

GREAT DRIVE IN FLANDERS INDICATED BY HEAVY FIRING

Millions of Shells Thrown On Trenches Along Great Portion of Northern Section Seems To Presage Early Offensive

ALLIES ARE AGGRESSIVE EXCEPT IN GALICIA

French Force Fighting On Aisne and Both Banks of Meuse and Hun Forces Are Clearly Weakened By Constant Strain

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

NEW YORK, July 29—Greatly increased activity on almost every war front in Europe is reported, with the Entente forces on the offensive except in Galicia, where the Russians continue to withdraw before the Austro-German advances.

Every indication points to a British offensive in force at some selected point along the Flanders front, but as yet the objective of this contemplated advance is not apparent. Along practically the whole of the northern section of the British line the British drumfire is growing in intensity and millions of high explosive shells are being thrown into the German positions, at one point in no greater numbers than another. That this drumfire is to pave the way for an infantry drive seems certain and the German despatches indicate a nervousness on the part of the general staff.

French Raid in Force

The French are likewise aggressive now along the Aisne and on both banks of the Meuse, where the recent despatch attacks of the Germans have weakened their forces appreciably. It is estimated that the Crown Prince has lost very many thousands of his best men in his fruitless drives against the ridges held by Petain and it is against the shattered remnants that the French are now thrusting. Berlin reports that the French made three failures yesterday in attempting to advance along the Chemins des Dames section, north of Soissons, while Paris reports successful raids in force.

Berlin Announces That Thirteen French and British Aeroplanes Have Been Shot Down in the Recent Fighting, Four Visited Again

For the first time in eighteen months German airmen attacked Paris. This was on Friday night, when one hostile plane, according to the French, flew over the city, dropping two bombs and doing no serious damage. It is believed in Paris that the airman came to test the air defenses of the city, in anticipation of a greater air operation to come. Berlin states that the raid was made by a number of machines, which scattered their bombs and returned safely to the German lines. In Rumania, reports Petrograd, German airmen have bombed the Moldocina hospital.

The report on Friday that the Belgians had captured the crew of a German submarine was yesterday confirmed. The U-boat had stranded near Calais and had been abandoned by her crew after they had made the ship useless. Belgian cavalry patrols rounded up the sailors.

Italians Drop Bombs

Yesterday the Italian airmen carried out a series of raids against the Austrians. A large squadron bombed the electric works at the Itria station, setting fire to the buildings. Airships were sent against the Austrian positions at Opuzza, where the military works were showered with bombs, while the railroad between St. Lucia and Bazzadimora was blown up by dropped explosives.

Contract in East

The Russian fronts present a curious contrast, with the Teutons carrying everything before them in Galicia and the Northern Russian lines standing comparatively inactive, with no attempt made to create a diversion for the assistance of the Galician troops, while in Rumania the Russians and Rumanians are advancing triumphantly through an important section of Moldavia with the Germans and Bulgarians retreating in an almost demoralized condition. Petrograd reports desultory artillery firing from the Baltic to the Prinet marshes, while Berlin states that the Germans are on the eve of clearing the Russians completely out of Galicia.

From the Volhynia section to the Carpathians the Russians are withdrawing along a wide front, although the Petrograd despatches state that the Petrograd detachments are doggedly holding on to their positions and inflicting heavy losses on the attacking Austrians. Berlin reports that the

British Tommies Want No Slav Imitators In London; Disperse a Peace Meeting

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

LONDON, July 29—That the British public and the British soldiers are in no temper for any minor imitations here of the conditions that have prevailed at Petrograd was made evident last night, when a crowd of soldiers home on leave, with their ranks swelled by hundreds of citizens, stormed a church in which a peace meeting had been advertised, mobbed the participants in the meeting and wrecked the building.

The anger of the soldiers had been raised particularly because the pacifists had advertised themselves as the Soldiers' and Workmen's Council, in imitation of the organization which up until the present has been the governing body in Russia, while the propaganda was along the "No annexations and no indemnities" lines advocated by the Russian Socialists. The meeting, which was held in the Brotherhood Church used by a socialist sect of dissenters, was only fairly started before the soldiers and the citizen rioters poured into the building, completely overpowering the pacifists, who were promptly ejected, amid scenes of the wildest confusion. Fews were smashed up and the pieces of wood used for clubs, with which some of the pacifists attempted to defend themselves and hold their ground. A large number of the pacifists were injured and the church was completely wrecked before the police reserves could restore order.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR FAMILY

