

SKULL FRACTURED IN A RUNAWAY

Mrs. Wells M. Irwin Thrown From Her Carriage This Afternoon at Seventh and High Streets.

WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED

The Horse Became Frightened When Near the Postoffice and Dashed Madly Down the Hill For Two Blocks.

Mrs. Wells M. Irwin was thrown from her buggy this afternoon shortly after 1:30 o'clock at the corner of Seventh and High streets, fracturing her skull and being dangerously wounded as the result of a runaway.

The horse became frightened at something when opposite the postoffice and ran down Seventh street, the driver doing all in her power to control the animal. At High street the buggy struck the culvert and Mrs. Irwin was jostled from her position.

She fell about twenty feet from the corner and close to the side of the residence of Dr. George F. Jenkins. The injured lady was carried to the lawn of the Jenkins' home and placed upon blankets and pillows, while hasty word was sent for her husband and children.

Dr. Jenkins gave her a hypodermic injection at once to relieve her suffering, for she was moaning from the pain and Dr. Dorsey was brought to the scene. He declared that the skull had been fractured after a hurried examination.

The Red Cross ambulance was sent for and Mrs. Irwin was placed in it and taken to Graham hospital a few minutes before 2. At that time it could not be told how seriously Mrs. Irwin had been injured, but she was unconscious and the physician had declared her skull to be fractured.

A Brave Effort. Mrs. Irwin made a brave effort to stop the runaway horse. It became frightened while in front of the postoffice while she was returning home from driving Mr. Irwin to the store.

She was alone at the time and would probably have brought the animal under control had not the buggy wheels struck the projection of the crossings and culverts at High street.

A wagon was backed up at the entrance of the Westminster Presbyterian church, blocking up most of Seventh street at this point and Mrs. Irwin managed to guide her horse around this obstruction in the street.

The animal then started down the hill toward Concert street at a terrific speed, onlookers seeing the lady doing her best to bring the animal to a stop.

Half way down the hill, workmen are chopping down the big cottonwood trees there and some of the branches were lying in the street. This formed another barrier and the horse was guided around that.

Between Concert and High streets, she guided the animal around an automobile which was in the street.

When the horse crossed Concert street, it was going at a terrific speed but the route from there was all on an incline. At High street the first jolt occurred and Mrs. Irwin must have been shaken from her position. At the next crossing she was thrown out and fell a few feet farther up the street, the horse and vehicle going on its mad race up Seventh street.

WEIGHT AN INDEX TO HEALTH

An Iowa Woman Who Suffered for Six Years and Was Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Every woman will recognize the symptoms described by Mrs. Stella Livernore, of Anthon, Iowa, who says: "I was sick for six years and often had dizzy spells, when a blur would come over my eyes and it seemed as though I was looking through a smoked glass."

My limbs were swollen and ached and often there would be such sharp, shooting pains through them, that I would have to cry out. I also had a great deal of pain back of my eyes, through the top of my head and the back of my neck.

When resting on the pillow, my head felt as though it was lying on rocks. Every once in a while my face would flush up and get as hot as coal. My stomach distressed me by a dull, burning sensation and anything with acid would generally disagree with me. I was so weak in my back that I could hardly turn over in bed or raise up when I stooped over.

I was also troubled a great deal from rheumatism in my right arm and shoulder and for three years couldn't do my ironing or housework with that arm. My condition nearly brought on nervous prostration.

"I tried to keep up and do what work I could, but there would be a week at a time when I would have to lie in bed. I became completely run-down and weighed only a little over 100 pounds. I used the doctor's medicine for some time, but without its helping me. I gave that up and tried several remedies with no better results. The druggist then urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After a while I felt much better and took the pills for several months. I soon began to get my strength back and my nervousness left me. I regained the use of my right arm and gained in weight until I now weigh over 165 pounds. I can do all of my work and am perfectly well. No one can be more thankful than I for what the pills have done for me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

LURAY BUSINESS MAN SUICIDES

Arch Leslie, Restaurant Keeper at Luray Sends Bullet Into His Right Temple, Last Evening, Dying Instantly.

