

JAPANESE WANT PLANTERS' FINAL ACTION EAGERLY

Prompt Consideration of Proposed Wage Increase Pleases Laborers of Territory

SOLUTION OF PROBLEM QUICKLY IS SURPRISE

Workers Are Advised To Set Themselves At Ease and Rely Upon Growers' Generosity

President Bottomley's announcement in The Advertiser last week that the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association would increase the pay of the plantation laborers took the local Japanese press greatly by surprise.

The special meeting held last Saturday on the subject by the planters was also surprising to the Japanese press, coming so soon on the heels of the announcement made by the association.

The Japanese papers, especially the local dailies have printed page upon page of editorials, interviews, small talks and news stories on the subject, the discussion of the subject, up to such a point.

The final decision of the planters is awaited by the laborers, the Japanese especially, with much interest.

Nippu Jiji Agreeably Surprised

It was indeed entirely unexpected that the planters would so soon make an announcement of their attitude and give as a decision on the question of the increase of wages to the plantation laborers.

Although we all hoped and believed that the planters would listen to reasonable public opinion and to the expectations of the laborers, the fact that only the best of feeling and interest is taken by those in power and authority and that when a delicate subject is under discussion the best way out is by approaching the subject in a gentlemanly and honorable manner.

Sure Planters Mean Business

Although the rate of the increase to be granted the laborers is not yet announced, we dare advise our fellow countrymen to set themselves at ease and rely upon the generosity of the planters and avoid arguing the matter quite as much as it is being done now.

The rate of the increase in the matter of the planters in this sharing their great profits with the laborers is such that it cannot be computed in dollars and cents. It is greater to the peace, good will and prosperity of the community and the industry that the actual amount of the increase. It means that in Hawaii laborers are given their just deserts.

It is certainly a matter of congratulation to all that the reasonable request of the Japanese in the matter of an increase in wages of the plantation hands should be listened to by the planters and a decision reached so early, as that announced by the president of the association through The Advertiser.

It is about seven years since a demand for an increase in wages created a great disturbance in this community among planters and laborers. We are certainly highly elated that after the hope of such a short period of time the Japanese community should have improved in knowledge and manners to such an extent and progressed along these lines so much that the same question should have been handled so nicely

School For Boys Loses Its Zoo and Lads Mourn

Animals Are Disbanded Because 'Honey Bear' Suddenly Acquired Carnivorous Appetite

Sadness and sorrow have descended upon the students of the Honolulu School for Boys on account of the institution relinquishing its course in Amnated Zoology.

Bruin began to bring upon himself the disfavor of the powers that be some time ago when he developed an affection for young turkeys. Spurning the diet of honey and rice with which the Bearward of the school tried to bewilder him from mourning his departed liberty, he has taken to foraging for himself and from the casual capture of a young poult he has progressed on the downward path of dissipation until last week he devoured three mature gobblers, among which was the stately and venerable father of the flock himself.

Other charges of a more questionable nature have been laid to his door—such, for instance, as an incident of a leetial, having had propped at him out of the murky darkness of the night an animated furry rug, from which the bear had thoughtlessly not yet been removed. However innocent and affectionate the gambols of such an apparition, its effect upon the nerves has not been conducive to orderly and quiet living, but has been responsible for the record of the fifty-day dash being considerably lowered on more occasions than one.

Bruin is said to have first graduated from a vegetarian diet on his voyage to this Pacific Paradise. While being transhipped at Singapore, he fell into the bounding waves and in spite of the urging of Gen. Samuel I. Johnson to the assembled coolies to rescue his set from a watery grave, no one could be prevailed upon to make the attempt.

In this quandary the intrepid general himself plunged in, and Bruin repaid his kindness by seizing his rescuer's right hand in his teeth and hanging thereon until terra firma was safely reached.

Together with Bruin the two pet monkeys of the school—Dido and Solomon—have fallen from grace as their deprecations also were becoming a byword in the respectable neighborhood from which they hail.

WAR RELIEF FUND LARGE

The total sent out by Hawaiian War Relief Committee to the war victims in Europe has now reached $415,252.95. The last money to leave here was cabled by James A. Rath, secretary of the committee, to the Armenian sufferers yesterday.

and peacefully as it was in this latter instance.