When you fail to provide your family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at this season of the year, you are neglecting them, as bowel complaint is sure to be prevalent, and it is too dangerous a malady to be trifled with. This is especially true if there are children in the family. A dose or two of this remedy will place the trouble within control and perhaps save a life, or at least a doctor's bill. INCOMES WILL BEAR LARGER PART OF TAXES TO WAGE WAR

Finance Committee of Senate Will Revise Bill Now Pending To Increase Revenue Nearly Three Hundred Millions

STEPS TAKEN TO MEET DEMAND OF ADDED COST

Heaviest Burdens of War Taxation Will Fall Upon Wealthy Individuals and Corporations Under Present Program

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, July 29—Warned of the necessity by the estimates of Secretary of Treasury McAdoo of probable war expenses, the senate finance committee yesterday agreed to increase the amount that is to be secured by taxation to $1,943,000,000 from its former figures of $1,670,000,000. It is possible that this sum may be further increased to two billion dollars before a vote is taken by the senate.

Incomes must furnish the greater part of the war tax revenue, according to committee plans and decided increases in the income tax will be embodied in the revised measure. The present program is for a tax of $1,363,000,000 to be levied on incomes this year. In this way the decreased income from internal revenue receipts on alcoholic liquors is to be met.

Even the increase agreed upon by the committee will not meet the demands of the war as shown by Secretary McAdoo's figures and indications point more and more strongly to further bond issues being required as a part of the policy which congress will adopt in final consideration of the taxation legislation.

HOOPER PROPHESIES VICTORY WON BY RESOURCES OF U. S.

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, July 29—"America will win," is now the confident assertion of Herbert C. Hoover, food controller. "Our superior resources and effective methods of food conservation will win the victory," he said last night.

Over two million women in the United States have registered and enrolled with the food administration and the effect of this vast organization working under a system and introducing into as many households methods of food economy is certain to produce a great saving and consequent increase in national food resources.

But in addition to this Hoover finds other grounds for encouragement. Crop reports indicate that there will be an increase over estimates of 850,000,000 bushels of cereals. Millions of gardens have been planted and the largest supply of vegetables in history is indicated. This supply of vegetables is certain to heavily out the use of cereals and especially of wheat so that a situation which was a few weeks ago highly alarming begins to take on an aspect that promises to be satisfactory.

SELECTION BOARDS TOLD OF RESPONSIBILITIES

For Every Man Relieved Another Must Offer Supreme Sacrifice Declares Judge Advocate General

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, July 29—In instructions which he issued yesterday to the selection boards throughout the country Judge Advocate General Crowder sought earnestly to impress upon the members the responsibilities which rest upon them. Men will be needed and needed quickly, he tells them, and the boards are certain to receive little praise for their work and some blame, whether deserved or undeserved, from the very nature of the duties which will devolve upon them. This is what they must expect and for which they must be prepared.

Every man who is selected offers his life for his country and its cause, whether that life be taken or not in the eventualities of warfare and for every one who is relieved from service it means that some other man in his stead must make the great sacrifice.

President Wilson demands that the boards shall exercise the greatest care in considering the claims for exemption of civil service employees and he insists that all shall serve except those who are indispensable to the government in the departments in which they may now be employed.

NEEDS OF NEUTRALS SOON TO BE FILLED

Licenses Under the Embargo Law To Be Granted When Actual Requirements Are Known

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, July 29—Definite plans for the supplying to the neutral nations of Northern Europe the food and supplies which it is asserted they need and which are now being withheld from them under the Embargo Law are expected to be made operative at an early day. Shipping licenses have been denied to vessels loaded with freights of prohibited articles destined for those countries since the law became operative and will be held back until such time as definite information of the actual needs and requirements shall be received, but when this information is obtained it is expected that licenses will promptly issue in all proper instances.

Reports of the needs of Denmark, Norway and Sweden are conflicting. Despite the demands of Denmark it is claimed that there is no actual need of importation to that country of food stuffs from the United States. On the other hand it is admitted that Norway, Sweden and Holland all have actual and pressing need at this time of importations and that they require especially grain and fodder.

CAREER OF AGED REAR ADMIRAL COMES TO END

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

NEWPORT, July 28—Admiral Stephen Lee died at his residence here today. He was ninety years of age and had a distinguished career.

Rear Admiral Lee was the founder and first president of the Naval War College at Newport, Rhode Island. He saw his country victorious in three wars, two of which, the Mexican and Civil Wars, he helped to fight. He spent forty-eight years in active naval service, passing thirty-three on duty at sea. Born in Albany, New York, March 25, 1827, he wore fealty to his country at the age of fourteen, when he became a midshipman in the navy. He was retired from the active list, having reached the retiring age of sixty-two in 1889.

