BERLIN SAYS RUSS DRIVE BLOCKED BY HER ALLIES

Petrograd Semi-Official Despatches Declare Czernowitz Has Been Evacuated By Austrians After Heavy Fighting

TALE OF RUSSIAN BOOTY CONTINUES GROWING FAST

Slavs Now Declare That the Prisoners Taken Since Big Drive Began Now Total More Than 150,000 Enlisted Men

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, June 16.—Out of the maze of conflicting reports concerning the tremendous fighting that is going forward on the seven hundred miles of Eastern front, but one thing stands assured. The world has never seen anything like it before. Russia's millions, armed and equipped as they have not been since the war began appear to be stripped for any struggle.

Whether they have taken Czernowitz, or have forced the Austrians to evacuate the city, as semi-official reports from Petrograd declared last night, to be the case, there is nothing definite known as yet, the claims of the Slavs being flatly contradicted by the reports that come out of Vienna and Berlin. Say Czernowitz Abandoned.

The Austrians have been making public by the semi-official Petrograd News Agency, as having been received from the front in the Bukovina, via Bucharest. They asserted that after heavy fighting the Austrians had evacuated Czernowitz, moving their army westward.

The Austrian headquarters have an answer for this statement. They report that the Teutonic troops are making a heroic stand north and east of the city, and are successfully resisting the heaviest of the Russian attacks, repulsing the infantry assaults that the foe is hurling at them. Near Kolki, Galicia they claim to have captured 1500 slaves.

Say Slavs Are Blocked
The Vienna and Berlin reports also declare that the Austrians are blocking the Russians in the Lutsk sector of the front, where the Russians have been so successful of late. There, declares Vienna, the Austrians are counter-attacking with considerable success, and are entrenching themselves in their new positions.

Of the fighting that is believed to be going on in Galicia there are few reports. Neither side makes claims of gains in the region around Tarnopol, toward which city the Russians have been advancing for some days. Apparently the two armies are deadlocked.

Russian Thrusts Vain
On the German end of the long eastern line the Russians have been making vicious thrusts in response to the recent attacks by the Germans under Field Marshal von Hindenburg. For a time they appear to have succeeded, but later reports declare that they have been driven out of the trenches they took earlier in the day.

Von Hindenburg is again launching tremendous attacks in the neighborhood of the Dniestr lake and in the region south of the Dniestr. So far the attacks have been without material result, according to the official reports from Petrograd.

Russian Booty Enormous
In summing up the results of the Russian drive to date Petrograd yesterday made public the official figures of the prisoners taken and the booty captured by the Slav armies. According to these figures the Russians have taken one general, three commanders, 2467 officers, five doctors, and 150,000 soldiers. They have also taken 163 cannon, 266 machine guns, 130 bomb throwers and 32 mine throwers.

Upon the Verdun sector, after a lull of twenty-four hours in the fighting during which the Germans ceased their infantry attacks but kept up their bombardment of the French forts of Thiaumont and Souville, the French yesterday afternoon launched a counter attack against the Teutonic positions on the southern slopes of the famous La Motte Heights.