Live To Learn Seven years ago the Japanese lack of knowledge and reason, their sense was at fault and they could not repress their feelings. The arguments ventilated in the press were radical and promoted agitation and strife. Seven years have changed all this. The press discussed the same question calmly and cautioned moderation. They referred to the great failure and the results are to be seen today. The calm and gentlemanly attitude shown by the Japanese now has borne good and healthy fruit.

It has been said that the prompt action taken by the planters at this time was not the result of any fear of rumored Japanese strikes or anticipation of disturbances of any kind, and we believe that this is true. The Japanese, this time, have certainly shown themselves wise. They have improved in the way of gang after what they wanted. Knowledge and sense well used will never bring harm to any one and this is a case very much in point.

RAYMOND RANCH WILL SLAUGHTER BEEF FOR TRADE

Thoroughly Modern Refrigerating Plant and Other Improvements Have Been Installed

TWO HONOLULU BUTCHERS WILL HANDLE MEAT HERE

Doctor Raymond Tells Why He Broke Away From Graziers To Operate Independently

Cattle slaughtered at the fattening pen and delivered to the consumer in the finest condition possible is the aim of the Raymond Ranch in Maui, of which Dr. J. H. Raymond is the head. He said yesterday that he had just completed the installation of a thoroughly modern refrigerating plant in Keonouie, the shipping point of the ranch in Maui, which, with other improvements on the ranch for the slaughtering and handling of the beef cattle, had cost in the neighborhood of $30,000.

Heretofore the Raymond beef has been shipped to the Hawaii Meat Company to be distributed to retailers, but this arrangement is no longer in existence and hereafter two local butchers will purchase direct. C. Q. Yee Hop and C. Q. Yet in future will handle the product of the Raymond ranch. The territorial market also will have a good deal of the meat to distribute at the market price and there is a possibility that proper storage arrangements can be made at the market price less than a carcass will be sold there.

Beef of Excellent Quality Doctor Raymond, who has made a thorough study of the work of refrigerating beef, has come to the conclusion that the cattle slaughtered at or near their usual habitat are in much better condition than cattle brought here from the other islands on the hoof.

By the system the cattle are slaughtered at the slaughter pen, which have had to be driven to the pen, where they are shot. The normal temperature of cattle is about one hundred degrees. Cattle slaughtered at the Raymond ranch are found by actual test to be from six to ten degrees cooler after death than those killed here, which have had to endure the hard trip and handling they go through between their pastures and the slaughtering pens.

Carcasses Are Not Frozen The cattle slaughtered at Keonouie, when put in the refrigerating plant, are not frozen but just chilled. The handling of the carcasses is done in the modern manner and great success has been attained in the treatment of the beef for food under the new system installed.

When asked his reasons for making a change in the manner of disposing of his cattle, Doctor Raymond said that he was looking out for his own best interests. He had been discriminated against, he said, in the matter of price received for his beef, in the first place, while his product was of just as good quality as that of the others who supplied the market. He was not allowed to join the list of graziers who furnished the corporation and sold their product at twelve cents, wholesale, but was compelled to take a cent and a half less for the beef and pay five per cent commission in the bargain.

The carcasses supplied by the Raymond ranch were not so large as those of some of the other ranches, but the quality of the beef was as good if not better.

Market May Be Strong

Considering the shortage of beef, which will result here from the contract that the Hawaii Meat Company has recently entered into with the army, in which it is supplying beef at a little less than thirteen cents, which is less than it can be purchased and brought here from the Coast for, as they would not give me a regular ship ment often enough to take care of my output I considered it would be best for me to get out on my own account and see what could be done.

"I can supply fifteen hundred head of cattle a year but could get no assurance that the meat company would take them at the market price. Under the new arrangement, I will get my price and have the opportunity to get rid of my stock regularly.

"In Australia, from where we used to get a great deal of beef, they are agitating the new process of slaughtering that has been put in operation at my ranch. The government is now having laws passed compelling the slaughter of cattle near the places of their pasturage and the erection of cooling plants at the different stations. This applies to sheep as well as beef.

SENATE COMMITTEE FAVORS THREE UTILITY MEASURES

In addition to the Volcano Park Bill, the senate committee on Saturday reported favorably on the three Hawaiian public utility bills, that affecting the Honolulu Gas Company, the Hawaiian Electric and the Kaula Electric. This news was received by the Delegate yesterday from his private secretary at Washington, Jack Desha.