He rendered his last distinguished public service at the age of sixty-five, when he went to Madrid as the representative of the United States and commissioner-general of the Columbian celebration in 1892 in commemoration of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America.

Rear Admiral Lee was recognized as an authority on naval tactics and training. He wrote "Seamanship," which became a text-book for naval students at Annapolis.

JAPANESE REPORT SINKING SUBMARINE

(Special Cablegram to Nippon Jiji)

Sato, commander of the Japanese squadron in the Mediterranean, reported to the Japanese admiralty that one of his destroyers has sunk a German submarine during a naval engagement. The destroyers emptied a heavy fire on the submarine, hitting the periscope. The submarine immediately sank. There was no damage on the side of the Allies.

AMAZONS HELD THEIR GROUND UNTIL ALMOST ENTIRELY WIPED OUT

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

PETROGRAD, Russia, July 28—The heroic conduct of Russia's "Command to Death," composed of women who enlisted and formed a battalion for active service, is creating a furor in the capital, where ten wounded heroines arrived and were enthusiastically greeted.

In the terrific fighting around Smor-gan, where they were deserted by the mutinous infantry, two hundred amazons fought on till compelled, in facing desperate odds, to fall back, losing twenty killed, eight as prisoners, and all but fifty wounded.

The presence of women in the Slav ranks seems to have unnerved the Teutons in one of their onslaughts, many surrendering when they heard the girls' voices. Among those who gave themselves up were several German women, who had been fighting in the ranks of the Teuton army.

Mainlanders Fully Awake To Menace of the Kaiserbund

(Mail Special To The Advertiser)

HELO, July 28—That the United States is getting roused up to the seriousness of war is the expressed opinion of Samuel S. Rolph, an attorney, who, with Mrs. Rolph returned from a two month's trip to the mainland, Friday last. Mr. and Mrs. Rolph left Hilo in May principally to attend the graduation exercises at Smith College, North Hampton, Massachusetts, where Miss Glorinda Lowe, Mrs. Rolph's sister, was a member of the graduating class. During their sojourn in the States they also visited New York, Boston and other large cities.

"America is undoubtedly fast coming to a full realization of the big proposition ahead of her in the present war," said Mr. Rolph yesterday. "Everyone throughout the big cities appears to be helping in some way or another. These are no longer the Red Cross workers, and the men seem to be anxious to don the uniform. It seems to me that the country is getting roused to the seriousness of war, and that they are not going into the business hat heartily."

"Everywhere we went hundreds of men are to be seen in uniform, and dozens of the young men we know have entered training camps," added Mr. Rolph. "What struck me most was the scarcity of young men around the streets. It seemed to me that there were fewer around town than in ordinary times of peace."

"Right across America soldiers are guarding railroad bridges and tunnels in order to prevent any possible damage being done by friends of Germany. Precautions are being taken in every possible way to prevent any disorganization of traffic, and no leniency is being shown those who run foul of the authorities."

Conference Committee Strengthens Prohibition Provisions of Food Control Legislation and Takes Long Step Forward

Discretion of Army Authorities and President Trusted To Determine Whether Brewing and Wine Making Shall Be Ended

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, July 29—Agreement upon many points of the report which the conference committee will render to the two houses of congress on the conflicting bills which were passed by house and senate was reached yesterday.

Some important changes in the prohibition provisions have been agreed to by the conferees and these provisions have been made stronger than those contained in the bill which passed the senate. Under the agreement the manufacture of distilled spirits for beverage purposes, except where they are to be used for the fortification of sweet wines, is specifically prohibited, and the importation of all distilled liquors is absolutely forbidden. These provisions are absolute and in no way discretionary with the President.

ARMY SHARES DISCRETION
An important change has been made in the provision for discretionary prohibition of the manufacture of beer or wines. Under the house bill this discretion was conferred upon the President but the report proposes that it be given to army authorities and the President. It is now determined to leave to the discretion of army authorities and the President the stopping of brewing of beer and ale and the manufacture of wines. It is assumed that the army authorities are included as they are best able to determine the effect that the manufacture and sale of lighter alcoholic beverages are having upon the men in the training camps and the soldiery generally.

WILL COMMANDEER STOCKS
All stocks of distilled liquor are to be commandeered. This provision affects not only the goods now in bond but stocks in the hands of dealers as well. Such commandeered stocks are to be used only for redistillation for use in hospitals by the military and in the manufacture of munitions and for the preservation of food stuffs.

At the close of the afternoon session of the conferees there still remained a number of points for determination and a night session was held at which it is reported that further excellent progress was made. It was then determined to hold sessions today in an effort to reach full and complete agreement so that it may be possible to prepare the report of agreement Monday or Tuesday.