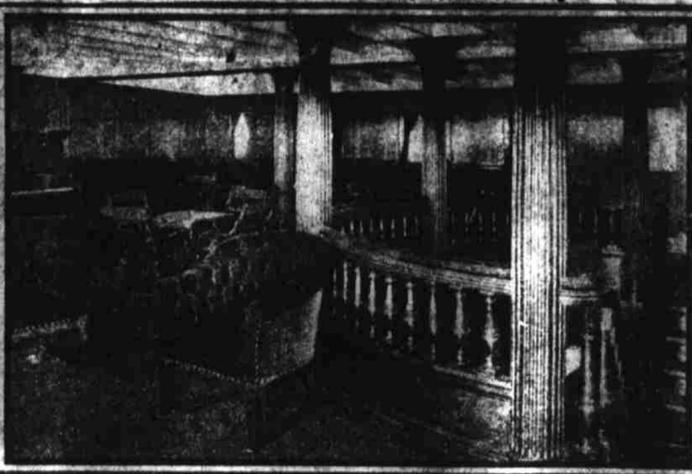

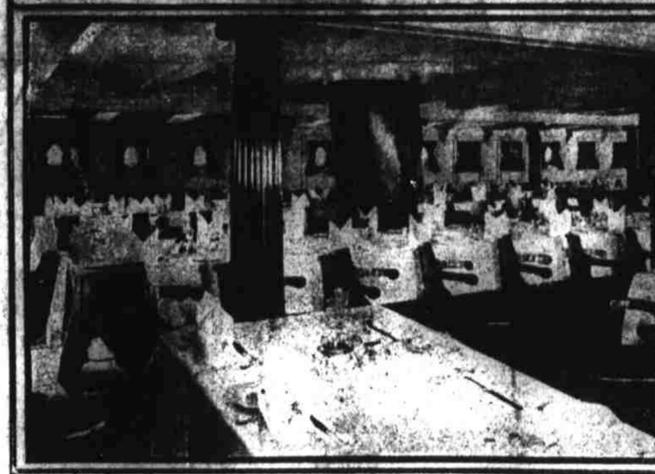

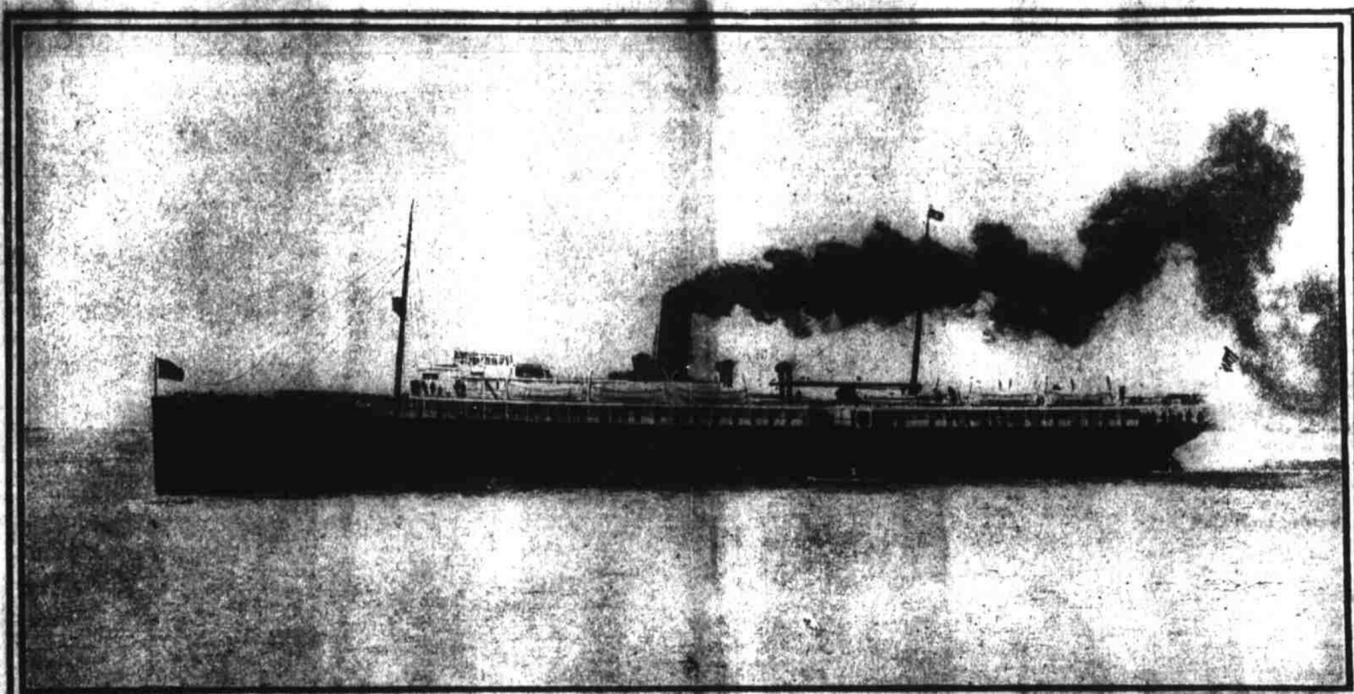

Galic Attack Succeeded
The attack was a surprise and according to the French official communiqué issued last night was successful, in that the Galic troops ousted the Teutons from several trenches which they had taken some days ago.

