

SUNDAY MORNING AT THE REVIVAL

Synopsis of the Sermon by Rev. Potter of the Trinity M. E. Church Yesterday Morning.

THE FIFTH CHAPTER

This is a Day of Great Advancement in Everything and Religious Growth Should Follow.

There was the usual opening exercise interspersed with some beautiful features among which was a solo by Mr. C. P. Dorsay, entitled "The Good Shepherd," by Barrie, and immediately following the sermon a solo by Miss Ora Cook, "Make Me a Channel of Blessing," the choir joining in the chorus.

The lesson, and from which the morning sermon was taken, was found in the fifth chapter of Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians, "Get down your Bible and read the chapter."

In the first place Rev. Potter in the reading of the word made certain epistolical comments, one you should especially note, in the reading of the lesson, it pertains to the first verse where it reads, "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children."

The idea is we shall all copy after God, and God is manifested in the flesh, in the being of Jesus Christ, therefore we should all be imitators of Jesus.

We are living in an age of wonderful advancement, and in every department of life people today are seeking after the very best that is to be had.

Wonderful advancement has been made in regard to farming, and in regard to intellectual things there has been a marvelous growth, for today the scholar who secures for himself the ordinary high school education secures more and better education than the average college man fifty years ago.

DYSPEPSIA CAN BE CURED

I cannot too urgently advise all persons who suffer from any of the following symptoms to try this remedy: Distress after eating, bloating of the stomach, rising of the food, waterbrash, sour stomach, heartburn, loss of appetite, constipation, dizziness, faintness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, and all affections of the heart caused by indigestion. It acts almost immediately on the gastric juices and gives the stomach tone and strength to digest almost everything that has been put into it. It soothes sore and irritated stomachs that have been impaired by physic and injurious drugs.

END OF A RED NOSE

New Flesh-Colored Product That Heals and Hides Skin Imperfections. A peculiar feature of poslam, a new skin discovery, is that it is naturally flesh-colored and contains no grease, so that when used on the face for the complexion, or for pimples, red noses, or any other inflammations, blemishes, or discolorations, its presence cannot be detected. It can thus be applied in the daytime, the natural color of the skin being immediately restored and the actual healing and curing process accomplished in a few days.

The Emergency Laboratories, No. 22 West Twenty-fifth street, New York, are the sole dispensing agents for poslam in the United States, and will send an experimental quantity by mail in plain wrapper to all who write for it. This will show results after an over-night application.

ried they would set up housekeeping in a little log house of one room, but today it is altogether different, and on account of the progress along these lines we ought also to build especially for God the very best house of worship in keeping with the progress of the times. Rev. Potter stated that he has no sympathy with that class of Christians today who cry "back to Christ."

He stated the church is not getting away from God, and that the people are not getting away from God; he said the fact of the matter is there are the very best days you ever saw; that never was there a time when people were more awakened and alive to the needs of the church than today.

There is no sense in crying, "back to Christ," for Christ is not back under. Christ is ahead of us, and the cry should be, "on to Christ."

We trust to the ingenious mind of man to bring forth ingenious things, beautiful things, material things. How about the church? The Scripture states, "and be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit."

It was now explained that how in every development there was man's spirit of progress to excess. Mentioning a few of them was named, excess of learning, citing the arrogant for example, excess of accumulating wealth, citing the miser; excess in being a society leader, one who puts society first and magnifies that to other things.

Rev. Potter was careful to state that he was not speaking of legitimate and rightful social functions. He explained how some people were fanatics and even looked upon in ridicule because of being excessively pious and churchy, and how they were robbed of their usefulness because of the fact that they would not mingle and thereby come into contact with people that ought to be helped to a better life on account of acquaintance with Christian people.

He said these kind of people are so good that they are good for nothing, and are the people that disgust us.

The whole talk led up to the fact that the only thing that we might be completely filled with is the Spirit of God, and that when we are thus, we shall have well-rounded lives, and a well-rounded life means a mild temper, complete consecration to God, and full of service to do His will.

The thought presented by a true story that we are either a channel of blessing or a barrier to Christ's cause was especially beautiful, and at the conclusion of the story the song, "Make me a channel of blessing," was sung, after which an invitation for all those to stand whose desire it was to be a blessing in this life.