NO CAUSE FOR RASH ACT

Relatives and Friends Completely Mystified as to Cause of Young Man Taking His Life—Was Well Liked.

[Special to The Gate City.] LURAY, Mo., Oct. 13.—Arch Leslie, Luray's prominent restaurant keeper, and a son of David Leslie of this place, but formerly of Scotland county, Mo., committed suicide yesterday evening by shooting himself in the right temple with a 32 calibre revolver.

The death of this prominent young man is one of the saddest that has occurred in this community for years, and genuine sorrow is expressed by all that knew him. It is made all the more sad by the fact that there is not the slightest reason known why he would commit the rash act.

Drove to Wyaconda. Yesterday afternoon he arranged to drive to Wyaconda after a supply of bread. This has been his custom, as he buys most of the bread he uses of a bakery in Wyaconda. He asked Clyde Murphy, a young man about 18 years of age, and a resident of this city, to accompany him on the trip, which he did.

Murphy says that nothing unusual occurred on the trip and Arch seemed to be in his usual spirits. Upon their return, about 4 p. m., they unloaded the basket of bread at his restaurant and Leslie stepped to the door and told his father that he was going to the depot after his freight. Young Murphy said as he had a sore hand and could not help him in loading the freight, he would not go down to the depot, which is about a half mile from the business part of town. Leslie made no reply but drove off in the direction of the depot, but he never reached the depot.

Upon reaching the barn where he kept his horses he unhitched the team as was seen by Bazil Herring, probably the last one who saw him alive. He was watering the horses. He then took the team into the barn, removed the harness and cared for them in the usual way. This was probably a few minutes after four o'clock.

He Did Not Return. On his not coming back with the freight his father went to the barn about six o'clock and found the team but still his suspicion was not aroused. The young man's wife prepared supper and his father, who lived with his son, came in and inquired where Arch was, but Mrs. Leslie had not seen him since noon. She immediately grew uneasy and went to the home of Clyde Murphy to learn if he knew where Mr. Leslie was. Inquiry was then started to find out if any one had seen him or knew where he was. On inquiry at the depot it was learned that he had not been there. Search was then started and some one suggested that perhaps he had taken sick and had crawled up into the hay mow of his barn.

Form a Search Party. A party was then formed, headed by David Leslie, his father, and D. B. Buckley, Geo. Herring and Clyde Murphy composed the other members of the party, and proceeded to the barn to investigate.

Upon reaching the hay loft in the order named, they found him lying on his side on the hay. Mr. Leslie spoke to him but got no response. By the aid of a lantern the discovery was made that he was dead, with a bullet hole in his right temple and the 32 calibre revolver still clutched in his right hand.

Coroner Reese, of Wayland, was telephoned for and arrived on the 10:13 p. m. train last night.

Coroner's Inquest. He empanelled a jury composed of the following: J. F. Chastain, J. W. Dennison, C. H. Davidson, C. N. Guthrie, W. C. Randle and John Barnes.

After the jury had viewed the body in the hay loft, it was removed to the undertaking establishment of H. J. Put Himself in Bake Oven. NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Robbed of his life's savings by masked Italians, David Marcus, an east side baker, today cut himself in a heated oven and roasted himself to death. His body was found but efforts to revive were futile. He was terribly burned.

Kircher where they proceeded with the inquest. It was found that the bullet had entered the head just above the right temple and ranged downward and backward toward the back of the head. About $20 in money and his watch was found in his pockets, but nothing was found to indicate why the act was committed. Mr. Leslie was loved by all who knew him and his sad ending is a very sad shock to the entire community.

Funeral Wednesday. The funeral will take place Wednesday at 11 a. m. under the auspices of the M. W. of A. of which he was a prominent member, he having held the office of escort in the local camp since January 1 of this year. He leaves a wife and one child, about two years old, besides his aged father and a host of other relatives and friends to mourn his untimely end.