Rome and Vienna alike indicate in their reports that the fighting in the Tyrol is dying down. The artillery firing continues heavy but the attacks by the infantry of both armies have been of minor importance.

SIBERIA NOW FLIES RISING SUN BANNER

Will Leave New York On Way To Pacific Today

(Special Telegram to Nippon Jiji.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—S. Tago, former captain of the Tenyo Maru and now freight department manager in the local branch of the T. K. K. line, took command of the former Pacific Mail liner Siberia, recently purchased by the T. K. K. line, in New York yesterday. Acting as temporary captain he will bring the steamer to San Francisco, via the Panama canal, and should reach this city early in July.

He Will Sail Today
As soon as the Siberia arrives here, she will load for Oriental ports, via Honolulu, and S. Hashimoto, former captain of the Nippon Maru, will take command of her.

The Siberia and the Korea were purchased by the T. K. K. line and will take the place of the Chiyo Maru, wrecked upon the rocks of the Leina Islands off the coast of China.

RAILROADS REFUSE DEMANDS BY MEN

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

NEW YORK, June 15.—The big railroads have notified the four brotherhoods of employees that they will not grant the union demands for an eight-hour day and time, and a half for overtime. This is the result of conferences lasting two weeks. It probably means that a strike vote will be ordered by the brotherhoods.

JAPAN PREPARES TO NAME HEIR APPARENT

Elaborate Ceremony Will Take Place Next October

(Special Telegram to Nippon Jiji.)

TOKIO, June 16.—The ceremony of the formal nomination of the heir apparent to the throne of Japan will be held on October 31 in Tokio, according to the official announcement made here last night. Committees to make the necessary preparations were appointed yesterday, and estimates of the cost of the ceremonies will be made at once.

The ceremony is one of the greatest, next to the coronation itself, in the minds of the Japanese people and it is expected that it will be a most imposing one.

Crown Prince Hirohito is sixteen years old, and a lieutenant in the army, and sub-lieutenant in the navy.

Good Work Done To Save Lives In High Sea

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—After a day and a night of uncertainty and anxiety, friends and relatives of the passengers and crew of the coast-wise steamer Bear, which went ashore on the rocks south of Eureka, Wednesday, were relieved to learn late last night that all but six of the 210 persons on board the vessel when she struck have been saved. There are five known dead, including two women, and one is missing who is believed to have perished.

The Bear, belonging to the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company, struck on the rocks fifteen miles south of Eureka in a dense fog that made it impossible for the captain to know where he was. A high gale and heavy sea at once began their work upon her, and made the task of the rescuers summoned immediately by the wireless of the steamer, almost impossible.

Tugs Do Yeoman Service
The famous old battleship Oregon, plunging up the coast, was one of the first to go to the assistance of the stranded steamer, but the breakers kept back the lifeboats she launched and for hours it was impossible to get a line to the Bear, rolling and lurching in the tumbling surf.

Then other ships began to arrive. Tugs from Eureka, able to brave the surf, reached a point almost alongside the wreck. For hours they struggled, using the lifeboats that put off from the steamer and turning the shivering men and women they contained over to the larger vessels that had come upon the scene. One of these, the Grace Dol-

CHINESE PRESIDENT WARNED BY JAPAN

Will Be Ousted If He Follows Footsteps of Yuan

(Special Telegram to Nippon Jiji.)

TOKIO, June 15.—If Li Yuan Hing, president of China, takes the same attitude toward Japan that the late Yuan Shih-kai favored, Japan will see that he is ousted from the presidency.

This is the sum and substance of the special cabinet meeting that was called by Count Okuma, premier of Japan, yesterday.

At the meeting of the cabinet it was decided that Japan will treat the northern and southern parties the same. Japan will assist them in ending the revolution and work for the preservation of peace and order in China.

It was announced that Japan would give every assistance to Li Yuan Hing as long as he is friendly, but should he take an anti-Japanese attitude the cabinet decided that Japan would have something to say on the subject.