The thought went deep home to every heart and in giving expression it seems as if everybody in the house was standing. To close the service the doors of the church were opened for those who desired to unite with the church. To this invitation twenty-six came forward and united with the church, making a total of sixty-three who have united with the church since the meetings opened ten days ago.

Evening Meeting. The church, Sunday school room and gallery was crowded last night. Every available seat seemed to be occupied by an intensely earnest congregation of worshippers.

A short song service was joyously entered into together with a special number entitled "Lord is it I," sung by the choir, with Harry Brunst taking the solo part.

The lesson for the evening was found in the reading of the thirteenth chapter of Luke and portions of this together with what is found in the nineteenth verse of the third chapter of Acts. "Repent ye therefore, and be converted," were the basis for the evening's discourse.

In accepting Jesus and to become converted the whole thing with every individual is hinged on the terms repentance and belief. We must truly repent of our sins if we would become acceptable in Christ's sight. Now the term repentance was analyzed somewhat. It means that the past must be fixed up and that in order to build a new structure we should have a new foundation. That if we repent, it means a turning away from our transgression.

A SHOT GUN WAS USED

Professor Barnes Took a Shot at Lewis Dade on Sunday Noon But Failed to Kill Him.

BURROWS ROW, SUNDAY

Family Fight Ended in Dade Heaving a Brick at the Professor Who Retaliated With Gun.

The usually quiet neighborhood of the Burrows row was broken Sunday noon by a big rumpus which attracted considerable attention in the neighborhood but resulted in no loss of life, although brick bats were flying in the air and a shot gun was used.

Lewis Dade heaved a brick through the window at Prof. Barnes and the professor came back at Lewis by emptying an old army musket at him. Both men were arrested at 12:50 o'clock by Officers Pearson and Malone and brought down to the police station where they spent the night.

The shot gun was brought along, style but capable of blowing a man's head off is used properly.

Trouble up Stairs. The trouble is said to have started up stairs in the row, in a row above the department store conducted by Prof. Barnes. In a family row up there, Dade conceived the idea that he could not improve his time any better than to go down and hit the professor with a brick.

He went down stairs and heaved a large brick through the window at the professor but missed him. The professor then seized his trusty old musket which was loaded for possums and took a shot at Dade, but did not wing him.

The police were called and Officers Pearson and Malone arrived and gathered up the two colored men and brought them down to the station.

Dade is a son-in-law of Barnes. Professor Denies. The professor and Dade were up in the superior court this morning and were charged with participating in an affray.

Prof. Barnes was given the first chance to speak and he said that he was not informed regarding the case and intended to secure an attorney. Dade told his side of the case to the judge and a plea of guilty was entered for him and he was ordered held until the Barnes case comes up.

According to Dade, Professor Barnes aspires to be "the cock of the walk."

CHILD'S DREADFUL SKIN TROUBLES

Had Sixty Boils when Six Months Old—Was Annually Attacked by a Humor—It Looked Red Like a Scald and Spread Over Half Her Head—Both Troubles are Cured.

NO PRAISE TOO HIGH FOR THE CUTICURA REMEDIES

"When my little Virian was about six months old, her face had a boil on her forehead. At that time the child was covered with prickly heat and I suppose in scratching it, her own head became infected. It broke out in boils, one after another. She had about sixty of them entirely. Then, I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her of them entirely. Then, sometime later, her little feet got sore with salt rheum. I spoke to our doctor. He gave me a powder which I tried it up, but soon after it broke out behind her ears. They cracked half way around and the humor spread up on her head until, on several occasions, it was nearly half covered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every year. I think it was toward the spring. I always bathed it with warm water and Cuticura Soap and applied Cuticura Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out was when she was six years old. It became so bad that I was discouraged. Then I procured a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent which soon cleared it out of her blood. I continued the use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment with the Resolvent until she was perfectly well. She is now about eight years old and has never been troubled in the last two years. We also find Cuticura Resolvent a good spring medicine and we are just giving the children Cuticura Resolvent Pills as a tonic. We do not think any one can praise Cuticura Remedies too highly. Mrs. M. A. Schwinner, 674 Spring Wells Ave., Detroit, Mich., Feb. 24, 1908.