ARGENTINE VESSEL ON WORLD VOYAGE HERE FROM TAHITI

Presidente Sarmiento Will Sail Saturday For Far East, Africa and Home

The Argentine republic training ship Presidente Sarmiento arrived from Tahiti yesterday and docked at navy wharf No. 2 to take bunker coal. She will be here until Saturday, when she will sail for Yokohama, perhaps Kobe also; Shanghai, Manila, Batavia, Natal, Cape Town and Buenos Aires, thus completing a voyage around the world. It is the intention to arrive home before October 12, when the president of the republic will be inaugurated. The ship was here in May, 1914.

About 30,000 miles will be covered on the voyage. The vessel departed from Buenos Aires February 6, and, after touching at different ports of Argentina, made her way through the Strait to the Pacific. She departed from Punta Arenas, Chile, February 26, and arrived at Tahiti, Society Islands, April 12. There she remained a week, sailing April 19 for Honolulu.

No incident of special note occurred on the voyage, except that a persistent shark, who followed the vessel on the way from Tahiti, was hooked. He was about nine feet long. Only one other shark, that of an American windjammer off Chile. There was a strong southerly wind the last of the week.

On the Presidente Sarmiento are nineteen officers, three instructors, thirty-four naval midshipmen and a crew of 292 men. The vessel is a bark with steam power.

Commanding the ship is Capt. Jorge Yalour, Lieut. Comdr. Pascual C. Brebbia is executive officer; Lieut. Comdr. Pedro V. Acevedo is in charge of the midshipmen; and other officers are: Lieutenants Manuel L. Magrini, Ricardo Vago, Arturo, Monks, Jorge Games, Francisco Lelous and Victor J. Menouilly; Junior Lieutenants Juan P. Michetti and Raul Quiroga; Engineer Lieutenants Tomas Bobadilla; Ensigns Luis A. Igaruta, Felix Florit and Gregorio M. Saiz; Surgeons Manuel L. Barreto and Vicente J. Fioridini; Paymaster Alberto A. Ansaldo and Chaplain J. B. Lottora, or, as an officer said, "they were pilot."

He laughed when he was asked where he had heard that, but, as he spent five years on the East Coast when the two big Argentine dreadnaughts were being constructed, his knowledge of that American slang was not so strange.

Personnel of Midshipmen H. Otis de Roesa is gymnastic instructor in English and C. G. Bellardinelli is photographer.

Midshipmen are: Hector Navarro, Guillermo Montenegro, Edmundo Torres, Jorge C. Servotti, Jorge L. Lenain, Adolfo Rosner, Edelmiro A. Cabello, Americo Caceres, Jorge C. Schilling, Teofilo P. Babinola, Victor M. Padula, Fernando C. Beret, Ruperto Paroli, Jose del Poro, Luis E. Perez del Cerro, Clideo de Bertucci, Silvio J. Laporte, Virgilio H. Delgado, Juan Gonzalez, Carlos A. Martinez, Aquilino R. Mignone, Jose M. Castro, Rafael J. Barrera, Alberto San Martin, Carlos F. Masou, Juan J. Veron.

Engineering midshipmen are: Ricardo Cepeda, Ricardo Iribarne, Manuel J. Perez, Federico Fontana, Enrique A. Mazoni, Joaquin Mainer, Pedro J. Mazzoloni, Miguel Lovera.

Thirsty For War News A group of men more thirsty for news of the war than for food, were heard to say something of what was being heard in Europe while at Tahiti, but a radiogram had conveyed information that the Germans had captured Verdun, and each officer asked for confirmation of this report. They heard with surprise of the tense relations between Germany and the United States. To a question as to where the sympathies of South America were in the struggle they replied, diplomatically, that the Southern Continent was "very cosmopolitan."

In view of the participation of their country in the A. B. C. conferences, which preceded the abdication of Huerta, some of the recognized Carranza's de facto government, following the lead of the United States, the opinions of the officers were sought on how South America would regard the entry of American troops under General Pershing into Mexico. One officer thought that the punitive expedition would not cause distrust of the States, and he affirmed that Argentina felt at this time no distrust of the North Americans.