ELEVEN GERMAN SHIPS MAY BE RUSS PRIZES

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

STOCKHOLM, June 16.—Authentic reports from Baltic Sea ports show that only two of the thirteen German merchantmen, which were being conveyed by the auxiliary cruiser Koenig von Sachsen, when attacked by a flotilla of Russian torpedo boats, managed to escape and find refuge in Swedish ports. The fate of the others is not definitely known, but it is believed that most of them were captured or sunk.

JAPANESE TROOPERS AND BANDITS FIGHT

Fierce Battle Raging In Shantung, Say Shanghai Reports

(Special Telegram to Nippon Jiji.)

TOKIO, June 15.—A fierce battle is raging in Shantung province, China, between the Japanese soldiers and Chinese brigands and both sides have lost heavily. Engagements are occurring all along the line of the Shantung railroad.

Chinese brigands in this province have made many attacks on the Japanese residents and soldiers along the road which leads to Kinohau. At first a protest was made to the Peking government after a number of Japanese had been killed. The Chinese government announced that they would control the situation and the affair was closed.

Early in the week the brigands became restless and four Japanese residents were killed and five kidnapped. The whereabouts of the latter is not known, and troops were called from the Japanese garrison at Taingtau to locate them.

The brigands have been recently equipped with modern firearms and are making a strong defense. Efforts on the part of the Chinese soldiers to suppress the uprising have been futile.

Yesterday afternoon a large body of brigands fired on a detachment of Japanese troops at Nganku and a fierce engagement followed. Other battles between the troops have been reported to the military governor at Taingtau.

ONE VOTE CAST IN OPPOSITION TO PRESIDENT AT SAINT LOUIS

Commoner of Nebraska Received Ovation When He Is Called To Platform and Urges Bourbons To Forget Grievances For Unity

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—When Joseph Tumulty, President Wilson's private secretary, carried him the news of his nomination by the Democratic convention in St. Louis, shortly before one o'clock this morning, President Wilson was still awake and working. When told the news of his nomination, he said, "I am very grateful."

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—Woodrow Wilson just failed of being the unanimous choice for President of the Democratic national convention assembled here. The voting stood at 1091 for him to a lone vote against, cast by Robert Emmet Burke, a delegate from Illinois.

Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, Vice-President of the United States, was nominated as Mr. Wilson's running mate on the ticket.

It was four minutes before midnight when the ricket was completed and the delegates broke into a prolonged demonstration. They had not, however, finished their work, owing to the unreadiness of the committee which had been preparing the platform. Several planks in that document were not complete, and more has to be done, but it probably will be ready when the convention assembles this morning at eleven o'clock, the hour set at adjournment last night.

Judge Westcott Nominated
Judge John H. Westcott, Princeton professor and personal friend of Mr. Wilson, was accorded the honor of making the nomination speech for the President, and as he rose to begin the delegates greeted him with a prolonged cheer. As he proceeded his address was frequently punctuated by cheering.

At no time has there been any doubt that Mr. Wilson would receive his party's nomination, but there was some opposition to Vice President Marshall. This, however, disappeared completely when the delegates assembled last night. Marshall was nominated by Senator Kern of Indiana who cast aside a prepared speech and spoke straight from the shoulder.

The nominations followed the only real demonstration of the convention when William J. Bryan, who addressed the gathering by permission, at the suggestion of Senator Thompson of Kansas, pleaded for complete and thorough harmony in the party.

Bryan Pleads For Unity
"I appeal to you to bury all your factional differences during this fight of 1916," said the former secretary of state, "to forget that you have had disappointments, and to work shoulder to shoulder with the rest of us to pull the party's ticket through to a victory that is assured if we do but strive hard enough for it."

He told the delegates and the great throng which, for the first time since the convention has been in session, filled the building, that every Democrat in every State in the Union should throw himself into the campaign with the firm determination of winning.

The convention, which had adjourned after the afternoon session, reconvened at a quarter past nine o'clock. Announcement that Mr. Bryan was to speak attracted large crowds, which piled into the galleries and many delegates who had not troubled to attend their seats.

Commoner Gets Ovation
Bryan was given an ovation as he appeared on the platform, and it was some little time before he was allowed to speak. He has been a prominent figure at this convention, although he does not hold even a proxy, and his only official position is that of a representative.