Complete Internal and External Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c) to Cleanse the Skin and Cuticura Resolvent (50c) to Purify the Blood. Sold throughout the world. "Purifier of the Blood," says Dr. F. C. Ives, Boston, Mass.

A YOUNG WIFE CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Hattie Long, Wife of Leroy Long, Passed Away Sunday at Family Residence.

Sunday at 12:00 o'clock at the family residence, 1308 Oak street, occurred the death of Mrs. Hattie Long, beloved wife of Leroy Long.

The death of this young wife, who was but twenty-three years of age, was caused by pneumonia and she had been sick for only three weeks.

Hattie Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thompson, was born in Missouri, March 11, 1885, also the 13, of last year was united in marriage to Leroy Long.

To this union has been born one child, a son, who survives; also the following brothers and sisters: Brothers George, John and Arthur and sisters: Lida, Maggie, Lude and Bessie and parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thompson. The body will be taken to Vincennes Tuesday morning for burial.

around the Burrows Row. Dade's story of the trouble was as follows:

He says that while he was in his room, the professor came in and told him to get out while he beat up Dade's mother and little sister. Dade laughed and left the room, going down stairs. After he came back, he found his mother in tears and she said that Barnes had beat her. Dade then went to Barnes' door and invited him outside, saying that he had beaten up his mother and little sister and to come out and see if he could beat him up.

The professor ordered him away from the door, but Dade replied that he was on a public street and would not move.

Cock of the Walk. Barnes then seized a shot gun and fired at Dade through the window. Dade returning the salute with a brick through the window. He says that Barnes not only had the shot gun, but a revolver also and told him that if he could not get him with one, he could get him with the other and boasted that he was the cock of the walk.

Dade says that he did not throw the brick until after he had been shot at.

In reply to this Barnes told the court that he had two witnesses to prove that there was nothing of the kind going on. He says that Dade threw four bricks before he fired, two of them striking him.

Barnes was placed under a $200 bond. He said that Dade was bombarding him with bricks and he could not get out of his store, so he was forced to use the gun to blaze a path to freedom.

For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed some frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy. Wilkinson & Co., and J. F. PERILOUS JOURNEY ACROSS THE ICE

Burlington Man Made the Trip Saturday Morning Through the Thick Fog.

A rather dangerous voyage was taken Saturday morning at Burlington by a man who crossed the ice during the fog, his trip being noted in the Hawk-Eye as follows:

Early risers yesterday morning, who were attracted to the river, gazed upon a unique sight. Thick fog, resembling dense palls of smoke, extended from shore to shore, blotting out completely any sight of the wide stretch of ice that forms the surface of the big stream. The fog swept over the frozen surface like steam clouds, causing a weird and novel spectacle.

Several scores of rivermen and others who had been at work in the ice harvest waited for the thick fog banks to clear away to determine if the ice had moved. A little group standing at the edge of the levee peered out over the wide expanse of ice in the effort to discover a glimpse of the channel, when one of their number excitedly exclaimed, "Look there; there's a man on the ice."

The crowd focused their eyes on the spot indicated by the finger of the riverman, and sure enough the dim outline of a man was faintly visible through the swirling mist. The figure slowly approached the Iowa side and when it had advanced forty paces, the man was clearly seen, carrying a long pike pole, which he was jabbing into the honeycombed surface of the ice road, before taking each step.

"It's Blackie from the stockyards," shouted another one of the group. The man on the ice halted, attracted by the shout, and waved his pole in the air. Then carefully proceeding, moved along slowly, using his pole every foot of the way, to sound the ice. Finally, after a short detour to avoid a deep pool of surface water, the intrepid navigator reached the levee and was greeted by the bunch of rivermen on the bank.