"We like the people of the United States," he said, "just as we like people of other great countries: Germany, England, France."

Doesn't Extend South He recognized, of course, the hatred Mexicans feel for Americans, but this does not extend, he added, to the South, except for the peoples near us. He compared the Argentine plitika with Mexico to the Argentine trouble with Paraguay; but, he went on, "The Mexicans say you gringos." As to the frame of mind of Brazil, for example, toward the State he could not speak authoritatively.

Great opportunities for trade between the States and Argentina exist, the officers went on, if we of the North will take advantage of the situation. He commented on the establishment of a branch of the National City bank in Buenos Aires as a right step.

Formal naval and military calls on United States navy and army officers and the German cruiser Geier were made yesterday. This afternoon from four to six o'clock Admiral and Mrs. Housh will give a reception at Pearl Harbor for officers of the Presidente Sarmiento.

PENINSULA TIDE LAND ASKED FOR BY LAND OWNER

Hagens Wants To Annex Part of Pearl Harbor For Grass Plot

LAND COMMISSIONERS DEFER TO HARBOR BOARD

Forbes Wants To Reclaim Land and Sell Lots in Front Row

The application of J. F. C. Hagens for permission to buy the land between highwater mark and the bulkhead line in front of his country place at the Peninsula, may lead to the application of the rest of the property owners for the same privilege. On the other hand the government may refuse to permit the sale and after filling up the land sell it in lots and thus cut off the holders of waterfront property from the enjoyment of their present access to the water.

The matter of the sale of the land to Mr. Hagens was brought up in the land commission meeting yesterday and caused a deal of discussion. There was a doubt in the minds of the commissioners as to their right to "mediate" in something which seemed to be within the jurisdiction of the harbor board.

Under the provisions of the new act of congress the harbor board has the "care and control of all land belonging to the Territory below mean highwater." Heretofore the land commissioner had control of this land and although it is the opinion of the land commission that the fee to this land still remains in the land commissioner and no other, there is the problem of dual responsibility.

Judge A. A. Wilder appeared before the land commission to advise the members of the desire of his client, Mr. Hagens wants the land fronting his place at the Peninsula below mean high water mark. He wants to fill it in and then beautify it. The land desired consists of about four and a half acres now covered by water at high tide. To prevent the erection of undesirable shacks or other structures which would interfere with the view purchased with the place, Mr. Hagens proposes to buy the land.

Informally the harbor board has advanced the opinion that it would be short-sighted policy for the Territory to part with the lands. Superintendent of Public Works Forbes is of the opinion that the government should reclaim this land between the two lines and fill it in and dispose of it at auction. In a case of this kind there necessarily would be a great deal of litigation by property owners.

In case the land applied for by Mr. Hagens is sold to him then it is supposed that the other owners of property will try to get the same rights for themselves. The matter of the application was turned over to the Oahu members of the commission and the land commissioner was advised to appoint a board of appraisers to put a price on the land wanted before any action is taken by the board.

While the new law is broad and very generous in its provisions there seems to be no idea in the minds of several lawyers that it will not apply so far as the harbor commissioners are concerned to Pearl Harbor and its shores.

Navy May Have Control The instance of the refusal of the naval authorities to allow the transfer of the German ships interned here to Pearl Harbor, when the commissioners desired it, is taken as proof that Pearl Harbor is closed to any vessel not permitted to enter by the navy, and as this being the case the harbor board will not have any authority there.

Judge Wilder was of the opinion that the title to the land involved in the request was still in the land commissioner, subject to disposal, with the consent and approval of the land commission and the Governor, and that the law giving the harbor commissioners the care and control of the land did not go any further than that, and costed no title in them. The matter of the approval of the application for the sale of the land will be taken up and disposed of at the next meeting of the commission.

MAIL COLLECTOR FACES MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Charged with manslaughter in the first degree, John F. Silva, mail collector, who ran down Motorcycle Officer Fred Wright, the latter dying from the injuries received, appeared in the circuit court yesterday afternoon and was released on $2500 bail. He will appear in police court for hearing Wednesday morning. It is expected that he will waive examination, and be held to the grand jury. Owing to the shortage of funds in securing juries, the case is not expected to come to trial until October.
