed. These checkers were to be found at Waimea, Waikakala Gulch, Caster, Haleiwa, Industrial School, Maunani Wireless Station, Kalukou Plantation, Lihouville, Hauula, the Pali, King and Nuuanu streets and The Advertiser office.

LEGALITY OF HAWAII'S LAWS IS NOT IN DOUBT The statement made by Supervisor Logan at the board meeting last week that all the legislation of the Territory since 1910 was unconstitutional, on account of the neglect of the legislature to reappoint the representation of the Territory as directed by the Organic Act, is doubted by territorial officials.

BAKER BREAKS ISLAND RECORD

Erwin G. Baker of Indianapolis, over six feet in height and weighing 230 pounds, yesterday morning skirted the island of Oahu astride a stock model Indian Power motorcycle in the amazing time of two hours, four minutes and thirty-six seconds. This wonderful achievement was performed in the face of unlimited obstacles, particularly regarding the condition of the roads over which Baker traveled and proves him to be one of the greatest, if not greatest motorcycle road riders in the world.

Baker had intended skirting the Island last Sunday morning but a heavy downpour of rain the evening before upset his plans, the roads in many cases being impassable. Even yesterday Baker encountered stretches after stretch of tough going and time and again was compelled to slow up to prevent accidents. Nevertheless rather than dispirit the local agents of the Indian, E. G. Hall & Son, and also anxious to add the road record of Hawaii to his long list of performances, Baker undertook the task and came through with flying colors.

"Annohail" Baker as he is known all over the world where motorcycles are used recently arrived here from Australia where he hung up six new world's records and seven Australasian records. Previous to this Baker had established the world's best time from San Diego to New York and also from Vancouver to Tia Juana, Mexico.

His start yesterday was made from an imaginary line directly in front of the main entrance of The Advertiser and not in front of the Presidential Hotel as erroneously stated yesterday. Frank B. Shuler of the Schuman Carriage Company acted as starter and when he gave the word to go, George Johnson, Mark Ned, Henry Williams and Captain Baker of the Police department snatched their watches, the starting time being fifty-four minutes and twenty-four seconds past five o'clock.

CITY OF REFUGE MEETING PLACE

Promotion Committee Assembled On Hawaii Will Hold Unique Session At Honaunau

Within the crumbled and most grown walls of the ancient City of Refuge at Honaunau, Kona, Hawaii, surrounded by the legends, traditions and history of Hawaii of the past, the members of the Hawaii Promotion Committee will meet in committee next Wednesday night to transact business of the promotionists.

Efforts have been made before, and the present activity seems to point to a successful consummation of the project, to restore as far as a knowledge of the past and the ingenuity of man may do so this historic relic centuries old.

For centuries, no living man knows just how many, the City of Refuge at Honaunau, five or six miles south of Napooleo, another historic spot on the west coast of Hawaii, was hallowed ground and no man, woman or child who sought protection within the shadow of its walls could be molested. The otherwise absolute power of the king or chief could in no manner touch a hair of those who sought protection from oppression, crime or misdemeanor while they remained within the sacred precincts of the enclosure.

The Hawaii promotion committee in its periodical visits to the other islands, where meetings have been held, has made it a rule to hold at least one meeting in some historic spot. When the committee visited Maui last its members met and transacted business on the summit of Haleakala, more than 10,000 feet above the sea, while a snowstorm and wintry cold wind made the venturesome promotionists wish for blankets and a fire on the lowlands within view at their feet.

Members of the committee on the trip to the Big Island left here in the Mauna Kea, Saturday. They will return the last day of this week. The party consisted of George B. Angus, Ben F. Hollinger, Arthur E. Wall, A. P. Taylor and E. A. Berndt. Worth O. Aylett, the Maui representative on the committee, joined at Lahaina. Le A.