It was George Black, who looks after the pump house at the old stock yards on the Illinois shore, and his nerve in attempting the perilous trip across the dangerous expanse of rotten ice, aroused keen comment among the men who are accustomed to face all sorts of conditions on the river. Black had business in Burlington and he decided to attempt to cross the river by the shortest route, instead of walking down to the railroad bridge and coming around in the longest way. Several times this winter while the channel was filled with crashing ice floes, Black has made the trip across the stream in a frail skiff. He staked out the first ice fields this season, and laid out the wagon road, when it was considered unsafe to venture on the ice. Late in the afternoon Black returned to the Illinois shore over the road. The fog had cleared away and the return trip was freer from danger than that of the early morning, but it was risky work at that.

CAR BLOCKED THE TRACK

Freight Wreck Near Fort Madison on Saturday Night Caused Trouble for the Railroad.

Burlington Hawk-Eye: Traffic on the "K" line south of Burlington was blocked last evening by the wreck of a freight train near Fort Madison. A car jumped the track and blocked the way so that all through trains have had to take a roundabout course. The north-bound K. C. train, due here last evening, was transferred at Donnellson to the Mt. Pleasant branch and came to Burlington in that manner, arriving about five hours late. The St. Louis through trains were sent over the Carthage and Quincy branch of the Burlington, all passengers for points on the main line between here and Quincy being unable to reach their destination. A wrecking crew was sent out from Hannibal and will have the track clear by morning so that the early trains may pass. It is reported that no one was injured, and the damage in the wreck was confined to the one car.

Bridge Burns.

The "K" line train, which was derailed at Donnellson on account of the wreck, was then four hours late because of the burning of a bridge near Cincinnati, Iowa. The bridge caught fire probably from some dropped coals, and the structure was badly damaged.

ARE CARELESS WITH THE MAIL

Railroads Delaying Mail Delivery Since Penalty Was Taken Off.

Quincy Herald: Since the order was issued some time ago by the postmaster general at Washington annulling the rule providing for the collection of cash penalties from the railroads for failure to handle the United States mails as they should be handled, it is said that the service has not been at all satisfactory. And it is believed that unless there is improvement in the near future the rule may be revived and enforced as before.

Billy Sunday TO HELP ANSON

Ex-Barge Ball Player Will See What He Can do for the Old Time Manager.

Evangelist Billy Sunday is going to Chicago to help "Pop" Anson. That is if the sporting fraternity of that city agrees to his proposition. Sunday played ball under the famous old veteran, and he has made a most generous offer to assist the now bankrupt ball player. Sunday has this to say of his proposal: "Cap" Anson of the old Chicago White Stockings testified in the Chicago debtors' court Saturday that he was broke and down and out. I regret to hear of any one's financial troubles, especially 'Cap' Anson, and I am sure that every baseball player and man in the United States sympathizes with him in his present unfortunate condition.

It seems that there have been a number of instances of late when mails were delayed in transit for no apparent cause or reason. The railroad companies may not be to blame, but the general impression seems to be to the contrary. The late arrival of the Chicago morning mail here Thursday may have been an instance. It seems strange that Chicago mails should have reached Galesburg and Burlington in time for members of the crews on the morning trains to Quincy to get their Chicago papers, while Quincy people received their papers late in the afternoon. There were no wrecks on the main line, nor on the Quincy branch or "K" line, nor were the connecting trains delayed. Yet the mails failed to get here on any of the morning trains, arriving instead at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon. This was not the first time that the mails have arrived late, it is said, when they should have been on time.

If the railroads get careless and fail to handle the mails promptly and carefully as before, the penalty rule, in justice to the public, should be re-enforced, or a new rule that will accomplish the same purpose should be made.

Game Near Choking to Death.

A little boy, the son of Chris D. Peterson, a well known resident of the village of Jacksonville, Iowa, had a sudden and violent attack of croup. Much thick stringy phlegm came up after giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. Peterson says: "I think he would have choked to death had we not given him this remedy." I have a proposition to make which, with the co-operation of Chicago newspapers, I am sure would mean a great success, but without which co-operation would be a failure, and that is that the people of Chicago give him a 'ousing benefit. If you will take up with the Auditorium the matter of securing free use of the building, some night I will be glad to go to Chicago, bring my entire party and deliver a lecture free of charge, giving a special musical program preceding the address.

"I shall be in Springfield, Ill., after February 19, and can run up to Chicago some Monday night during the latter part of February or March.
